This is explicit enough. The last traces of lawful and orderly procedure are now removed from German public life, and the party has the "legal" power to fetch, on any informer's advice, every housewife from her home. This is the kind of direct, individual and ubiquitous pressure with which the Nazis hope to overcome the pressure exerted by the threat of military defeat — and perhaps even by the actual presence of Allied armies on German soil.

For there is no doubt by now that the Nazis are busy preparing their resistance against the occupying forces. Sundermann — nowadays Goebbels' most frequent deputy—gave the slogan this week:

"Not a single German blade of grass will feed the enemy; no German lips will give him information; no German hand will help him; he will find every footbridge destroyed, every road blocked; nothing but death, destruction, and hatred will face him".

This program is a serious one. The Nazis know from their own bitter experience that the power of an occupying army is by no means unlimited, and that a well-organized resistance movement can make headway for a long time under foreign occupation, and make life most unpleasant for the occupying authorities, provided it has the backing of the local population.

Here is the rub. Will the Nazis have the backing of the German population? They themselves seem not too sure about it. The sensational article in the Essen "National Zeitung" from which we have quoted, gives a picture of the popular response to the new total mobilization which amounts almost to passive resistance: conscripted women workers going bathing in working hours with the tacit agreement of their foremen; others doing their darning and mending at work; "a large armament works" sabotaging the call-up of its employees; workers in another factory "going slow" in agreement with the management....This temper fits badly with the official determination that "nothing but death, destruction, and hatred" shall face the enemy.

But the Nazis apparently hope to enforce the co-operation of the weary masses by sheer terror. Will the plan succeed? Only the next weeks can show. There is little doubt that the prevailing mood among the mass of the German people is now frankly defeatist; there is much bitterness against the recent Nazi measures which can only prolong Germany's agony. But there is no sign of any political crystallisation of these feelings or of any active mass resistance against the Nazis. Without that, the outlook remains in doubt. Defeatism alone, without any positive aim, cuts both ways. It may make people greet the advancing Allied troops almost with relief; but it may not prevent them from still fearing the Underground Gestapo more than any Allied authorities—and from having their behaviour determined by fear.

The broad mass of the non-political Germans now have to make a most fateful decision. Yet they seem hardly conscious that they have anything to decide. Tired, disillusioned, cynical, used to suffering, used to being lied to and bullied, they now find themselves subjected to two tremendous sets of pressure and threats. Their only aim, by now, is somehow to escape either of these alternatives. The individual craves only to survive. What that will finally mean in political terms, who can say?

Cartel Control

No sweeping formula for abolition of cartels is going to serve our purpose. Nor is it at all likely that any such policy would commend itself to our chief allies. For our own protection, and theirs, we should, however, lose no time reaching some basic agreements in regard to the general principles that should guide us in dealing with international cartels. We must, above all else, make sure that their aims and activities are strictly non-political. Otherwise, they must be recognized and treated as agencies of the government under whose protection they operate.—Washington Post.

Those "Few"

Tomorrow, which is anniversary Sunday, salute Air Marshal Dowding, head of Fighter Command four years ago, who planned and won the Battle of Britain.

Tomorrow, on behalf of all the Few, salute Squadron-Leader Malan, prime combatant pilot of the battle, whose accomplishment will never be dimmed by any who surpass his kill.

In the mess one night at Biggin Hill they listened to Mr. Churchill's speech. "Never," they heard, "was so much owed by so many to so few."

In the corner a pilot who did not know the meaning of praise exclaimed: "Is the Prime Minister talking about my mess account?"

It was that attitude, that spirit, that invincible humour which won back Paris and Brussels, which enabled the crashing of the Siegfried and the Gothic Lines, which in a real sense knocked Italy and Bulgaria out of the war and Romania into it, which hammers today at Warsaw as well as around Aachen, which drives the Japs out of the jungle, which made possible all that is now seen unfolding.

If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning. If I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth.—Daily Express (London).

Der Fuehrer Rides Again

The Allied world had every reason to be thankful when Hitler fired his generals on the Russian front and put Generalisimo Intuition in command. Now the lance-corporal is turning himself loose against his armies in the west, which should ease the problems of General Eisenhower considerably. As General Montgomery puts it: "It means the enemy is commanded by a lunatic." And the new turn of events strengthens "Monty's" belief the war may be won th[is] year.

Apropos of all that, orders have gone out [to] German officers to impress upon their men th[at] Der Fuehrer does not eat curtains or bite t[he] carpet when he goes into a rage. And for t[he] first time in years, that may actually be t[he] case. It is entirely likely that the turn of eve[nts] has completely ruined his appetite for eve[ry]thing.—Montreal Daily Star.

A Bible Message

Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil; learn to do well....

Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. (Isa. 1: 16, 17, 18.)

Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved. For I bear them record that they have a zeal of God, but not according to knowledge.

For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God.

For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth. (Rom. 10: 1-4.)

THE BRICKBAT REMAINS

At first the knight was irresistible against the foot soldier. Then the archers with their longbows brought the knight into crashing ruin.

The blunderbus swept the archer away. And so it went, every weapon producing a more powerful counter-weapon.

The tank itself is moving toward obsolescence. The only weapon that doesn't seem to lose its popularity is the brickbat at thirty paces.—Calgary Herald.

THE SUGAR DOES IT

What actually takes place when Nature presents her colourful pageant every autumn is described by Dr. D. J. MacLachlan, professor of botany at the Ontario Agricultural College, who says it can be boiled down to a simple cause—accumulation of sugar.

Autumn colouring, in general, Dr. MacLachlan says, is a result of breakdown processes. In preparation for winter, a small cork layer forms at the base of each leaf, actually healing the wound created by the leaf's separation before it breaks off. This cork slows the natural processes in the leaf. The chlorophyl, or green colouring disappears, and yellows, hidden by the green all summer, come into view. Sugar formed in the leaf is prevented by the cork layer from getting down into the plant, and in conjunction with a cyanide complex forms a brilliant red dye.

Deeper shades of red indicate more sugar in the leaf. As the breakdown process continues and the leaf dies, a brown colour is formed.—Kitchener Record.

NO "DREAM CARS" YET

An authorittative picture of the post-wa[r] automobile is given by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr. chairman of the board of General Motors. Mr. Sloan dashes a bucket of cold water on cars with bodies of plastics and speaks with assurance of the automobile to come. Among other things, he says:

(1) Passenger automobiles can roll off assembly-lines six months after the war stops.

(2) Plastics are not yet hard enough to stand the knocks that automobiles must be built t[o] stand.

(3) The new cars will be very similar to th[e] models of 1942. They will be smaller overall, bu[t] with economic use of space they will be roomie[r].

(4) They will cost 15 to 20 per cent more tha[n] the last models, due to higher cost of labour an[d] material.

(5) Wartime inventions will add little to th[e] post-war car.

(6) The "jeep" is a fad that few will want after riding around a block in it.

So—we'll have to abandon, for a while at leas[t] the dreams of super-streamlined monsters ma[de] of transparent or translucent plastics—the machines that go 100 miles to the gallon—the wonder-cars of the comic-strips. But these ca[n] wait—in the meantime a 1941 or 1942 automobile in good shape with perfect tires looks li[ke] a million dollars to most of us.—Ottawa Journ[al].

Trinity College Port Hope Defeats P.C.V.S. Teams

The Peterborough Collegiate's Senior and Junior rugby teams both suffered defeats yesterday at Trinity College, Port Hope. T.C.S.'s Little Big Four team defeated the P.C.V.S. Seniors 19-0, while the Juniors suffered a 14-0 whitewashing at the hands of the Trinity College "Middleside" team.

In the Senior game the P.C.V.S. team was guilty of costly first quarter fumbling to allow a safety touch kicked by Lambert, and a rouge for a single point kicked by Huycke. The Peterborough line was much too strong for the T.C.S. straight ahead attack, but showed weakness on end runs, Richardson skirting the left end for a touch which was converted by Sinclair in the second quarter.

A Fumble

Just before half time Red Outram of the locals broke away on a play from scrimmage and on being tackled, fumbled; Dobell picked up the fumble and ran 50 yards for an unconverted touch, leaving the half time score 14-0.

The only score of the second half was a third quarter touchdown by Lambert of T.C.S., who caught a Trinity forward pass after it had been partially deflected by Rooke of Peterborough.

For T.C.S. Huycke, Sinclair and Lambert were standouts, while for P.C.V.S. Outram, Matthews and De la Plante made some nice gains.

Far from being outclassed the Peterborough Seniors give promise of having a great season and much is expected of them in future games.

The Teams:

T.C.S.—Snap, Phippin; insides, Stokes and McIntyre; middles, Greenwood and Drew; outsides, McIntyre and French; quarter, Sinclair; halves, Huycke, Richardson and Dobell; flying wing, Lambert; alternates, Allan, Wilson, Toole and Pearson.

Peterborough—Snap, Scott; insides, W. Browne and Paterson; middles, W. Lech and H. Graham; outsides, G. Davis and Smith; quarter, Sisson; halves, Outram, De la Plante and Robinson; flying wing, Rooke; alternates, Matthews, Loftus, L. Brown, Estlick, Hinton and Monaghan.

Referee, R. D. Brown, Peterborough; Umpire, Hill, Trinity College.

Junior Game

The first half scoring in the Junior game was confined to two kicks to the deadline by Curtis for two points. During this first half Doughty of the P.C.V.S. team gained ground repeatedly on plays through the centre of the T.C.S. line.

The third quarter found the winners applying the pressure and on some outstanding blocking by the T.C.S. line scored touchdowns by Curtis and Lawson.

The Peterborough boys, showing decided inexperience, gave a good account of themselves and will be difficult to stop in their next game with Cobourg here a week from Saturday.

The teams:

T.C.S. — Snap, Fisher; insides, Grier and Austin; middles, Kirkpatrick and McDougall; outsides, Hawke and Bird; quarter, M. O'Grady; halves, Lawson, Curtis and Bowles; flying wng, Jarvis; alternates, Hogarth, Armour, Wigle, Gibson, Dobell, Currie, Mahaffy, French.

P.C.V.S.—Snap, W. Graham; insides, Addyman and Frise; middles, Wyatt and T Rush; outsides, N. Thomson and Borland; quarter, Green; halves, Doughty, Menzies and B. Thomson; flying wing, Moyles; alternates, G. Braund, McKee, Martin, Bond, Lech, B. Braund, K. McIntyre.

Referee, Hodgetts, T.C.S.; Umpire, Goulding, Peterborough.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

In charge of the New York Rangers' 11th annual hockey school at Winnipeg, Coach Frank Boucher declared last night N.H.L. players now in the armed forces should have little difficulty in getting back into their stride after war service. He believed such puck-chasers would be in good physical condition and could round into form after a few games. Now 42 years of age, Boucher said he would not play in any N. H. L. games this season. Last year he participated in 14 matches.

Jimmy Creed, owned by S. C. Thompson, New Ross, Ind., set a world record of 2:00½ for two-year-old pacers in the $3,000 Two Gaits Farm stake, feature of yesterday's Lexington, Ky., trots. Titan Hanover, from Goshen, N.Y., trotted a mile in 2:00 for a new mark for the same age.

Golden Flash swept all three heats of the 2:28 trot or pace which featured the harness card at the Teeswater, Ont., Fair yesterday, the J. A. Bannerman entry leading Texas Dawn to the line each time. H. Stewart's Stuart Gratton took all three heats of the 2:18 event.

The Universal Coolers girls' team was charged with 16 errors in the final test of the Brantford softball loop last night, the title going to Waterous ladies with a 19-1 victory.

The 2:19 feature of the harness meet at the Dorchester, Ont., fall fair yesterday went to Winnie Dolo, owned by P. James, with Pine Ridge Norma second. Laura Belle, from the L. Currie stable, copped the 2:15 event, although Babe Grattan Boy took one of the three heats.

Fine for eating out of hand, and unsurpassed for making jelly. These plants are usually grown from seed and begin to bloom and bear fruit while quite small.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

This column remarked the other night that the first game of the world series should be able to throw a lot of light upon the twin questions as to whether the Brownies would be able to carry their finishing heat into the annual classic and whether the Cards would be able to regain the edge they had lost during a September of faltering baseball. The 2 to 1 victory scored by the American Leaguers yesterday answered both ends of the question. The Browns were still as hot as a bowl of Mexican chili while the National Leaguers lacked the punch of their mid-season play. Three veteran members of the Sewell club were chifely responsible for the win. Lion-hearted Denny Galehouse, surprise pitcher, allowed the Cards seven hits and walked four men but in the clutch he was so effective that it was not until two were out in the ninth that the Cards finally averted a whitewash by scoring their solitary run. Polishing off the National Leaguers with the same smoothness as they had cleaned up the Yanks in the last four games of the regular season the Brownies only needed two hits to grab off the win. That is a record low for a world series winner. The blows came together with two out in the fourth and one was a line single to right by Eugene Moore who has been around a lot and the second a homer by George McQuinn, well-seasoned first base star. Both were scored off big Mort Cooper and according to Bill Corum it was a let-up ball that McQuinn laced out of the park. Whatever it was the ball game rode out with it for Galehouse took care of the rest.

An old argument in baseball has always been over the desirability or otherwise of hitting the first ball. Knotty Lee, veteran baseball man, who coached the Petes for a number of seasons, always refused to allow his players to take a cut at the first one, arguing that the percentage was all against the batter. Noting that in the first inning yesterday a couple of the Cards went after the first one, your column kept track for the balance of the game and the returns are interesting. Not counting the players who missed the first ball or fouled it off, seven Brownies and five Cards got hold of the first one. And how many do you think hit safely out of the dozen? Exactly one. That was Marty Marion on his first appearance at the plate. The other eleven were retried. As a contrast Danny Litwhiler of the Cards waited Galehouse out to a 3 and 2 count in the sixth innings and then fouled off four more pitches until finally he got a walk on the tenth one the Brownie pitcher tossed in. In other words Galehouse had to throw nearly as many balls to that one batter and then lost him as he and Mort Cooper tossed in disposing of eleven out of the twelve players who hit the first ball. The day's showing was perhaps freakish but at least it goes to show that Knotty is not far wrong in claiming that first-ball hitters are playing for the opposition pitcher and not for the success of their own club.

An Umpire's Views

This column has had an interesting letter from Umpire J. E. Page of Stratford whose handling of the Westclox-Kroehlers game here aroused so much complaint. The Stratford official's main object in writing was to agree with our contention that neutral umpires should be used in playoff games. Says he "I read your complaint about my umpiring after the game in Peterborough a week ago. It seems very funny that I am considered the best umpire in softball in this neck of the woods but when I go to your city I have to have police protection to get out. You tell me why. However I did not write to you about that, I am writing you to say that I agree very sincerely with your contention that neutral umpires should be used in all P.W.S.U. playoff games. There will always be instances such as happened to me as long as each team brings their home umpires. The spectators figure that the umpire will beat them by hook or by crook even if he calls them perfectly and I have not seen anyone who could do that, including myself. It is cheaper by far to have neutral umpires. It cost the Kroehler ball team approximately $22 to take me to Peterborough and I know for a fact they (Peterborough) could have gotten a pair of nuetral umpires for that much and both teams would have been better satisfied. The Intercounty League never uses any umpires but neutral ones and I cannot understand why the P.W.S. Union does not take that method and avoid further trouble. As I said before it is cheaper for the teams."

* * * * * *

Umpire Page adds: "I sincerely hope you will impress upon the president of the P.W.S.U. who lives in your city the benefits of neutral umpires. I have no regrets in regard either to my trip to Peterborough or to St. Catharines. They are a bunch of swell girls and ball players and I hope for them that they will win a championship soon. The law of averages will not permit it to go on forever this way, always being beaten in the finals. It was a grand game Saturday in Stratford and Isobel Bullock pitched excellent ball and it took a real good team to beat her and her mates." The support given by the Stratford official to the suggestion that neutral umpires should be used is appreciated but we still feel that his incompetent work was a better argument in favor of the plan than anything he could write.

Oshawa's Swan Song

Somewhat sadly George Campbell writes thusly in his Oshawa Times-Gazette sport column: "Oshawa GM-Colts have only one regret. As a team they wanted to win the Senior "B" championship, since it is quite likely that some of the players who have been starring in local and Provincial softball games for more than 15 years now, will hang up their spikes and retire. The "Colts" feel they did the right thing in moving up to Senior "B" ranks. On what we have seen so far, Belleville's well-balanced team is now in the O.A.S.A. finals, we still think that the GM-Colts could have won the Intermediate "A" title for the 3rd year in succession. However, they stepped up and and left the field open to others. They made a good showing. They were sitting idle for exactly eight weeks (nearly two months) except for exhibition games which didn't have to be won. Then after an 8-week layoff the GM-Colts were called upon to play 5 Provincial Senior "B" playoff games in exactly 8 days. After that, it looks quite obvious that there are not enough Senior "B" teams in the O.A.S.A. to warrant any club trying to compete in that bracket. You can not keep any team in peak form, particularly a team that is not a "young team," unless they have plenty of games in actual competition. Oshawa GM-Colts were idle for nearly two months and then had to play five games from Saturday to the next Saturday and twice in that period they played on successive nights. Back in August, it's our own opinion that Colts would have disposed of Hamilton Farrar's without too much trouble. However, it's all over now."

With Toronto Westsides, a well-balanced junior team coming to Peterborough for a Thanksgiving Day fixture with the local junior twelve city fans are looked forward to an enjoyable holiday afternoon fixture. The Peterborough youngsters have been working out for weeks in readiness for the opening of the season and while they are up against a well-trained squad of kids it is confidently hoped that they will make a real showing. The local players and management deserve the support of the sport-lovers of the community for they are doing a very real job in keeping rugby alive and in providing an opportunity for youngsters who have left school to keep on playing the game. Monday's game should attract a big crowd to Riverside Park both for its own sake and because it offers a chance to help the Peterborough youngsters in their drive to keep football going.

Central Leads Soccer Loop

Central continued their winning drive in the Public School Soccer League on Wednesday afternoon on King Edward Park when they succeeded in gaining a snap decision over the Prince of Wales aggregation by a 2-1 count in a hard fought and most exciting game of the season.

League Standing

Central	3	3	0	0	6
King Edward	4	2	1	1	5
Prince of Wales	4	1	1	2	4
Queen Alexandra	4	2	2	0	4
Queen Mary	4	1	2	1	3

Two points for a win and one for a draw.

First Half

Play opened up at a terrific pace right from the kick-off. Exchanges continued even with each side battling hard for the opening around the goal. Eventually midway through the period Central scored as a result of a corner kick taken by Brooks and Patterson, connecting with his head, to divert the ball into goal past Kay. Give and take methods held sway with both custodians, Kay and Hutchison, replying with smart clearances. Half time—Central 1, Prince of Wales 0.

Second Half

On resuming Prince of Wales with the benefit of the sun at their backs staged a steady attack on the Central goal. Finally they were rewarded through Killingbeck as the result of clever combination. There was no let up in the fast-moving forwards that brought out the excellent qualities of the half-back division and the players in both teams appeared to be tireless. It seemed as if both were to be satisfied with a tie. However, Central hemmed the Prince of Wales team inside the goal. A free kick in the last minutes resulted in Dolan scoring the winning counter on a pass from Chambers. Full time — Central 2, Prince of Wales 1.

Central—J. Hutchison, goal; D. Brooks and J. Forbes, full backs; H. Wilson, W. Noble and W. MacKenzie, halves; G. Chambers, T. Hum, J. Whitnall, E. Patterson and W. Dolan, forwards; subs, K. Delahaye.

The Sports Round-Up

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 — (AP). — Overseas sports roundup:

Nick of time:

The Yanks wont have the laugh on "Yank" this week and Sgt. Dan Polier, sports editor of the soldier paper, is heaving sighs of relief.... The current issue, printed a month ago, carried this sports overline: "Don't Sell Browns Short in World Series."

New Guinea gold:

Pte. Woodrow Boone, former Gadsden, Ala., sports scribe, tells of New Guinea's first football game, Setpember 10, 1944....."Over 3,000 khaki-clad fans yelled as Sgt. G. A. Maye of Greensboro, N.C. (N. S. State) smashed over guard to lead the Engineers to a 6-0 victory over the Quartermasters....It was fitting that two hard-fighting negro teams should write the first chapter of New Guinea's football history. They are playing a great part in this theatre....To you critical Monday quarterbacks at home I report that the ball-handling was pretty ragged (New Guinea practices are limited to less than an hour in the cooler part of mornings) and the plays weren't any too well executed because G. I. Joe pulls guard nights and hauls grub in the daytime."

ONTARIO FARMERS
1000 MEN WANTED
Now!

THIS is an appeal to THE FARMERS OF ONTARIO. The Packing Plants of Ontario, which process and ship your livestock for export, ARE SERIOUSLY SHORT OF MEN. Every available Farmer of Ontario is urged to offer his services for employment in one of the Packing Plants in this province as soon as the essential work of the farm is completed. OVER 1,000 men are required to start in the month of September alone. Good hourly wages will be paid. Transportation to the plant will be provided. Assistance will be given in arranging board and room.

With full staffs, the Packing Plants of Canada have ample capacity to handle even the tremendously increased numbers of cattle, sheep and swine, which Canadian farmers have ready for market this year. When operating to capacity the Packing Plants can keep the market cleared and livestock can be slaughtered, processed and shipped at its most profitable time, when it is at its market peak. Thus, losses which occur when animals are held beyond the peak—through additional feeding costs, through falling away from peak condition and through the danger to price structures when supply threatens to exceed demand—are avoided.

Last year several hundred Ontario farmers volunteered for work in the plants in processing their own products and protecting their own interests. Production for export this year has increased by 40%. Available man-power has shrunk by 28%.

The Ontario Farm Service Force, in conjunction with Employment and Selective Service has undertaken the task of raising sufficient help from Ontario Farmers to keep Packing Plants operating to capacity this year. This department of the Ontario government's Department of Agriculture feels that this extension of its service is as vitally important to the interests of the farmers of this province as anything it has yet undertaken. The need of meat as a primary essential food to our Allied Armies, to the people of Great Britain and to the starving millions in countries being liberated by our victorious armies, is the basic consideration. In addition, efficient operation in the processing and marketing of livestock is necessary in protecting the greatest export market ever opened to Canadian farmers.

Your services are needed from now until spring. If you cannot devote that full period of time, a month or more will be of great assistance.

OFFER YOUR SERVICES AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. If you cannot go to work at once, call or write, stating that you will come, and at what date you will be available. Remember you will be serving your own best interests as well as playing a vital patriotic part in serving your country.

Queen Mary 11 Defeats King Edward

A surprise was created in Public School soccer when Queen Mary defeated the recent league leaders, King Edward, 1-0 on Riverside Park, Wednesday afternoon, in a hard battle that was full of thrills. Bradley, Queen Mary goalie, deserves the full credit for the win because he outguessed and outplayed the opposition forwards. Gray scored from 20 yards out that gave Grant no chance to save.

First Half

Both teams opened up at a terrific pace with King Edward halves, Riches, Byers and Self, consolidating their position with neat tactics, thereby confining the play inside the Queen Mary area. Butcher and Gray, Queen Mary full backs, put up a stubborn defence that assisted Bradley in goal, who was unbeatable as he picked up low shots and high shots on goal. On one occasion Lawson beat the full back nicely to leave Chambers in a scoring position that resulted in Bradley going to his knees to save. The foregoing tactics were intercepted by break-aways by Queen Mary that found Breadman and Downes mis-kicking in front of goal, which enabled the attack to test Grant in goal. Quickly Lawson transferred the ball along the wing to Beggs. He sent a lightning drive across the goal to Buchan, who made the custodian go to his knees to save. Eventually Butcher blocked Byers in the act of scoring. He passed out to Barnsley who punted up-field. Breadman mis-judged the ball with his head. Taylor trapped the ball quickly to lift the ball over the cross-bar only two yards out. Half-time—No scoring.

Second Half

After the customary respite, the boys travelled from end to end with the King Edward forwards bombarding the Queen Mary goal. Byers tried hard to get a scoring chance. Then Riches beat three men in a row to witness his parting shot hit the upright with Bradley keeping his eye on the ball. Keen tactics prevailed thereafter. At this point, King Edward forced the issue to the limit. They found Queen Mary full backs in an invincible mood as they intercepted, blocked and punted with precision. Five minutes to go, Queen Mary forwards enacted the same performance. Woodgate passed across to Taylor who slipped the ball back to Gray at twenty yard range. He sent a lightning drive into goal with Grant, goalie, jumping up in the air to save, but the ball went in between his arms. K. Lawson was injured in a collision and retired. Breadman was sent off for improper language. Four minutes to go, King Edward tried to get the equaliser as they peppered the goal. Queen Mary holding on to their meagre lead. Full time—Queen Mary 1, King Edward 0.

King Edward—J. Grant, goal; D. Downer and D. Breadman, full backs; A. Riches, J. Byers and R. Self, halves; M. Chambers, D. Buchan, K Lawson, D. Anderson and R. Beggs, forwards; subs, G. Robinson.

Queen Mary—H. Bradley, goal; R. Butcher and D. Gray full backs; E. Murphy, R. Barnsley and K. Goodfellow, halves; M Grafstein, L. Payne, P. Russell, T. Taylor and B. Woodgate, forwards.

Browns Cop First Playoff Game Beat Cardinals 2-1

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5 — (AP) — They are calling St. Louis Browns the hitless wonders to-day because they copped the opening game of the first all-St. Louis World Series 2-1 on two hits and a team batting average of .069, but Manager Luke Sewell will take three more of the same with no squawks.

In an effort to make it two straight over the Cardinals to-day, Sewell named right-hander Nelson Potter, his top winner with a 19-7 win mark, to oppose Billy Southworths prize left-hander Max Lanier, who won 17 and lost 12 this season.

After the Brownies took the opener, the Series odds fell to 9 to 10 and take your choice.

When Mort Cooper watched his hopes for a first-game victory go sailing away on the wings of Geo. McQuinn's two-run homer, it was just another link in the chain that has shackled the Cardinal right-hander in his campaign against American League hitters.

Cooper Chased.

Cooper picked up right where he left off last year in the Cards' losing series with New York Yankees. Bill Dickey's 2-run homer brought the Bombers a 2-0 Series-winning game and sent Cooper to a sixth-inning shower.

Three times in the big Series and twice in the all-star game the Cards ace fire-baller has bounced too many hits off American League bats. Only once has he gone to the winner's circle—in the second game of the Series last year. Maybe it's the big No. 13 on his back.

Potter was expected to be Sewell's first-game choice, but he passed him for Danny Galehouse and saw his judgment justified yesterday when the crafty curve-baller sprinkled seven Red Bird hits and held a shutout up to the ninth inning.

Although Mort Cooper and Blix Donnelly, who teamed up to gain the unenviable distinction of losing the first two-hitter in Series history, outshone Galehouse in sheer brilliance, it was the former defence worker who had it in the pinches, Denny pulled out of tight spots in the second and third with vital strikeouts of Mort Cooper and Whitey Kurowski and bore down to retire the side after Marty Marion had scored the only Red Bird run.

A crowd of 33,242 that paid $149,268 into the kitty, thrilled to George (Lefty) McQuinn's fourth-inning home run clout atop the right field pavilion following Gene Moore's single to right. That was all the American League hitting and all the scoring, but it was enough.

McQuinn Comes Through

McQuinn's poke must have been doubly satisfying to a man who spent eight years hanging around the Yankees' farm system, obscured in the shadow of the late Lou Gehrig.

The smooth-fielding Virginian also played for a time with Toronto of the International League.

The first sacker's wallop wouldn't have been enough if Moore hadn't banged a single into right field a few seconds earlier. The veteran of six big league clubs, who was obtained in a trade from Washington during spring training, was another example of Sewell's uncanny ability to pick the right man at the proper minute. The skipper had dabbled with the idea of using Milt Byrnes in right and had Moore in and out of the lineup in the closing drive.

Mort Cooper struck out a man in each of the first three frames and didn't allow a hit until Moore punched his single with two out in the fourth.

Galehouse had his troubles in the first three heats when he yielded five of the seven Card blows, but seemed to get a new lease on life when McQuinn hoisted one of Cooper's fast ones out of the playing field.

When the pressure was on, Galehouse was superb. After Marion smacked the first of two doubles in the second and Emil Verban singled, he struck out Mort Cooper. Following safeties by Johnny Hopp and Ray Sanders and a pass to Walker Cooper which loaded them with one out in the third, Denny whiffed Whitey Kurowski and made Danny Litwhiler force Hopp. Again in the ninth, Marion doubled to lead off, but had to move around on an infield out and score on pinch-hitter Ken O'Dea's fly to centre.

King Edward Juniors Defeat Central 2-0

Orioles To Meet Louisville Team On Friday

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5. — (AP). — Baltimore Orioles, International League pennant winners and play-off champions, were headed today for Louisville and their first Little World Series since 1925. The series will open tomorrow night.

The Orioles, who won the loop flag on the final day of the regular season by a .0007 margin, took the play-offs the hard way, too.

Forced to go the full seven games in the first play-off to defeat fourth-place Buffalo, the Orioles came back after trailing in the final series to take the seventh game from Newark last night. The Bears took a 3-2 edge here Sunday, but Baltimore won a decision at Newark Tuesday and put the clincher on last night at home, 6-3.

Stan West, Baltimore pitcher, gave up 12 hits, but the righthander was brilliant in the pinches.

The Orioles, meanwhile, got to two Newark pitchers for 10 hits, including three home runs.

The first three games of the best-of seven Little World Series will be played in Louisville. The teams will return here Monday.

Belleville Seeks Int. A Championship

FORT ERIE, Ont., Oct. 5—(CP) —Manager C. R. Childs of the Fort Erie Industrial Food team, which recently defeated Sarnia in the finals for the Intermediate A championship of South-western Ontario, said last night his team will meet Belleville, Eastern Ontario titleholders, here on Saturday in the first game of a best-of-three series for the right to play Sault Ste. Marie, Northern winners, for the Provincial title.

"Dewey is getting plenty of Hollywood support in his fight for the presidency. Lionel Barrymore is president and Ginger Rogers vice-president of the "Hollywood for Dewey" movement. Among those supporting it are Mary Pickford, Raymond Massey, Don Ameche, Bing Crosby, Cary Grant, Walt Disney, Fred McMurray, Joel McCrea, Ray Milland and dozens of others. No doubt much of the Roosevelt opposition comes from the president's attempt to limit wartime incomes to $25,000.

Expect St. Kitts To Give Stiff Opposition

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Oct. 5.—(CP).—St. Catharines Athletics entered the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior series this season just to round out a five-team group and wound up by winning the series title with a display of tremendous scoring punch and now promise to provide stiff opposition for the New Westminster Salmonbellies in the Mann Cup finals opening in Toronto Saturday night.

It is the fifth time in seven years that the Athletics have entered the finals for the Dominion title. They won the championship in 1938, 1940 and 1941 and were runners-up in 1939. They were eliminated in O.A.L.A. play in 1942 and 1943.

Their scoring strength put them into the lead in the O.A.L.A. in mid-season this year and they finished on top of the group. They eliminated Burlington in a best-of-five play-off series in three straight, scoring 73 goals to Burlington's 29. Then they defeated Brampton 3-1 in a best-of-five series, scoring 78 goals to 50. Their final victims were Mimico Mountaineers in a best-of-seven series which went six games. Athletics tallied 61 goals to 47.

Mainstay of Club

Of the 18 players on the Athletics' regular roster, only two were born elsewhere. One is veteran Sid (Red) Wright, 32, who came from Cornwall four years ago to play both lacrosse and hockey, and the other is 28-year-old George Coles, who came from Orillia four years ago.

Backbone of the club's defence is big Bill Whitaker, the six-foot-two goalie who weighs 190 pounds. Other experienced players are Gus Madsen, 29-year-old team captain, Frank Madsen, Carson Myers, Billie Mackie, Doug Cove, Punk Morton, Norm McDonald, Billy Nelson and Bobby Thorpe. Rookies are Jack Gatecliff, Gord Moore, Ken Croft, Bucko Lachanse, Tommy Bye and Billy Frick.

Each Mann Cup finalist is entitled to name six other players from its own zone as eligible to take part in the series. These players are not certain of seeing action, but they are eligible. The six nominated by Athletics are Scoop Hayes, George Master, Al McLean and Alvin Doyle of Mimico Mountaineers, Joe Murphy of Toronto Lakeshores and Bill Arthurs of Brampton Excelsiors.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 5 — (CP). — There is much uneasy speculation around some sport camps in Quebec, where the boys are wondering just how tough Premier Duplessis is going to be in his treatment of what he terms "rackets" in the Quebec world of sport.

Of course, none of us would willingly admit that there actually is anything untoward or even odoriferous in sportdom anywhere—not even in the restling ranks—but the Premier seems to think there are certain shady elements which need investigation.

The whole business is very painful indeed to the gentlemen whose only desire has been to provide a trusting public with a wholesome entertaining bill of sport fare. That there might be a few black sheep among them is a possibility that the average fan doesn't think about as long as he is entertained.

At any rate, it is going to be a slow and tedious process to uncover these "rackets" and do anything constructive about the whole thing. Premier Duplessis is a brave man even to think of attempting it.

No hint of scandal:

Striking proof that big league baseball is strictly on the up and up was given by Joe Burns and Doug Vaughan in the Windsor Star after St. Louis Browns nudged Detroit for the American League flag. The border sportsters reported that Washington Senators, who downed Tigers and let the Browns slide into the championship, almost to a man wanted the Missourians to lose out. But that didn't stop them from putting everything they had into their games with Detroit. There couldn't be any better proof of the honesty of the players than the way they humbled Tigers and let their enemies the Browns win out.

Remember When—

Nurse Sanders said their majesties came to inspect the officers' club where she was staying, and she was thrilled as they talked to her party for about ten minutes.

Pte. H. Ephgrave Sees Country In Rapid Drive

Pte. Harold Ephgrave has covered considerable territory since the invasion of France began, and in the period of a few weeks fought in Southern France, Northern France and Belgium, according to three letters which arrived together for his father, Harold Ephgrave, 854 George street.

One of the highlights of the advances was watching the first Belgian flag replacing the Swastika in Bruges, he wrote in a letter dated September 14. He recently transferred to the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry and has taken part in the rapid advance across France and Belgium.

"We are really getting around these days and the weather has been grand. Since we have been waiting around a bit, we have enjoyed it to the full. I have slept in some funny places over here. One night we are in a barn and then in houses or in a field. The night we spent in Belgium we were in a big castle. So far I have not had to sleep in a slit trench yet.

"One good thing, we have been getting lots of fresh fruit here. When we went through the towns in Belgium the people swamped us with apples, pears and tomatoes. They seemed to be far nicer than the French and the towns are much neater."

Massive Defences

In a letter dated September 11, he commented on the lovely weather the troops had had since they entered Belgium, and said that as he was sitting writing he could hear the Germans getting a pasting. Sgt. Ephgrave also mentioned meeting Fred Heslip, who is in the same brigade, but the Royal Regiment of Canada.

"I saw the defences at Dieppe the other day and they are certainly a massive entanglement," Pte. Ephgrave wrote, September 8. "I am in a rifle company now, the first time since I have been in the army, so I guess I am through working at my trade until the war is over."

Enlisting with the Prince of Wales Rangers (C.A.), he has been in the army three years, and has transferred several times. Prior to going overseas with the London Fusiliers, he was a sergeant instructor in mountain warfare and skiing, but had to revert to private in order to leave Canada. Prior to enlisting he was the foreman carpenter for his father.

A brother, Ross, with the R.C.A. at the trade school in Kingston, and two first cousins, Lawrence Snider and D. L. M. Haliburton, are with the Navy. His mother had three brothers in the last war, one of whom was killed, and his father has a brother who was blinded serving with the Imperial Army. Mr. Ephgrave also has four nephews in the Army.

Two Accidents Mar Record Of Safety Week

Safety Week accidents, so far, have been two. They are only minor mishaps which in any other week of the year would not receive a second thought, except that they could have been avoided.

In one of the city's big plants, a man slipped on the floor and hurt his ribs. In another an employee was lifting a piece of steel off a rack. In some way it fell—and broke his glasses, and a small splinter of glass in his eye sent him to the plant hospital for first aid.

There was also a minor traffic accident uptown, Tom Lister told the Examiner today. Not one of these affairs caused serious injury or loss of time.

"Accidents disrupt industry, disturb the domestic household, and are too often a most serious shock and injury to the victim," Mr. Lister said. "If a man or woman is hurt in a department, the other employees are naturally concerned. They are sympathetic and would like to help the person injured. The victim is taken home and the same upsetting of normal conditions reach into that little community with anxiety and worry.

This week's minimum of accidents is an example of what Safety Week can effect. It makes people a little more careful and conscious of their own safety. But, in four or five weeks this attentiveness and forethought will relax and something serious may happen."

Fashion Show

The public is reminded of the safety fashion show at the Collegiate Institute tonight.

The speaker for this Safety Week feature will be Don Gasper of Canada Cement Company, Hull, Quebec. Tom Taylor of Ventilating Shades will be chairman.

Some one has suggested that the city council could more actively promote the spirit of Safety Week by actually doing, as an example of safety precautions, one or more of the recently recommended alterations which have been proposed in the service of public safety.

One of them is the "safety island" at Sherbrooke and Park streets. Another might be, although it remains beyond aldermanic vision, the need of permanent sidewalk on the east side of Rubidge street between Rink and Townsend streets, as a facility to encourage pedestrians to avoid the crossing of that long "gore" in front of the C. G. E. offices.

Accept Proposals

The council accepted this week a string of safety proposals from a special committee it appointed.

Suggestion follows that the city council could give a filip to public thought and consciousness of Safety Week by putting into effect during SAFETY WEEK one or more of these recommendations, obtaining a hook-up between project and accomplishment in safety promotion.

It is also felt that domestic safety precautions are being neglected during this week, or at least are not being emphasized to the extent they deserve.

Fire Damages Champlain Hotel

Fire of doubtful origin swept the upper part of tthe Champlain Hotel Wednesday afternoon, enveloping the building in smoke and causing tenants to take to the sidewalk as firemen battled their way through the ceiling to the motor of the general ventilating system which had caught fire about 4.14 p.m.

No. 1 and 2 pumpers of the department made their way to the front and rear of the Charlotte street hotel, and through booster lines pumped the contents of their water tanks into the building. Two hundred gallons sufficed to extenguish the blaze, though firemen stood ready to pour in additional gallonage by means of the hydrant hoek-up.

The ventilating system itself suffered heavy damage, but prior to a further inspection of the scene of the fire this morning, the Fire Department was unable to states whether the motor was beyond repair. On the basis of early information, loss to the hotel was placed somewhere between $500 and $1,000.

It was thought possible that a burning cigarette sucked in by the continuous draft of the air-conditioning system might have been responsible for the start of the blaze, but one or two other theories were entertained as well by the fire chief; and it was hoped that the investigation to be made to-day might throw further light on the mystery of the fire's beginnings.

A discoloration of the ceiling of the top floor was the first indication Wednesday afternoon that something was amiss. A three-foot gap separates the ceiling and the actual roof of the hotel, and in this space the ventilating machinery is installed. As soon as the discoloration was noticed by an employee, hotel management phoned the Fire Department and tenants advised to vacate their rooms. Soon thereafter, billowing smoke, dark and heavy, began to seep through the building. At its height, the fire produced flames that leaped fifteen and twenty feet over the roof.

Closed off from the source of the fire by the ceiling below the ventillating system, firemen were forced to cut a hole through in order to play the water on the burning motor, but despite the difficulties the fire was not of long duration and the pumpers, unaided, supplied the gallonage needed to put it out.

Court Fines Hunter For Lack Of License

Aleric Coughlin, Campbellford, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs in police court this morning when he entered a written plea of guilty to a charge of hunting without a license.

The charge was laid by Fish and Game Overseer Stan. Windsor after he had found Coughlin with a firearm near South Lake in Belmont township.

On a charge of stealing a quantity of merchandise from F. H. Johnston, Lawrence E. Wilfong was committed for trial by Magistrate O. A. Langley. He was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair.

Council Decides To Ignore Housing Plan

That urban municipalities be empowered to set up housing authorities, under the National Housing Act of 1944, for the purpose of constructing low-rent housing projects with funds to be provided by the Dominion Government at a low rate of interest.

That was clause one of a Winnipeg Council resolution considered by Peterborough Council this week.

And that such housing accommodation be available for rent to low income families at one-fifth of their income, and that losses, if any, be borne by the Dominion Government. At that rate the scale of rents would be related to ability to pay, rather than to the value of the tenanted property. The family man earning $1,200 a year would have to pay $240 a year or $20 a month.

The preamble to the resolution mentioned that according to the 1941 census there were 9,457 wage-earners' families in Winnipeg with an annual income of less than $950 a year. It also affirmed that the Housing Act did not provide for the construction of houses for the people in the low income group, "and large numbers of wage-earning families in Winnipeg are improperly housed."

Alderman Dutton remarked that after the experience of the years of depression, this country could surely afford fifty million dollars on housing projects as commendably as the same amount for unemployment relief.

Alderman Curtis said that the National Housing Act as passed this year had not yet been accepted by the lending institutions. Alderman Glover suggested that Winnipeg's first need was to get its wages up to a higher level.

The resolution was received, signifying that the Council declined to endorse it.

Personal Gifts To Give Christmas Cheer

At no season of the year is the personal act of giving to make others happy more prevalent than at Christmas, and very few people having the means and power of so doing would wish to be without the pleasure that they can both give and receive, while the time and opportunity to do so is theirs.

While this has in a general sense prevailed for many long years back, during the past five years it has been much accentuated, because of the huge numbers of people whom the exigencies of war have caused or forced to be absent from their homes at that time, among whom the children of Britain made homeless through the destruction of their homes, or evacuated to other safer regions to avoid the danger from enemy air raid attacks, have had quite a place in the hearts of the people of this city and district.

Commencing with the Christmas of 1940, the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund acting on behalf of the residents in these parts, has made a splendid contribution towards giving these children in Britain some cheer for the Yuletide season, every time the appeal was made, the objective at that time being fully reached, and on one occasion surpassed to a considerable degree.

This year a much enlarged need for the same purpose is existent, due to the terrible destruction of property wrought by the robot bomb. So the fund has commenced once more the task of raising what is hoped will be the best of all donations to bring cheer to these boys and girls, which in itself will be a fitting climax to a most worthy effort put forth for the past four years by people of this city and district.

Since July 11 of this year, the fund has had no less than twelve different lists of purely personal gifts, and today sees the lucky 13th of these appearing, which also will be the first of such to go towards the special donations for Christmas.

A glance at the list of donors on this occasion will show that quite a number have been steady supporters of the fund, outstanding among whom is the lady known as "In as much" who has now given no less sum of $10, and another good supporter in the person of Mrs. A. J. Hall is also once again included in the acknowledgements for the fund.

Two out-of-town contributions are also included, one from Miss Mary Seeney at Havelock, and the other from "A friend" at Ottawa, while a further gift is also noted from "H. D." who has given a like amount of $2 for at least half of these lists of purely personal gifts in the past three months.

One man who has been responsible for a number of out-of-the-city gifts coming to the fund also is included for his own personal gift, and from a knowledge born of intimacy with the records, one can also add that practically all of the eleven donors have helped the fund on previous occasions.

H. L. Garner, of Peterborough, was elected president of the provincial committee. Other officers elected included E. H. Roles, Hamilton; J. G. Thompson, London; Dr. George Westman, Sault Ste. Marie; Fred MacKay, Owen Sound, and Dr. J. L. King, Galt.

$11,248 Added In Drive For New Centre

A splendid increase in the manufacturers canvass, carrying it well past the designated goal of $100,000, highlighted progress this morning in the Memorial Community Centre drive, now entering on its final three days, with $161,652.35 colected so far.

The addition of $7,850 to the 100 per cent mark reached Tuesday by the city's manufacturing firms was the cause of much rejoicing and generally higher spirits than have prevailed for some days at the finance offices of the drive among the men who have been working hard to put the campaign in the category of Peterborough's successful enterprises.

Altogether a figure of $11,248.50 was added to the Centre's funds since Wednesday, with the second largest increase chalked up by the special names and retail merchants division, amounting to $1,878. Gains in the remaining two sections of the canvass were still of a limited sort, but the picture of the windup of the drive as committee members speculate on what is immediately in the offing, provides somewhat of a basis for optimism even here.

For neither the employees' canvass or the general canvass are near completion yet, and the spur that the last opportunity to contribute to a project which has already drawn substantial support from many firms and many individuals should put into those who really want to give something but for one reason or another haven't yet gotten around to it, may well produce a finale with appreciably different results between now and the end of the week.

None of the 26 teams working on the general canvass have completed their jobs and handed in a final report; and here lies the explanation of a sum total of contributions that today had only come up to a figure of $5,586 on an objective of $15,000. The day's increase was $524.

Regarding the employees canvass, which showed an additional $1,000 bringing its total to $40,777, that section requires nearly $30,000 more to reach its objective. However, as stated before, the canvass is not yet finished in a number of the city plants.

Westclox Foremen Help

The finance committee expressed pleasure today at the receipt of two special donations. One, for $50, was from the treasury of the Westclox Foremen's Club, of which E. J. Hotston is president and G. J. Wyatt treasurer. The other, also for $50, came from the Women's Association of Trinity United Church, and was presented on behalf of the association by Mrs. N. Seaton, the president; Miss E. Morrow, treasurer, and Mrs. A. J. Boorne, secretary.

John E. Keyes, finance committee chairman, stated that the action of the women's organization, showing as it does how widely diversified interest in the Centre has become, was very deeply appreciated; and expressed the hope that the example set by these ladies would soon be followed by similar action elsewhere. The Westclox foremen's donation, Mr. Keyes said, was from the club itself and was independent of contributions made by plant employees in the plant canvass.

Britons Will Want Holidays After The War

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 5 (CP)—Urgent national action and special legislation to care for the millions of Britons who will want a holiday after the war are recommended in a report prepared for the Liberal party by Sir Ronald Davison, a former Labor Ministry official.

Interesting suggestions such as $40 round trips to Russia and the United States are contained in Sir Ronald's memorandum which has been published in pamphlet form. Britain, he estimates, will have some 30,000,000 persons all wanting holidays after five years of war work and unless some plans are made to cater for them it will be a case of "all dressed up and nowhere to go."

The government, Sir Ronald says, must take the lead by converting munitions hostels and service camp sites into small, compact holiday centres where a man, wife and their children can spend a holiday for about $25 a week, everything included.

Management should be in the hands of a National Holiday Centre Corporation and varied sites should be established so all types of holiday-makers—families with children, old persons, single men and women, cyclists and hikers—can find a place of their choice.

The overseas cruise idea probably is Sir Ronald's most interesting proposition. They would not be luxury voyages for ships would be equipped simply and most of the work aboard, cleaning and cooking, would be done by the passengers.

Travellers might take a hand in elementary duties to teach them the ways of a ship at sea. Evening classes before the voyage could enlighten prospective passengers about the countries and peoples they planned to visit. Some might study the languages before making the trip.

Early in the war Lord Croft, Under-Secretary for War, told the House of Lords that it was planned to arm the home guard with pikes. Almost immediately the peer was abused and lampooned in speech, print and cartoon and the war office did not fare any better.

It appears now it was all a big mistake. The home guard got its "pikes" all right, but they were really regulation bayonets and, said Lord Croft, disclosing the true facts, they were "poetically called pikes" solely "to appeal to British tradition."

Furthermore, he added, the decision to issue them to the home guard—"a wise decision"—was not his at all but that of "the authorities".

Reporter Tries His German On The Germans

By Maurice Desjardins
Canadian Press War Correspondent

GERMANY, Oct. 5.—(CP).— We crossed the German border one mile behind the punctured Siegfried Line and stopped at a hamlet on the outskirts of Aachen.

There was no sign of life along the deserted road and we noticed that none of the 20-odd houses flew the white flag. Presently three clean looking German boys of teen age emerged from a farm house.

I beckoned to them and they came running. They had serious faces and looked at us with as much curiosity as we were examining them. They were the first Germans I was actually seeing in their Fatherland and as they stared at me I felt sure I was the first Canadian they had seen.

One of the kids wore a badge on the lapel of his coat. I asked him in my freshly-learned German "Was is das? Hitler jugend?"

"Nein," he answered emphatically, "Das ist fur Schwimmen."

One of his pals produced a pear from his coat pocket. and unsmilingly offered it to me. I glanced inquisitively at Lieut. Dave Campbell of Hamilton who was with me. The German boy saw my hesitation and quickly said, "Das ist gut, das ist gut."

The first one — the champion swimmer—then rattled off a long sentence which I interpreted as an invitation to enter his home and meet his mother.

Inside the house where the boy —Arnold—took us we met his father and mother. The walls inside were bare but we could see two nails above the cast iron stove. We did not ask what pictures had been hanging there but we had a good idea.

Followed a dismally unsuccessful attempt at conversation. The German family could not make out what I was saying in my elementary German but I was completely submerged in the guttural flow of their replies, I gathered however by noting their gestures that Hitler was no good and that Goebbels was a little rat.

Trenton O.C. Presents Plaque To Students For Buying Plane

Nicholls Oval played host Wednesday afternoon to hundreds of eager young children from Peterborough and rural schools, who jammed the park for a gala celebration arranged in recognition of their efforts in purchasing sufficient War Savings stamps to pay for a Hurricane fighter plane. The children enjoyed a half-holiday from school to attend.

The highlight of the day's program came when, on behalf of the Royal Canadian Air Force, Group Captain Bell-Irwing, Officer Commanding the Trenton R.C.A.F. station, presented a beautiful, carved plaque, inscribed with the R.C.A.F. motto and insignia, to K. S. Wightman, inspector of public schools for Peterborough, who accepted the tribute on the behalf of every school child.

A fighter-pilot in the last war, and twice decorated for his distinguished service in the air, Group Capt. Bell-Irwing was introduced by C. S. Browne, principal of Peterborough Collegiate, the Trenton O.C. said, "I've flown the Hurricane, and I know what a fine little aircraft it is."

"Some of you children before me," he continued, "will undoubtedly take up flying as a career. However, you will fly in circumstances other than war!"

Showing the R.C.A.F. plaque to the children, he told them the R.C.A.F. motto inscribed on it read, "Per ardua, ad astra". (Through earnest endeavor, to the stars").

"In presenting the plaque to you", he said, "I wish to thank you sincerely on behalf of the Royal Canadian Air Force and His Majesty's Royal Air Force. More power to you; may God bless you."

Accept Plaque

Mr. Wightman accepted the plaque, "with sincere thanks, on behalf of every school child who had a share in this notable effort."

Senator J. J. Duffus told the children he felt it a great honor to be invited to the gathering, and congratulated the parents of the children, the teachers in the schools, and the children themselves, for their $25,000 achievement. "Many years from now", he said, "you will look back on this event with a great sense of pride and satisfaction."

For the children, the afternoon struck a refreshing keynote of fun and entertainment. Refreshment stands on the grounds catered to the youngsters, featuring, among other treats, big taffy-apples. During the afternoon, rare indeed was the child found without a huge taffy-apple clasped in his hands.

Styles in music was provided by the Trenton R.C.A.F. Band, under Bandmaster E. Hancock.

A talented and versatile group, the band switched periodically from the strains of stirring martial music, into a lilting sweet-swing tempo. The popular Peterborough Sea Cadets Band also helped create the musical atmosphere. Under the direction of Quirt McKinney, the crowd joined in a sing-song, featuring everything from "Land of Hope and Glory" to "Mairsy Doates".

Two Clowns

Two comic acts timed-excellently, drew gales of laughter from the "oldsters" present, and sent the children into riots. Nelson Kelly, a ventriloquist asked amusing questions of his comically-attired doll . . . and, to the delight of everyone, received answers from it just as funny. Tom Hamilton as a clown, brought children onto the stage, had them sing, and proved, generally, that a clown is always good for more than one laugh.

Miss Caroline Littlefield, of the Young Women's Christian Association, produced a show in girl's timed athletics and routines that drew applause from everyone.

R. F. Downey, inspector of schools for Peterborough West and Victoria East, was the master of ceremonies for the celebration, and also, chairman of the committee that arranged the program.

He expressed his appreciation of the work done by the students, and urged them to keep up the good work in the future. He appealed to the boys and girls to pick milk-weed pods, which are urgently needed to fill life-jackets for men in the services.

Late in the afternoon, the program was climaxed appropriately enough, by the antics of a Hurricane fighter-bomber, flown by Flight-Lieut. Terry Evans, which flew low over the park, and accomplished various stunts in the air. For more than 30 minutes, the swift fighter plane brought shouts of approval from the children, and a sense of personal ownership of the famed aircraft was apparent on many faces.

An interesting exhibit was that of the Red Cross: a field ambulance displayed for the children. Pupils were admitted into the ambulance to inspect it, and a large crowd surrounded it at all times. Among hose present who explained its intricacies were Cpl. McDonald, Driver Watson, Driver Clark, and Cpl. McKechrain. Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy, Mrs. H. T. Rehill, Mrs. J. H. Vernor and Mrs. H. Turner were also present.

Among the Y.W.C.A. girls who presented the athletic parade, were Ruth Choate, Ethal Hopkins, Lillian Wood, Gladys Lewis, Marilyn Hollingsworth, Sunny Gray, Lona Martin, Madeleine O'Connor, Shirley Orde, Edith McIlhagga, Elisabeth Rowell, Mary Braund, and Wilma Doughty. Music from the piano was played by Mrs. Mildred McBride, Mrs. W. Preston, and Jack Marshall.

A Red Cross ambulance from Toronto was on the grounds through the courtesy of Mrs. Reg. Turner and the refreshment booths were operated by the service clubs.

German Troops Wreck Villa Irk Canadians

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—(CP).— The assault landing craft flotilla unit attached to the Canadian Navy's combined operations ship Prince David had a busy but easy time in the Southern France invasion, but their first glee at being billeted in a fashionable villa was deflated when they found the condition it was left in by Germans.

Lieut. R. G. Buckingham of Montreal, commander of this only all-Canadian detachment to take part in the landings, said the Canadians had moved into the villa with great expectations but they found the Germans had wrecked its interior, breaking up the furniture, cutting mattresses and pillows and hacking a handsome car to pieces.

But the Canadians had a week of swimming in the Mediterranean and acting as marine traffic cops for incoming convoys.

The flotilla hit the coast originally about eight hours before the main assault force, carrying in French commandos for specialized jobs of demobilization. They later landed reinforcements and then took over the villa while acting as marine police.

"We didn't have much excitement," commented Lieut. Ken Crowhurst of Chapleau, Ont., a former Canadian naval commando who joined the David just before it left for the invasion, "There was one Jerry plane which used to whizz along the coast every night on reconnaissance and every ship in the place would shoot at it, but it always got away."

Among the Canadian ratings in the flotilla were AB. B. Cameron, Iroquois Falls, Ont.; AB. G. Doran, Belleville, Ont.; Stoker J. Funnell, Lansdowne, Ont.; AB. H. Tripp, Petedborough, Ont.; AB. E. J. Wright, Point Edward, Ont.; Stoker J. Evans, Galt, Ont.

Price Controls To Be Eased As Pea ce Comes

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 5 —(CP)—Donald Gordon, Prices Board chairman, said today in an interview that board controls imposed to prevent chaos in prices and supplies must be removed in "a sensible way" as war demands lessen or chaos will come with peace.

"We have had the responsibility of imposing controls during the war-time period and we recognize we have a similar responsibility in removing them," he said.

Almost three years ago the far-reaching controls made effective by the board were announced by the Federal Government. Although the war is not over, some relaxations have been possible in making supplies available for civilian consumption.

"The board policy is that we shall press for the relaxation of controls as quickly as possible, for from our point of view the sooner they can be dispensed with the better," Gordon said.

"We are not trying to retain unnecessary controls. All of us in the Prices Board are looking forward to the day when we can complete our work here and allow prices and trade to resume their normal courses. We are not attempting to organize a planned economy for Canada."

The board will remain in the picture during the transition period after the peace, whenever it comes. It will remain in operation after the end of the war in Europe and while the battle against Japan may be continuing.

Relaxations in supplies probably will be possible when the European conflict is over but controls still will be needed, although perhaps in modified form. This will mean that if materials in limited supply are needed for plows and golf clubs, the plow manufacturers will get the nod.

"All the time we will be working towards the objective of having the ordinary business of the country returned to complete freedom," said Gordon.

Lieut. Robert Umphrey, Toronto, spent the week-end at his home.

Directional Finder Spots Nazi Planes

TORONTO, Oct. 5.— (CP).—By use of a "fighter direction ship" in the English channel, the Allies could "see" Nazi planes take off from their bases more than 100 miles from the Normandy coast invasion beaches, it was revealed here to-day by a young Toronto naval officer just returned from overseas, Lt.-Cmdr. Ronald Weyman, 29.

"Our job was to cruise up and down the channel 'spotting' enemy planes on the way to attack our forces," he said. "Often their aircraft never got off the ground before they were attacked by our fighters." Details of the spotting devices were not disclosed.

FALLS INTO CISTERN

GUELPH, Oct. 5 — (CP). — Mrs. H. Crowhill, 82, of Guelph, was rescued from a cistern into which she accidentally fell yesterday by three firemen, Lieut. Joseph Steffler, Leonard Cross and Horace Warden. She was standing in water chest deep when Cross and Steffler lifted her out.

Weather May Prolong War In Europe

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspo[ndent]

WITH THE 1ST CANA[DIAN] ARMY, Oct. 5 — (CP. Cable). [...] not only will be a stiff fight t[o de]stroy the enemy legions rushed [into] the Netherlands to block British [and] Canadian forces from brea[ching] the barrier of the Rhine, but i[t] will be a neck-and-neck race a[gainst] the weather.

If there is a good stretc[h of] weather for only a few wee[ks to] give the vast Allied air forces [an] opportunity to pummel the [Ger]mans and their communica[tions] the battle of Holland could re[ach a] climax rapidly.

From this Netherlands sp[ring]board Field Marshal Montgom[ery's] forces could drive into Germa[ny in] mighty strength. The campaign[...] the war, against Germany may [...] be over by year's end.

But if the weather turns b[ad] and it has been patchy and unf[avor]able recently — the campaign [...] drag on into the winter.

October will be the vital m[onth.] In Brussels and at various form[ation] headquarters you hear many [...] officers say: "give us clear we[ather] in October and we have it i[n the] bag; a clear-cut decision wou[ld be] reached before Christmas."

Of Interest to Women

POPULAR PELT—Although promotion seems to be centered around flat furs, such as caracul, kidskin, broadtail, women, especially young, pretty women, still favor the fluffy fox family. Coats of glistening silver fox always appear at any smart event, and the girl who spends much time out of doors likes lynx or lynx-dyed fox. Irene Manning of the movies likes this lynx dyed fox for chilly autumn weather. It is made with tapering sleeves and a collarless neckline.

Colorful Menu Is Suggested For Thanksgiving Dinner

"And may the Lord make us truly thankful." The Grace of our childhood was perhaps never more appropriate than at this Thanksgiving Season, for truly, we in Canada have much to give thanks for. Many families cannot be together on this holiday but there are lonely folk nearby and there's a joy in sharing our Thanksgiving Dinner with them.

And it can be a dinner in the traditional manner this year. Chickens are plentiful and even turkeys are not the 'rare birds' they have been at other wartime Thanksgivings.

The Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture suggests a colourful Thanksgiving menu complete with recipes.

Thanksgiving Dinner.

Grape Ale Cocktail*
Roast Chicken.
Giblet Cube Stuffing*.
Crabapple Jelly—Brown Gravy.
Baked Potatoes.
Egg Plant Scallop*
Buttered Sprouts or Broccoli.
Pumpkin Chiffon Pie*
Beverage.

Grape Ale Cocktail.

1½ cups grape juice.
1½ cups gingerale.

Chill ingredients thoroughly, mix and serve. Ice may be added if desired. Yield 3 cups.

To Roast Chicken.

Allow ¾ to 1 lb. dressed weight per person (dressed weight is the weight before the poultry is drawn and includes the feet and head).

Clean, stuff and truss the bird and place breast down on a rack or crossed skewers in an uncovered roasting pan, with no water or fat added. Cook in a slow or moderately slow oven 300 to 325 deg F allowing 30 minutes to the pound. Baste, occasionally with fat during cooking. Turn bird breast side up during the last hour of cooking. Cooking time varies somewhat with the size and shape of the bird and with personal taste. To test, run a metal skewer through the thickest part of the breast and thigh. The meat should be tender and the juice show no reddish tinge. A meat thermometer, if used, should register 190 deg. F. if placed in the centre of the thigh and 180 deg. F if placed in the centre of the stuffing.

Giblet Cube Stuffing.

Giblets.
¼ cup mild-flavoured fat.
2 tablespoons chopped onion.
¼ cup chopped celery.
4 cups lightly toasted ½-inch bread cubes (about 5 half-inch slices of bread).
1 teaspoon chopped parsley.
1½ teaspoons salt.
⅛ teaspoon pepper.
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning about ½ cup giblet broth.

Simmer giblets in salted water for 30 minutes, then chop fine. Save ½ cup of the broth for dressing, use the rest in the gravy. Cook onion and celery in fat until clear. Mix with bread cubes, parsley and seasonings, giblets and enough hot broth to moisten cubes slightly. Sufficient to stuff a 5 pound chicken.

Eggplant Scallop.

1 medium egg-plant.
3 tablespoons mild-flavoured fat.
4 medium tomatoes.
1 tablespoon salt.
⅛ teaspoon paprika.
1 tablespoon brown sugar.
3 tablespoons grated cheese.
2 tablespoons grated onion.

Cut eggplant into ¼ inch slices and peel. Peel tomatoes and cut in ½ inch slices. Saute eggplant in fat until lightly browned. Remove from pan and lightly saute tomato slices. Place a layer of eggplant in bottom of greased baking dish. Cover with a layer of tomato slices. Combine salt, paprika, brown sugar and cheese. Sprinkle mixture over layers. Repeat layers until all vegetables are used. Top with grated onion. Bake in moderate oven, 325 deg. F. until eggplant is tender — about 30 minutes. Six servings.

Pumpkin Chiffon Pie.

3½ cups cooked pumpkin.
1 cup brown sugar.
3 eggs.
1½ teaspoons vinegar.
¼ teaspoon cloves.
½ teaspoon mace.
½ teaspoon allspice.
2 teaspoons cinnamon.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 cups milk.
2 baked 9-inch pie shells.

Bake or steam pumpkin until tender, press through a sieve Measure and mix with ¾ cup brown sugar, beaten egg yolks, spices, salt and milk. Cook in the top of a double boiler until thickened, about 20 minutes. Beat egg whites until stiff, beating in remaining ¼ cup sugar and fold meringue quickly into the pumpkin mixture. Pour filling into the baked pie shells and bake in a moderately hot oven, 357 deg. F, for 10 minutes. Cool and serve.

92 Attend Rally Of Y.P. Unions

Charles Hemsley of Lakefield, who was guest speaker, discussed "Building a Better World." He stressed that "our faith is not in our ships and men alone, but is in our faith in God," and stated that, in order to build perfectly, "we must purify our thoughts; feed our souls; and build our bodies."

Warren Trotter, president of the Presbytery, brought a report on the suggested activities for Young People, from the recent conference convention in Belleville, and various conveners in the Presbytery gave pointers on their departments. Miss Gladys Langton, Presbytery recreation leader, led the group in games, followed by a sing-song led by Miss Loretta McDougall. Fairview Union was in charge of the worship service, when Carmen Bell and John Lewis sang a duet, "God's Way Is the Best Way."

Norwood, Keene and Hastings unions, with a total of 49 present, were represented at a meeting in Norwood Wednesday evening, where the executive conducted a meeting similar to the one in Peterborough. The Keene Union, however, was in charge of the worship service, when a solo, "Just for Today" was sung.

Charles Hemsley, in his address, followed up his theme of building a better world, and pointed out the value of a Christian Fellowship. He said that it was necessary to have unity of purpose as young people, or failure would result.

There will be two more rallys conducted by the Presbytery executive. The first will be held Friday evening in Millbrook, and the other on the following Tuesday eevning in Lakefield.

Portia White Is Acclaimed By Concert Association

By ROBERTSON DAVIES.

It is always a pleasure to hear a young concert artist who is obviously destined for a fine career; this pleasure is doubled when the artist is a Canadian. On Wednesday night Miss Portia White of Halifax gave a distinguished recital to the local Community Concert Association which roused the audience to great enthusiasm: Miss White's professional career has covered little more than two years and already she is established in the first rank of contralto singers; in another three years she will be as well known, on this continent at least, as Marion Anderson, and after that it is impossible to foresee what the future may hold for her. It is some years since Canada made any contribution of importance to the world of song, and we may all rejoice in Portia White's success.

She began her recital with "Divinites du Styx", from Gluck's Alceste, a favourite war-horse of contralto singers. The aria is a demanding one in both the technical and dramatic senses, but Miss White had taken its measure and was perfectly able to cope with it. It was obvious from the first deep and sincere tones that she knew precisely what she was going to do with the plea of Alcestis, and she did it perfectly, thrillingly and with magnificent assurance.

Miss White followed this admirable beginning with a group of German 'lieder', and it was in these that she showed her weakness. She has a great voice, but she appears to be deficient in poetic insight, and without this quality the singing of 'lieder' is an ungrateful business. This is not to say that her German group was poor; she sang the Wolf setting of Morike's "Der Gartner" delightfully, and she gave fervour, if not deep understanding, to Strauss' "Wie sollten wir geheim sie halten". But in Schubert's "Aufenthalt" it was impossible not to compare her unfavourably with Marion Anderson, who sings the same song with a wealth of feeling and understanding which leaves Miss White nowhere. The same criticism must apply to her rendering of "Der Tod und das Madchen"; her Maiden was too agitated, and her Death too lacking in comfort. But this failure of poetic insight was the only important handicap which Miss White revealed during a long recital, and fortunately it is a quality which more study, and more experience on the platform will develop; it is rarely that a young artist has it; it must be acquired painfully.

Apart from these 'lieder' there seems to be no category of song in which Miss White is not brilliantly successful. She sang two French-Canadian songs charmingly, and a group of Negro Spirituals in which she was beyond criticism. In dramatic music she was obviously happy and entirely competent. Dalilah's famous song of seduction ("My heart at thy sweet voice") from Saint-Saens opera was perhaps the high point of her program, though connoisseurs of agility and flexibility of tone might have preferred the aria which she sang from Donizetti's almost forgotten "La Favorita". Miss White also sang a group of ballads, and ended her program with "Indra, God of Storm and Battle", one of Gustav Holst's settings of Vedic hymns. In some ways this was the most demanding number on her program, and in it Miss White showed some signs of fatigue; a volume and intensity of tone was wanted which she was not quite able to give. This was not altogether surprising, for her recital on Wednesday night was the third since the beginning of the week. She generously sang three encores.

The Concert Association, growing in membership, has planned a splendid season for 1944-45. It will not be long before it has outgrown the P.C.V.I. Auditorium, and the necessity for a large hall in Peterborough will be even more obvious than it is now.

Understanding Of Words Needed

The advantages of reading intelligently were outlined by Father F. Morrocco at the October meeting of the Catholic Junior League. Father Morrocco suggested the use of a dictionary for reference while reading, in order to get out of an article everything the author meant to put into it. He used as an example the phrase, "To realize the mass and communion," and explained in detail how the full import of these words could be understood only when the exact meaning of the key word, "realize," was known.

Miss D. Strickland, program convener, introduced the speaker and accompanied Mrs. L. Picard who sang "The Glow Worm." The assembly was reminded to collect clothing for the summage sale which is to be held October 21 at 261 George street. Donations are to be taken to this store on Thursday evening between 7 and 9.30. Red Cross convener, Miss T. Lucas, asked for volunteers to sew at the Public Library on Tuesday or Thursday evenings. Miss Lucas stated that there was also an urgent need for more Red Cross knitting.

The president read a letter from St. Peter's C.W.L. regarding the Junior League's contribution to the soldiers' Christmas boxes, and Mrs. William McFadden was instructed to contact the war work convener of the C.W.L. to discuss what would be most suitable.

Resignations of Councillors Mrs. Brown and Miss C. Corkery were accepted. Miss V. Scollard, as social convener, and Miss D. Strickland, as program convener, were voted to replace them.

The December meeting will be in the form of a dinner party, and it was decided to ask Mrs. Davies of the Toronto Catholic Junior League to be the guest speaker. All members were requested to be present at the Knights of Columbus rooms Friday evening at 9.30 for the reception and dance the Junior League are sponsoring for the graduates of St. Peter's High School. Miss H. Sullivan, education convener, had on hand the prize which will be given to the best all-round girl graduating from St. Peter's School. Two new members, Mrs. George Sullivan and Miss Margaret Foley, were installed.

Auxliary Tea Popular Event

Mrs. George Groombridge, Rogers street, was hostess Wednesday afternoon, for a delightful tea, in aid of the St. John Scout Mother's Auxiliary, to raise funds to send Christmas boxes to former Scouts and Rovers now serving in Canada's armed forces. A large number of guests were present during the afternoon, and members of the Auxiliary were pleased with the response to this appeal. There are about 16 former Scouts and Rovers serving overseas, and large boxes will be sent to them in the near future, while the approximately 14 or 15 boys serving in Canada will also receive well-filled boxes.

Receiving with Mrs. Groombridge was Mrs. Percy Hooper, and Mrs. F. Ford was treasurer. The house was filled with bouquets of autumn flowers, while the tea table, sets with a lace cloth, was centred with a silver basket of vari-colored zinnias and autumn flowers, set on a reflector with silver tea services at the end. Pouring tea were Mrs. H. V. Dobson and Mrs. F. Buckland. Assisting in serving were Mrs. J. Cridland, Mrs. F. Marshall, Mrs. W. Brown and Mrs. A. Patterson.

A sale of novelties donated by the members, with Mrs. L. Crocker in charge, proved popular. The jars of jam, plants, tea towels, aprons and various articles were quickly sold, and the receipts added greatly to the total proceeds of the tea. Miss Phyllis Marshall, Reid street, was the winner of the draw on a centrepiece, on which members had been selling tickets. Convener for the occasion was Mrs. R. Ford, assisted by Mrs. H. Lemmings.

Hostess Work Ready To Begin

Miss Gertrude Cox, convener of the Hostess Committee, reported that the work of her committee was under way again, and that hostesses in the city were being contacted, regarding home hospitality for soldiers stationed here, at the regular executive meeting of the Women's Voluntary Services, on Wednesday evening in their office.

Other reports given included Mrs. John Londerville's statement that 28 girls had put in 75 hours in canteen service, and a reported total of $55 in War Savings Stamps sold by ten Miss Canada girls, working on three Saturdays during the month of September. Plans were made for the distribution of the new ration books, and Mrs. W. Fanning, convener, announced that the place of distribution was the Market Hall.

S.A. League Has Party For Anson House

Residents of Anson House were the guests of the Salvation Army League of Mercy on a recent occasion at the Temple, when a lovely supper was served and an entertainment given. Tables were tastefully decorated, miniature Empire flags and flowers gracing the tables.

Following supper, which had been provided and prepared by members of the League of Mercy and the Auxiliary of the League, the Temple xylophone party gave a concert. Mrs. W. Boorman and Mr. Aubrey Mitchell recited, while Mr. Willis of Anson House gave a piano solo, "Abide With Me". Members of the Anson House Board were also present.

Mrs. John Wood, who had welcomed the guests, led a sing-song and was also the narrator for the lantern service which dealt with the personal interviews of Jesus with people of His day as recorded in the Scriptures.

The League of Mercy, which is in charge of Mrs. John Smith Sr., visits the aged folk of Anson House weekly and also Nicholls Hospital, distributing "The War Cry", holding regular services and dispensing cheer to the shut-ins.

Teacher Talks To Baby Band

Miss Margaret Harris, kindergarten teacher at Queen Mary School, gave an informal talk on her work with children at the regular meeting of the Trinity Baby Band, Wednesday evening. She described the daily procedure and the program carried out during the year. In the course of her talk she gave the mothers several suggestions and ways to help the teacher.

Mrs. H. Gray and Mrs. A. Malby read from the study book as members worked on layettes, and it was decided to send a donation to the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre. Members drew for articles to be made for the layettes for the next meeting, and Mrs. V. Skitch conducted several contests as refreshments were served. Mrs. A. Malby, president, was hostess at her home, 303 Rubidge street, and Mrs. N. Elliott moved the vote of thanks.

PARENTHOOD IS TWO-HANDED JOB

Father Responsible for Child's Upbringing As Much As The Busy Mother.

WE have been so busy laying the juvenile delinquency baby on Mother's doorstep that we have lost sight of the fact that Father has also a responsibility in the matter and that it is up to him to keep a wary eye on his youngsters and see that they walk the straight and narrow path.

Of course, when children go wrong, their mothers are chiefly to blame for it because it is the mother's hand that shapes the plastic little characters. It is Mother who sets the pattern of their lives and who breeds in them strength or weakness. It is Mother who forms their ideals. In great crises of life, we do not argue about right and wrong. We do the thing we were taught to do at our mothers' knees.

So if Mother flunks her job, her children's sins are on her head. If she is too weak to hold them to any code of decent conduct; if she is too foolishly fond to discipline them ever; if she takes her own pleasure at the expense of her duty as a mother and leaves her children to run the streets while she goes to parties, or devotes herself to causes, she is responsible for the boy gangster and the teenage girl harlot who are the heartbreaking problem of the world today.

But children have fathers as well as mothers, though in only too many households Father figures only as a biological necessity and a bill-payer. He feels he has done his full duty to his youngsters when he provides them with Grade-A milk and perambulators when they are babies and enough money to buy champagne and sport cars when they grow up.

Boast of Non-Interference

You actually will hear men boast that they never interfere in the rearing of their children; that they leave it entirely to the children's mothers. Yet these very men may know that their wives are weak, silly women who haven't enough judgment and intelligence to train up a puppy in the way it should go. They know that their children are being spoiled rotten; that they are being taught neither manners nor morals and that they are forming habits and making associations that will curse them as long as they live. Yet they do nothing to counteract the weak mother's evil influence. They do not lift a finger to save their children.

No man has a right to evade his responsibility as a father because parenthood is a two-handed job that neither a woman nor a man can pull off successfully alone. There comes a time in the lives of all children when, no matter how much they love their mother, they lose their respect for her judgment and defy her authority, because they think that she is unsophisticated and doesn't know what it is all about but they know their father is worldly wise and they heed his advice. No boy or girl who can talk things over with their father ever take the wrong turn in the road.

When God gave children both a father and a mother, He knew what He was about. He knew that they were going to need them both. Especially in 1944.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Would you please give me a recipe for Peach Marmalade through your columns this week. I enjoy your work so much and would like to make it.—Edith M.

ANSWER:

Peach Marmalade.

Four lbs. peaches, juice of 4 large, or 6 small oranges, finely shredded rind of the oranges, juice of 1 lemon, sugar. Chop or slice peaches, and add juice of oranges and lemon to them as you work with them to prevent them browning. Add shredded rind. Measure. To each cup prepared peaches and rind and juice add either ¾ or ⅞ cup sugar, difference depending on whether you like your preserves very sweet or not. Cook over medium heat until thick—about 2 to 2½ hours. This must be stirred almost constantly or it will burn. Some cooks bake it covered. Pour into sterile jam jars and seal with 2 coats of paraffin.

QUESTION: Could you please give me the proportions of the following: How much honey to use when supplementing honey for granulated sugar and brown sugar in cake, pie applesauce or puddings? How much . . . or corn syrup to use instead of ¾ cup granulated sugar in apple pie?

Could you give me a recipe for sponge cake using not more than 1 cup sugar? and what temperature to bake it at and for how long? If the oven heat for sponge cake is a little cooler than the temperature called for will it cook? Sometimes with a stove burning coal it is hard to keep the oven temperature—if it is checked it will go lower, or if not it will go higher, and cake will test cooked, but when taken from oven and turned upside down it will fall out of pan, and not be thoroughly baked—it is soggy and tough.—(Miss) M. C.

ANSWER: I am sending you my booklet with recipes using corn syrup in place of sugar as far as practicable. This will give you a basis to work from for honey in cookery, but honey is sweeter than corn syrup so you must use a little less of it and as a consequence a little more liquid.

I am giving you a recipe for a honey cake, that will give you a basis for many of your changes.

Honey Cake.

One cup honey, ½ cup sugar, ⅓ cup melted shortening 2 slightly beaten eggs 2 cups flour 1 teaspoon each baking powder and caraway seeds (or use almond flavoring in place of caraway seeds). Cream honey, sugar, shortening and eggs. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and seeds. Combine mixtures and mix until smooth. Turn into baking pans and bake in moderately hot oven of 375 deg. Fahr. for 30 to 40 minutes.

Corn syrup is three-fifth as sweet as sugar; honey is three-quarters as sweet as sugar, but both contain moisture and where texture is important—such as in cake or the filling in pie this moisture must taken into account.

Sponge Cake.

One cup sifted cake flour, 4 or 5 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon lemon rind, grated, ½ teaspoon salt. Sift flour 3 times. Beat yolks until thick. Gradually add half the sugar, beating, then lemon juice and rind. Beat until thick. Beat the whites and add salt, beat until they start to peak, but will still flow. Fold in remaining sugar, then the yolk mixture. Sift in flour, fold it gently. Pour the batter as soon as mixed into ungreased baking pan, a tube pan is best. Powdered sugar sprinkled over the top makes a nice crust. Have oven ready—preferably at 300 deg. Fahr. and bake for 50 to 60 minute. Where oven temperature is variable it would be preferable to have it hotter than 300 than colder, when cake would probably bake in ¾ hour.

Ernie Payne Catches 20-Pound Muskie

Ernie Payne, well-known druggist of this city, has finally caught his "dream" fish—a twenty-pound lunge that was safely landed after a 30-minute battle on Lake Chemong over the week-end.

Only a few short weeks ago Mr. Payne, in commenting on the beautiful muskie hooked by Roy Hutchinson, recalled that in all his years of fishing nothing over 15 pounds had ever come his way. But, on the very next try, the unexpected happened, and trolling with a 12-pound test silk line and rod, and using double buffalo bait, this fisherman's dream came true.

An inseparable fishing pair, Mr. Hutchinson accompanied him on the trip, and though he didn't catch anything, was comforted by the thought of the previous big muskie.

Kootenay Sailor Home To Spend Furlough

A member of the crew of H.M.C.S. Kootenay, famed Canadian destroyer that arrived in Canada recently after taking a prominent part in the sea warfare against Germany, George Easton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Easton, 105 McDonnel street, is now at home, enjoying a holiday before leaving again for action. A brother, Stoker First Class Stan. W. Easton, of H.M.C.S. Sackville, has also been spending a furlough with his parents.

The Kootenay was part of the destroyer flotilla that aided in the invasion of France. At other times during the ship's exciting history she has been employed on anti-submarine patrols. The Sackville is a corvette.

George Easton has been on the Kootenay since March, 1942, and has seen much action in that period. Before enlisting, he was employed in the office at the Canadian General Electric Company.

A veteran of many convoy trips, Stoker Stan. Easton was formerly an electric welder at the C.G.E. He enlisted in March, 1943. A brother-in-law, Pte. Jack Peel, is in France with the S. D. and G. Highlanders.

Skunk Tenanted House Still Council Problem

The house on Oxford street, described to the council as having been pre-empted by a family of skunks in the cellar or under the front stoop, has still too much residential vitality to be proscribed by Chief Gimblett. The council rather expecting, so it seemed, the Chief to report that the dwelling should be torn down, but his estimate was that it could be satisfactorily repaired for about $... Sanitary Inspector MacPherson being asked to examine the place and decide whether it is fit for habitation.

PARENTHOOD IS TWO-HANDED JOB

Father Responsible for Child's Upbringing As Much As The Busy Mother.

WE have been so busy laying the juvenile delinquency baby on Mother's doorstep that we have lost sight of the fact that Father has also a responsibility in the matter and that it is up to him to keep a wary eye on his youngsters and see that they walk the straight and narrow path.

Of course, when children go wrong, their mothers are chiefly to blame for it because it is the mother's hand that shapes the plastic little characters. It is Mother who sets the pattern of their lives and who breeds in them strength or weakness. It is Mother who forms their ideals. In great crises of life, we do not argue about right and wrong. We do the thing we were taught to do at our mothers' knees.

So if Mother flunks her job, her children's sins are on her head. If she is too weak to hold them to any code of decent conduct; if she is too foolishly fond to discipline them ever; if she takes her own pleasure at the expense of her duty as a mother and leaves her children to run the streets while she goes to parties, or devotes herself to causes, she is responsible for the boy gangster and the teenage girl harlot who are the heartbreaking problem of the world today.

But children have fathers as well as mothers, though in only too many households Father figures only as a biological necessity and a bill-payer. He feels he has done his full duty to his youngsters when he provides them with Grade-A milk and perambulators when they are babies and enough money to buy champagne and sport cars when they grow up.

You actually will hear men boast that they never interfere in the rearing of their children; that they leave it entirely to the children's mothers. Yet these very men may know that their wives are weak, silly women who haven't enough judgment and intelligence to train up a puppy in the way it should go. They know that their children are being spoiled rotten; that they are being taught neither manners nor morals and that they are forming habits and making associations that will curse them as long as they live. Yet they do nothing to counteract the weak mother's evil influence. They do not lift a finger to save their children.

No man has a right to evade his responsibility as a father because parenthood is a two-handed job that neither a woman nor a man can pull off successfully alone. There comes a time in the lives of all children when, no matter how much they love their mother, they lose their respect for her judgment and defy her authority, because they think that she is unsophisticated and doesn't know what it is all about but they know their father is worldly wise and they heed his advice. No boy or girl who can talk things over with their father ever take the wrong turn in the road.

When God gave children both a father and a mother, He knew what He was about. He knew that they were going to need them both. Especially in 1944.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Would you please give me a recipe for Peach Marmalade through your columns this week. I enjoy your work so much and would like to make it.—Edith M.

ANSWER:

Peach Marmalade.

Four lbs. peaches, juice of 4 large, or 6 small oranges, finely shredded rind of the oranges, juice of 1 lemon, sugar. Chop or slice peaches, and add juice of oranges and lemon to them as you work with them to prevent them browning. Add shredded rind. Measure. To each cup prepared peaches and rind and juice add either ¾ or ⅞ cup sugar, difference depending on whether you like your preserves very sweet or not. Cook over medium heat until thick—about 2 to 2½ hours. This must be stirred almost constantly or it will burn. Some cooks bake it covered. Pour into sterile jam jars and seal with 2 coats of paraffin.

QUESTION: Could you please give me the proportions of the following: How much honey to use when supplementing honey for granulated sugar and brown sugar in cake, pie applesauce or puddings? How much...or corn syrup to use instead of ¾ cup granulated sugar in apple pie?

Could you give me a recipe for sponge cake using not more than 1 cup sugar? and what temperature to bake it at and for how long? If the oven heat for sponge cake is a little cooler than the temperature called for will it cook? Sometimes with a stove burning coal it is hard to keep the oven temperature—if it is checked it will go lower, or if not it will go higher, and cake will test cooked, but when taken from oven and turned upside down it will fall out of pan, and not be thoroughly baked—it is soggy and tough.—(Miss) M. C.

ANSWER: I am sending you my booklet with recipes using corn syrup in place of sugar as far as practicable. This will give you a basis to work from for honey in cookery, but honey is sweeter than corn syrup so you must use a little less of it and as a consequence a little more liquid.

I am giving you a recipe for a honey cake, that will give you a basis for many of your changes.

Honey Cake.

One cup honey, ½ cup sugar, ⅜ cup melted shortening 2 slightly beaten eggs 2 cups flour 1 teaspoon each baking powder and caraway seeds (or use almond flavoring in place of caraway seeds). Cream honey, sugar, shortening and eggs. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and seeds. Combine mixtures and mix until smooth. Turn into baking pans and bake in moderately hot oven of 375 deg. Fahr. for 30 to 40 minutes.

Corn syrup is three-fifth as sweet as sugar; honey is three-quarters as sweet as sugar, but both contain moisture and where texture is important—such as in cake or the filling in pie this moisture must taken into account.

Sponge Cake.

One cup sifted cake flour, 4 or 5 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon lemon rind, grated, ½ teaspoon salt. Sift flour 3 times. Beat yolks until thick. Gradually add half the sugar, beating, then lemon juice and rind. Beat until thick. Beat the whites and add salt, beat until they start to peak, but will still flow. Fold in remaining sugar, then the yolk mixture. Sift in flour, fold it gently. Pour the batter as soon as mixed into ungreased baking pan, a tube pan is best. Powdered sugar sprinkled over the top makes a nice crust. Have oven ready—preferably at 300 deg. Fahr. and bake for 50 to 60 minute. Where oven temperature is variable it would be preferable to have it hotter than 300 than colder, when cake would probably bake in ¾ hour.

For Friday, October 6

STARTLING and bewildering events are likely to transpire on this day, with radical and far reaching effect on the future, its fortunes and destiny. This may involve sudden disruption, upheavals, an about-face of plans and objectives with dramatic romance and adventure. This may beget unlooked for expense, out-lay of nervous force and energy as well as capital. Several strange factors are concerned, calling for discretion and prudence, although original ways and means promise high accomplishment. An artistic or dramatic career may promise distinction and possibly public acclaim.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of sudden and unpredictable upheavals, change, extraordinary and inexplicable events, with denouements involving the future and its fortunes with radical force. Complete change of plans and objectives are in order, to conform with strange and unusual factors. These make for progress and adventure, the issue depending on the cleverness and sagacity with which opportunities are manipulated. An extra outlay of funds and energies is demanded, with emotional crises determining the eventual outcome. If handled judiciously there may be romance, unique adventure and public recognition.

A child born on this day should be splendidly endowed with creative talents, ingenuity, originality, fitting it for an outstanding career, of romance and conspicuous recognition.

Market Experts Due Saturday

Peterborough's farm produce market will be expertly examined as a specimen or exhibit on Saturday by two representatives of the Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture.

It is probably general knowledge by this time that the present market location may be affected by the eventual location of the new city hall. Suppose, for example, that the site of the municipal building is thrust further toward the Arctic and erected in the architecturally acceptable environs of Central Park.

That would leave vacant the spacious property at Charlotte, Water and Simcoe streets, municipal property which would have to be put to some use. Imaginings in that direction have evoked in recent months the aldermanic suggestion, "Let us sell to stores, hotels, theatres or anybody wanting central property, and let us get out of the real estate business."

That train of thought has raised the question of ultimate disposal of the present market property, and a correlated question, "Should we leave that central block to such one-day-in-seven use?"

The Council set itself to this enquiry, and for purposes of guidance they have asked the two Government departments for their advice.

A preliminary study has already been made of the Peterborough marketing area, and the market itself comes under the microscope this Saturday. And because the city is going to get the benefit of estimates and knowledge of two men who are market specialists, the Council proposed to Alderman Sands that he might arrange for luncheon Saturday with the market specialists as guests.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

A few hints and recipes for hot entrees are what we will talk about to-day.

Patty cases are usually made ahead of time and must be thoroughly heated before they are filled. These patty cases are tasty filled with creamed chicken, creamed lobster, or creamed sweetbreads.

Chop Suey.

Two pounds uncooked chicken breast cut into pieces 1-16 of an inch by one inch, by ⅛ inch, bean sprouts equal in measure to the chicken, 2 cups bamboo shoots cut into pieces the same size as the chicken, 2 cups mushrooms sliced thin, fat or oil.

Put the chicken meat, bean sprouts, onions, bamboo shoots and mushrooms into a frying pan with a little fat or oil to prevent sticking and saute for 10 minutes. Add hot water to cover and cook for 15 minutes longer. Add Chinese gravy (recipe given below), season to taste, remove from the fire and serve at once.

Chinese Gravy.

One cup chicken stock, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, sesamum seed oil, sugar, salt, one teaspoon Chinese sauce (this can be bought ready prepared). Mix the cornstarch in a little cold water, stir in the chicken stock and let it boil until it thickens. Add the Chinese sauce, a few drops of sesamum seed oil and sugar and salt to taste. (Stir well).

Surpise Croquettes.

2 cups mashed potatoes, 4 tablespoons cream, 1 tablespoon onion juice, 2 egg yolks, 1 egg white, salt and pepper, cooked meat, cheese or vegetable, crumbs and flour. To the mashed potato add cream and rich milk, onion juice, salt and pepper to taste. Beat over the fire until smooth and hot. Remove, cool slightly and add the beaten egg yolks. Form into cone shapes, make a depression in each and into this put a teaspoon of creamed chicken, minced highly seasoned meat, grated cheese, or a vegetable in cream sauce. Press thepotato around the filling. Beat the egg white slightly, dilute with a tablespoon of water, roll the beaten egg white, then in well seasoned bread crumbs, then fry in deep fat from 2 to 5 minutes. Serve at once.

Dog Detects Planes

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—(AP).—Crewmen of a naval vessel docked here claim their ship might do without its aircraft detection equipment because their mascot, Black Beauty, barks a warning upon hearing plane motors long before they are audible to the human ear. The dog, a veteran of 27 convoy trips, has been awarded campaign ribbons and rated as "airplane detector, first class."

Home and School Association News

CONFEDERATION

A large attendance of parents and pupils marked the October meeting of Confederation Home and School Association, when 23 boys and girls received their 1943-44 entrance certificates. Arnold Olmstead, the new principal, presided for the presentation, after the business period, and Mrs. H. B. Jackson, former principal, made the presentations. Inspector R. F. Downey, guest speaker, gave advice to the children which also applied to the parents, when he said, "When you make your choice, choice grows into habit; habit moulds character, and character makes your destiny."

The entire musical program, with the exception of two duets, "Mermaid" and "Come Lassies and Lads", by Bobbie Morrison and Gerald Crouter, with W. Potter at the piano, was presented by members of the graduating class. Valedictorians were Doreen Ferguson and Raymond Craig. Joyce Mein sang two solos, "Are You Always In My Heart", and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms", and Llewelyn Murphy played a violin solo.

Mrs. Jackson was welcomed to the meeting on behalf of the entire staff, parents and pupils, and she was presented on their behalf with a bouquet of gladioli by Joyce Wilson. After the meeting, refreshments were served, with Mrs. N. Moffatt and Mrs. N. Monk in charge.

MAY'S

For the first time, "open school" was observed at May's School Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Home and School Association, on the occasion of the presentation of graduation certificates to successful entrance candidates. R. F. Downey and J. M. Burns made the presentation to the graduates.

Mr. Burns, in a brief address, spoke of the Home and School, and its place in school life, as a medium of bringing parents and teachers in contact, to become better acquainted with the problems of the child. The new school inspector, K. S. Wightman, spoke of the set-up of the school system, which would affect May's, since it has become a city school. He also congratulated the students on their graduation, and introduced two new teachers on the staff, Miss L. Ashenhurst and Miss D. Mann.

Rev. E. J. Whan, spiritual advisor for May's, in an address to the students and parents, spoke of the three factors in the life of a child: Home, school, and church, all helping to make him a good citizen, and all represented at that meeting, working for the good of the child. Speaking directly to the graduates, he challenged every boy and girl to aim high. "Put good first in your life. Don't be afraid to work. Keep body and mind clean, and success is sure to follow," he concluded.

Due to a change in the school area, the president, Mrs. E. Frizzell, resigned, and Mrs. E. Chambers, president of the Home and School council, urged new members to come forward and fill the breaches left by many members transferring to another school. Several mothers declared that they would help carry on, and a meeting was called for November. Announcement was made of the coming regional conference of Home and School Associations, on October 17 in Murray street Baptist Church, and also of the church services for Home and School members on November 5.

Mr. Downey, school inspector, congratulated the graduating class, and wished the staff and their classes every success. A short musical program included two piano solos by Miss Elsie Chambers; and two vocal solos by Gladys Langton. Miss Helen Savigny was pianist for the evening.

Those who received graduation diplomas were: Kay Avey, Doreen Berwick, Donald Dummitt, Edward Evans, Robert Gordon, Glenford Kavanagh, Betty Mowry, Marion Werley, Ethel Robins, Alfred Wainwright, Jackson Voate, Marion Simmons, Robert Velsey and Mary McQuade. FUNNY TO THE ENEMY

MISUNDERSTANDINGS between you and your partner may be tragic to you, but they usually fill your opponents with mirth, especially if they cause one of you to vent his temper on the other by a show of foolish actions. There is a type of player who does not seem to realize that every once in a while there will be a mixup, one partner misinterpreting the meaning of the other's bid or play. Such a fellow should get a better hold on himself, and be prepared to keep his feet on the ground.

South meant that bid in its artificial sense, as a demand for a takeout into one of the other suits, as many have employed the bid when a double of a high call would mean business. North, however, thought the side was employing the newer convention, that a bid of the next higher ranking suit, 4-Hearts, would be like an informatory double, and that 4-No Trumps meant South wanted to play at that declaration.

When North passed, South was wild. West led his diamond K and followed with the Q and A. South, to show his temper, discarded the Spade A, K and Q on these tricks. West refused to lead the good diamond J, using his heart 8 instead. It brought the 9, J and A, and South then went on to make his crazily played contract. Seeing that he now required two club finesses and a division of the suit, he noted that two entries would be required to dummy for such play.

One entry was the spade J, and the other could come only from a finesse of the spade 8. He tried that and it worked. The club 10 was then finessed, the spade 10 was overtaken by the J and the diamond J scored, also the spade 5 and 3, for three heart discards. Then the club Q was finessed, the A dropped the last hostile club, and the club 5 got the final trick.

A spade small slam was easy if the partners understood each other.

"MOTHERS" SEW FOR LADS OF R.C.A.F.—Airmen stationed at No. 2 Service Flying Training School, Uplands, don't worry when the inevitable hole appears in their sox, when they need wings sewn on their tunics or when their trousers need mending, for they have "four mothers away from home" to keep their kit in tip-top shape. During 1943, Mrs. George W. Payton, Mrs. Howard Tucker, Mrs. C. P. Tilley and Mrs. W. A. Fraser, all of Ottawa, repaired 1,633 articles including shortening trousers and mending button holes for the boys at Uplands. For the past three years these women have devoted their Wednesday evenings to mending and sewing for the airmen. They bring their work baskets, scissors and needles to the "Mother's Corner" in the Y.M.C.A. office off the recreation hall. Here they often sit till midnight as the airmen stream in with articles of clothing that need repairing. Wings parade time is usually a busy one, with coveted wings to be sewn on and Canada badges for those posted overseas. The women feel that it is an honor to do this for the boys whose wives or mothers aren't there to do it for them. Even squadron leaders are glad to be able to turn to the "Mother's Corner" and in the accompanying photograph SL. H. R. Studer, acting chief instructor of flying on the station, explains to Mrs. W. A. Fraser of Ottawa, how he wants the wings fixed on his tunic. SL. Studer is the son of Mr. Peter Studer, Capreol, Ont. On the left Mrs. Howard Tucker and Mrs. George W. Payton, also of Ottawa, are busy with some of the sewing and mending they do each week for the airmen at Uplands. Mrs. Fraser has four sons in the three services. (RCAF Photo)

Germans Trying To Wreck Bridge

WITH THE BRITISH 2ND ARMY, HOLLAND, Oct. 5 — (CP-Reuter)—The latest and most daring attempt to destroy the vital Nijmegen bridge by 12 suicidal German swimmer-divers has ended in disaster for the Germans.

The bridge had been unsuccessfully attacked by glide-bombs, ordinary bombs, shells, mortars and machine-gun fire. So German demolition specialists took to the river about two miles east of the bridge. In rubber suits, they swam downstream, pushing rafts loaded with explosives.

Under cover of darkness they reached the piers and placed explosives into the bridge. Then they swam on another eight miles.

All 12 reached a stretch of the bank which seemed to be free of British troops and clambered ashore. But the Tommies were there. Two Germans were killed and 10 taken prisoner.

The bridge remains intact.

British Army Seals Off Corinth Gulf

Half Peloponnesus Taken Over In Greek Invasion

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press War Correspondent

ROME, Oct. 6 — (AP). — British forces have sealed off the entrance to the Gulf of Corinth in their Greek invasion by capturing the fortified Port of Rion, Allied headquarters announced today. Official Greek reports indicated that more than half the Peloponnesus was securely in the hands of British troops and Greek patriots.

Premier George Papandreou of Greece said in a statement that a minister of his cabinet had visited Tripolis where "security battalions" —Greeks fighting on the side of the Germans — had "surrendered to British officers without any skirmish."

75 Miles to Athens

Tripolis, in the east central Peloponnesus, is 60 miles southeast of captured Patrai on the Gulf of Corinth and 75 miles southwest of Athens.

Rion was overwhelmed in an eastward advance along the Gulf of Corinth from Patrai.

The Greek announcement also said the government member, landing from the Island of Kythera, off Greece's south coast, also had visited Kalamai on the southwest coast.

This indicated the territory intervening between Kalamai and Tripolis was virtually free of Germans.

Immediately after seizing Rion, seven miles up the coast from Patrai, British forces turned enemy coastal guns captured there against large numbers of small craft in which the Germans were trying to flee northward across the Gulf of Corinth. An official statement said good results were obtained in this shelling.

German guns at Andirrion, immediatley opposite Rion on the north shore of the narrow entrance to the gulf, remained silent yesterday.

The fall of Patrai, which had been the main enemy supply port on Greece's west coast, came after German security troops surrendered near the town, making the position of the garrison untenable. At Rion, the Germans fell back quickly.

An official report said that prior to the fall of Patrai British seaborne supplies had to be unloaded at the

Ontario's Power Reserve Only Enough For 3 Years

KINGSTON, Oct. 6—(CP).—Dr. Thomas H. Hogg, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, today predicted that it would not be long after the war "before the commission will be called upon to develop new sources of power to meet growing demands for industrial and domestic requirements."

Addressing the District No. 1 convention of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association, Dr. Hogg said that undoubtedly there would be some recession in power loads when war production ends but this trend would be offset in some measure by reconversion of war plans to peacetime production for consumer needs at home and to share in Canada's part of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration program.

"As the country returns to normal peacetime conditions, active salesmanship will be brought to bear to stimulate the demand for...consumer needs. The Hydro Commission itself has plans prepared along these lines. A large proportion of the anticipated load growth will result from the use of new electrical appliances and improve equipment in the home and further load will result from the industrial production of such goods."

Yanks Cripple Gasoline Depot

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, Oct. 6 — (AP). — Gen. MacArthur disclosed today that a second crippling blow was dealt Japan's big source of aviation gasoline and lubricating oil at Balikpapan Tuesday by heavy bombers, seven of which were lost in sky battles with 40 enemy fighters.

At least 19 and perhaps 24 of the enemy planes were shot down during a battle of more than an hour over the Borneo base while 40 tons of concentrated explosives touched off huge blasts among refineries and storage tanks.

A spokesman said the fierce air opposition plus intense anti-aircraft fire plainly indicated how important the enemy regards preservation of installations which supply 15 per cent of the gasoline and oil used by Japan's war achine.

Hun Artillery Batters Driant

By EDWARD D. BALL
Associated Press War Correspondent

U.S. 3RD ARMY HEADQUART RS, France, Oct. 6 — (AP). — German tanks and infantry driving down from the north heavily counter-attacked American positions today at north-west corner of Fort Driant after an all-night artillery barrage.

The enemy poured 60 shells into Fort Driant in an effort to blast out Americans who have a thin hold after five days of bloody fighting.

The hostile fire came from neighboring forts which, with Driant, guard the great fortress city of Metz. To the south, the Germans were cleared from all but a fourth of the Parroy Forest.

Yesterday was a day of artillery activity, reminiscent of the First Great War. With infantry bogged down on both sides, the armies exchanged heavy barrages.

Japanese Forces Attacking Foochow

CHUNGKING, Oct. 6 —(AP) — Japanese forces which invaded Maritime Fukien Province have reached the northwestern suburbs of Foochow, the Chinese High Command said today.

The Japanese, who have occupied the important port before, apparently expect to take it again without difficulty.

The landings in Fukien were announced by Tokyo early this week and were pictured as part of an attempt to forestall Allied landings from the Pacific which would "sever our (Japanese) communications with the southern region."

350,000 Fire Bombs Shower Down On Saarbrucken

LONDON, Oct. 6 (CP)—More than 1,200 United States heavy bombers raided numerous industrial targets and airdromes in Germany today, with one large force hitting an aircraft engine plant at Berlin.

Strong forces of R.A.F. heavy bombers dumped a profusion of two-ton bombs and more than 350,000 incendiaries last night on Saarbrucken, a major rail centre and arsenal in the Siegfried Line behind Metz.

British Mosquitos before dawn gave German capital a sample of the heavier shower of explosives rained by one large force of the four-engined American planes in daylight.

Today's American attack on four industrial targets in Berlin and war plants and airdromes at five other cities in Germany was one of the greatest mass raids of the war.

1,400 Miles

The targets, which took the four-engined bombers on a round trip of more than 1,400 miles, included oil refineries, tank factories, ordnance dumps and aircraft engine plants.

Weather conditions over the Reich were favorable for visual bombing and initial reports described the results as "generally excellent."

The bombers were escorted by approximately 750 long-range fighters, making up a total of approximately 2,000 planes.

The Berlin targets included a tank assembly plant, a military depot, an ordnance depot and an aircraft engine plant.

Other attacks were directed against the Rhenania and Ebane oil refineries at Harbourg, an aircraft engine plant and an ordnance station at Hamburg, and airdromes at Stargard, Neubrandenburg and Wenzendorf, all near Hamburg.

As a railway point and advanced base, Saarbrucken now is of critical importance to the Germans. It is a focal point for main lines from nearly every part of Germany. Army units are being outfitted there constantly.

Storm Across Leopold Canal Americans Forced To Retreat

Flame-Throwers Pave Way For Canuck Attack

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY ON THE LEOPOLD CANAL, Oct. 6—(CP Cable).—Behind sheets of flame sent roaring into German positions by flame-throwers, Canadian troops attacked across the Leopold Canal before dawn today and burst into the German pocket south of the mouth of the Schelde.

The attack was launched at 5.30 a.m., with the Canadians crossing the Canal in assault boats north of Maldegem.

A limited bridgehead was gained rapidly and opposition was not as heavy as had been expected.

Maldegem is between Bruges and Eecloo, and the Canadians struck north across the Canal just where it forks toward the Schelde and toward Ghent. Once over the water barrier, they were in a strip of Netherlands territory south of the Schelde.

Five thousand good enemy troops were believed to be holding this pocket as part of the German plan to deny the Allies the use of the port of Antwerp as long as the estuary is under German guns along its banks.

Would Clean Pocket.

The new Canadian operation is designed to wipe out this pocket and is the first move to clear the estuary and open the great Belgian port which could be of immense value as an Allied supply base.

In the darkness before dawn, Canadian units, led by western infantry, formed up along the Canal for the attack.

Several hundred guns were ready to support them, but the feature was the work of the flame-throwers.

They lined up on the south side of the Canal and at 5.30 a.m. they roared into action, spouting flames right across the Canal and searing through the enemy trench system on the other side.

For 20 seconds a solid sheet of flame blasted the opposite bank and in the livid light of this inferno infantrymen leaped into the assault boats which had been placed in the water under cover of darkness.

Nazis Concentrate Armor Against American Forces

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 6 — (AP). — The Germans, acknowledging their Siegfried defences had been breached, hurled their first sizeable armored force with hundreds of guns and infantry into assaults against the United States 1st Army to-day in an effort to block the road to the Rhine.

Heavy armored counter-attacks hit the Americans, in the fifth day of attack in their wedge in the Siegfried Line at Ubach, and they had to fall back at two places. They were forced from Beggendorf, one mile east of Ubach and three to four miles inside Germany, and from the top of a pill-box ridge, 1½ miles south of Ubach and a mile east of Herbach.

Meanwhile the Germans reported more Allied parachutists had been dropped in Holland to reinforce the British 2nd Army's western loop between the Neder Rhine and the Waal west of Arnhem and in Nijmegen.

Flight upon flight of Allied planes, operating up to 10,000 feet, rushed into the Ubach battle, eager to take advantage of the first good weather since the start of the drive to tear at the enemy armor.

In the first storming assault, the Americans were rushed from the top of a commanding height a mile east of Herbach, which they had seized yesterday in a drive 1½ miles south of Ubach. But they held on to a side of the ridge and then the planes came over and dived upon the enemy armor.

Admitting a breach had been made, today's German communique said: "The enemy started another attack from his break-through in an eastern and northeastern direction. He was, however, checked by our own counter-thrusts. Forty enemy tanks have been destroyed in the course of a recent two days."

Gain at Nancy

Another break-through was acknowledged by the enemy in the area north of Nancy, in the United States 3rd Army sector.

Although the Americans at Ubach were through the main belt of Siegfried defences, an Associated Press dispatch from the front emphasized that there was no prospect of a sudden break-through to the Rhine.

The Germans have defences in depth, consisting of anti-tank ditches, minefields and trenches, all the way back to the Rhine to slow up progress, AP Correspondent Don Whitehead said.

In their drive across the Leopold Canal Canadian troops of the 1st Canadian Army established "a limited bridgehead" and burst into the MOSCOW, Oct. 6 — (AP). — Russian and Yugoslav troops fought the Germans in the outskirts of Belgrade to-day and the front dispatches indicated patrols had crossed to the south bank of the Danube from captured Pancevo, less than nine miles from the capital.

Marshal Tito was reported near the front and it was believed troops of his Army of National Liberation would be the first formally to enter the fortified old city of 267,000. The range of hills at the northwest corner of which Belgrade is located is ideal for Red Army infiltration tactics.

Pravda said other Allied Slavic troops had reached the vicinity of Nis, 130 miles south-east of Belgrade, where the Belgrade-Athens-Salonika and Belgrade-Sofia railroads meet.

In Northern Yugoslavia along the Tisza River, other Russian troops were less than 30 miles across flat Hungarian frontier country from the second largest Hungarian city, Szeged, imperilled frontally from Romania as well. The conquest of Hungary was declared in Russian newspapers to be the first priority objective of Russian strategy.

Aim at Hungary.

"The Red Army is clearing its way to Budapest by fire and sword," Pravda announced. "Hungary protects the Germans' southern flank and continually supplies cannon fodder. The loss of Hungary would mean the loss of raw materials such as oil, metals, and foodstuffs." Szeged is 96 miles south-east of Budapest.

Thirty-five miles due south of Belgrade, Yugoslav units were locked in bitter battle with the Germans for the village of Topola, the home of Karageorge — "Black George" — who beat the Turks a century ago and founded the royal dynasty from which King Peter descended.

Indian Troops Capture Vernola Village

ROME, Oct. 6 (CP) — Indian troops of the British 8th Army have taken the village of Virnola on high ground west of Rimini on the Adriatic sector, it was announced today but on lower ground in that region—turned to a quagmire by autumn rains and overflowing streams—activity was confined to patrolling.

Meantime American units of the Allied 5th Army captured Loiano, vital road junction on the Florence-Bologna highway, despite heavy rain and tough enemy resistance.

Americans also cleared Monzuno, a town three miles west of Loiano.

Today's communique also reported British troops of the 5th Army had made progress in the Central sector, but did not specify in what localities.

Inclement weather once more curtailed M.A.A.F. operations, although a few sorties were flown against rail and motor transport targets north of the Gothic Line battle area.

Shipping in the Adriatic also was attacked, while some fighters took part in the air support of British troops invading Greece.

Three enemy planes were downed and three Allied planes lost, as the M.A.A.F. flew 200 sorties.

It was announced last night that the battle-hard Loyal Edmonton Regiment had won the last German-held ridge overlooking Rimini. Four hundred Germans were taken after the Edmontons seized the height in hand-to-hand fighting.

Capture of Loiano gave the Americans a position commanding the highway to the communications centre of Bologna.

On their right flank, Americans and forward elements of British forces rushed forward and dug in on Monte Cece and Monte Della Valle, about 15 air miles from Imola, but were driven back by heavy German counter-attacks.

In the isolated hill country of the central sector, Indian troops of the 8th Army pushed upon Monte Calbano and Scarzano andfound them clear of enemy troops.

On the western flank South African troops smashed two counter-attacks near Monte Vigese and seized Ripoli

Battle In Aachen Sector Believed At Critical Stage

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The fierce battle raging in the Aachen sector of the western front, where the U.S. 1st Army has crashed through the crust of the powerful Siegfried Line, is in that critical stage where a bit of good luck might tip the scales towards the Allied side

The Americans are continuing to widen the wedge they've driven into the westwall, which is particularly strong in this strategic zone. Tanks have been flung into the opening in an effort to bore through to the open plain which leads to the Rhenish city of Cologne—gateway to the great Ruhr industrial region and to Berlin beyond

The Germans are going all-out in their defence, having flung everything they can spare into this important engagement. They fully recognize that should the Allies make a clean break-through, carrying them across the Rhine, it would just about complete the hangman's noose for Hitler's neck. For this reason we may be sure that Gen. Eisenhower has his microscope on the Aachen battle, ready to pour in reserves and exploit any profitable-looking opening.

Goebbels View

However, despite the potentialities of this battle, we mustn't assume that Eisenhower necessarily has picked it for the supreme effort which ultimately will open up the route through which the Allied armies will pour into the Reich. He will develop it if it looks good, but otherwise will strike in some more promising spot

Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels yesterday declared the Allies have opened an all-out offensive against Germany. That undoubtedly is true in the sense that the preliminary attacks are under way throughout the length of the 460-mile Allied line. But Eisenhower hasn't yet turned loose all the vast striking power at his disposal.

He is in the process of stabbing at numerous points in the Siegfried line in an effort to find the soft spots, or at least the most feasible places or development. When he finds what he wants he will hurl a great concentration of force against it for a grand break-through. The Aachen sector might provide that spot if the present drive goes well.

The Allies are racing against time in an effort to smash across the Rhine before the winter weather clamps down on them. Their task is far from easy because there's much hard fighting to be done yet in Europe—not only on the western front but in the east and in Italy.

While the German forces are heavily outnumbered in western Europe, they've managed to scrape together enough troops so that, as War Secretary Stimson puts it, they have "strength for initial defence of the west wall."

2-War Veterans Named In Bill

OTTAWA, Oct. 6 —(CP) —Pensions Minister Mackenzie announced today passage of a new Order-in-Council designed to assist ex-service men who have seen service in both the first and second great wars in their return to civil life.

The order creates what is known as the "duel service pension" and is desinged to protect the older ex-service men who are not eligible for benefits under the War Veterans' Allowance Act.

"There is no need for oversea service to come under the provisions of this new order," Mr. Mackenzie said. "The primarmy qualification is that that a man shall have given service to his country in the armed forces both in this and and the First Great War."

The dual service pension is payable to any ex-serviceman in the Canadian forces in this war, who has serivce in both wars and who has attained the age of 60 years, or, if below that age, is permanently unemployable because of physical or mental disability, or is unlikely to become capable of maintaining himself by his own efforts because of economic handicaps combined with physical or mental disability or insufficiency.

Widows and orphaned children of deceased veterans coming under this category are eligible for the same assistance.

The rates are at a maximum of $365 a year to a bachelor, or to a widower or widow without a dependent child or children, or $730 a year to a married man, a widower or a widow with a dependent child or children.

Spitfire Pilots Bag 15 Planes

LONDON, Oct. 6,—(CP Cable.) — Canadian Spitfire pilots destroyed five of 15 Messerschmitts encountered yesterday east of Arnhem in Holland said a Reuter News Agency report from Belgium. It added that another plan was damaged while the Canadians suffered no losses.

An R.C.A.F. wing operating from an airfield commanded by Group Capt. Paul Davoud of Kingston since the Allied evacuation of Arnhem has been making a nightmare of the area for German railwaymen. With dive-bombing and cannon attacks it has cut 66 rail lines, destroyed 70 locomotives, damaged 40 freight cars and damaged two bridges and six railway stations.

The idea is to force the Germans to resort to motor transport. When they do that, rocket-firing Typhoons and Spitfires will open up— as they did at Falaise in Normandy.

Pilots who called it a "routine day" included WO. John Duncan, of Paris, [illegible]

Canadian Engineers Aiding At Arnhem

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN BELGIUM, Oct. 6 — (CP Cable) — A field company of the Royal Canadian Engineers helped in the evacuation of survivors of the 1st British Airborne Division from Arnhem, it was learned today.

These sappers manned assault boats ferrying the airborne men across the Rhine after the gallant stand of the "Red Devil" division last month. Two thousand men survived the action that began when the airborne troops that began when the Lek river September 17 in an attempt to seize a bridge or bridgehead at Arnhem across the last great water barrier guarding the great plain eastward to Berlin.

Armistice Over At Dunkerque

LONDON, Oct. [illegible]—(CP).—Allied fighter-bombers swooped on Dunkerque at 10 a.m. today at the exact moment the truce with the stranded German garrison expired.

Indications were, however, that the British infantry of the 1st Canadian Army had not yet mounted a full-scale ground offensive against the last of the German-held Channel ports, which was the evacuation point for the battered remnants of the British expeditionary force in 1940.

The battle had been halted to allow French civilians safe exit from Dunkerque. The German-controlled Dutch radio said fighting was "raging more fiercely than ever before."

About 19,000 civilians were evacuated during the extended 64-hour truce.

There was speculation here as to whether the German garrison estimated at about 17,000 would put up heavy resistance once the final assault struck, or whether, like the German garrison at Calais last week-end, its resistance would be short.

Poles To Annex Territory

Red Sponsored Group States Views

MOSCOW, Oct. 6 — (AP). — The Soviet-sponsored Polish Committee of National Liberation expects to annex German territory to the Oder River, which flows within 31 miles of Berlin, and the Baltic port of Stettin on its west bank, the Polpress news agency declared today.

The agency originally was organized by the Union of Polish Patriots in Russia and now is the channel for news from inside liberated Polish areas.

"The Ponorze (Polish Corridor) bridgehead must not be left in German hands," Polpress said. "It is our duty to the new Europe. The Oder is a Polish river. Restoration of all Pomorze to Poland is in the political, strategic and economic interests of the United Nations."

In a renewed attack against Lt.-Gen. Tadeusz Konorowski (Bor), whom the Germans captured at Warsaw, the Lublin Gazette asserted that his elevation to commander-in-chief in place of Gen. Kazimierz Sosnkowski was "nothing but a changing of the guard which smelled of provocation against the Polish people."

None of the press comment, however, attacked the Premier of the Polish government in London, Stanislaw Mikolajczyk.

Communists Attack Regime

Romanian Government Faces Heckling

BUCHAREST, Oct. 6 — (AP). — Romanian socialist and communist leaders have attacked the present regime as being incapable of carrying out the tasks before it.

The outburst followed a meeting yesterday among King Michael, Premier Constantin Sanatescu and the leaders of the four-party coalition government.

Communist Leader Lucretziu Petrascanu, in a declaration to the communist organ, Romania Nouva, said:

"The government has left many of the most important obligations of state planning undone. Although it is one of the most urgent matters the purge of the nation's administration has not even begun. Further, officials directly from the gallery of war criminals have b[illegible] nominated to vacant posts."

Petrascanu declared that "only a government of broad democratic concentration can assume the difficult tasks" confronting Romania.

Socialist Leader Titel Petrescu said the conference with King Michael discussed the de-Hitlerization of the administration, multiplication of efforts to free Transylvania and measures to assure order and to supply the population with work for all.

The communist and socialists announced in their news organs that they have agreed on a common platform of action based on close collaboration with the Soviet Union and destruction of fascist influence

Drew Supports Smythe On War Charges

TORONTO, Oct. 6 — (CP). — Premier Drew of Ontario said last night most of the reinforcements sent into action to replace soldiers wounded in the invasion of France had "little or no real infantry training."

He endorsed recent charges of Maj. Conn Smythe of Toronto, who recently returned home to recuperate from injuries suffered in France, that improperly trained reinforcements had been sent into action and presented excerpts from letters written to him by Canadians in action to support his statements. He was speaking to a meeting of the Canadian Corps Association.

He said Defence Minister Ralston "bears the heaviest load of guilt for this shameful situation" and described recent statements made by the defence department as "the most contemptible of all the contemptible excuses invented by guilty men to hide their guilt."

Would Move Trainees

He urged the Canadian people to "accept no more excuses" and demand in a voice "which must be heard, that the expressed wish of the vast majority of Canadians be carried out by sending every trained man in uniform to the battle areas immediately."

Canada has 80,000 reinforcements available in the home defence army, the Premier said, and many of these have been trained in infantry yet they are being employed "at no useful tasks." A large percentage of the members have had years to learn field craft here in Canada.

Instead of sending these men overseas as reinforcements, Mr. Drew continued, "many units have gone into action time and again far below their strength simply because reinforcements could not be supplied."

The untrained men — volunteers from the forestry corps who had been chopping trees in Scotland, gunners from artillery training centres, men from armored units and others — "went into action full of courage and did the very best they could."

"They deserve just that much more credit for having fought as they did under such circumstances, but their willingness to fight is no measure of justification for sending them there untrained."

The Premier said that not only the infantry but tank units also received untrained men. These men included "reinforcements rushed from Canada without the required battle training in Britain before they reached the front."

Casualty List Shows 42,577

OTTAWA, Oct. 6. —(CP). —The Defense Department announced late yesterday that Canadian Army casualties from the outbreak of war up to Aug. 31 totalled 42,577.

The announcement said the figure showed an increase of 9,338 for the month of August.

Latest figures for all theatres were given as follows: Dead, 11,829; presumed dead, 318; missing, 1,662; prisoners of war or interned, 4,111; wounded, 24,657.

The figure for prisoners of war included 110 who have been repatriated or have escaped.

Today's new army total brought announced figures for the three armed services up to 60,376, with the RCAF having a total of 15,961 up to July 31 and the navy 1,838 up to the same date. Later figures for the air force and the navy were not available.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(AP). — War Secretary Stimson reported yesterday that army casualties on all fronts were 351,293 to Sept. 21. The latest navy casualty figure of 65,792 brought the total for the armed services to 417,085. The 351,293 was divided as follows: 68,568 killed; 185,921 wounded; 45,488 missing, and 51,316 prisoners.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. — (CP). — Royal Australian Air Force casualties up to the end of June, 1944, totalled 16,814, exclusive of deaths from natural causes, the Australian News and Information Bureau said today. Nimitz' communique brought casualty figures in the invasion of the Palaus up to date while maintaining the ratio of more than 10 Japanese slain for every American.

From Sept. 15, opening day of the invasion, through yesterday, the total of Japanese dead was placed at 11,043 against 1,022 Americans. American casualties totalled 7,417, including 6,106 wounded and 280 missing.

The fight still goes on against pockets of enemy resistance on Peleliu and Angaur in the southern Palaus but already Peleliu's airfield is sending American planes against other enemy bases in the Palaus.

cover from the first blast of the flame-throwers, leading Canadian troops had paddled furiously over the 140-foot-wide canal and had scrambled up the dykes on its far side.

The first troops across were commanded by Maj. Desmond Crofton Salt of Spring Island, B.C. They did not report a great deal of opposition and said the flame-throwers had killed some of the Germans right in their slit-trenches atop the dykes.

Heavy Machine-gun Fire.

A group of Westerners came under heavy machine-gun fire from a strongpoint on a flank which had not been attacked in the flame-throwers' barrage. They were held up for a brief period while the machine-gun was neutralized.

Large smoke screens were laid over the Scheldt estuary to blot out observation by German gunners whose positions are laid out on the north side of the estuary.

Assault bridges were laid over the canal by Royal Canadian Engineers in the wake of the first infantry crossing. Following troops ran across them, as well as using the assault-boat ferry service.

The country where this new operation is taking place is dead flat and is a patchwork of small farms and woods. The infantry call it "squirt-gun teritory."

It's a straight infantry job working through this tough district where it's practically impossible to employ armor, and where it's difficult to get a good artillery observation post.

However, observation planes were over the canal after dawn, spotting for the Canadian guns massed south of the canal.

slav Partisan forces, were gathering strength for the final assault after capture yesterday of the key rail junction of Pancevo, northeast of Belgrade's city limits.

The Timusul River, flowing into the Danube at the western edge of Pancevo, formed a minor German defence line, but it also formed the edge of a potentially dangerous pocket for the enemy because it already has been outflanked by the Russians a few miles north.

Thousands of Partisans inside Belgrade were reported armed and ready for the forthcoming battle to end the reign of terror under which the Germans have held the capital for 42 months.

(Except for reporting patrol activity, Moscow communiques remained silent about any action elsewhere on the eastern front. Berlin has reported beginning of a new Russian offensive in Western Lithuania and invasion of the Baltic island of Saare.)

The Russian campaign was not confined to freeing Belgrade With Petrovgrad, 37 miles northward as a base, Soviet troops cleared the enemy from an area of several hundred square miles on the east side of the Tisza River.

These operations probed to points 44 miles south of the Hungarian rail centre of Szeged, which has been menaced from the east for more than a week; pushed toward Novi Sad, controlling the Northern Yugoslav rail network, and stretched German forces nearly to the breaking point on a 50-mile flank protecting Southern Hungary.

From the southern environs of Belgrade to the tip of Greece, German divisions, variously estimated by Allied military sources at eight to 25, appeared powerless to save their only remaining railway escape route.

The vigor and scope of the Russian invasion of the Danubian basin make it at present the most vital part of the entire eastern front—one where Marshal Stalin's supreme command must believe a decision is possible that will drastically shorten the war.

At any moment, according to Russian reports, the Hungarian home front may collapse. Even if the Hungarian will to resist is stiffened by German guns, the Red Army appears confident of winning the battle of the Hungarian plain.

Court Reserves Judgment In Prices Case

COBOURG, Oct. 6 — (ENS). — Magistrate R. B. Baxter reserved judgment Thursday in connection with a War-Time Prices and Trade Board charge against Hilliard O'Connell and Arthur Covert, Roseneath truckers. They were charged with charging 70 cents a hog during June and July for transportation to Toronto, an increase of ten cents a hog during June and July for transportation to Toronto, an increase of ten cents a hog over the basic period. The two pleaded not guilty.

Harry Deyman acted for the board and T. F. Hall, K.C., for the accused.

Harold Davidson of Alnwick township testified that prior to June he had paid the accused 60 cents a hog but that after June of this year he was charged 70 cents. The charges were deducted at Toronto upon delivery of the hogs.

E. G. Johnstone of Peterborough, employed at the prices board office there, testified that O'Connell called at the office in connection with the overcharge and he made a statement which was signed, setting forth the facts in the matter.

Questioned by defence counsel, Mr. Johnstone denied that he suggested or advised O'Connell to continue charging at the increased rate until notified otherwise.

"Mr. O'Connell cited the facts in his case, and while I neither suggested or advised that he charge 70 cents, I may have not discouraged him. I may have said that his request seemed reasonable. However, I certainly did not tell him to go ahead and raise his price," testified Johnstone.

Suggest Carry On.

O'Connell testified that he asked for permission from a Mr. Croft of the Price Board in Toronto, and from his letter in reply, which he did not fully understand, he had interpreted as meaning that Mr. Croft had no authority to grant permission. When he later saw Mr. Johnstone in Peterborough, the latter suggested that he carry on under the increased rates until further notice.

"The only notice I got was the summons," commented the accused.

The defendant went on to relate that he didn't know he was making a statement but understood that what was written down by Mr. Johnstone were his facts in the case for transmission to the other Board officials. One of the reasons for his need of an increase was that due to hog grading several trips often had to be made to the same farm to pick up hogs.

"They started to grade hogs before the war," interjected Mr. Deyman.

Expensive Business.

"The letter from Mr. Croft says 'we will be unable to meet your wishes in the matter,'" Mr. Deyman said. "What is so hard to understand about that?"

"Why raise your price if Mr. Croft had nothing to do with it according to your interpretation of his letter?" asked the Magistrate. O'Connell replied that he had written twice to Peterborough and had got nowhere.

Hoover told the court that after all costs were paid, he and O'Connell got about 20 cents a hog net profit.

Cameron Harnden of Grafton was another defence witness. He told the court that he had been in the transport business for 17 years and had been charging 80 cents a hog for pick-ups in much better travelling conditions than O'Connell and Covert, but due to increased operation costs, including wages, he had to go out of the hog-trucking business. The farmer was getting $7 to $8 more a hog, but the trucker, in spite of increased costs, had to struggle along on the same haulage rate. The grading of hogs was one of the reasons for increased costs, he said.

In Greece, the Germans appeared to be attempting to flee by every available means—air, land and sea.

Aircraft patrolling the Salonika area Wednesday night destroyed two JU-52 transports, one Heinkel 111 and shot up a dozen motor vehicles.

An official report of the capture of Patrai said:

"After night skirmishing in the streets of Patrai, in which an R.A.F. regiment with the land forces of the Adriatic took part, the remainder of the German garrison escaped in small craft, mostly Siebel ferries. Under the cover of darkness early Wednesday they used the ship's guns to hold off a tightening ring of British and Partisans until they were able to embark."

The enemy left so hurriedly that demolition charges intended to blow up harbor installations were not set off.

German pocket south of the mouth of the Scheldt.

Sherman tanks, meeting a German armored counter-attack head-on, teamed with infantry to widen the gap in the main belt of concrete and steel Siegfried defences. They were reported fanning out on either side to the rear of the main line while advancing into newly-dug earthworks which took advantage of huge slag piles in the area around Beggendorf, captured yesterday.

New Advance

Allied Supreme Headquarters announced a new advance of a mile east of Herbach. This town is 1½ miles south of Ubach, from which the American teams slugged their way through Beggendorf.

Thus the Americans had a breach at least 1½ to two miles wide, three to four miles into Germany, and were battling through terrific gunfire and armored opposition for the last 1½ miles to the Aachen-Gladbach road and the gateway to the Rhine.

To the south 3rd Army Infantry, sprayed with shellfire from German strongpoints on either flank, fought into their third day for Fort Driant whose "buttoned in" garrison battled from underground passages and trap-door gun-posts.

Hold Slim Position

The Americans after a five-day fight were clinging to slim positions at the northwestern and southwestern corners of the fort near Dornot, five miles southwest of Metz, under flanking fire from other forts on both sides of the Moselle. They had been forced to give up a hold at the northeastern corner. But Lt.-Gen. Patton moved up 155-mm. "Long Tom" artillery and was replying heavily to German guns which threw 600 shells into the fort.

The weather clear-up had not yet extended this far south. The battle swirled in low-drifting smoke, a murky haze and rain.

Overnight, however, a strong force of R.A.F. Lancasters loosed blockbusters on Saarbrucken, German refitting and assembly point 40 miles to the east, and left the town ablaze.

Another battle raged into its second day near Sivry, 10 miles north of Nancy, with little change of ground. Farther to the south there was no news from the 7th Army's push for The Vosges Passes and the last 10 miles to Belfort.

The Germans said a "great British-American autumn offensive is surely in the course of preparation" and declared Lt.-Gen. Bradley, commander of the American 12th Army group, had shifted his strength heavily toward the Nijmegen-Aachen sector.

The Germans claim to have 60 divisions in western Europe, and I understand from informed quarters that while this figure is probably true on paper, the divisions have been so weakened by losses that their actual strength likely is nearer 40. This might mean anything up to 500,000 fighting men.

That isn't enough Germans to hold the line, though they may cause considerable delay. Propagandist Goebbels virtually admitted in his statement yesterday that the west wall was doomed when he threatened that dwellers within Germany are prepared to wage guerilla warfare to the death.

Churchill Warns Commons War Situation Still Grave

LONDON, Oct. 6—(CP-Reuter).—Prime Minister Churchill warned the House of Commons today that "a great deal of blood" would be shed in the next few months. Mr. Churchill, who had come from the War Cabinet to intervene in the debate on the town and country planning bill which is intended to enable local authorities to rebuild blitzed areas, declared "we must not imagine that the situation is not grave because we feel the assurance of victory."

"A great deal of blood is going to be shed in the next few months — Liberal, Conservative and Labor blood, and it is my duty above all to make sure that all is comfortable behind the troops and no needless cause of difference should rise to an undue height of proportion," the Prime Minister said.

The discussion of the bill had been prolonged by numerous amendments, chiefly by Conservative members, who were concerned about the question of compensation.

The government in an effort to get the bill passed quickly had taken the unexpected course of arranging for the House to sit an additional day on Monday.

Mr. Churchill, who said "at the present time we must keep our pugnacity as far as possible for export purposes," said it would be better to drop the bill than have a disagreeable party dispute about it at the present time. Broad agreement had been reached except in certain quarters.

The compensation issues dealt with matters far wider than the bill itself, he said, and there was no reason why the bill should be delayed and hampered, still less lost for their sake.

He therefore proposed to drop part two of the bill (referring to compensation) and set local authorities free to get on with their planning of the devastated areas without a day's delay.

Another bill dealing with the compensation question by itself could be brought in later.

Must Avoid Friction.

Mr. Churchill, emphasizing that a sense of proportion must be kept, declared "there are all sort of matters which are extremely important and upon which we might expend a great deal of energy and pugnacity but at the present time we must keep our pugnacity as far as possible for export and the Government would be much to blame, if it so handled public business as to bring about unnecessary or at any rate premature schisms and a dispute between those who have only one object, namely our safe and victorious emergence from the horrible struggle with Germany."

Mr. Churchill pointed out that the House was not meeting under the old forms of controversial struggle. He added "the day may come when we shall, but we have got to keep together in this crisis of the German war and we have not got to let a matter, which can ordinarily be fought out between parties, get in the way."

The national unity by which countless people throughout the world had greatly benefitted must not be impaired.

Mr. Churchill concluded "I don't believe that we, who have got over enormous difficulties among ourselves and shown this iron front to the whole of the terrors of world war, are going to be baffled by the different problems which present themselves, when questions of compensation arise and when representatives of three parties have to try to agree."

would have a primary surplus of possibly 200,000 horsepower in the winter of 1945-46. But if post-war demands increased at a rate of about 60,000 horsepower annually, the reserve would be used up in three years. In normal times a reserve of 100,000 horsepower for Hydro's Southern Ontario system would not be excessive.

The Commission also had plans for the extension of its rural services and "looks forward to the time when ...Hydro service in rural districts will be taken as much for granted as it now is in urban centres."

Relaxation during the year by the Dominion metals controller of restrictions on rural extensions had enabled the Commission to provide service for many new customers. More would be served when transmission line equipment became available in unlimited supply.

"Although extension of Hydro service to areas now not served will form an important part of the Commission's post-war rural planning, an equally important program will be inaugurated to give increased service to farmers by promoting the use of such labor-saving and profitable appliances as refrigerators and quick-freezing equipment, electrically-operated water pumping systems, improved grain grinders, water heaters and special appliances for poultry raising and similar requirements."

Dr. Hogg referred to amalgamation into one district of the former 120 rural power districts in the province along with establishment of uniform rates and abolition of the service charge for farm service. This step was of particular benefit to sparsely-settled rural areas.

Another amalgamation, that of the three southern Ontario power districts into one system, widened the power-supply interests of Eastern Ontario to which developments at Niagara and along the Ottawa river and the Ogoki diversion in northwestern Ontario "have become of practical interest."

German Claims Oct. 15 To See New Weapon

By ROGER GREENE

OUTSIDE DUNKERQUE, Oct. 6. —(AP).—I stood inside the German lines around Dunkerque Thursday and calmly discussed the war with a German S.S. major whose guns soon will be firing at British troops again.

The strange interlude took place near the shattered village of Mille Brugghe on the Colme Canal during a mercy truce arranged to permit evacuation of the civilian populace from siege-bound Dunkerque.

"Germany will still win the war," the German major said as a five-mile-long stream of refugees slowly plodded by. "Our new secret weapon will be turned against you Oct. 15. That will change everything."

A flicker of a smile traced the Nazi major's lips and there was the faintest suggestion of a twinkle in his cold Prussian eyes. It was clear he no longer believed in the efficacy of the Goebbels propaganda pills except as a morale-boosting dosage for disheartened German troops.

Up to noon today 12,800 civilians and several dozen badly wounded German and Allied soldiers had been evacuated from the French port, scene of the last stand during the British retreat from France in 1940, and at least 4,000 others were patiently waiting in bitter cold and rain this afternoon to "get under the wire" before the deadline.

Among those brought out from the town were one Canadian and one member of the French Forces of the Interior.

The guns which have been silent for three days will begin to roar again today when the truce ends at 10 a.m. Originally it was scheduled to end at 6 a.m., but it was extended four hours after a German bridge broke down and it was estimated it would take this additional time to get it back in its original shape as the terms of the truce required.

It is suggested that part if not all the task of liberating Dunkerque will be left to British soldiers of Lt.-Gen. Crerar's 1st Canadian Army.

Sentiment hasn't much place in war, but among Britons serving under Gen. Crerar's command there probably are many soldiers who took part in the historic evacuation from Dunkerque in 1940. It will be a happy revenge for them if they get a chance to return as liberators to those blood-stained beaches.

Gen. Crerar sent the 2nd Canadian Division back to Dieppe which they raided at a heavy cost in 1942, and it is quite feasible that Britons will be given the opportunity to wipe off their old score at Dunkerque when the siege resumes.

Grandmothers' Day Is Observed At Roseneath WI

ROSENEATH, Oct. 6.—(ENS).—'Grandmotners' Day' at the Roseneath branch W.I. was observed Thursday. The hostess, Mrs. J. W. Pacey, a grandmother, also gave an dress, 'The Adventure of Growing Old.'

"It is an important problem to live according to one's age. Normal moving about is the only necessary exercise for the middle-aged. At sixty, one has learned that life is neither all success nor all failure. Learn to grow old with dignity and grace and have a religion to tie to in the future. At sixty, one has learned tranquility of mind and serenity of spirit. The solace of age is a shield against the pin pricks of life," she declared.

Mrs. Harold Taylor, a grandmother, was program convener and Mrs. Frank Nichol who passed her 80th birthday anniversary two days before, read "Let Us Grow Lovely Growing Old." She also won a birthday prize, donated by the convener. Mrs. Robret Mouncey, who will be 87 this month donated a print quilt made by herself as her contribution to the program, with the request it be used for war charities. A prize donated by Mrs. A. Halstead for the oldest grandmother present went to Mrs. Mouncey. Mrs. Halstead read, "An Old-fashioned Rocker." Mrs. C. Thackeray donated a prize to the grandmother who was an October bride. This was won by the hostess.

Mrs. E. Sanderson read "Odd Sayings." Mrs. E. J. Milne spoke briefly, Mrs. S. Brown donated a chair prize and Mrs. E. Timlin read a poem, "Criticism."

It was decided to make up 36 yards of flannelette into pyjamas for boys from 7 to 9 years and 30 yards of flannelette into slips and bloomers for girls of 10 years. The president and Mrs. G. Mouncey are the cutting conveners. The material is supplied by the Salvation Army, Cobourg, the garments to be shipped overseas toward a rehabilitation project.

It was decided to assent to a request from A. A. Martin, P.S.I., to allow slides to be shown in retrence to the 7th Victory Loan campaign, at the November meeting and $34.04 was reported in the treasury. It was also decided to offer a special prize at Roseneath Fair for a hand-made apron by a girl 14 years or under. The competition, open to Northumberland and prizes divided into: first $1.25, second 75 cents.

Four ditty bags will be packed by the executive Tuesday night and forwarded to the Navy League secretary, Cobourg. The contents each will include a pair of socks. The public speaking contestants from Alnwick township, competing at Roseneath Fair, will be invited to speak at the November meeting.

Delegates appointed to attend the Belleville area convention were: Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. A. Halstead, Mrs. B. Thackeray and Mrs. G. Mouncey. Alternates, Mrs. J. L. Timlin, Mrs. E. Waldie, Mrs. L. Sherwin and Mrs. J. W. Pacey.

100,000 Deaths Yearly From Accidents

"The yearly average of violent deaths by accidents in the United States and Canada exceeds 100,000; people permanently disabled are approximately 350,000, and 10,000,000 suffer minor accidents."

These stark statistics were quoted by Dan. A. Gasper, superintendent of the Canada Cement Company, Hull, Quebec, in his Safety Week address at the Collegiate Institute Thursday night.

"And yet there are still some people who ask the question why we should be bothering about safety," Mr. Gaspar remarked.

Dan Gasper is one of the missionaries of safety in this country, and like the great majority of its leaders he transferred its message and its appeal from the workshop to the general public, indifferently represented Thursday night by an audience of only a few hundred men and women. At the same time he congratulated the promoters of Safety Week in Peterborough on their initiative in carrying the gospel of safety from the manufacturing plants to the community as a whole with the support of press, pulpit, radio, municipal government, and with increasing interest and intelligent responsiveness from the citizens as a whole, the potential victims of the avoidable accident.

And looking back over the achievement of industrial leaders who have specialized in the promotion of safety and the prevention of accidents, a steadily expanding victory in the fields of peace, Mr. Gaspar said: "No great social program ever matured in so short a time as the safety movement." In one generation it has reduced accidents in plants all the way from 50 to 90 per cent.

From compiled records Mr. Gapsar further quoted as ominous of the overhanging menace to life and limb: "In 1943 there were 368,506 compensation cases in Canadian industry. In Ontario there were 64,880 compensation cases during the first six months of 1943 as compared with 61,224 for the same period in 1944."

"Every day you get up there are 1,000 persons injured on the industrial front in this country," on the basis of that average!

Mr. Gaspar said he was dubious of the effect of statistics, but he dipped into cosmic figures in his statement that "in 1941 when Canada and the United States were battling to supply the United Nations with munitions of war—one billion six hundred million man-hours were lost by occupational injuries; sufficient to build 20 battleships or 9,000 heavy bombers and 50,000 tanks."

More than five billion dollars was a conservative estimate of the loss by accidents to those two countries each year—"tremendous equivalent of money gone down the sewer." Public expenditure on social services, for the sick, the blind, crippled children, and so on, was a pitiful pittance compared with money expended as the result of accidents.

Industry's Leadership

Public attention was becoming more intensely and intelligently focussed on the problem of public health, but it had remained for industrial leadership to reveal the accident as a great enemy of society and to point the way to its abatement.

And so, Mr. Gaspar said, industry has a story to tell, and Safety Week is its special occasion of pleading with the people to become more conscious of the tremendous seriousness of the accident to each and every person, in the workshop, in the home, on the street. "The message of safety must permeate the atmosphere where we work, where we live and where we play. The question of health is taking its proper place in the mind of government and of the public, but we want the people to join us in this other question of the prevention of accidents."

From its experiences during the last two decades, industry had learned that employees do not make a good job of looking after their own safety without inspiration and leadership from the top. The best records come from co-operative effort through membership with an association. "A safe orderly plant is reflected in the product produced, in the high morale of the workers and in the happier homes of the employees." A safety program was an opportunity for man's humanity to man in every plant that adopted it.

Off-the-Job Toll

Industry has refused to ignore the off-the-job accidents especially when they affect workers in such numbers for the United States and Canada as: 29,000 dead, 90,000 permanently disabled and 2,250,000 disabled temporarily, as one year's toll. These are the mishaps to workers after they leave the premises of their factories.

"Industry has an uphill fight to carry safety into the homes and communities of the nation. The public is indifferent. Its ideas of a safety program are a few gadgets and a bunch of slogans. The worker lives at home, travels the highway and works in industry. The problem is a triangle, not a straight line, and all three sides should be developed together."

Thomas Taylor was chairman of the meeting, and on the platform with him were H. A. Cranfield, head of the Central Ontario division of Industrial Accidents Prevention Associations; Fred Brooks, Port Hope, divisional secretary; J. E. Girven, assistant works manager at C.G.E. and executive member; and T. A. Lister, safety engineer at the C. G. E. works.

"Fashion Show"

Preceding the address a group of workers presented the latest styles in industrial raiment, fashioned with an eye to safety. Those parading the latest garments in protection against accident, designed at least to aid the employee to avoid mishaps, were: Gwen Burgess, Phoebe Claridge, Elsie Chappell, Audrey Hatton, Mary Greer, Don Trude, Bob Menzies and Joe Rogers.

"Lavish" Is Not The Word

When Mr. Churchill described the United States' aid to China as "lavish" he doubtless had no intention but to compliment an ally; indeed, compared to what it has been in the past, American aid to China is lavish now. But as Chinese spokesman in Chungking pointed out early this week, this "lavish" aid is so slight that it makes no real difference to the Chinese struggle. And it must be pointed out that the U.S. has never claimed that its aid to China was more than a trickle, amounting in all to $153,584,000 worth of goods—a mere drop in the bucket of modern warfare.

The fact of the matter is that China is losing her war with Japan, and unless we can give her substantial aid soon, she may be defeated. If China is defeated, we shall have to fight to deliver her from the Japanese, for we must never forget that Japan was a part of the Axis, and until all vestiges of the Axis are destroyed we shall not have won our war against Fascism. The Japanese know that they have lost their command of the Pacific Ocean, and now they are turning their attention to the Chinese war in hopes that they may end it victoriously before we can move against them in force. They have landed near the harbour of Foochow, one of the most important in South China; obviously they hope to clean up this area and gain possession of coastal defences before we have a chance to land there ourselves.

The United Nations decided some time ago that they would defeat the Axis in Europe before they turned to Asia. Germany is the most important centre of Fascist power, and it is obvious that it must be dealt with first. It looks now as though Germany might hold out until next Spring, and meanwhile the Japs will be busy in China. What is the outlook for that country?

The outlook is extremely grave, not to say desperate, and the trouble does not all lie in the greater resources of the enemy. China is not united; one army fights at the command of Chiang-Kai-shek, while another denies his right to lead; there is inflation of the wildest sort; there has been serious loss of confidence in the central government. The Chinese people are brave, but bravery cannot take the place of unity and undivided loyalty. This is a matter of proper concern to the people of Canada, for in this country there are many Chinese citizens whom we have learned to know and to trust, and as a nation we have feelings of the warmest friendship and admiration for the Chinese.

The bitterness of Chinese feeling is readily understandable. They were the first to fight the Axis, and they are the last to get substantial help. Nevertheless, the course which the United Nations agreed upon, of wiping out the Axis first in Europe, is clearly the best one, and we have pursued it with great success, and must go on as we have begun. When we are able to send aid to China we shall certainly send it in quantity which can be described as "lavish". Until that time comes, we can only hope that the Chinese will be able to resist as valiantly as they have done in the past. Not lack of will, but lack of means prevents us from going to their aid.

How Socialism Really Works

It is frequently pointed out these days that socialism, communism and fascism are all totalitarian systems, and that however benevolent they may be in theory, they have nothing at all to do with democracy or freedom. Some of our citizens who are of a socialist turn of mind have not yet absorbed this lesson. They think that in their hands socialism would be something quite different from what it has been, for instance, in Germany or Russia. We respect their optimism, but we do not think that they know what they are talking about. Any system which permits no opposition is tyrannous, and imposes upon its subjects conditions which they would not tolerate under democratic government.

The President of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Eric Johnston, has recently returned from a tour in Russia, where he visited a great number of industrial plants. He found that in these, and in agriculture as well, a system of "incentive payments" was in force; that is to say, the worker was paid on the basis of what he produced, and if one worker worked faster than another, he was paid proportionately more.

This, of course, is the speed-up system which trades unions will not tolerate in the U.S., because it makes for desperate competition among workers, and also interferes with the unions' cherished right to decide what constitutes a fair day's work. This was the Russian system, and owing to the totalitarian form of Russian government, no one can dispute its justice. Mr. Johnston discussed the matter with a worker:

> "It seems to me", Mr. Johnston said, "you have substituted for the doctrine 'each according to his needs' a new theory, 'each according to his contribution'. Does this mean the abandonment of the theory of communism?"
> "Of course not", the Russian official replied. "Communism is merely a goal. We might reach it in a thousand years. But first we must have an economy of abundance, and through education change men's character. In the meantime, like an army general attempting to reach an objective, we must vary our methods to suit the circumstances involved. This doesn't signify an abandonment of the principle".

This is to say: we do what we are told, and we believe that the end justifies the means. Totalitarian governments do not permit trades unions, and in Russia, it appears, a worker gets only what his brains or brawn can bring to him; this it not the union principle, which declares that within certain limits every man must have the same wage. Obviously there are advantages in a democratic system which the socialists have chosen to overlook. But how many men in this country would consent to take a chance on making a living under a speed-up system?

Strange Things In Chicago

About a year ago we expressed the opinion that the Chicago Tribune was, in a corporate sense, crazy. This was by no means an original discovery. The Tribune is the instrument through which Col. Bertie McCormick spreads his anti-British propaganda, and it has been criticised very severely both here and in the States. No one objects to Col. McCormick's dislike of Britain; he is free to dislike any nation he pleases; but he has corrupted a very large and influential newspaper by his hatred, and he has done everything in his power to break up the Anglo-American alliance. In order to achieve his ends he must employ a large staff of trained journalists, and if they were not crazy they could not possibly write as they do.

Consider the recent outburst in which the Tribune urges the British Parliament to enter into a contract "with the counties" to establish some new form of government; a man who expresses himself thus about the British political set-up is not merely crazy—he is also ignorant, which is a worse defect in a journalist. The Tribune wants the British people to get rid of the dictator Churchill, the monarchy, and its present poisonous system of government, and establish—what do you think—a republic. But the paper warns:

> "Until the general level of education in the kingdom is raised, as perhaps it will be when the new program of public education is instituted, the people will not be equal to the responsibilities which the republican form imposes".

This—from a paper which urges Parliament to get in touch with the counties! Words are inadequate to comment upon such nonsense.

The Tribune's anxiety to do good to the oppressed millions of England is touching. It wants them to have freedom of the press, of speech and of religion, "which the English have never really enjoyed". The close of this astounding document runs thus:

> "There it is, and if the advice is followed, the inhabitants of the British Isles can at last regard themselves as a free people possessed of the institutions which distinguish a civilized nation from others".

There you have it: Britain is in the grip of a tyranny because its people are ignorant and do not know what liberty is; they are not even civilized by Col. McCormick's standards.

Where the Colonel finds people to write this stuff for him we really do not know. Fantastic and mischievous nonsense though it is, someone must solemnly grind it out and receive money for doing so. Strange things happen in Chicago!

England's Sailor-Poets 1944

THE Royal Navy is Great Britain's Senior Service, and enjoys also the reputation of being her Silent Service. Perhaps because of this tradition, the number of sailor poets of this war is considerably smaller than the number of soldier or airman poets.

Another reason for the scarcity of naval poets may well be that the Royal Navy, unlike its sister Services, has scarcely any non-combatant berths. Sailors are literally "all in the same boat" when Action Stations sounds; and a searchlight man in remote moors of Cornwall has more leisure—and therefore, to a limited extent, more stimulus—to write poetry than has the average serving sailor.

Nevertheless, there are several British naval poets whose work has attracted attention in this war. A typical group includes Midshipman John Wedge, R.N.V.R. (Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve); Lieutenant J. H. B. Peel, of the Special Duties Branch of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve; Paymaster Lieutenant John Graham, Royal Navy; Writer John Prichard, Royal Navy, and Ordinary Seaman Roy Fuller, Royal Navy. Wedge and Peel are in their twenties. The rest are all under thirty-five. Four of these poets are what we should call modern poets, in that they have largely bypassed the limitations and obligations of the traditional forms of English poetry, and have preferred instead a freer pattern. The fifth poet adheres consistently to the traditional styles.

ONE would expect sailors to write of their work, and an excellent example comes from Midshipman Wedge, who speaks for the little ships in his poem "Night Patrol". It starts vividly with:

No moon tonight. Nor cloud to hide
That sparkling silv'ry spray of stars
Splashed carelessly upon the wide
Black-marbled dome we know as night.

The verse proceeds to describe the routine of patrol—dull, uneventful, yet all-important—and, as the two trawlers steam next dawning into port, the poet remarks, with naval terseness:

All's well without. Our job is done.

"Easter Poem" by Writer John Prichard (a writer, by the way, is a non-commissioned member of the Accountant Branch of the Royal Navy) reveals the ultra-modern style which our young poets are forcefully adopting. It starts:

A thunder and whirlwind pluck out the eyestone.
He humbles out, not lily from grave,
But ash-touching cerements shedding green meteors
Of glow worms from His shoulders and His star-bound head;
Albino from the nest of bats
With furry toadstools at His ears.

It is interesting to compare the modern style of Writer Prichard with the traditional style of Lieutenant Peel. Prichard's poem "Winter" opens with:

I see spent winter frames and members
Stiff in pointed crystals
Of summer's waxing
With hollowed channels stuck in fused embers
Of summer's fire; crusted joints astare
Through starved wrinkled skins.

Peel's poem "Winter" opens with:

Steel rain, low cloud,
gaunt trees athwart the gloom:
dank fields, chill wind and smoke inside the room:
starved birds, dead leaves,
and memory of the past:
youth spent, love fled,
and I alone at last.

WE expect—and find—reactions from the common sights and sounds of war. Ordinary Seaman Roy Fuller, for example, gives a vivid mondenesque cameo of a wartime London railway terminus:

Charing Cross: where trains depart for the bombardment
And the leave-taking is particularly ardent;
the obelisk in the courtyard is streaming with lime,
And the doves are crying in the dusk, and Time
Says "I am money, I am all these people".

Or of an air-raid:

The loud mechanical voices of the sirens
Lured me from sleep and on the heath
Moths fall into a mounting shaft of light.
Airplanes whirr over and then the night stays quiet.

Of another school are the verses of Lieutenant Peel. They concern chiefly the English countryside. Indeed, in his two published books, only three poems are war poems. For better or for worse, he appears to find the mainstream of emotion otherwhere than in the contemporary scene. His poem "Places" reveals the sailor's nostalgia for his home.

It opens thus:

Scattered up and down the land, quiet, sequestered places stand:
places steeped in summer sun.
where I heard the brooklet run with a murmur through the meadow while I listened from the shadow:
places high on English hills:
places by slow water-mills
where I marked the clear leet linger while it brushed my dangled finger:
places deep in wordless wood where the autumn beeches stood staring at their own gay garment, lost in self-bewonderment.

The English scene appears again when the same writer asks:

O Lord/ how can a man be bored
when he walks on the earth?
How can he yawn, as some men do, amid unceasing birth?
With stars to gaze at in the sky,
and dew beneath his feet:
with leaves abud and moist with sap
when Spring and Winter meet:
with galaxies of wind and rain,
and crow of cock at dawn:
with snow-gulfed lane and harvest plain,
and robin on the lawn:
with these and more to feed his eye
and sing unto his soul, the man who's bored on earth must be as blind as any mole.

BY way of contrast, there is a terse picture of naval bombardment, written in ultra-modern style by Paymaster Lieutenant Graham, Royal Navy.

Rip-wrack red sears dull battleship
Grey
And the unknowable shell
Carves
Through the armoured hull with a
Crunch
Hell is loosed—engines, guns, men spew effort.

It is of course impossible to quote from every naval poem; it is impossible, in a short space, even to sift them and to find therein a specific message. Wartime is not the time for weaving a philosophy. Yet two facts stand out clear from Britain's wartime naval poets—first, a legitimate pride in the traditions of the Royal Navy and a determination to uphold those traditions; second, a suspicion (albeit a tart and hurt suspicion) that life, despite the blood and tears and sweat of the moment, is not so chaotic as is the contemporary scene. Perhaps this outlook has been crystallized in this very brief verse by Lieutenant Peel called "Twins."

There never was a joy that held not also grief:
nor grief that did not swell capacity for joy:
and those who weep that joy
must ever end too soon, weep foolishly—as those who think grief will endure.

HOW MANY KNOCKOUTS?

The commanding officer eyed the conduct sheet before him.

"Ah!" he said, "I see this is the third military policeman you have knocked out!"

"Pardon me, sir," said the culprit politely, "the second. One of them was the same policeman twice."

HAVEN'T YOU OVERLOOKED SOMETHING, GENERAL?

The Liberal Party

By GRANT DEXTER

(The Second in a Series of 3 Articles on Leading Political Parties of Canada)

THE surprising fact about the Liberal party today is the definite and wholly unexpected upturn in its fortunes. For convenience sake, this may be measured in terms of the Gallup poll. At the time of the 1940 general election, the Liberals were shown to hold 56 per cent of the popular vote. This fell to 28 per cent in September, 1943, at which time the C.C.F. headed all three parties. From September 1943 to last June, the Liberals gained seven points and it is the general belief at Ottawa that this upward trend has been accelerating in the past three months.

The recovery of the Liberal party is not due to organization or to propaganda. For practical purposes, the party organization is non-existent. There is no Liberal equivalent at Ottawa either of Bracken House or the C.C.F. headquarters. In this sense, therefore, the party has made a substanital recovery despite itself.

A year ago, the more experienced members of the party feared that the Liberals actually might be the smallest group in the next parliament. In Quebec, the Bloc Popularie was a name to conjure with. The government had survived Bill 80 at the price of much Quebec support. The nationalists appeared to have the upper hand. The situation in Ontario could not have been worse. The west was in revolt. Only in the Maritime provinces was the party still in good fighting order. Fifty seats in the House of Commons looked rather to be an optimistic forecast. At this time there seemed to be no way out. In Quebec, the government was blamed for having done far too much in the war. Elsewhere, and particularly in Ontario, the party was accused of having sold out to Quebec.

WHAT has caused this sudden change in public opinion? Many Liberals are asking themselves this question today. No simple answer is possible but a number of the contributing factors can be identified.

Looking back over the past ten years, it is plain that a great source of strength to the Liberals has been the weakness of the Conservatives. A remark made in 1930 by Mr. Bennett is frequently recalled these days. "The Conservative party," said Mr. Bennett, "has never been defeated. It has always committed suicide." In December, 1942, the Conservative convention adopted a new platform and elected a new leader. The reaction in the country was favourable. But the new Conservative regime, for reasons which have already been discussed, failed to consolidate the gain. The popular appeal of the Conservatives reached a high point in June, 1943, and since then has diminished. The latest poll (June, 1944) showed a drop of only two points but the expectation is that a further decline has taken place. This is the inference drawn from the results of the elections in Saskatchewan and New Brunswick.

Once it became evident that the Conservative party has no chance of winning the next election—and today this requires no argument—a swing towards the Liberals was inevitable. Most people realize the desirability of a stable government at any time but, particularly, in the post-war period of reconstruction at home and abroad.

THE decline of the Conservative party, therefore, is regarded as the chief cause of the improvement in Liberal prospects. A second major factor is Quebec. The threat to the Liberals, here, was two-fold—the Bloc and an independent nationalist movement backed, secretly, by the Conservatives. One of these threats has vanished and it remains to be seen whether the Conservatives can succeed with their traditional strategy of backing nationalists in Quebec to beat Liberals. Mr. Duplessis' hold on office is so precarious that he may think twice before taking on chores for his erstwhile Conservative colleagues. There is Mr. Cardin, of course. But no one, as yet, knows what Mr. Cardin intends to do.

The provincial election in Quebec has disclosed highly interesting aspects of French-Canadian opinion. In the cities where conscription for home defence has been vigorously applied and where resentment was thought to be extreme, the Liberals won. In the rural areas where the young men have been exempt from military service because they qualify as farm labour, the Liberals lost. The significance of this to most Liberals is that the war is not as great a handicap as was believed. Certainly, the Quebec situation has improved out of all recognition for the Liberals. Even their opponents today concede them from 45 to 50 seats and, as usual, the party claims are much higher.

THERE is, also, a third factor. Throughout the country there seems to be a growing realization that Canada has done a first class job in the war both in the military and economic fields. The chief credit, here, goes to the people themselves but leadership was necessary. The organizing ability which placed our armies, navy and air force in the field, equipped them, supplied a constant stream of war materials and foodstuffs to Britain and the United Nations generally, held our home economy in balance by an elaborate system of controls—had to come from the government. This is a case where everybody gets credit but a special share goes to the government. Moreover, at last the government is bestirring itself with respect to post-war problems. The domestic reconstruction program is now well advanced—farm credits, floors for primary products, export and import credits, housing, industrial financing, family allowances and similar measures. And on the international side, the government has been active in pressing forward plans for monetary control, long term lending, relief, tariff reductions and, above all, for a world security organization. The average citizen, conscious of all this, is beginning to ask himself if he is prepared to destroy this government without hope of being able to supplant it.

The recovery of the Liberals, however, has so far been uneven. East of the Ottawa River, the prestige of the party stands high. In Ontario it is still very low. In the west is reported considerable improvement. No one doubts, however, that at the present time the Liberals would lose heavily. But, equally, it is clear that the party would elect the largest group if not an over-all majority. Present estimates very from 100 to 125 seats.

It requires no gift of prophecy to foretell that the main appeal of the Liberals in the election campaign will be that they, alone, are able to win a majority and give the country stable government in the difficult years ahead.

Unconsidered Trifles

A visitor went to a small village and asked to see the A.R.P. warden.

"Now," said the warden, finally, after a long conversation, "is there any one else you'd like to see?"

"Yes," came the reply, "the fire chief!"

"I'll not keep you a moment!" replied the warden. "Just wait till I change my hat!"

"Can you tell me the difference between a Scotsman and a coconut?" asked the life and soul of the party.

There was no answer.

"Well, you can get a drink out of a coconut, but not a——"

"Excuse me," butted in a voice in the group, "but I happen to be a Scotsman. Would you like a drink?"

"Sure," was the eager answer.

"Then go buy yourself a coconut."

The gangster walked into the pawnshop and placed a revolver on the counter.

"How much," he grunted, "for this gun?"

"Is it a good revolver?" asked the proprietor.

"Sure it's good," growled the lawbreaker. "I bumped off several fellows with it."

"You don't say," mused the pawnbroker. "If that's the case, why do you want to sell it?"

"I just found out," explained the gangster, "that you need a permit to carry a gun."

A Bible Message

Now Naaman, captain of the host of the king of Syria, was a great man with his master, and honourable, because by him the Lord had given deliverance unto Syria: he was also a mighty man of valour, but he was a leper. And the Syrians had gone out by companies, and had brought away captive out of the land of Israel a little maid; and she waited on Naaman's wife. And she said unto his mistress, Would God my lord were with the prophet that is in Samaria! for he would recover him of his leprosy. And one went in, and told his lord, saying, Thus and thus said the maid that is of the land of Israel. And the king of Syria said, Go to, go, and I will send a letter unto the king of Israel. And he departed, and took with him ten talents of silver, and six thousand pieces of gold, and ten change of raiment....

So Naaman came with his horses and with his chariot, and stood at the door of the hous of Elisha. And Elisha sent a messenger unto him, saying, Go and wash in Jordan seven times and thy flesh shall come again to thee, and thou shalt be clean.

But Naaman was wroth, and went away, and said, Behold, I thought, He will surely come ou to me and stand and call on the name of th Lord his God, and strike his hand over the plac and recover the leper. Are not Abana and Phar par, rivers of Damascus, better than all the wa ters of Israel? may I not wash in them, and b clean? So he turned and went away in a rage And his servants came near, and spake unto him and said, My father, if the prophet had bid the do some great thing, wouldest thou not ha done it? how much rather then, when he sai to thee, Wash, and be clean?

Then he went down, and dipped himself seve times in Jordan, according to the saying of th man of God: and his flesh came again like un the flesh of a little child, and he was clean. An he returned to the man of God, he and all h company, and came, and stood before him: a he said, Behold, now I know that there is no G in all the earth but in Israel. (II Kings: 5: 1- 9-15.)

Montreal Star Has Praise For Peterboro

The Montreal Star in an editorial headed "More Enduring Than Brass," has the following to say about the Peterborough Memorial Centre:

"The city of Peterborough, Ontario, has set an example in common-sense and foresight in the matter of its war memorial which, it may be hoped, will be widely followed across Canada. It has decided that the monument which it will erect to its soldiers of this war will take the form of a community centre and that it will spend the substantial sum of $275,000 upon it. The centre will provide accommodation for all sorts of community activities and interests, and will no doubt make a serious and permanent contribution to the health, wealth and happiness of Peterborough.

The problem of how best to commemorate the services of its sons and daughters in the war will doubtless present itself to the very great majority of Canadian municipalities, just as it did from 1919 throughout the following decade. This time there is an increasing and, it seems to us, very sensible tendency to perpetrate the memory of war services in some form from which the community may derive some general benefit, whether as a park, playground, bath, community hall—as in the present instance—endowment for some form of public service, or otherwise.

"The idea seems entirely sensible. Peterborough is a prosperous and growing city, and the amount of money it is setting aside for its memorial may be greater than the majority of smaller places are able to afford. But it should not be impossible for even the smaller communities which desire to honour the memory of their sons and daughters to finance some form of memorial which, while fulfilling its functions as such, will make a permanent and constant contribution to the public welfare. Canada is dotted with bronze and stone monuments, often of conventional conception and design and sometimes of doubtful artistic value, which naturally play but a small part in the general life of the community in which they stand. These are the days of planning for all kinds of post-war activities, and our municipal councils, urban and rural alike (there is no reason why the latter should not be equally interested), should be giving this matter some thought."

Non-Pensioned War Widows Seek Legislation

TORONTO, Oct. 6 — (CP)—The executive of the Dominion Non-Pensioned War Widows, concluding a three-day session here today, passed a number of resolutions which are to be presented to the annual convention of the organization scheduled for Ottawa early next year.

Heading the list of legislation sought for war widows is a resolution asking that wives of Imperial veterans be included in the Veterans' Allowance Act, providing they are resident in Canada for a reasonable period of time.

Referring to the recent visit by Premier George Drew to England, Mrs. Ethel Darville, of Vancouver, founder of the organization, said the executive resented the fact that a Canadian government official went to England "to paint a flowery picture of opportunity here," when there are thousands of Imperial soldiers and widows here "not recognized by either government."

Among other resolutions passed were a request to lower the age for Veterans' Widows Allowances to 50 instead of 55 as now is laid down in the Veterans' Allowance Act; free hospitalization for non-pensioned widows not exceeding 90 days; and legislation to make the Veterans' Allowance Act a permanent act.

The plight of the deserted wife was discussed at length and the executive plans to seek parliamentary legislation that will include the deserted wife in the Allowance Act.

Four Big Issues To Be Fought In U.S. Election

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, N.Y., Oct. 6.—(AP).—Four differences of opinion between President Roosevelt and Governor Thomas E. Dewey appeared to be developing to-day among major issues to be fought out in the remaining weeks of the Presidential campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt stressed the issues last night in a 20-minute radio address to Democratic party rallies. Governor Dewey was expected to have his answers forthcoming soon—possibly in a speech to-morrow night in Charlestown, W. Va., and possibly in news conferences.

Without referringto Gov. Dewey, the President took occasion in his talk to accuse some Republicans of "drawing a red herring acroes the trail" of the campaign by raising "the red spectre of communism."

He said some politicians had wanted to make it difficult for members of the armed forces to vote; denied that there was any disposition on the part of the administration to keep men in the army after fighting stopped to avoid unemployment and reminded his listeners that such wartime restrictions by rationing and price controls could be ended quickly either by Congress or the President.

Gov. Dewey has raised the issue of communist support against the Democrats, declaring several times during his recent western tour that Mr. Roosevelt had pardoned Earl Browder, communist leader, who now is supporting a fourth term.

The President said he did not welcome the support of those who were committed to communist or Fascist doctrines.

The soldier-vote issue arose even before Gov. Dewey became the Republican nominee, when he opposed enactment by Congress of the administration-sponsored Federal war ballot bill.

He then insisted that the States could and would provide satisfactory means for uniformed personnel to vote.

The Republican nominee brought the issue of post-war service discharges into the campaign with the assertion that the administration was planning to hold men in the service longer than necessary in order to lessen the threat of unemployment after the war.

Ottawa Milkmen Would Boost Price Of Milk

OTTAWA, Oct, 6 — (CP). — Members of the Ottawa Valley Milk Producers Association decided last night to continue efforts to obtain an increase of 30 cents per hundredweight of milk.

The association was told by the Prices Board earlier this week that no increase in the price of milk could be authorized. The board said an increase of one cent a quart to the consumer would raise the cost of living. Allowing Ottawa Valley farmers an increase would lead to requests for similar increases from all over the country, the board said.

Gordon Greer, president of the association, said the farmers were not anxious that the consumer pay more than the present rate of 10 cents a quart. However, they felt the Government should make allowances because the summer drought had forced farmers to delve into their winter feed supplies.

"All the producers want is sufficient to meet the cost of production which increased this year because of the drought," said Mr. Greer. "We have to have the price to maintain production and we will do all in our power to get it without being forced to take drastic action. Such action would mean a holdback of milk by the producers. We don't want to be forced into that because we realize the consumer must have milk."

Greer said the association had asked Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, to support their request. Kennedy replied by telegram that he was writing the Prices Board and urging that an increase of one cent a quart to the consumer be allowed.

Russians Covet Nazis' Kiel Canal

MOSCOW, Oct. 6 (AP) — The Soviet naval organ Red Fleet emphasized today Russia's deep interest in the post-war status of the Kiel Canal, which cuts through German territory south of the Danish border to link the Baltic with the North Sea.

Declaring the "question of security of the Baltic Sea" was involved, the paper said:

"Twice during the last 30 years German Imperialism has locked Baltic Sea. This cannot be tolerated any longer."

Red Fleet added "that no other Baltic power prevented, and some did not want to prevent, German Imperialism from acting as pirates."

"Only the country which exterminates the pirates by its own arms could appear as the guarantor of safety on this sea," the paper asserted.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 — (AP). — Clear dope from the big muddy . . . you couldn't blame Mort Cooper much for being discouraged about the lack of runs in October — for his side — big Mort has started four World Series games and only once have the Cards given him any runs . . . they were blanked for the eight innings he pitched in the 1942 series opener, shut out again in last year's finale and didn't score Wednesday until Cooper had left at the end of the seventh.

Cleaning the Cuff

President Harry Parr of the Maryland Jockey Club is such a strong supporter of the Baltimore Orioles that when Johnny Podgajny did some fancy hurling in a recent play-off game, Parr said he would name a race at Pimlico after him . . . Madison Square Garden has just declared a dividend of 25 cents a share — or about what some of those summer fights there were worth . . . Jesse Owens, who was reported from Europe as being in the army in Europe and getting ready to run in a meet in Paris, turned up at last Saturday's Ohio State-Missouri game to report that he has been working in a Detroit automobile plant for two years.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

When Fred Dearborn met and defeated George Snowden, for the club single's championship, on Wednesday night, the 1944 Lawn Bowling season, as far as the men's section was concerned, was brought to a close.

And when, on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. F. Hall won the ladies' single championship from Mrs. H. Benson, the season was officially ended.

True, the ladies held a little jitney of 2-8 end games after this final single game, but that was strictly on the side. The curtain has finally been rung down for this season.

It has been a long and interesting summer, with many wet days, hot days and cool days tossed in just to keep up the variety.

Play began on Wednesday, May 31st, with 30 mixed rinks in attendance. Outside of the rainy days bowling has been continuous for about twenty weeks and if our bowlers have not had their money's worth, well there is something wrong some where.

And just before we sign off this daily column for another season, let us pass on a little advice.

1st—To the ladies, be sure and attend their annual banquet and meeting on Tuesday, October 10 at 6.30 p.m.

2nd—To all shareholders to keep Monday, October 16 open, and be sure to be on hand to vote in the 1944-45 board of directors.

3rd—And finally, take your bowls home, treat them kindly and put them away until May 24th, 1945.

Preliminary bouts bring together Jackie Ball of Toronto and Cliff Beckett of Sudbury.

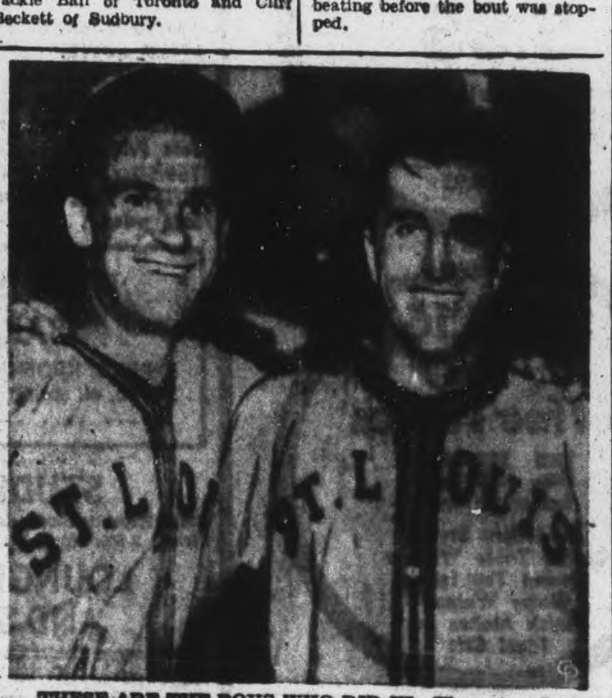
Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

That old adage "they don't come back" was proven in New York 12 years ago to-night when Jimmy (Baby Face) McLarnin, Vancouver Irishman, scored a six-round technical knockout over Benny Leonard. Ruler of the division in the early '20s and one of the great lightweight boxers of time, Leonard absorbed a terrific beating before the bout was stopped.



THESE ARE THE BOYS WHO DID IT—These two had a lot to do with the 2 to 1 victory of St. Louis Browns over the Cardinals in the opener of the World Series at St. Louis. They are George McQuinn, first baseman, Left, who hit the home run that scored the two runs for the Browns and Denny Galehouse, winning pitcher. This is a sound photo.

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Toronto Westsides who meet the Peterborough junior team in a game at Riverside Park next Monday afternoon, Thanksgiving Day, have long been prominent in junior football. As a matter of fact the Westsides have a history running back to 1926 and they have collected a number of titles during that period, their most recent triumph being the capture of the O.R.F.U. junior title in 1940. This year's club is managed by Harry Potter and includes some outstanding junior stars. Among them is Tom Newman, a smart quarterback and field general, Al Patch, a star half who not only does the kicking for the Westsides but tosses their forward passes as well, Gord Crawford a hard-hitting plunging half, and two big linemen, Stan Pietrus, 190 pounds and Joe Kowalchuck, 170. The latter are a pair of Canadian-born Ukrainians who have been playing great football for the Toronto youngsters. In other words the Westsides have quite a team and the Petes are facing formidable opposition in their opening battle. However the Peterborough kids have been going good in practice and the reputation of the visitors is not bothering them. They hope to make a real showing against the well-coached Westsides. The holiday game should attract a big crowd. Tickets are on sale now and are going well.

Bill Gaynon, Niagara Falls Gazette commentator is on sound ground in the following warning: "With so much talk being made about a semi-pro league supplanting the O.B.A. next season, it might be well to go into matters carefully before any jumping overboard takes place. Ball men around the area are aware that the provincial group moved bad for baseball this summer, but the remedy is not a semi-pro set-up, which might only lead to far worse conditions. It's the contention of this party that a complete re-organization of the Ontario Baseball Association with a much smaller executive and a return to the residence rule, is the best answer to present ills. O.B.A. officers lost their grip this summer by opening the gates to a quintet of U.S. imports and if this section ever tries an out and out semi-pro league, their plans may meet with worse disaster than exists today. It's all very well for promoters in certain centres that are benefitting by industrial conditions, made possible by the war, to talk of less restrictions on residence regulations, but if such parties would stop to consider that their area will not be so fertile when employment eases down, they might decide that they are a trifle off the track. After all, any legislation adopted now should fit the post-war era, and any lowering of the gates may result in driving certain centres out of the league, and putting baseball in a state from which it will not emerge without creating a lasting hardship on the entire peninsula."

Yesterday's Hero

So far as our book goes finding the hero of the second game in the world series won yesterday by the Cards 3 to 2 in 11 innings presents no particular difficulty. We would vote a straight ballot for a fellow by the name of Sylvester U. Donnelly, more familiarly known as Blix Donnelly and late of Rochester, N.Y. If any one had said a couple of days ago that the first Cardinal pitcher to win a game in the current series would be the same Donnelly we would have been too startled even to laugh at him. Yet the former Rochester right-hander who won 16 and lost 8 in the International League a year ago stepped into yesterday's ball game at a moment when it looked as if the Cards were going to be bumped off for the second day in succession and completely subdued the Brownie attack. The American Leaguers, with a sudden lash-out of power, after being stopped cold by Max Lanier for six innings, had scored two runs in the seventh to tie the count and when Mike Kreevich opened the eighth with a terrific double to left the Browns were all set for the kill. Out came Lanier and in came Donnelly with a fighting heart and a curve ball that did everything but croon as it weaved around the Brownie bats. The fireman fanned Chet Laabs and Vern Stephens, two of the Sewell power-houses, deliberately walked the dangerous George McQuinn and then struck out Mark Christman. And that neighbors, is relief pitching de luxe.

* * * * * *

Three innings later with the score still tied in the eleventh frame Donnelly faced a similar situation when he yielded a double to McQuinn, first batter to face him in that session. This time he came up with one of the smartest defensive plays in world series history when he turned Christman's intended sacrifice into an out by getting McQuinn going into third. How important that fast, clever move was is shown by the fact that Gene Moore who followed rapped a [illegible] fly to right on which McQuinn would have scored had Christman's sacrifice been allowed to go through in the orthodox way. Donnelly struck out seven of the Brownies in the four innings he worked and was easily the star performer. Ken O'Dea, second string catcher of the Cards, of course shares some of the glory for it was the backstop who in a pinch-hitting role slammed out the single in the last of the eleventh that sent Sanders home with the run that evened the series. That was the second time O'Dea had been called on in the two games for he supplied the long fly that gave the Cards their only marker in the opening battle.

Cards Should Do It

Predictions are dangerous when a club has done so many remarkable things as have the Brownies this season but with the series now tied up this column looks for the Cardinal power to assert itself from now in. The National Leaguers have the hitting ability to score more runs than they have been collecting and that potency at the plate is bound to make itself felt. As for the pitching selections for the next day or two both managers must be doing a little figuring. Already the Cards have started their ace Mort Cooper and lost and they have won on the pitching of a hurler who didn't figure to see much action in the annual classic. Similarly the Brownies have scored a victory with a pitcher who didn't break even on the season and then started their ace in the second game and eventually lost. Southworth has Ted Wilks and Harry Brecheen ready for today and Sewell can choose between Sig Jakucki and Jack Kramer. We have an idea that either of those pitchers is likely to run into heavy weather. Cardinal power cannot be held in check indefinitely and Musial, Cooper, Kurowski and company have been hitting better pitching than the Kramer-Jakucki brand hard all season.

There will be plenty of color at Varsity Stadium tomorrow afternoon with Navy putting on a show that should prove vastly entertaining. But viewed from this distance the football card looks just average. The Navy Bull Dogs meet St. Thomas R.C.A.F. in the opening game and the Sailors carry too much armament all along hte line for the Air Force lads. The Hornets have plenty of coaching with Pee Wee Chantler and Ches McChance doing the master-minding but outside of Moon Mullins, the reliable Montreal backfielder, who played here several times when the Orfuns were in the senior O.R.F.U., the Fliers do not seem to have anything outstanding in the way of material. In the second game of the day Balmy Beach meet the Toronto Indians and here again the teams do not seem to be very evenly matched. The Bammies shouldn't have a great deal of trouble coming down in front in that argument.

Salmonbellies Ready To Meet St. Catharihes

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—(CP).—New Westminster Salmonbellies arrived in Toronto today and Coach Grumpy Spring said his team was in good shape for the opening game of the best-of-seven Mann Cup finals for the Dominion lacrosse championship against St. Catharines Athletics tomorrow night.

Efforts are being made today to arrange a workout at Maple Leaf Gardens for the Salmonbellies to loosen them up after their train trip from Winnipeg where they stopped over for an exhibition game.

Feud Goes On In Mat Warfare

KARL "KRIPPLER" DAVIS

"It looks like the boys are spoiling for a fight so why not let them have it," said Promoter Frank Tunney today in announcing that he has matched Karl Davis and Irish Jack Kennedy for the main bout in next Tuesday's show. Davis practically demanded the match because of Kennedy's invasion of the ring during the Texan's bout with Watson the other night. And Kennedy didn't back up an inch when told he was to meet the fiery Texan. There will be two other good bouts on the card.

He Was Thirsty

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 6—(AP).—Jesse David Snyder, 34, climbed to the top girder on a bridge, waited for a crowd to gather, shed his coat and jumped into the Willamette River. Rescued by a fire boat and taken to shore, he complained: "What's the matter? Isn't anybody passing out the whisky? I thought they gave a guy a drink when he falls in the river." Police charged him with disorderly conduct.

Ridley College Beats Hamilton Westdales

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 6.—Ridley College won its first intercity rugby game today at the city school gridiron in defeating Westdales of Hamilton, 12-7. The game was as close as the score indicates.

Ridley took an early lead in plunging to Westdales' 15-yard line, where Davis rounded the end for a try, converted by MacFarlane. McGiverin hoofed a single in the second, followed by a series of line bucks by Ridley to the enemy end, where Bartlett lunged across for an unconverted try at 12-0. The third quarter was scoreless. In the last quarter Lampman hoofed a single for Westdale and Lumsden plunged over for a try, converted by Lampman.

Division Adopts New Marching Song

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—(AP). — "A Patch of Red" has been officially adopted by Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes as the marching song of the Canadian 1st Division, and is being heard in Canada, carrying out a wish of Gen. Vokes, 1st Division commander, that Canadians at home hear it.

The lyrics and music are by Sigmn. Brian Manley of Toronto, who wrote them while on front line duty in Sicily and Italy. It was sung at first by Manley's group of signallers, but later was adopted throughout the division and the original manuscript is to be included in the division's official war diary.

The song praises "The man who wears a Red Patch on his shoulder," the battle patch of the division which led the Germans in Sicily to call 1st Division men "Red Patch Devils."

Little World Series Opens

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 6—(AP). —The Little World series—blue-ribbon feature of minor league baseball—will open here to-night when Louisville of the American Association and Baltimore of the International League clash in the first struggle of the four-of-seven series after battling to victory in the play-offs of their respective circuits.

Baltimore Orioles, piloted by Manager Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas, were scheduled to arrive here to-day after entraining at Baltimore last night.

Harry Leibold, manager of Louisville Colonels, has designated hurler Jim Kilson, winner of 19 games, for the mound berth in the opener, but Thomas said he would wait until shortly before game time before deciding whether to start pitchers Sam Lowry or Ambrose (Bobo) Palica.

The series will be continued here Saturday night and Sunday. Then the squads will journey to Baltimore for the remainder of the necessary games.

Louisville conquered Milwaukee and St. Paul in the Association playoffs to earn the right to meet the Orioles who defeated Buffalo and Newark, both by four games to three.

Baltimore won the last Little World series in which it participated—in 1925—by the Colonels, then piloted by Joe McCarthy, now manager of New York Yankees.

A capacity crowd of 12,000 is expected to see the opener.

Ontario Rugby Program Heavy Over the Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Ontario football interest this Thanksgiving Day week-end centres in Toronto where seven of the eight teams in the Ontario Rugby Football Union and the Ontario Armed Services League will be in action in doubleheaders billed for Saturday and Monday.

Only team which will not appear in Toronto is the 1943 Dominion champion Hamilton Wildcats who are at home tomorrow to the Ottawa Trojans. Wildcats are expected to run their string of victories to three straight to retain their leadership in the O.R.F.U. standings. It is the second game in a week fo these two teams who played last Saturday in Ottawa where Joe Krol led Wildcats to a 6-1 win.

The Trojans will play in Toronto again on Monday where their opponents will be the Toronto Indians who are also billed for double action at the week-end as they have a game with Toronto Balmy Beach tomorrow.

The Navy is taking over the Saturday football program in Toronto. They play the St. Thomas R.C.A.F. team in the first game of the double bill and their supporters are confident they will run their consecutive wins in service league play to three games. A special half-time program will be presented by the H.M.C.S. York dance band, which will play during the game.

Beaches Play

The Navy-St. Thomas tilt will be followed by the second meeting between Beaches and Indians in a week. With veterans Earl Selkirk and Sam Sward along with rookies Brois Tipoff and Billy Myers to provide the scoring punch and a big line to batter the way, the Beaches are expected to score their second win of the season. They won last week's contest 19-1. However, if Fleet Murray Jacobs gets away on many long runs and the Jack Harris-Al Humphrey forward-passing combination clicks consistently the Indians may gain their first victory of the season.

A services league game between Camp Borden R.C.A.F. Hurricanes, who seem to have hit their scoring stride now that Toronto veteran Bobby Porter has taken over quarterback duties, and the Hagersville R.C.A.F. Bombers is the feature of Monday's double bill.

Should both Ottawa and Indians lose tomorrow their battle in the second game Monday will be for the cellar position in the O.R.F.U. So far each has lost its only starts, Ottawa one and Indians two.

Cardinals Even World Series Beating Browns 3-2 In 11 Innings

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sport Writer.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6 —(AP) — Encouraged by the phenomenal blitzing of young Sylvester (Blix) Donnelly, manager Billy Southworth of the Cardinals put the finger on another freshman right-hander today when he named Teddy Wilks to oppose 26-year-old Jack Kramer of the Browns in the third game of the World Series that is knotted at one game each.

Southworth gambled yesterday and won on Donnelly, 29, a minor league maestro who had a mediocre 2-1 victory record this season. It was the four relief innings the rookie threw and a cat-like play on an 11th inning bunt that were largely responsible for the Red Birds 3-2 triumph in the 11th frame nerve-wringer before 35,076.

A Tough Spot.

Blix trudged out to the mound in the eighth inning yesterday as the Cards' hopes of a world championship were fading. When he walked off the hill at the end of the 11th he had painted a Cardinal hue on the series horizon.

He began by making a personal erasure of Chet Laabs, Vern Stephens, the American League run-producing champ, and Mark Christman, striking out each in the eighth. Potential winning run during this procedure danced on second base in the person of Mike Kreevich, who had doubled to lead off the inning and send Max Lanier to an early bath.

After the first two games in which Mort Cooper was beaten and Max Lanier failed to hold a two-run lead, Southward appeared to be going all out for less experienced pitchers. The Fulton, N. Y., farm system grad overshadowed most 1944 newcomers with a 17-4 record that included a streak of 11 victories. Three of his losses came in the midst of the Birds' September slump.

On the strength of Wilks' past performance chart and evidence that the Cards were beginning to look more like their mid-summer selves, the National Leaguers were re-established as favorites at 9 to 20 in the series and 3 to 5 for today's game. Fair weather and continued 80-degree temperature were predicted.

Kramer Still Good.

Kramer, a former serviceman who was out of the game all of 1942 and most of last year, finished his first complete big league campaign with a 17-13 mark, sweeping his last four outings in the heat of the race and winding up with a 4-1 victory over the Yankees a week ago.

It was the Browns' turn to be the home club today and for the next two days with the series now certain to run through Sunday. With half the games in which the players share already gone it appeared the "player pool" would finally reach approximately $360,000, lowest since St. Louis downed Detroit 10 years ago. Forty per cent of the receipts today and tomorrow go to the War Relief Fund.

When the Brownie defence cracked wide open in the third and fourth innings, it looked like "no contest" but Vern Stephens' over-the-head catch on Whitey Kurowski's foul-line fly to start an eighth-inning double-play was out of this world.

Ken O'Dea actually won the game for the National leaguers from reliefer Bob Muncrief with his pinch single to right in the 11th, scoring Ray Sanders who had singled and been bunted to second by Kurowski but you never would know it today. Donnelly, making his second series appearance is as many days, was the No. 1 attraction.

Before he came on the scene, the Cards had hopped into the lead in the third when Pitcher Nels Potter fumbled Max Lanier's pop bunt and threw wild past first for two errors after Emile Verban had singled. That set the stage for Verban to score on Augie Bergamo's infield out. Again in the fourth the Red Birds rang the bell when they loaded the bases on Ray Sanders' walk, Kurowski's single and an error by Mark Christman on Marty Marion's hopper. Sanders came in on Verban's fly to Chet Laabs.

Donelly Stars

Lanier had allowed only a fifth-inning infield single until the seventh when the Browns tied it up. Frank Mancuso's pinch single scored Red Hayworth after the carrot-topped catcher had converted Moore's second one-bagger with a double that hit the top of the left-field wall.

Donnelly replaced Lanier after Mike Kreevich opened the eighth with a double and he struck out the side, picked up another victim in the ninth, two in the 10th and made it seven by whiffing Hayworth in the 11th. George McQuinn had opened the Brown 11th with a double, but was cut down at third when Donnelly hopped on Christman's bunt and hustled a throw to Kurowski, nipping the opening-game hero in a photo finish. That could have meant the ball game as the next man, Moore, flied to deep right.

In the first two games of the series Donnelly has allowed two hits and no runs in six innings—two in the opener and four yesterday.

BROWNS GET GRAY — Pete Gray, above, sensational one-armed outfielder of Memphis Southern Association club, has been sold to the St. Louis Browns for an undisclosed sum and another player.

OPENING DAY HURLER WITH MANAGER—Billy Southworth, Left, manager of the National League champion St. Louis Cardinals, with his ace pitcher, Morton Cooper. Cooper was the Red Birds' nominee to pitch the opening game of the World Series. He lost, 2-1.

TORONTO, Oct. 6 — (CP). — Apparently there isn't anything much better as basic training for a commando course in any of the three services than a good, stirring season of lacrosse, with all its attending flailing of shillelahs and near mayhem.

That, in part, is what that West Coast boxla expert, Dan McKenzie of New Westminster, writes Jim Coleman of the Toronto Globe and Mail. Dan says that West Coast teams have been losing players all along because "the training received by lacrosse players while learning the game develops an urge to get into the armed forces."

Aside from that, there isn't much wrong with the game in British Columbia, he avers, and the Salmonbellies are looking forward to copping the Mann Cup again if all goes well. St. aCtharines Athletics haven't been consulted yet about their attitude in the matter, however.

Young 'uns active:

Interest in minor hockey ranks in Ontario is at a record pitch, reports Secretary Jack Christie of the O.M.H.A. Things are starting to hop early, and 10 minor teams have sent in their entries already, starting with Sault Ste. Marie on August 14 no less. Last year, the entries didn't begin trickling in until the second week in November, but before they stopped reached an all-time high of 122. So, minor officials are hoping for an even better season this year.

Hither and yon:

If trying means anything, the Kitchener, Ont., area will be well represented in this winter's rookie N.H.L. crop. Bobbie Schnurr of St. Michael's College is trying out with Boston Bruins, while Donald Bauer and Pat Boehmer are taking a trial spin with Toronto Maple Leafs.....Hockey promoters in Los Angeles and other West Coast U. S. centres are looking for hockey timber in Canada's West. Wholesale importations of talent aren't expected to start until after the war, however.....The Callaghan sisters of Vancouver, Margie and Helen, liked their stay in the American Professional Glamor Girls' Softball League, but it's rumored they aren't interested in returning next year unless their salary ceiling is boosted.

St. Hyacinthe Training Centre Biggest Of Its Kind In Empire

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Oct. 6—(CP). — The eyes, ears and voices of the Canadian Navy are turned out at this training centre — the biggest of its kind in the Empire. A party of newsmen toured the school this week on completion of its facilities.

Seventy-three buildings on a 260-acre site beside the picturesque Yamaska River house a total of 3,200 officers, ratings and Wrens studying subjects ranging from the simple semaphore signalling to the abstruse mathematics involved in the theory of radar and the other branches of electronics.

The newest course—covering all forms of communications and radar—is a seven-months grind for officers, qualifying them for specialist duties. But the most important task of the school is training hundreds of Wrens and ratings to become wireless operators, radio operators, visual signalmen, radar operators and coders. The girls qualify for shore berths while most of the ratings go to sea. So that they wont forget they belong to a "fighting Navy" the students take course in commando pistol shooting.

This town is nearly 260 miles from the tide-water so the Navy has improvised bridges on the roofs of school buildings—some of which simulate the roll and pitch of a ship and are called "rocking horses." The rolling bridges are not to test the rating on seasickness; but to teach him how to maintain his balance and send a legible message from an unsteady position.

Musgrave in Command.

Commander of the school is Capt. A. P. Musgrave, a Californian of English parentage who served in the Royal Navy in the First Great War. He joined the R.C.N. as a lieutenant the day before the outbreak of the present conflict. On his staff are Lt.-Cmdr. Johnny Loaring, the Windsor, Ont., Olympic hurdler and chief radio instructor, and Lieut. Jeannie Dunlop of Toronto, commander of the Wren unit.

One of the important weapons to come out of this war both for offence and defence, has been radar, and a specialist course for officers is given here on this subject. The officers taking the course are all university graduates in physics or electrical or other branches of engineering, who have been entered directly in the Radar Branch of the R.C.N. Their radar course lasts several months and they are entitled to use the letter R after their rank on graduation.

Prospective wireless telegraphists are given a general knowledge of receivers and transmitters from the technical standpoint, although they are not expected to be able to repair major defects. Radio telephony, in which messages are sent by voice, must also be learned.

At the end of their 21-week course, successful ratings are awarded what the Navy calls their "non-substantive" badges — the winged lightning bolt which they wear on their right sleeve as a mark of their specialty. This ceremony, which originated here, is the Navy's nearest approach to the Air Force's presentation of wings to qualified students.

Visual Signalling.

Visual signals have been the chief method of ship to ship communication ever since there has been a Navy. The subject covers flag hoists, in which flags having various meanings are displayed from signal halyards, semaphore, by means of hand flags, directional signalling which is accomplished by searchlights, signal projectors, Aldis lamps, and other similar devices, and all-round signalling by means of masthead lights.

A small number of ratings are trained as convoy signalmen. Their duty is to maintain contact with the warships forming the escort so that the merchant ships may be immediately notified of any changes in course and speed or other urgent orders. In the early days of the war, and often still in the case of small convoys, the merchant ships' officer of the watch or wireless operator often had to act as signalman on the bridge as well. Since his training was not primarily concerned with flag messages, there was often considerable delay in the exchange of signals.

More than 80 signal flags, each with its own meaning, are carried on modern warships and the signalman has to know how to prepare and hoist flag signals quickly and correctly.

There are fleet model rooms and convoy model room with tables on which models of ships are mounted. Each ship carries lights which may be flashed so that signals can be passed from one to another in the same manner as at sea. In the case of the fleet model room, the model ships can be moved to demonstrate the way in which fleet manoeuvres are carried out.

LEARN JOB AT SIGNAL SCHOOL—At this huge table, with its models of merchant ships and escort vessels, young signalmen at St. Hyacinthe learn how to route messages through a convoy. Mounted on each model is a light, controlled by a key below the edge of the table. Each of the students can be asked to act as signalman from one of the ships, and he must be able to read messages from other ships and pass them on correctly by the most direct route.

COMMANDS SCHOOL—Capt. A. P. Musgrave, commanding officer of H.M.C.S. St. Hyacinthe, one of the largest naval signal schools in existence, established by the Royal Canadian Navy at St. Hyacinthe, Que., at a former army camp. He comes from British Columbia, and spent a year in Halifax, N.S.

WRENS DO THEIR PART — These daring young Wrens, climbing the mast at St. Hyacinthe, are (start at the top and reading downward): Wren Nancy Lee McMurtry, Westmount, Que.; Wren Rosalind Kindersley, Westmount, Que.; Wren Pat Smith, Oakville; Wren Margaret Faskin, Toronto; Wren Margaret Mackay, Vancouver, B.C., and Wren Alice Entwistle, London, Ont.

Small Nations Resent Big 3 Being Guardians Of The World

By C. R. BLACKBURN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 —(CP) — Britons, Russians and Americans, saviours of the world from threat of Axis slavery—a salvage job still far from ended—are being attacked for alleged plans to dominate the world in the interests of peace.

Strange that this could be true so soon after those dark days when all freedom-loving peoples pinned their wavering hopes on the efforts of these countries to make themselves powerful enough to turn back the Axis.

That is is true is evident from what has been written and said of the Dumbarton Oaks conference which has been dragging on here nearly six weeks merely to draft a proposal for a World Security League.

From all sides and from those written and spoken words command wide attention come fright-inspiring warnings of the terrible consequences if those three powers decide to stand together as guardings of world peace and international decency.

Hard-Headed.

"Power politics" is the cry of those who now shout loudly for the right to share in decisions on future wars or suppressions of war of small countries whose continued existence depends entirely upon the lavish sacrifice of lives, wealth and brains of the three countries their protagonists seem to fear.

Universal brotherly love, humility and self-effacement might be a better formula but hard-headed realists at Dumbarton Oaks, particularly the Russians, do not accept that goal as possible of attainment just now. The alternative as a measure of insurance against barbarism would seem to be unlimited power in the hands of those who can best be trusted to use it reverently.

The effort to put that alternative into a form palatable to the critics of power politics in the United States is believed ot be one of the reasons why the Dumbarton Oaks conference has lasted twice as long as expected, and still goes on.

Neglected.

Canada's memorial neglected: in Arlington Cemetery, just across the Potomac from the White House, burial place of heroic and illustrious dead of the United States, stand the great marble, open-air theatre, the tomb of the unknown soldier, the historic Lee Mansion and the fo[r]mast of the battleship Maine, beautifully kept and cared for. A little apart from the Maine memorial, without approaching pathway, its base buried in neglected grass and weeds, weather-worn and drab, stands the graceful memorial cross erected by the Canadian Government in memory of Americans who died while serving with the Dominion's forces in the First Great War.

Ten Canadians Spy On Germans

Gy DOUG. HOW
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC FRONT, Oct. 6 — (CP Cable). — Ten Canadian artillerymen reported targets from behind the enemy's lines for eight days and had unsuspecting Germans within a few feet of them several times. Seven of them were wounded returning to their own lines by Allied outposts whose challenges they failed to hear as they half-walked and half-swam through the sea on the Adriatic coast.

The Canadians lived during the whole eight days in the tiny attic of a humble village home, sending out messages by bulky wireless sets smuggled in with them.

Germans were in and out of the house every day. For a whole day enemy soldiers operated a wireless set in the room below while the Canadian group lay silently on the mattresses on the floor above.

Finally the advancing Canadian forces were within 1½ miles of the hideout when the signal came that their position was likely to be overrun in an attack the next night.

Greek troops had been warned the artillerymen were coming, and finally spotted a group of men. They delivered the agreed-upon challenge three times but the Canadians were unable to hear it. The Greeks opened fire, but Capt. Sid Turner of Toronto managed to reach the outposts and tell the Greeks they were Canadian soldiers.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

Warden Isaac Anderson is calling a meeting of the County Council for Tuesday and Wednesday next week, transferring to this month two days from the final sessions of the year in November. Business requiring present attention has advised the earlier meeting instead of leaving on file to wait for another month.

FORGOT HERSELF

A young feminine employee of one of the city's dress shops forgot herself while fixing a window display this morning, to the amusement of several window-shoppers. She brought a beautiful fur coat into the window, to place on a model. A weakness for nice clothes probably assailed her, and without thinking, casually put herself into the coat, admiring the picture of it in a window mirror. Noticing spectators, the girl hurriedly disrobed and went about her task.

FEELING BETTER

Mrs. S. Clarke, 249 Simcoe street, has received the good news that her husband, Sgt. Sammy Clarke, wounded recently in France, is improving, and is now out of the hospital, and in a rest home in England. The soldier suffered wounds on his face, head, ear, and leg, during the fierce fighting in France with the S. D. and G. Highlanders. Sgt. Clarke will be remembered here as the genial bell-boy at the Empress Hotel.

POSTAL SERVICE THANKSGIVING

There will be no delivery by letter carrier or rural route courier on Thanksgiving Day, the Post Office announces. However, the public lobby of the Post Office will be open from 6.30 a.m. to 6 p.m., and General Delivery, registration, postage stamp, money order and savings bank wickets will be open from 8 a.m. to 12 noon for the transaction of all business. J. R. Turnbull of the Dominion Livestock Branch, grader at Canada Packers, was the judge and distributed the prizes, in order, as follows: Edward Hogg, Peterborough RR 5; Burritt Mann, Donald Milburn, Nelson Trude, Bob Cockburn of Smith, and Wm. Stewart, Peterborough RR 1. The club was sponsored by the county Federation of Agriculture.

CPL. BOCOCK IMPROVED.

Cpl. Gordon Thomas Bocock, reported last week dangerously wounded with shell fragments in the chest on September 19, was removed from the dangerously ill list to the seriously ill list September 27, according to a telegram received this morning by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bocock, 216 King George Street. Mrs. Bocock has received altogether four telegrams on the condition of her son, who was hit while serving with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in the Adriatic sector, since the original message that conveyed word of Cpl. Bocock's being wounded.

ABSENTMINDED

Some one left a hat and a violin on the grounds of a Homewood avenue resident. The owner of these articles can recover them at the police station where they were taken.

FIRE CAUSE DETERMINED.

Announcement was made this morning by Fire Chief Gimblett that the fire Wednesday at the Champlain Hotel was caused by an overheated shaft on the fan of the air-conditioning unit.

BOY KNOCKED DOWN.

Running in front of a Silverwood's delivery wagon on Thompson avenue Thursday, young Murray Grafstein, 623 Homewood avenue, was knocked down and suffered bruises on his leg and a torn cartilage in his ankle.

SAME NUMBER

Approximately the same number of automobile and truck licenses have been issued this year as last year. The figure is roughly 7,500 cars, and 900 trucks. The number of ownership transfers, however, is slightly above the figure for last year.

TRUE AFFECTION

Something resembling true affection was witnessed on George street this morning, when a young man met a girl acquaintance and enquired for a cigarette. Without any ado, the girl walked into a nearby tobacco shop, purchased a pack of cigarettes, and offered them to the boy.

PETERBOROUGH'S APPEAL

The R. Stirrett Company of Sarnia in a quarter page advertisement in the Sarnia Observer lauds the effort of Peterborough in planning a Memorial Centre and urges the mayor of that city to call a special meeting of the citizens when plans for a similar centre could be discussed.

JUDGING ASSIGNMENTS.

Senator Duffus is leaving at the first of next week to begin an extensive engagement of judging plowing matches in eastern and western Ontario until the end of the first week in November. Howard Quinn is setting out Wednesday on a judging assignment at matches in the western section of the province. Both these local plowing experts are on the judging staff of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

3 Cars Rifled On Chambers Street

Car owners are warned not to leave valuable articles in parked unlocked automobiles for there have been a number of cases of sneak thieving lately.

Thursday night, three different cars parked in the Chambers street area were entered and ransacked but only one article was stolen. That was a 50 foot steel tape taken from a car owned by J. R. Archibald, 302 Hunter street west. Two cameras in the same automobile had been removed from the glove department but were not stolen.

Two other machines, one owned by H. E. Dunford, 167 Brock street and the other by Miss Stella Gallagher, 219 Reid street were broken into and articles in the glove department pulled out but nothing was carried off.

Aid To Victims Gets Close To $82,000 Mark

When any one particular thing carries on day in and day out for a period close to four years, there is some possibility of its importance being lost sight of, and like a great many other things, its operation being taken as something very much for granted.

If such should be the case, it would hardly seem out of order to have a refresher to point out that all good works should hardly be allowed to sink to such a position, when they very much concern the good portion of the human race, particularly when in some parts of the world the forces of evil still predominate to a large degree.

The work of the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund is definitely not yet fully accomplished, for thousands upon thousands of people of whom a large proportion are young children, are still away from their homes, and robot or flying bombs still continue to devastate the homes of some people, who will require help to assist them back to some semblance of their former life.

The people of this city and district have established a very fine record of achievement in this particular war effort, and now that the time is not too far distant when it can feel that its mission has been fully accomplished, it would seem a great pity if it relaxed its efforts, when it fully deserves a fitting climax for such a worthy purpose.

To date, this fund has collected the splendid sum of $81,979.90, which is just $20.10 short of reaching the $82,000 mark, and its work particularly at the moment is designed specially to help provide some cheer for Christmas to the myriads of children and other folk, whom misfortune has deprived of their home at that time.

Most Prompt Response

Faced with a possibility of the first scoreless day since the fund went into operation, the secretary of the fund called Mr. Irving Moldaver of the Peterborough Metals Company who had casually remarked on a previous occasion that the small group of employees in this business were gathering a little help for the objects the fund seeks to assist, with the result that inside of less than two hours, a contribution of $13.10 was delivered at the fund headquarters, which bespeaks co-operation of the highest type, besides giving concrete evidence of an earnest desire to be of assistance.

Numbered in this group are Hazel Mahood, Dorothy Barry, Mabel Stata, William Laughlin, Fred Rathburn, Fred Bullock, Andy Matola, Alan, Sam and Irving Moldaver, who all had a hand in making the gift possible, and it should be recalled that this is not an isolated instance, for they have given help on previous occasions.

This co-operation and assistance is highly appreciated, and it is hoped that the knowledge of the assistance they have thus given to the great cause the fund serves, will give them all a good measure of personal satisfaction.

Flier Saves Plane Hands Badly Burned

LONDON, Oct. 6 — (CP Cable)— A Beaufighter was saved from burning and its pilot was able to press home a recent attack on a convoy when the navigator, Flt. Lt. Ronald Jackson of Brockville scooped up with his bare hands flaming material from the belly of the plane as it roared through heavy flak.

Flying with Sqdn. Ldr. Robert Schoales of Fort William as pilot, Jackson found the plane afire as the squadron went in to attack a convoy of six minesweepers and two trawlers.

It was not time to divert the pilot so Jackson reached into the blazing belly of the aircraft and scooped out the engine cover which he carried to the machine-gun hatch and tossed out. Then he subdued a minor blaze with the fire extinguisher. Jackson suffered severe burns.

Jungle Fighters Close In On Japs

KANDY, Ceylon, Oct. 6—(CP)— Indian infantry jungle fighters were reported to-day to have cut across the top of the so-called "Chocolate Staircase" highway which leads up the mountains by many twists and turns to the Japanese North-western Burma base of Tiddim.

At the same time the main British 14th Army advance down the Manipur Road was closing a nine-mile gap and crushing Japanese troops trapped by a roadblock four miles north of Tiddim.

Says Tories Gaining

TREHERNE, Man., Oct. 6.—(CP). —John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader, said here last night that recent provincial elections demonstrated "the C.C.F. has been stopped in its tracks, the Liberals are on the way out, and if an election were held tomorrow our party would be the largest in the House of Commons."

Fire Destroys Mill At Hybla

BANCROFT, Oct. 6. — (ENS). — During a severe electric storm which passed over the Bancroft district at 2 o'clock this morning, lightning struck the gas tank on the engine at the Alderwood mill at Hybla, 12 miles north-east of Bancroft. The building was completely destroyed and damage is estimated at $2,000.

The mill, owned and operated by R. C. Bartlett of Stratford, was ablaze in a matter of seconds, the whole structure burning from the exploding gasoline. Fifteen cords of peeled and unpeeled alderwood were destroyed. The tank had been filled up just before the men left work Thursday night and no one was on duty when the fire broke out.

The mill supplied material for the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company at Lindsay and would have re-opened on Monday with a full staff. Last year the staff at the mill numbered 17 men.

B'nai B'rith Lodge Sponsors Variety Show

Peterborough B'nai B'rith Lodge is sponsoring at Trenton Air Base this week-end a musical variety show both for the men at the main station and the No. 2 Repair Depot.

This will bring to six the number of shows put on at Trentan sponsored by the Peterborough Lodge in addition to one at Peterborough Training Centre. These shows are put on by a professional troupe under the direction of Sgt. Hal Shaw.

Almost every military camp in this province and in the province of Quebec has been visited by this fine group of entertainers under the sponsorship of the lodge nearest to the camp at which the show is being staged. Such has been the appreciation by the men at these camps that it is planned to continue with these shows as often as arrangements can be made for them.

Safety Week Records Best To Date

Safety Week was drawing to a close today with almost a clean sheet. Adversity failed to recruit a careless "collaborationist" or fifth columnist. The industrial sheet remained at two minor accidents involving no loss of time or serious hurt, and in the public domain only one negligible traffic accident was reported to the safety promotion committee.

"So far this has been the best Safety Week in Peterborough industry and certainly in our own works," said T. A. Lister, safety engineer at the Canadian General Company, "and we are hoping to go through to Saturday with this happy freedom from serious accidents."

Industry in this city had several years of organized campaigning against accidents and all their train of distress and losses, and the extension of Safety Week to the community as a whole was undertaken last year.

Best Record.

"We have had fewer accidents this week than ever before, and everybody interested in this movement is delighted that industrial workers and the people as a whole have shown that we can go through a week without anyone being seriously hurt, and that Safety is something we can do much to promote."

The program for tonight switches to the market square where the Fire Department is putting on a demonstration at 8 o'clock. Chief Gimblett is planning to set a flare or two and smoke bomb on the city buildings, snuff them out and probably carry one of the men to the ground in the method of department practice. At nine o'clock there will be a draw for the milk bottle lucky number by Mayor Hamilton, and something will likely be said for the cause of Safety Week.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6—(AP). —The Nazi-controlled Danish home radio said today that Prince Gustav, brother of King Christian X of Denmark, died suddenly of a heart attack last night at 11 p.m. The broadcast, reported by the Federal Communications Commission, said the Prince, born March 4, 1887, had died "after some days of illness."

$6,358 Increase Reported In Centre Funds

The onward march of the Memorial Community Centre drive lifted the total of funds collected since Thursday by an amount of $6,358.25 as the finance committee announced today that it was concentrating on an effort to have pledges and cash donations exceeding $200,000 by Saturday night.

The breakdown by canvassing divisions of the $168,010.60 aggregate shown this morning presented the following picture:

Manufacturers	$109,800.00
Employee Canvass	43,777.00
Special and Retail	28,364.35
General Canvass	6,069.25
Total	$188,010.60

A heartening increase in the employee canvass accounted for nearly half of the day's gain, as the sum of $3,000 was added by the contributions of workers in the city's various plants. Further progress marked the amazing support of Peterborough's manufacturing firms, which added the sum of $1,950 to bring their total to date up to nearly 110 per cent of the goal originally set them.

The increase in the special names and retail merchants section of the drive was reported at $925; while that of the general canvass, including contributions generously donated from communities outside Peterborough, was in the amount of $483.

"We are anxious to see our total go over the $200,000 mark by tomorrow night," Mr. Keyes observed this morning, "and with the co-operation of the general canvassers and individuals who intend to contribute but have not done so yet, I feel quite sure this aim can be accomplished." He asked that a special effort be made by canvassers to have their very latest reports in the finance office on Water street sometime Saturday.

I.O.D.E. Gift

Another special donation was made to the Community Centre this morning when a cheque for $50 was handed to the committee by Mrs. Jennie Spurway on behalf of the Jeanette Scott Chapter, I.O.D.E., of which Miss Isabel Weddell is regent, Miss Mary Medd, secretary, and Mrs. Max Comstock, treasurer.

Community Centre offices also took pleasure in announcing this morning that they had been advised by Police Chief Thompson that the members of the Police Department as a group have pledged $160 as their contribution to the fund. This represents individual donations of $10 each from the department's employees at present in the city.

Judgment Reserved In Alleged Theft Case

After a hearing that took most of the day Magistrate O. A. Langley K.C., reserved judgment in police court Thursday afternoon in a charge against Carl Northey, Simcoe street, of breaking and entering the C.G.E. canteen and stealing a sum of money.

In the crown's evidence it had been stated that Northey had been seen in the machine shop of the C.G.E. where the canteen is located at 6:20 o'clock on the morning in question, although it was said that Northey was through his work on the night shift at 6 o'clock.

Witnesses called by the defence swore that Lorne Gibson a companion of Northey's had arrived home that morning at 6:16 o'clock and that Northey was with him at that time.

Magistrate Langley announced that he would reserve his decision until next week.

A similar charge against Lorne Gibson and an additional count of having escaped from custody were also remanded until the same time.

Charge Dismissed Under Taxi By-law

A charge against Harry Finnie, local taxi operator of having violated the provisions of the local taxi by-law by charging a fare higher than set forth by the police commission schedule was dismissed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K. C., in police court Thursday afternoon.

The evidence showed that although Finnie did collect a $1.00 fare from a woman passenger he had driven from the C. P. R. station to a North Monaghan farm that a refund of 50 cents had been made to the woman three days afterward. It was indicated that the address to which she had been driven was well out in No. 2 zone, a trip of some three miles.

W. J. Fair defended Finnie and City Solicitor W. F. Kuycke, K. C., prosecuted.

In police court this morning, Thomas Gormon, a frequent visitor who pleaded guilty as a third offender to a drunk charge was sentenced to three months in the county jail.

James Pleward, who pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than a residence was fined $25 and $2.50 costs.

A Leaning Tower

STRATFORD, Oct. 6 — (CP). — The tower at the Collegiate-Vocational Institute here had taken on a Pisa-like aspect. It's leaning slightly, and a Stratford contractor says it's about two inches out of plumb. An architect has suggested cracks in the stone resulting from frost as possible causes.

WAR TOUCHES THE OLD AND WEAK — During the evacuation of Calais, this old lady had to be carried to safety across the Calais Canal. When the Canadians opened a major assault they stopped only long enough to permit the civilians to evacuate the city. With the fall of Calais, the Allies have eliminated all major German strongholds along the Channel coast opposite England, with the exception of Dunkerque. About 4,000 Germans were captured in Calais.

Estonia Likely To Adopt Russian Program

TALLINN, Estonia, Oct. 6 — (AP). — The Soviet Estonian Republic, now freed from three years of German domination, will decide for itself whether to adopt the Russian system of collectivization of agriculture, Arnold Veimer, president of the Council of People's Commissars, has declared.

"If the Estonians do not want collective farms," he said at a press conference, "they will not have them. But the party, naturally believing in it, will campaign for it by press and radio education."

"And the nationalization of stores and business?" a correspondent asked.

"Small enterprises of less than 10 employees will remain in private hand," he replied.

Currently all stores in Estonia are closed for inventory.

A land reform which was inaugurated in 1940—30 hecatres of land to a peasant — has been reintroduced. A hecatre is 2.47 acres. Veimer was asked how many hired hands a peasant may employ and how many cows he may own.

"There is no limit to the number of persons he may employ on a farm," he declared. "He may have as many cows as he can maintain."

The council president said he did not know what system would prevail in the other Soviet Baltic Republics, Latvia and Lithuania, but there seems reason for believing there will be no forced collectivization or nationalizaton.

Veimer said the Republic faced a tremendous task of reconstruction, especially with winter coming and stores depleted by the Germans.

He estimated it would take two years to rebuild the shattered town. The port is wrecked. Between 40 and 50 per cent of the city's buildings were destroyed.

Vagrant Admits Fleeing Asylum

John Hartman, arrested in Warsaw a week ago on a vagrancy charge and remanded until today for sentence surprised the court this morning when he calmly informed Magistrate O. A. Langley, K. C., that he was a fugitive from a mental institution at Verdun, Que.

"The trouble started," said Hartman "when I walked away from a mental institution."

Provincial Constable Price Morris said that he had reason to believe that the man's story was true.

Hartman was sentenced to ten days imprisonment in the county jail.

"That will give you time to notify the authorities," Magistrate Langley remarked to Provincial Constable Morris.

Paris Operating On Half Normal Scale

PARIS, Oct. 6 — (AP). — The world's greatest restaurant city now is operating on only half its normal scale or less, a birdseye survey of the calitat's recovery shows.

Paris restaurants are serving about 300,000 meals daily against a normal average of more than 500,000 —but the meals are far below peacetime standards and most of the famous restaurants like Maxim's remain closed.

Many legitimate stores are getting only 1-10th the supply of potatoes needed to fill the registered customers' meagre ration — one or two pounds a week. Many stores are getting enough sugar for only one of 20 regular customers.

It has been stated authoritatively that there won't be enough flour to permit the free sale of bread for another six months. People now are allowed about two-thirds a pound daily but complain it is full of crude, dark flour and even sawdust.

At the present rate of French shoe production — 10,000,000 pairs every four months—the average Frenchman will be able to get less than one new pair yearly.

Schools are scheduled to open in less than a fortnight, but they are expected to be hampered by a severe shortage of books.

A SQUARED-OFF BERET—There is nothing new under the sun, so they say, and sometimes it seems true. For instance, the angled beret, above, is termed modernistic, when it really is a take from the biretta which savants and ecclesiasts wore in the middle ages. Here and today it is styled to decorate our flat new hairdos, and made in a full range of colors to accent all our Fall outfits. One wears it far back on the head, as photographed, putting the bow over the chignon.—By Prunella Wood.

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON (Society Editor of The Examiner)

Fall is here again, and the shortage of fuel is once more coming to the fore, as fuel dealers request that orders be placed as soon as possible, to relieve pressure when winter sets in. It's surprising how much the housewife can save in her home, if she just watches carefully.

Speaking of conserving fuel, that summer suggestion of cooking everything at once to save time and energy, also works in the wintertime too, as a grand fuel saver. If the dinner menu includes one baked food, plan an oven meal and let the entree, vegetables and dessert, "share the heat". With such a wide variety of foods from which to choose, planning an oven meal is easy. Begin by choosing the main dish, a meat loaf, casserole of meat or vegetable, poultry, or even fish.

When deciding on the vegetables, don't forget that they can be steamed, in the oven too, as well as baked. Just prepare them as usual; place in a pan or casserole; add hot salted water, and cover tightly. Green beans, peas, carrots, beets or corn are just a few that can be cooked in this way, and deliciously too. And remember, canned vegetables can be re-heated in the oven —another way to keep from using too many burners.

Now that the main dish and main course have been taken care of, there's the dessert. Puddings, of course, are a perfect choice for oven meal desserts, and added to the wide variety of choices in this field, are pies, and even baked apples, as well as custards.

Save and Be Smart

Here's something for the girls are handy with a needle and thread, and like to make their own clothes. When planning a new housecoat or cotton frock, buy unbleached muslin, and before making it up, dye it any attractive color desired. The muslin is not expensive, but is easily worked, and can be laundered often without losing its freshness and body.

Watch Vitamins

"Be vitamin conscious", say food and nutrition authorities, as they cast a disapproving eye on housewives carefully peeling vegetables and cluck their tongues as they see perfectly good vitamins go wafting into the ozone from merrily boiling vegetables in dishes without tops. They urge women to cut peelings as thin as possible, to save food value, and recommend that vegetables be cooked "with their jackets on", since it has been found that there is more food value next to the skin in most vegetables. Thus, when the skin is left on during the cooking, not only the precious mineral vitamins directly underneath are saved, but the skin acts as a protective covering, keeping the food value locked in the vegetable. Potatoes, carrots, squash, egg plant and parsnips are among the early winter vegetables to which this suggestion applies.

Another definite "don't" in the vitamin preserving fields: don't cook vegetables without tops. Lift the top as little as possible while they are cooking. The food value and vitamins are saved; cooking time is lessened; and full flavor is assured. So when an inquisitive family comes trooping in come supper time, wondering what's for lunch, just give them the "hands off" signal, and make them wait until the meal is ready.

Calories Count

"Well, shall we adjourn to the kitchen to add to our day's quota of calories?", has not yet become a popular invitation for a midnight snack, but public attention is being directed more along proper nutritional lines, and calories and individual requirements are generally discussed. Calories, as anyone who has been on a diet can tell you, are units of measurement used by nutritionists to "express the potential energy values of foods, and the energy requirements of the human body". Thus, a diet can be sufficiently adequate in calories, and yet contain little fattening food.

The number of calories needed each day varies according to the age, sex, and character of employment of the individual. Infants, for instance, need only 900 calories a day, while men in active jobs need 4,500 a day, and adults of either sex, regardless of activity, require at least 2,500 a day. Calorie values of foods differ greatly, from the 3,375 calories per pound value of butter, to spinach, which has a mere 110 calories to the pound. Also high on the calorie list is cheese, with 1,670 calories, and biscuits and soda crackers, with 1,976 to the pound.

Therefore, the next time biscuits and cheese are suggested as a snack; remember their calorie value, and, if inclined to plumpness, graciously nod your head in the negative, and daintily nibble on — shall we say — a lettuce leaf?

Nix to Nail Polish

There's hardly a busy business girl in Peterborough who hasn't at one time or other managed to smear nail polish from freshly-done nails onto a favorite blouse, slip, or dress, while hurriedly dressing for an appointment. However, there's an easy way to get rid of that annoying stain, namely: sponging the material with acetone or nail polish remover. However, if the article is made of acetate rayon, first wet the stain with cleaning fluid, and then apply a few drops of banana oil, (amyl acetate). Wash in rich soap suds; rinse well, and, the stain will disappear.

British Troops Beat Off 5 Counter Jabs

By ROBERT C. WILSON
Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN HOLLAND, Oct. 6 (AP)—Five German counter-attacks against the Allied salient in Holland have been beaten off by British 2nd Army troops, who have yet to assume a full offensive role themselves in this sector against containing enemy forces.

One enemy attack was launched from the west near the tip of the salient between the Waal and the Neder Rhine rivers in the vicinity of Opheusden. The enemy's momentum carried him forward 1,000 yards, but British troops struck back and in a sharp engagement regained the lost ground.

At least 200 enemy soldiers were killed and 75 were captured.

Farther south on the eastern side of the Nijmegen corridor, German infantry was hurled times against British lines in the Overloon sector, and was thrown back each time. When the guns died away, neither side had won or lost an inch.

The Germans also jabbed at the salient near Mook on the north bank of the Maas but this attack was described as small and "easily held."

Allied strength constantly is pouring into Holland, and lack of major aggressive action on the part of Lt.-Gen. Dempsey's troops at the moment is not necessarily a cause for enemy rejoicing.

The simmering military pot may boil over in the Germans' face at any moment.

Troops of the 1st Canadian Army who advanced to within five miles south of Tilburg yesterday, reached the villages of Nieuwkerk and Alphen but gained little ground beyond as enemy resistance stiffened.

Meanwhile it was estimated a third of Walcheran Island now is flooded because of the R.A.F. raids on its dykes.

The R.A.F. tactical air force hit at the enemy's front lines in the Arnhem area yesterday, and continued to wreck railways, but its big feat was in bagging the first German jet-propelled plane.

Five Spitfires teamed up to bring down this ME262.

SELF-CONSTITUTED MATCH-MAKERS

Marriage Is One Thing in Which a Man Should Follow His Own Inclinations.

DEAR MISS DIX — Don't you think that something with boiling oil in it should be done to the self-constituted match-makers who are always trying to rush their friends into marriage? I am 28 years old but I consider myself a bachelor for the very good reason that girls do not interest me nor does marriage attract me.

But certain friends of mine are always throwing girls at my head and trying to involve me in a romance. After all, there are some men who prefer to go through life without a wife and kids and all the worry and fuss that go with that combination and I am one of them.

HAPPY BACHELOR.

First Aids To Cupid

ANSWER—I agree heartily with you that there are no more pestiferous pests in society than the men and women who consider that they are divinely appointed first aids to Cupid. Why they are so keen to get even strangers married, no one knows. But they are. They can't see a happy and contented single man or woman, going his or her harmless way through life, without apparently feeling an irresistible urge to drive them into the matrimonial fold. While as for widows and widowers, the "dear departed" are not settled in their graves before these busy bodies have hunted up some woman whom they consider just the one to take the dead wife's place or some man who would be suitable for the bereaved widow.

But while I commend you for trying to side-step the match-makers, for surely marriage is one thing in which a man should be free to follow his own inclinations, I fear you are premature in congratulating yourself on being a confirmed bachelor at 28. You are not safely out of the woods at that age. You are just getting in the danger zone. So you had better watch your step if you don't want it to carry you to the altar.

DEAR MISS DIX—What is meant by learning to love an individual? Cannot one tell if a member of the opposite sex appeals to him after a short association and still feel that the person would continue to appeal to him for the balance of his life? If it is possible to learn to love a person, will that love last? Or will it be merely tolerance?

ANSWER—What is meant by learning to love an individual is cultivated affection as opposed to spontaneous love. There are people to whom we are instinctively attracted at the first moment of meeting. There are people we love in spite of knowing their many faults and weaknesses and even their unworthiness. And there are other people who leave us cold when we first meet them. Sometimes we think them dull and unresponsive but on a longer acquaintance, we find that an unprepossessing exterior hid a beautiful nature and that they are intelligent, kind, fine in every way, and we come to love them.

Evidently few of us are clairvoyant enough to be able to look into the future and tell how long the spell of a charmer is going to work with us or else there would not be so many husbands and wives who lose their taste for each other. Every day we see men and women who thought they could not live without each other who have found out on trying it that they can't live with each other.

Marrying a person you don't love on the off-chance that you will learn to care after marriage is taking a long shot on happiness. For the tendency of marriage in which two people of opposite sex, of different tastes and habits, have to live in such close proximity is not to draw them closer together, but to push them further apart.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young married woman with a child. My husband has done something that is almost unforgivable but I don't know the full particulars of what he did as he refuses to explain anything or to admit that there is anything wrong.

Should I insist on his telling me and, if he doesn't, should I leave him? Or should I forget about it and stay with him for the baby's sake? I love him very much.

ANSWER—As long as you are not certain that your husband has done anything wrong, you can comfort yourself by thinking that perhaps you are just jealous and suspicious and not torture yourself any further about it.

As to whether you should leave your husband or not, that is for you to decide. But there is just one thing that a wife who doesn't trust her husband should do. She should either forgive him and forget his offense against her or else leave him. She should not make life a horror for all concerned by staying with him and constantly nagging him.

STINSON — To Mr. and Mrs. John Stinson, R.R. No. 4, Norwood (nee Evelyn Stewart), at Nicholls Hospital on October 2nd, 1944, a son, John Walter.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Edwards of Indian River, wish to announce the engagement of their only daughter, Leona Angelenia Edwards, to Harvey Roscoe Shier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Shier, Sunderland, Ontario. The wedding to take place October 28, 1944, in Trinity United Church at 1.30 o'clock.

IN MEMORIAM

NORTHEY — In loving memory of Mrs. Gertrude May Northey, who passed away 2 years ago, October 6, 1942.

In our home she is fondly remembered,
Sweet memories cling to her name;
Those who loved her in life sincerely,
Still love her in death just the same.
—Fondly remembered by her son and daughter-in-law, Elwood and Lillian.

DRAIN—In loving memory of John Drain, who passed away five years ago to-day, Oct. 6, 1939.

We cannot clasp your hand,
Your face we cannot see,
But let this little token tell,
That we still remember thee.
—Sadly missed by wife and family.

JOHNSTON—In memory of Colonel T. J. Johnston, who passed away, October 6, 1939.

You left sweet memories to blossom,
Bearing fruit for the years to come,
In the lives of those who loved you,
Precious memories of days that are gone.
—Fondly remembered by the family.

HUNTER — In loving memory of Thomas Joseph Hunter, who passed away two years ago, October 6, 1942.

We often sit and think of him when we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak, when all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green and never fade away.
—Ever remembered by wife and sons.

NEW AID FOR TANK MANOEUVRING—These newly released pictures of the British mortar tank known as the Avre (Armored Vehicle Royal Engineers) illustrate one of the many outstanding features of the tank. It is so designed that it can lay flexible tracks across marshy ground or form a causeway across ditch and stream by means of fascine (a large roll of chestnut palings). In the Upper photo the A.V.R.E. is shown with the fascine in position, and in Lower photo the tank is shown crossing over the flexible tracks or fascine.

Report Blocks Lignite Mining

TORONTO, Oct. 6 — (CP). — A select committee of the Ontario Legislature says in a report issued today that development of the lignite deposit at Onakawana north of Cochrane in Northern Ontario is not economically feasible at the present time, particularly in view of the lack of evidence of any substantial industrial markets.

The report was issued by A. Kelso Roberts, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto St. Patrick, chairman of the 15-man committee named at the last session of the legislature, to study the prospects for development of the deposit, where there have been intermittent operations for several years, in the hope of establishing a convenient source of fuel for Northern Ontario needs.

However, the report said that in view of the large sums of money already spent on the project, chiefly in plant installation, that completion of the small-scale plant was advisable for experimental and research reasons. This would permit production of sufficient Fleissner dried lignite so fullest possible information would be available as to methods and results "in case at some future date this information should be of value."

It was recommended that stripping, mining and processing work which now is being carried on be continued long enough to provide reasonably accurate information on mining conditions, processing technique, costs of mining and processing and domestic and industrial market reaction.

The report, in which the members of the committee concurred unanimously, now is in the hands of the government.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday October 7

THE AFFAIRS of this day may be expected to develop at high tempo, and with much commotion and exciting situations. There will be fine impetus for initiative and enterprise, especially in new ventures or bold and audacious fields of operations. Efficiency, bold strokes of ingenuity and skill may reach high and laudable purpose. But there are dangers from collusion, intrigue and undercurrents in which fraud, lost documents, misconstrued words and deeds may menace.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of enterprise and initiative in which bold strokes of efficiency and practical constructive measures may advance to high tension and stress. With all the fruitful promises the way seems beset with loss through treachery, theft, loss or misconstruction of papers or documents, unless these be carefully guarded. New and audacious projects are under excellent auspices for success and progress in productive lines.

A child born on this day may be talented, practical, resourceful and should attain high success in original lines or untried channels of endeavor.

SOCIAL LEGISLATION

VALETTA, Malta — (CP). — Among numerous British officials brought here to work out schemes of reform, W. J. Knott, social service expert, is drafting plans for old age pensions and other schemes designed to benefit the Maltese people.

The Tea Hour Gossip . . . .

The hot sandwich is now frequently used as a supper or luncheon dish with a salad. It is sometimes served as a breakfast dish and even a dessert may now be served in sandwich form for example, slices of ice cream between slices of sponge cake.

There are several types of hot sandwiches. Some are made from plain bread, served with a hot sauce. In others the frame work of the sandwich is toast, French toast fried or fresh slices of bread baked with a sandwich filling. In still others hot baking powder biscuits or crisp toasted crackers are used. Below are a few recipes for sandwiches.

Hot Biscuit Sandwich

Make a plain baking powder biscuit. Bake until the crust is crisp on both top and bottom. Break — do not cut—the biscuits apart and butter halves. On one side place a thick slice of tomato, then a coating of mayonnaise dressing, then one of minced bacon. Cover with the other half of the biscuit, press lightly together and serve at once.

Turkish sandwich.

1 cup cooked chicken cut in bits, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ cup stock, 1 tablespoon flour, ¼ cup top milk, 1 teaspoon onion juice, ¼ cup walnut meats, paprika, salt, thin slices of toasted bread. Make a sauce of stock, top milk, flour and butter. Add the other ingredients and heat thoroughly. Place on slices of toast, brush with melted butter and garnish with thin rings, cut from stuffed olives. Serve immediately on hot platter.

Some suggestions for fillings for hot sandwiches are given below.

Hot sandwiches should be substantial and filling without losing the chief characteristic of all sandwiches, ease in handling. For those reasons many people prefer rolls and buns to toast.

Broiled hamburger steaks on round rolls are always popular. The meat mixture may be varied by rolling a stuffed olive in each, by adding strips of bacon crosswise after the first turning or by a slice of Bermuda onion on both sides. Chopped pickles, carrots, celery or radishes may be added to the meat before broiling.

Broiled pineapple with hot chicken, hot turkey on whole wheat bread; broiled ham with a slice of pineapple, either fresh or canned, served on white bread toast make good sandwiches. Duck, ham, veal, lamb may be used in place of chicken if desired.

ful stops and throws. . . . One feature of the series so far is that pinch-hitters have been doing very well. Only Zarilla and Garms of those called on in the first two games have failed to come through with something useful. . . . Old timers will remember Mordecai Brown of the old Cubs pulling just such a play as Blix Donnelly executed yesterday. Brown also did it in a critical spot in a world series game and it was the break of the ball game.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TEMPT HIM TO MISPLAY

ONE OF the greatest possible thrills for a declarer comes from making a contract which would be impossible except through enticing a defender to make a particular mistake. Later the opponent may point out that his contract could have been defeated, but that should only add to the joy of the one who has managed to pull it out of the fire.

Three clubs were led against that contract, the last being ruffed by the diamond 3. The spade Q was scored, and the diamond 2 led, East discarding a club.

That made things look pretty bad for the declarer, who had to get all of the remaining tricks. But he was one of the world's greatest, Howard Schenken, and he was engaged in national play for the Vanderbilt Cup. So he figured out how he might pull through—and did.

He took that fifth trick with the diamond K, put down the spade K and led the A. As he hoped, West discarded on this, his heart 5. Then came the heart Q, which West refused to cover, and the spade 7, on which West trashed a second heart, dummy ruffing with the diamond 5. The heart A furnished a discard of the last spade, the heart J was ruffed by the diamond A, and Mr. Schenken led his last diamond, finessing the dummy's 10, the diamond Q making the final trick.

West pointed out that he would have beaten the contract if he had ruffed the spade A with the diamond 7. That would have obliged the dummy to over-ruff with the 10, destroying the Q-10 tenace over the J-9 and assuring West of the setting trick later on. But Mr. Schenken only smiled when attention was called to the mistake which he had induced from his opponent.

LEEDS, Yorks, Oct. 6 — (CP) — Yorkshire has become a favorite leave resort of Canadian servicemen and women, for whom study courses and tours have been arranged by the British Council, co-operating with the Canadian Legion Educational Services.

Nearly 100 Canadians recently spent a weeks leave attending British Council study courses at Leeds University and Hull University College.

One party at Leeds devoted its study to the west riding of Yorkshire and toured historic and civic centres, including Bolton Abbey, factories and beauty spots. A second party studied life in a northern shire, visiting York, Ampleforth College, Coxwold and Byland Abbey, the Bronte Museum at Haworth, a woollen mill and a colliery.

Among Canadians attending the Leeds courses were: PO. C. B. MacConnell, Lindsay, Ont.; PO. A. C. Jay, Peterborough, Ont.; S. Sgt. T. N. Hall, London, Ont.; Sgts. P. Pilion, Aylmer West, Ont.; L. W. Potato Crop Good From Ontario Farms

Potato harvesting is now general on farms throughout Ontario, and while the aggregate yield of late potatoes has been estimated at below that of last year, the quality of this year's crop is better than usual, reports R. E. Godin, potato fieldman of the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Blight disease has not been prevalent in the crop this year throughout old Ontario, says Mr. Goodin, and therefore consumers may purchase their supplies with confidence that the potatoes will keep well under suitable storage.

The early crop has already been completely marketed together with much of the intermediate crop. During recent weeks there has been unusually heavy export movement to the United States market, where there has been a shortage of potatoes.

Consumers who purchase their winter's supplies during the next few weeks will be assisting in overcoming problems of distribution during the coming months, as there is a shortage of storage space and railway cars.

Board Settles Student Strike

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 5.—(CP).—Secondary school students who were on strike for the past day and a half in protest of the cancellation of inter-school football this year, returned to their classes Thursday. Police reported no disturbances as the students answered the nine o'clock bell.

City police were on hand at all schools in the event that some students would object to the back-to-school order issued by their representatives. Yesterday, students in four of the five schools involved objected to the request to return to their classrooms and remained out all day.

The main object of the strike was to get inter-school football to resume immediately and last night the Windsor athletic directors and coaches association announced they were ready to resume coaching and start the schedule at once. The statement by the coaches came after a two-hour conference at the city hall with Mayor Arthur J. Reaume.

T. Roy Noble of the Windsor Board of Education said it would cost $39,000 in coaching salaries to meet students' demands and that sum was not available.

Allies Expect Bad Weather

By The Canadian Press.

Autumn rains are increasing the difficulties confronting all Allied fighting men on the western front, the eastern front, and in Italy—and the first snows are not far away.

Along the northern flank in France and the Low Countries, where the mud of Flanders still is a byword, rains turn the land into quagmires.

The Allied armies in Italy can expect heavy snows in about a month.

On the eastern front the Russians can expect the Polish plains to turn into a bog in short order. The first hard frosts normally come in December.

Intermittent snow, rain and thaws continue for about six weeks on the northern end of the Russian front before the ground hardens sufficiently for large-scale operations.

Canadian Wins Russian Award

A UNITED KINGDOM PORT, Oct. 6—(CP)—Lieut. C. R. A. (Bob) Senior, 26, of Ottawa, has been awarded the Order of Patriotic Warfare, First Class, one of Russia's highest awards for valor. He was the first Canadian naval officer to receive the award.

Senior, who for two years served on the convoy run to the Russian Arctic port of Murmansk, was presented the award for his part in action against German surface ships in December, 1942.

He was gunnery control officer aboard a Royal Navy destroyer which helped beat off an attack by a Nazi striking force believed to have consisted of the pocket battleship Lutzow, the heavy cruiser Hipper, the light cruiser Nuremburg and a number of destroyers.

The Hipper was damaged and a destroyer was sunk. A British destroyer was lost in the action, but all merchant ships in the convoy escaped without damage.

Allies Take Over Great Portion Of Greek Mainland

ROME, Oct. 7.—(AP).—The Peloponnesus was virtually cleared of the Germans to-day and a minister of the Greek government took over administration of the leaf-shaped peninsula as British forces pushed easward toward the Isthmus of Corinth.

A field dispatch from the captured port of Patrio said the northern rim of the Peloponnesus had been vacated by Nazi troops in the exodus noted earlier in the southern and central sections.

(A dispatch from Cairo said reconnaissance photographs showed the Germans had blocked the Corinth ship canal, which cuts across the narrow isthmus, by demolishing two bridges and sinking a blockship. Greeks in London said they had heard that the Germans blockaded all roads to Athens and that fighting was in progress at the heart of the capital.)

No Major Stand.

Relatively light units of the land forces of the Adriatic moved forward to liberate areas abandoned by the Germans. When the Germans failed to make a major stand at Patrai and Rion to cover the retreat, there was little to bar complete liberation.

It was assumed here that as the Germans shrank the outer perimeter of the Greek defences, they also abandoned islands along the Turkish coast and in the southern Aegean with the exception of Crete. Mighty Armada Hits Dortmund

LONDON, Oct. 7 —(CP Cable) — In what was described as "the mightiest force sent since its inception," R. C. A. F. bomber group Halifaxes and Lancasters flew with other heavies to attack industrial targets at Dortmund last night, it was announced today.

More than 290 bombers from all squadrons of the Canadian group participated.

The German radio traced today's bombers as coming in over Helgoland Bay and the Brunswick-Hannover area, heading for the Magdeburg-Dessau region. Another formation the Germans said was over Pomerania and a third was over Hungary approaching the Danube Valley early this afternoon.

Berlin was attacked twice yesterday. The first attack was in daylight—the first time since June 21—by American heavies which bombed a tank assembly plant, military and ordnance depots and an aircraft engine plant.

During the night the R. A. F. was over the German capital in a diversionary flight while R. A. F. and R. C. A. F. planes were dropping more than 1,500 tons of bombs on Dortmund and more than 1,000 tons on Bremen.

The Air Ministry hailed the operation as the beginning of a new offensive against Germany and said that from 3 p.m. until mid-night waves of bombers, totalling more than 1,200 aircraft, flew to their targets.

Government May Intervene In Packing-house Deadlock

By The Canadian Press

With a deadlock existing in the dispute between Canadian meat-packing companies and the Packinghouse Workers of America Union (C.I.O.) possibility was seen today of government intervention in an effort to avert a threatened walk-out in packing plants across the country. The union, seeking a master agreement for workers across the country, says that employees at 11 big plants have voted to strike if their demands are not met. Spokesmen for the companies yesterday denied that union recognition is the issue and warned that a strike would seriously interfere with the war effort.

At Ottawa yesterday Fred Dowling of Toronto, Canadian director of the union, and Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, conferred with Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Labor Minister, and M. M. Maclean of the Federal Labor Department. The union officials said they had been told that the government would consider intervening in an effort to bring the union and the employers together.

Not Opposed

At Toronto, J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers Ltd., issued a statement declaring his company "is not and never has been antagonistic to unions." The statement said that one or other of the international unions have been recognized at each of Canada Packers' seven plants and "all these agreements distinctly preclude strikes or slowdowns."

McLean charged that the aim of the unions was to "force a master agreement on the packing companies before the end of the war" and that "because the time is so short their tactics are to throw the work of the plants into confusion." It asserted that at least a dozen slowdowns ave occurred in the larger plants in the last thre months.

G. R. Castle of Toronto, vice-president of the Swift Canadian Company, said that if a strike is called it would "vitally affect all livestock producers and consumers and would greatly impair the processing and distribution of vital food products urgently needed by Britain and her Allies."

A representative of the Union, Samuel Hughes, of Toronto, said at Moncton last night that the workers had voted overwhelmingly in favor of a strike. He said that up to Wednesday 4,650 meat packers across Canada had voted in favor of the strike, while only six were against strike action.

Foochow Taken Japanese Claim

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—(AP)—Foochow, capital of Fukien province and the last major port held by the Chinese on the East China coast, was captured by a Japanese invasion force three days ago, a Tokyo broadcast of a Japanese imperial communique said today.

There was no immediate confirmation from Allied sources, but the Chinese high command yesterday said Japanese troops had reached northwestern suburbs of the city, located across a narrow strait from the northern tip of the Japanese occupied island of Formosa.

Foochow, occupied by the Japanese previously in April 1939 and retaken by the Chinese in September the same year, was the target of Japanese troops landed in Fukien province in what Tokyo said was a drive to forestall Allied landings from the Pacific.

Meanwhile an Associated Press dispatch from Chungking said a Chinese communique announced Chinese troops had completed the reoccupation of an important position southwest of Lungling, in Yunnan province to the southwest, with the capture of a high peak.

Fighting also raged in Kwangtung province to the south where the Chinese high comand yesterday said defenders operating behind Japanese lines had recaptured the important town of Szewiu, 47 miles northeast of Canton.

The fall of Paoching, key Hunan city 135 miles north of Kweilin, Kwangsi defence centre, appeared imminent. Fall of the city would remove a threat to the Japanese right flank in the enemy drive against Kweilin.

Nazi Front In Italy Sags Badly

Americans Advance Before Huns Can Stabilize Lines

ROME, Oct. 7 (AP) — Cracking again through lines which the enemy had been unable to stabilize, American troops of the Allied 5th Army have shoved within 12 miles of Bologna, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Germans were reported working frantically to transport war materials from Northern Italy to Germany before their Italian front collapses.

One report said the enemy was ripping up railway lines and sending the rails to Germany.

In order to gain more time for looting the rich Po Valley and Northern Italian Industrial centres the Germans were moving in reinforcements from other parts of their lines to impede the American drive northward, an official 5th Army report declared.

Eight German divisions were reported opposing the 5th Army assaults.

The newest significant gains were made along Highway 65, running north from Florence to Bologna. Farther east another 5th Army thrust north from the mountain village of Sassoleone carried to within 10 miles of Castel San Pietro on the all-important Bologna-Rimini highway and rail routes.

Monte Vigese, 22½ miles southwest of Bologna, was taken by South African troops moving up the Pistoia-Bologna highway, headquarters said.

On the British 8th Army front Indian troops crossed the Fiumicino river in the Adriatic sector and drove the enemy out of San Martino and Di Bagnolo, 14 miles southwest of Rimini, and captured the town of Sogliano.

Canadian and British troops last night were reported stalled along the banks of the rain-swollen Fiumicino river, along the north bank of which the enemy was strongly dug in.

Gasoline Prices May Be Reduced

TORONTO, Oct. 7 (CP)—An oil company official said today that reductions in the retail price of gasoline would depend on service station operators. It was announced last night that the wholesale price was being reduced one cent a gallon in Ontario and ½ cent in the Maritimes, Quebec and the Prairie provinces.

"Although we do not set retail prices for gasoline stations it is possible their prices will be reduced," said the official.

Canadians In Fierce Battle At Leopold Canal Bridgehead

5,000 German Troops Oppose Canucks In Schelde Pocket

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Oct. 7.—(CP Cable).—Canadian troops to-day are engaged in the toughest infantry fighting they have known since the battle of Caen. They have made limited advances against fierce opposition from their narrow bridgeheads north of the Leopold canal.

Several small villages just inside the border of this part of the Netherlands south of the mouth of the Schelde have been captured by Western Canada infantry who are leading this new offensive. In one village it was estimated two companies of German infantry were wiped out.

The Germans are using a string of old pill-boxes which the Dutch built along the Belgian-Netherlands border years ago and the enemy has to be driven out of each one of them with grenades and machine-guns.

There also are fortified houses in this area which the Germans are holding with machine-gunners and snipers.

The operation was going slowly but this was expected before the attack was launched yesterday morning.

Five thousand troops of the German 64th Infantry Division who are defending the Schelde pocket are likely making the main stand along the canal and once this line is broken thoroughly the advance will speed up.

At one point the Canadians have pressed the Germans back nearly to the flooded area about three-quarters of a mile north of the canal. This success was gained on the right flank where resistance was not as stiff as on the left.

The Canadian forces in the bridgehead have been strengthened but much more heavy fighting is anticipated as the holding is widened.

On the other sector of the 1st Canadian Army front east of the Schelde there were no great changes. British troops still were three miles south of Tilburg and the Poles had not made any new gains.

Canadians north of Antwerp have strong forces over the Netherlands border and threaten the neck of Flushing Spit, but advances there have been limnted. German resistance is stronger against the Polish and British troops, however, than against the Canadians north of Antwerp.

The Germans made one small counter-attack against the Canadian line and penetrated along the Antwerp-Breda road east of Putte, but the move was not considered serious and the situation came under control.

British 2nd Army Slowed Down Beyond Nijmegen

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Oct. 7—(CP).—American 1st Army forces thrusting into Germany north of Aachen have driven to a point half a mile north of Beggendorf and have expanded their salient by a thrust 1½ miles along the road southeast from Ubach, headquarters announced today.

It reported heavy fighting on the British 2nd Army front northwest of Nijmegen between the Neder Rhine and the Waal.

"A counter-attack in strength by enemy infantry and tanks was repulsed during the morning near Herbach with no material change in the line," it added.

The communique made no reference to a new drive from the forest of Hurtgen which frontline dispatches said had stabbed to within six miles of Duren, 15 miles east of Aachen.

United States 3rd Army troops continued to cling to their positions within Fort Driant five miles southwest of Metz against stubborn German resistance and heavy artillery fire.

"Near Sivry, north of Nancy," the communique said, "the enemy regained some ground in a counter-attack."

The American 7th Army had small local gains to report generally along its Vosges foothills front, and the communique announced that some of its troops now were on three sides of Le Thillot, 18 miles almost due north of Belfort, after advances of five to seven miles.

Further, progress was made through the heavy woods due west of Belfort, probably putting advance forces less than 10 miles from the city.

British units of the Canadian army have renewed their attack on Dunkerque.

Dispatches from the siege line where the garrison commander, Captain Schneidern has haggled for time, say he and his garrison of 15,000 or more are trying to hold on until Oct. 15 on the belief that a new German weapon by then would be ready and decisive.

On the middle Moselle front the U.S. 3rd Army won a solid hold on the northwest and southwest corners of Fort Driant, southwest of Metz, taking everything the Germans could hurl at them from the outside and blasting in doggedly to dig out the garrison buttoned into the honeycomb of tunnels below.

On the south flank French and American soldiers of the 7th Army beat their way eastward five to seven miles to positions on three sides of the copper mine town of Le Thillot, 18 miles due north of Belfort and only six miles from the 2,398-foot Bussang Pass through the heart of the Vosges.

It was another good weather day for Allied air power which yesterday cut loose with more than 6,000 sorties all the way from tank-busting battleline support to heavy bombing in the heart of Germany.

The U.S. 1st Army was systematically breaking up the Siegfried Line along a 30-mile front north and south of besieged Aachen. It widened the Ubach breach to seven miles at the base, wrested back a good part of the yardage lost in counter-attacks yesterday, and hammered out new gains.

U.S. troops pushed as far as the outskirts of Geilenkirchen, three miles north of Ubach. Pried out of Beggendorf, two miles east of Ubach, they lashed out anew late yesterday and by-passed the town in a thrust half a mile to the north.

They pounded their way to a point 1½ miles down the road southeast of Ubach, in the "battle of the barracks," and fought part way back up the shot-swept slope of Pill-box Ridge 1½ miles south of Ubach, regaining about half the ground they lost to a German counter-attack yesterday.

Drew Announces New Plan For Soldiers

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 7—(CP).—Premier Drew of Ontario told the West Centre Division of the Progressive Conservative Association of Hamilton last night that he does not intend to call a "snap election."

He announced also the establishment of a forestry development plan, to be known as the Nipigon Forest settlement plan, as "part of extensive plans for education and rehabilitation of the members of our armed forces."

The Premier, for the second successive night, criticized the Federal Government for its "failure to provide adequate reinforcements for the army overseas" and agreed with a suggestion of the Progressive Conservative party's national chairman, C. P. McTague, that an immediate investigation be launched into the reinforcement issue.

Model Village.

Under the forestry development plan it is proposed to set up a model forest village on the south shore of Lake Nipigon, Mr. Drew said. The purpose is to proceed with a planned development, based upon the various resources of the region.

"The venture will provide a permanent, high standard of livelihood for many families...."

The Premier said E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, in a radio address last September 13 "echoed the dishonest campaign of the Sifton Press to the effect that I am opposed to family allowances and that I was adopting an isolationist attitude so far as Ontario is concerned."

Mr. Jolliffe "knew that was untrue," Mr. Drew stated, adding that "he knew that I had said most emphatically (in a radio speech previously) that we were in favor of family allowances and that we looked upon Ontario as part of a great team in which we were prepared to contribute our full share out of any advantages we possessed."

"I made it perfectly clear that our objection related only to the fact that the Family Allowance Act . . . would take from the people of Ontario between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 to be paid to the people of Quebec. . . .

Red Armies Surging Into Hungary

Russians Already 13 Miles Beyond Border

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Oct. 7 (AP) — Red Army infantry waves, surging across the Romanian frontier into Hungary on a 75-mile front, moved steadily toward the Tisza and Koros rivers, last big natural obstacles before Budapest today.

Indications were that the backbone of German-Hungarian resistance had been broken and that the Soviets had an excellent chance of carrying the fight to the area of the Hungarian capital within four or five days at the present rate of advance. Budapest was about 90 miles away this morning.

Kuban Cossacks were reported spreading "death and panic" in the rear of Hungarian troops unable to disentangle themselves on the shattered front in southeastern Hungary.

"Our mobile units are chasing the retreating enemy," said a front dispatch to Isvestia, "and light Cossack units are in their rear."

Already more than 100 communities of the last big Nazi puppet nation had been seized, the latest communiques announced.

Already 13 miles inside Hungary the Red Army has seized three important railways and highways leading into Budapest. Driving swiftly across farmlands offering little natural defence the Red Army troops captured Mako, within 15 miles of Szeged, Hungary's second city, and drove toward Orshaza and Bekes, 90 miles to the east, the war bulletin said.

Soviet Group To Aid UNRRA

By John M. Hightower
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP).—United Nations officials now expect that the Soviet-sponsored Polish Liberation Committee may have full control of distributing relief supplies in liberated areas of Poland.

A United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration Commission probably will be sent into the area to estimate needs and to work out plans for distribution.

A similar commission may go into the areas of Yugoslavia controlled by Marshal Tito, but the Yugoslav situation is less complicated since Tito, while he controls the Yugoslav committee of liberation, is also associated with King Peter's government.

UNRRA's predicament over Poland stems from the split between Russia and the Polish Government in London. Its solution is believed to lie in the common interest of feeding and clothing cold, hungry millions.

UNRRA officials wrestling with the problem here have fallen back on two stated principles of the organization:

(1) Relief must be distributed without regard to race, religion or politics; and (2) UNRRA may deal with whomever is in administrative control of an area in which supplies are to be distributed.

The Polish Government in London is a member of UNRRA as is Russia, but the Soviet-sponsored Polish liberation committee with headquarters at Lublin is in control of the Uolish territory liberated by Russian armies.

All-Out Allied Offensive Will Get Underway Soon

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The extent and fierceness of the battle which has grown out of the American 1st Army plunge through the outer crust of the powerful Siegfried Line in the Aachen sector encourages the belief the impending general Allied offensive on the western front will develop quickly.

There's also a feeling among military experts on both sides of the Atlantic that if October produces its ordinarily good fighting weather we may see decisive developments.

Among those subscribing to this view is "Veritas," official war commentator for the British ministry of information in London.

Gen. Eisenhower has been rushing preparations for the all-out offensive. Now comes the battle of Aachen to invite a quick launching of the big drive. The Germans have thrown every available resource into the defence of this broad highway into the heart of Germany as a result there has developed one of the bloodiest engagements of the invasion.

Added Strain

This added strain on Hitler's much-depleted reserves naturally renders the rest of his 460-mile battlefront more vulnerable, and one would expect Eisenhower to take advantage of that fact by making a general attack to put heavy pressure on all points of the line. This would tend to keep the Germans off balance, and must result in uncovering a weak spot which could be pierced—unless indeed it already has been found in the Aachen area.

As War Secretary Stimson says, the Germans "do not have the full manpower needed for the defence job" The vastly superior Allied striking power insures victory.

However, we already have plenty of evidence that there's likely to be heavy fighting. Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons yesterday that "a good deal of blood is going to be shed in the next few months."

That's bound to be so long as the Germans elect to fight with backs to the wall.

Cape Breton Unit Gains

Drive Huns From Coriano Ridge

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC FRONT, Oct. 7—(CP)—Assaulting a strong enemy position for the second time in two weeks, the Cape Breton Highlanders were one of the two Canadian battalions which made the initial attack on Coriano Ridge, seized their objectives and broke the enemy's grip on a dominating feature that had enabled him to halt the 8th Army drive for the Lombardy Plains for a week and a half.

The Highlanders on the right, a Western Ontario battalion on the left took and held grounds on the flanks of Coriano and stood firm while another Ontario battalion passed through to clear the village. It was for this Canadian feat and the simultaneous assault by British forces to the left that Prime Minister Churchill sent Lt.-Gen. Leese his personal congratulations.

In this and their other actions of the current Adriatic offensive the Cape Bretons have paid a high price in men. With their kilted pipe band, their companies, filled now with many new faces, paid honor one autumn day in an Italian field to their dead of the costly, gallant assaults on Point 120 in the original Gothic Line attack, their dead of the grim five days they spent under fierce enemy shelling on "Graveyard Hill," their dead of the assault on Coriano Ridge that brought an end to the static warfare that produced "Graveyard Hill."

Allies Wipe-out Jap Defences

KANDY, Ceylon, Oct. 7 — (CP). — With strong air support, British forces today were reported laboriously wiping out Japanese entrenched in bunkers and other strong points on the approaches to Tiddim in northwestern Burma.

The enemy now has abandoned defence of the "Chocolate Staircase" section of the Tiddim Road which winds up 3,000 feet in 49 hairpin turns, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters said.

The Tiddim-Fort White Road has been brought under Allied attack, a communique said.

Flying Bombs Wreck Taverns

LONDON, Oct. 7—(CP). — Flying bombs smashed at southern England and London last night from a southern course, an indication the enemy may be seeking a weak spot in the vigilant defence.

A sheet of gunfire so intense it jarred houses several miles inland met the fiery-tailed intruders and two were destroyed in flight.

Among casualties were seven policemen who were injured when one bomb wrecked a block of business houses. Two taverns were shattered and customers were badly cut by splinters of glass.

Peterboro Girl Celebrates

Sgt. Pat Boreham With W.D. Originals

WITH THE R. C. A. F. IN BRITAIN, Oct. 7 —(CP) — Thirty Canadian airwomen— first members of the women's division and first Canadian service-women to be posted to Britain—have celebrated their second anniversary here.

Highlight of the buffet supper which marked the anniversary was a chocolate layer cake decorated with two pink candles. The girls pooled their rations to provide the cake.

Seven of the 30 have married, all but one choosing Canadian husbands. Sgt. Mary Reneman (nee Ward) of Shawinigan Falls, Que., the exception, married a Netherlands naval officer.

The original contingent consisted of three corporals and 27 airwomen. Two years later the group could count nine officers, 11 sergeants and seven corporals.

Ontario contributed a large number of the "originals", including Sgts. Barbara Lee and Jean Inglis, Stratford; Section Officer Helen Cotterill and Cpl. Clare Rutheford, Hamilton; Sgt. Pat Boreham, Peterborough; Sgt. I. L. Donnelly (nee Toffelmire), Arnar; Sgt. Eva Southward (nee Pickering), Richard's Landing; Sgt. Merna Smith, Seaforth.

Gasoline Prices May Be Reduced

TORONTO, Oct. 7 (CP)—An oil company official said today that reductions in the retail price of gasoline would depend on service station operators. It was announced last night that the wholesale price was being reduced one cent a gallon in Ontario and ½ cent in the Maritimes, Quebec and the Prairie provinces.

"Although we do not set retail prices for gasoline stations it is possible their prices will be reduced," said the official.

Canadians In Fierce Battle At Leopold Canal Bridgehead

5,000 German Troops Oppose Canucks In Schelde Pocket

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Oct. 7.—(CP Cable).—Canadian troops to-day are engaged in the toughest infantry fighting they have known since the battle of Caen. They have made limited advances against fierce opposition from their narrow bridgeheads north of the Leopold canal.

Several small villages just inside the border of this part of the Netherlands south of the mouth of the Schelde have been captured by Western Canada infantry who are leading this new offensive. In one village it was estimated two companies of German infantry were wiped out.

The Germans are using a string of old pill-boxes which the Dutch built along the Belgian-Netherlands border years ago and the enemy has to be driven out of each one of them with grenades and machine-guns.

There also are fortified houses in this area which the Germans are holding with machine-gunners and snipers.

The operation was going slowly but this was expected before the attack was launched yesterday morning.

Five thousand troops of the German 64th Infantry Division who are defending the Schelde pocket are likely making the main stand along the canal and once this line is broken thoroughly the advance will speed up.

At one point the Canadians have pressed the Germans back nearly to the flooded area about three-quarters of a mile north of the canal. This success was gained on the right flank where resistance was not as stiff as on the left.

The Canadian forces in the bridgehead have been strengthened but much more heavy fighting is anticipated as the holding is widened.

On the other sector of the 1st Canadian Army front east of the Schelde there were no great changes. British troops still were three miles south of Tilburg and the Poles had not made any new gains.

Canadians north of Antwerp have strong forces over the Netherlands border and threaten the neck of Flushing Spit, but advances there have been limnted. German resistance is stronger against the Polish and British troops, however, than against the Canadians north of Antwerp.

The Germans made one small counter-attack against the Canadian line and penetrated along the Antwerp-Breda road east of Putte, but the move was not considered serious and the situation came under control.

British 2nd Army Slowed Down Beyond Nijmegen

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Oct. 7—(CP).—American 1st Army forces thrusting into Germany north of Aachen have driven to a point half a mile north of Beggendorf and have expanded their salient by a thrust 1¼ miles along the road southeast from Ubach, headquarters announced today.

It reported heavy fighting on the British 2nd Army front northwest of Nijmegen between the Neder Rhine and the Waal.

"A counter-attack in strength by enemy infantry and tanks was repulsed during the morning near Herbach with no material change in the line," it added.

The communique made no reference to a new drive from the forest of Hurtgen which frontline dispatches said had stabbed to within six miles of Duren, 15 miles east of Aachen.

United States 3rd Army troops continued to cling to their positions within Fort Driant five miles southwest of Metz against stubborn German resistance and heavy artillery fire.

"Near Sivry, north of Nancy," the communique said, "the enemy regained some ground in a counter-attack."

The American 7th Army had small local gains to report generally along its Vosges foothills front, and the communique announced that some of its troops now were on three sides of Le Thillot, 18 miles almost due north of Belfort, after advances of five to seven miles.

Further, progress was made through the heavy woods due west of Belfort, probably putting advance forces less than 10 miles from the city.

British units of the Canadian army have renewed their attack on Dunkerque.

Dispatches from the siege line where the garrison commander, Captain Schneidern has haggled for time, say he and his garrison of 15,000 or more are trying to hold on until Oct. 15 on the belief that a new German weapon by then would be ready and decisive.

On the middle Moselle front the U.S. 3rd Army won a solid hold on the northwest and southwest corners of Fort Driant, southwest of Metz, taking everything the Germans could hurl at them from the outside and blasting in doggedly to dig out the garrison buttoned into the honeycomb of tunnels below.

On the south flank French and American soldiers of the 7th Army beat their way eastward five to seven miles to positions on three sides of the copper mine town of Le Thillot, 18 miles due north of Belfort and only six miles from the 2,398-foot Bussang Pass through the heart of the Vosges.

It was another good weather day for Allied air power which yesterday cut loose with more than 6,000 sorties all the way from tank-busting battleline support to heavy bombing in the heart of Germany.

The U.S. 1st Army was systematically breaking up the Siegfried Line along a 30-mile front north and south of besieged Aachen. It widened the Ubach breach to seven miles at the base, wrested back a good part of the yardage lost in counter-attacks yesterday, and hammered out new gains.

U.S. troops pushed as far as the outskirts of Geilenkirchen, three miles north of Ubach. Pried out of Beggendorf, two miles east of Ubach, they lashed out anew late yesterday and by-passed the town in a thrust half a mile to the north.

They pounded their way to a point 1½ miles down the road southeast of Ubach, in the "battle of the barracks," and fought part way back up the shot-swept slope of Pill-box Ridge 1½ miles south of Ubach, regaining about half the ground they lost to a German counter-attack yesterday.

Red Armies Surging Into Hungary

Russians Already 13 Miles Beyond Border

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Oct. 7 (AP) — Red Army infantry waves, surging across the Romanian frontier into Hungary on a 75-mile front, moved steadily toward the Tisza and Koros rivers, last big natural obstacles before Budapest today.

Indications were that the backbone of German-Hungarian resistance had been broken and that the Soviets had an excellent chance of carrying the fight to the area of the Hungarian capital within four or five days at the present rate of advance. Budapest was about 90 miles away this morning.

Kuban Cossacks were reported spreading "death and panic" in the rear of Hungarian troops unable to disentangle themselves on the shattered front in southeastern Hungary.

"Our mobile units are chasing the retreating enemy," said a front dispatch to Investia, "and light Cossack units are in their rear."

Already more than 100 communities of the last big Nazi puppet nation had been seized, the latest communiques announced.

Already 13 miles inside Hungary the Red Army has seized three important railways and highways leading into Budapest. Driving swiftly across farmlands offering little natural defence the Red Army troops captured Mako, within 15 miles of Szeged, Hungary's second city, and drove toward Orshaza and Bekes, 90 miles to the east, the war bulletin said.

Soviet Group To Aid UNRRA

By John M. Hightower
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP).—United Nations officials now expect that the Soviet-sponsored Polish Liberation Committee may have full control of distributing relief supplies in liberated areas of Poland.

A United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration Commission probably will be sent into the area to estimate needs and to work out plans for distribution.

A similar commission may go into the areas of Yugoslavia controlled by Marshal Tito, but the Yugoslav situation is less complicated since Tito, while he controls the Yugoslav committee of liberation, is also associated with King Peter's government.

UNRRA's predicament over Poland stems from the split between Russia and the Polish Government in London. Its solution is believed to lie in the common interest of feeding and clothing cold, hungry millions.

UNRRA officials wrestling with the problem here have fallen back on two stated principles of the organization:

(1) Relief must be distributed without regard to race, religion or politics; and (2) UNRRA may deal with whomever is in administrative control of an area in which supplies are to be distributed.

The Polish Government in London is a member of UNRRA as is Russia, but the Soviet-sponsored Polish liberation committee with headquarters at Lublin is in control of the Uolish territory liberated by Russian armies.

Drew Announces New Plan For Soldiers

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 7—(CP).—Premier Drew of Ontario told the West Centre Division of the Progressive Conservative Association of Hamilton last night that he does not intend to call a "snap election."

He announced also the establishment of a forestry development plan, to be known as the Nipigon Forest settlement plan, as "part of extensive plans for education and rehabilitation of the members of our armed forces."

The Premier, for the second successive night, criticized the Federal Government for its "failure to provide adequate reinforcements for the army overseas" and agreed with a suggestion of the Progressive Conservative party's national chairman, C. P. McTague, that an immediate investigation be launched into the reinforcement issue.

Model Village.

Under the forestry development plan it is proposed to set up a model forest village on the south shore of Lake Nipigon, Mr. Drew said. The purpose is to proceed with a planned development, based upon the various resources of the region.

"The venture will provide a permanent, high standard of livelihood for many families. . . ."

The Premier said E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, in a radio address last September 13 "echoed the dishonest campaign of the Sifton Press to the effect that I am opposed to family allowances and that I was adopting an isolationist attitude so far as Ontario is concerned."

Mr. Jolliffe "knew that was untrue," Mr. Drew stated, adding that "he knew that I had said most emphatically (in a radio speech previously) that we were in favor of family allowances and that we looked upon Ontario as part of a great team in which we were prepared to contribute our full share out of any advantages we possessed."

"I made it perfectly clear that our objection related only to the fact that the Family Allowance Act . . . would take from the people of Ontario between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 to be paid to the people of Quebec. . . .

All-Out Allied Offensive Will Get Underway Soon

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The extent and fierceness of the battle which has grown out of the American 1st Army plunge through the outer crust of the powerful Siegfried Line in the Aachen sector encourages the belief the impending general Allied offensive on the western front will develop quickly.

There's also a feeling among military experts on both sides of the Atlantic that if October produces its ordinarily good fighting weather we may see decisive developments.

Among those subscribing to this view is "Veritas," official war commentator for the British ministry of information in London.

Gen. Eisenhower has been rushing preparations for the all-out offensive. Now comes the battle of Aachen to invite a quick launching of the big drive. The Germans have thrown every available resource into the defence of this broad highway into the heart of Germany as a result there has developed one of the bloodiest engagements of the invasion.

Added Strain

This added strain on Hitler's much-depleted reserves naturally renders the rest of his 460-mile battlefront more vulnerable, and one would expect Eisenhower to take advantage of that fact by making a general attack to put heavy pressure on all points of the line. This would tend to keep the Germans off balance, and must result in uncovering a weak spot which could be pierced—unless indeed it already has been found in the Aachen area.

As War Secretary Stimson says, the Germans "do not have the full manpower needed for the defence job." The vastly superior Allied striking power insures victory.

However, we already have plenty of evidence that there's likely to be heavy fighting. Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons yesterday that "a good deal of blood is going to be shed in the next few months."

That's bound to be so long as the Germans elect to fight with backs to the wall.

Cape Breton Unit Gains

Drive Huns From Coriano Ridge

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC FRONT, Oct. 7—(CP)—Assaulting a strong enemy position for the second time in two weeks, the Cape Breton Highlanders were one of the two Canadian battalions which made the initial attack on Coriano Ridge, seized their objectives and broke the enemy's grip on a dominating feature that had enabled him to halt the 8th Army drive for the Lombardy Plains for a week and a half.

The Highlanders on the right, a western Ontario battalion on the left took and held grounds on the flanks of Coriano and stood firm while another Ontario battalion passed through to clear the village. It was for this Canadian feat and the simultaneous assault by British forces to the left that Prime Minister Churchill sent Lt.-Gen. Leese his personal congratulations.

In this and their other actions of the current Adriatic offensive the Cape Bretons have paid a high price in men. With their kilted pipe band, their companies, filled now with many new faces, paid honor one autumn day in an Italian field to their dead of the costly, gallant assaults on Point 120 in the original Gothic Line attack, their dead of the grim five days they spent under fierce enemy shelling on "Graveyard Hill," their dead of the assault on Coriano Ridge that brought an end to the static warfare that produced "Graveyard Hill."

Allies Wipe-out Jap Defences

KANDY, Ceylon, Oct. 7 — (CP). — With strong air support, British forces today were reported laboriously wiping out Japanese entrenched in bunkers and other strong points on the approaches to Tiddim in northwestern Burma.

The enemy now has abandoned defence of the "Chocolate Staircase" section of the Tiddim Road which winds up 3,000 feet in 40 hairpin turns, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters said.

The Tiddim-Fort White Road has been brought under Allied attack, a communique said.

Flying Bombs Wreck Taverns

LONDON, Oct. 7—(CP). — Flying bombs smashed at southern England and London last night from a southern course, an indication the enemy may be seeking a weak spot in the vigilant defence.

A sheet of gunfire so intense it jarred houses several miles inland met the fiery-tailed intruders and two were destroyed in flight.

Among casualties were seven policemen who were injured when one bomb wrecked a block of business houses. Two taverns were shattered and customers were badly cut by splinters of glass.

Peterboro Girl Celebrates

Sgt. Pat Boreham With W.D. Originals

WITH THE R. C. A. F. IN BRITAIN, Oct. 7 —(CP) — Thirty Canadian airwomen— first members of the women's division and first Canadian service-women to be posted to Britain—have celebrated their second anniversary here.

Highlight of the buffet supper which marked the anniversary was a chocolate layer cake decorated with two pink candles. The girls pooled their rations to provide the cake.

Seven of the 30 have married, all but one choosing Canadian husbands. Sgt. Mary Reneman (nee Ward) of Shawinigan Falls, Que., the exception, married a Netherlands naval officer.

The original contingent consisted of three corporals and 27 airwomen. Two years later the group could count nine officers, 11 sergeants and seven corporals.

Ontario contributed a large number of the "originals", including Sgts. Barbara Lee and Jean Inglis, Stratford; Section Officer Helen Cotterill and Cpl. Clare Rutherford, Hamilton; Sgt. Pat Boreham, Peterborough; Sgt. I. L. Donnelly (nee Toffelmire), Arnar; Sgt. Eva Southward (nee Pickering), Richard's Landing; Sgt. Merna Smith, Seaforth.

King George And Central Divide Points

Central consolidated its position in the Public School soccer standing on Friday afternoon when they managed to split the points with King George on Riverside Park, in a postponed game from last week. The winners have not lost a game, and their final tilt is against King Edward to climax the play-off positions, on October 12, with Stan. McLeod as referee.

First Half.

King George selected the sun at their backs and made good use of their selection by confining the play inside the opposition goal area but the Central backs were unbeatable and nullified any progress to get a shot on goal. Time and again Chambers and Hum would break fast along the wing to find the half backs checking closely. Noble kept plying the ball up the centre. Eventually King George introduced combination that upset the Central full backs a little as they passed the ball to one another in trying to get the vacant spot. East City boys battled hard to get the winning counter as they endeavored to get the ball on the mark, but their shooting was erratic when the opportunity was presented to them. Halg-time: No scoring.

Second Half.

On resuming, Central aided by sun and wind settled down to record another win, but Deckrell and Davis replied with first time clearances to offset the Central boys' aggressiveness around the goal. Quickly Beavis, Gandy and Monson steadied themselves to put up a barrier against Central forwards as they travelled inside the shooting area to miss the uprights by inches. Exchanges continued even for a while, with Central gaining the advantages in midfield play. They repeatedly worked their way into a scoring position to find the defence of the East City boys conceding nothing in the proximity of the goal. Play ran from end to end until the finish. Full time: No scoring.

Central — J. Hutchinson, goal; J. Forbes and D. Brooks, backs; H. Wilson, W. Noble and W. Mackenzie, halves; G. Chambers, T. Hum, J. Whitnall, E. Patterson, and W. Nolan, forwards; subs, K. Delahaye and N. Howard.

King George — J. Shearer, goal; J. Deckrell and T. Davis, backs; A. Beavis, R. Gandy, and K. Monson, halves; N. Thompson, W. Ferguson, G. Rome, A. Northcott, and R. Wyatt, forwards; subs, J. Parnell and K. Batchelor.

Russia Will Attack Nipponese Dr. Beskin Predicts To Kiwanis

That Russia will never made a separate peace with Germany and that she will help the United States and the British Commonwealth to overcome the menace of Japan is the considered opinion of an expert on affairs of Eastern Europe, Dr. Nathan Cohen Beskin, Russian-born clergyman, now an American citizen, who spoke before the Kiwanis Club on Friday noon.

Dr. Beskin, whose dynamic address with its emphatic assertions, held the undivided attention of his listeners through a half-hour's exposition of the place that Russia is likely to fill in the immediate future, based his belief on his personal knowledge of the man Stalin, who, he stated, is himself Russia. "When you speak of Russia to-day you are speaking of one man and one man only," Dr. Beskin said.

A native of White Russia who studied in hisyouth at the University of Tiflis, the speaker made the acquaintance there of the 18-year-old son of a shoemaker who was destined in time to become the supreme ruler of the Soviet Union. This was before the revolution, but already the Georgian youth was conspiring to overthrow the domination of the Czars; and while at the University, Dr. Beskin said, he committed the first of several crimes that led him to spend number of years in Siberia, helping to ambush a caravan and handing over the substantial loot to his revolutionary leader Lenin.

Can Rely on His Word.

"He is honest," Dr. Beskin declared, "and that is why I say what I say. He is honest as the professional gambler is honest, who, though he might hold you up tomorrow, will never filch on a debt he has incurred. Stalin never breaks his word; and, therefore, if he says that Russia will not make a separate peace and will fight against Japan, he means it. And no one living in Russia to-day can change his mind."

Stalin is an autocrat as absolute as the world has ever seen, Dr. Beskin asserted, and added that Hitler even at the height of his power never wielded authority comparable to that of the Soviet Premier. "It would never dawn on this man that anyone could dare to object to any of his decisions," the speaker said.

"You find out what Stalin is like and then you know what Russia will do," were Dr. Beskin's words and the very meat and marrow of his theme, as he used the two words interchangeably in voicing his convictions on the results for humanity of the great Eastern nation's ambitions in the peace settlement.

Will Fight Japan.

Regarding Japan, he pointed out Russian newspapers were already criticizing—under official direction—the conduct of the Nipponese and the carrying-out of their part of the non-aggression pact; and that a million Soviet soldiers stood ready to march against Manchuria. "In Siberia there is a highay pointing at the Japanese holdings on the mainland of Asia,' Dr. Beskin told his audience "That road is made of green cement, with plots of grass stretching along the sides—a perfect camouflage from airplanes."

Painting Stalin's personality as that of a tremendous opportunist, the clergyman intimated about how much faith could be placed in the Soviet Premier's turnabout from a persecutor of religion to a benevolent ruler who now not only tolerates public worship in Russia, but actually befriends and supports it. "He is building a seminary for the education of priests in Moscow," Dr. Beskin stated, "and he has even taken to calling a Russian archbishop His Holiness. Imagine it.

Wooing the Balkans.

"But nevertheless he is still the same man he always was, and there is a simple reason for this puzzling change. Stalin has his eye on the Balkan nations which he hopes to woo away from the sphere of the Western Allies' influence, and he knows, as other men in those parts realize, that these peoples will fight to the death rather than submit to suppression of their religious beliefs.

"I am surprised," Dr. Beskin added, "in view of hi sardent desire to win eventual control in Southeastern Europe, that he would let himself agree to having the invasion of Greece made by units of the British and Canadian forces.'

Stalin will demand White Russia in the peace settlement, is Dr. Beskin's view; and the population being predominantly Russian, he believes this to be fair. Besides, he told Kiwanians, "Poland has no more just claim to White Russia than Canada has, having taken it by force from Lithuania after the Versailles Treaty awarded it to that country."

Romania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, perhaps Hungary, are all destined to fall into the Russian sphere of influence after the war, the speaker declared; and these nations together with the Soviet Union will command a population of 220,000,000 that is bound to have a very great say in the future of world affairs.

Russia Not Communistic.

On the subject of Russia's economic system, Dr. Beskin said pointblank, "There is no Communism in Russia to-day. People in the United States speak of a certain number of families as controlling the wealth of America, but in the Soviet Union the entire wealth is subject to the control of Stalin. And capitalism can hardly be said to be extinguished in a land where a trained engineer, as an example, is paid ten times as much as a common laborer. In the United States this ratio would appear at about 8 to 1."

Introduced to the club by President Charles Saunders, a warm vote of thanks was moved to Dr. Beskin at the conclusion of his address by Vice-president John Lewis.

(A dispatch from Cairo said British naval and air arms "have sealed the fate of German garrisons left in the Dodecanese and other islands.")

British ships bombarded the Greek island of Levitha Oct. 5 and then landing parties captured the eastern half of the island. The German commander on the island surrendered at dusk after a further bombardment.

Levitha is a small island 43 miles west of the Turkish coast and approximately the same distance south and slightly west of the island of Samos the capture of which was announced in a communique issued by Greek headquarters in Cairo yesterday.

Allied planes strafed six German-held airfields near Athens and Salonika on the Greek mainland in the face of heavy flak, but met no fighter opposition.

Conducting effective strafing attacks. U.S. 15th Air Force planes countered German attempts to evacuate or supply troops by air and destroyed more than a score of enemy planes on the ground.

Four of the enemy airdromes attacked are within a 12-mile radius of Athens. Airdromes at Sedes just south of Salonika were strafed by Lightnings which hit parked aircraft, motor transport and a radio station.

Italian-based Balkan air force planes also gave support to Allied troops in Albania where the German headquarters at Delvino was demolished by a salvo of rockets.

F. Gandy Heads Labor Council

Fred J. Gandy, Jr. was elected president when delegates from 12 organized labor unions in the city met with the Pilot committee Friday night to form the Allied Labor Council of Peterborough and district. A constitution was drawn up and officers elected will act until the annual meeting to be held in January 1946.

Other officers elected were: vice-president, H. J. Pearce; secretary, Ellis Blair; treasurer, Albert E. Borland; executive committee, Tom Kay, Sherman J. Rowe, George Rowbottom; trustees, T. P. Davies, Harry C. Lord; floor guard, Walter Robinson.

The Allied Labor Council has been formed to give working people an avenue through which they can voice their opinion on all matters of community interest and carry their share of the burden in the betterment of the city and citizens, it was declared. Membership is limited to recognized Trade unions or similar bodies, holding, or eligible to hold, affiliation with their the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, or the Canadian Congress of Labor.

Some weeks ago various Labor unions and associations sent representatives to discuss the Council at preliminary meetings. They have declared their sympathy for the movement, and although many were not present Friday night, it is expected that the number of organized groups in the Council will reach 30. At the earlier meetings a Pilot committee was named to work out the plans for a united group.

The Allied Labor Council stressed their desire to the Mayor, City Council and people of Peterborough, to assist in every possible way any project, which has as its objective, the improvement of living conditions, health, and happiness. They hope to be given an opportunity to work in harmony with other bodies aiming for the same thing, officers said.

Harold Lang, secretary of the Peterborough District Council Civil Service Federation of Canada, invited the president-elect to attend the dinner being given in honor of V. C. Phelan of Ottawa, October 25. Since Mr. Gandy is already a member of the Council, Mr. Pearce, vice-president, was appointed representative.

Newsboy Wins Scholarship For Sales Work

An Examiner news carrier for three years and ace salesman of War Savings stamps, who has had among the rewards for his achievements the honor of meeting and shaking hands with Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Bill Edgar, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edgar, 505 Sherbrooke street, has been awarded a university scholarship for his all-round excellence as an up-and-coming young Canadian and tops among the newspaper's carriers.

Announcement of the award was made today, coinciding with the celebration of National Newspaper Boys' Day. It is the initial award of the scholarship, instituted last year by H. L. Garner, general manager of The Examiner, who thought that something more should be done in the way of showing the paper's appreciation of the faithful work of the boys and girls who daily distribute the news to householders through the city.

Chairman of the committee of judges was H. B. Cowan, circulation manager of The Examiner; and consulted before the final decision was made to declare Bill Edgar the winner were Mayor Hamilton and Mr. E. H. McKone, principal of the Normal School. Bill Edgar was chosen with a score of 92 points out of a possible 100; while Nancy Leith, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stroyan Leith, 617 Gilmour street, was adjudged second in the running; and John McDonald, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. McDonald, 649 Charlotte street, placed third.

Collegiate Student

Bill Edgar, whose paper route is Park and King streets, Williams and Bolivar streets, Monaghan road and Anne street, is now in second form at the Collegiate Institute, and his university scholarship is to take effect at such time as he has completed his matriculation. It is the first time that an award of this nature has been made to a newsboy anywhere in Canada.

The boy's education started at the Prince of Wales School, and his father, who said today, "I am naturally very proud of him," also stated that his son had an average interest for his age in bookish learning. His interests are numerous, he plays hockey and is an ardent fisherman, and shows an inclination for mechanical things. Liking to work with his hands, he has, as a matter of fact, completed a large and very exact model of a Spitfire plane, a model which will fly.

He has two sisters, an older sister Joy, a student at the P.C.I., and a younger sister Marilyn, who is a pupil at the Prince of Wales School.

Real Businessman

The young lad went into the newspaper business when his cousin, Wilbert Edgar, recently discharged from the armed forces, gave up his route to enlist in the war. And a real business it has been for the energetic Peterborough lad, who buys all his own clothes from his earnings and has in addition purchased $200 in Victory bonds, $100 in War Savings stamps, besides having a bank account of about $50. His runner-up in the contest, Nancy Leith, also maintains a sizable savings account, derived from her earnings as a news carrier; while John McDonald, who is certainly a businessman in his own right, holds over $400 in bonds and stamps, has bought his own bicycle and clothes, and pays for an insurance policy on his own life.

But young Edgar's master achievement in his success as a salesman of War Savings stamps, which he demonstrated so effectively last year at the time of the Depth Charge campaign and in which he has continued to show his superior style ever since. For he has sold a total of $8,027.50 worth. If you figure it out, that comes to 32,110 stamps.

4,200 RCAF Trainees Will Help Army

OTTAWA, Oct. 7— (CP).—Release by the R.C.A.F. of 4,200 trainees, announced yesterday by Air Minister Power, will not affect compulsory military training draft quotas, officials said to-day.

The quotas at present stand at 5,000 a month, but recently difficulty has been experienced in reaching this figure and those made available from the air force will help make up this deficiency.

"We want the friendship of Quebec. We want their whole-hearted fellowship in the building of a great nation, but I do not believe that the people of Ontario are prepared to contribute out of their pockets from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to the people of Quebec unless the people of Quebec are prepared to bear their share of winning the war upon which all security rests."

Stating that Mr. Jolliffe "is constantly harping on his fear of a snap election," Mr. Drew said the C.C.F. leader knew that the "Socialists in this province have been slipping badly and that he has lost their confidence."

Apples Crowd Tables At Farmers' Market

With Thanksgiving "just around the corner," large crowds turned out to stock up for the holiday, at the Farmers' Market this morning, and although the proverbial turkeys were almost in a minus quantity, pumpkins, apples, pears and grapes were featured.

Along the apple stalls, Wealthies were 50 cents a peck, MacIntoshes were 70 cents a peck, Baxters were 50 cents a peck, cooking apples 45 cents a peck, and crabapples 35 cents a 6 quart basket.

Shelton pears were 50 cents a peck, Anjou pears were 75 cents 6 quart basket, and Seckel pickling pears were 60 cents a basket.

What turkeys there were, sold at 45 cents a pound, and geese were from 35 cents to 37 cents.

Grapes were 55 cents a basket, tomatoes 40 cents a basket, green tomatoes 35 cents a basket, potatoes 40 cents a peck, and eggs were from 33 to 40 cents per dozen.

Cauliflower went from 10 to 18 cents, corn at 30 cents a dozen, elderberries at 25 cents a quart, turnips 5 cents each, parsnips 35 cents a basket, cabbage at 5 and 10 cents each, and squash from 5 to 15 cents.

Marrows were 5 and 10 cents, pumpkins at the same price, and onions were 50 cents a peck. Celery was 10 cents a head, pickling onions 15 cents a quart box, carrots 30 cents a basket, egg-plant 10 cents each, beets at 30 cents a basket, and Brussel sprouts sold at 15 cents a quart.

Chickens sold at 33 cents a pound, and year-olds sold at 30 cents. Bittersweet made an appearance, going at 15 cents a bunch.

The First Things

thou shalt eat thy bread" is one of the highest and most blessed statements in the Book. Toil and labor produces true manhood, endurance and self-respect. Work is a necessity for all real development and progress of character and civilization. Work produces self discipline, perseverance and patience and a worthwhile self-respect. "My home," you exclaim with pride.

Is your work done thoroughly and well remembering that the Christ's work as a Carpenter was without flaw and could be depended upon as first-class.

"Isaac's servants digged a well." Behind the hand workers stood the directing mind and voice. The brain worker and scientist work also; which is often forgotten by the hand worker.

Special Day At All Saints'

Sunday will be another day of importance to the people of All Saints' Church when beautiful oak panelling and doors that adorn the chancel walls will be dedicated by the Right Rev. A. R. Beverley, M.A., D.D., Sufragan Bishop of Toronto. Handrails leading up the chancel steps and new vases will also be dedicated. All these are memorial gifts in memory of loved ones who have passed from the Church militant to the Church triumphant.

A special invitation to attend this service is extended to all former members and their friends.

Worry Over Material Things Unneeded If Faith Strong

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 9 is Matthew 4:1-11; 6:24-34; Luke 4:16-30, the Golden Text being Matthew 4:4, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.")

THE FIRST part of our lesson tells of Jesus' temptation in the wilderness whence He had gone to fast and meditate. Jesus had had nothing to eat for forty days and forty nights, and was hungry. Satan took this time to approach Him.

The tempter said to Him, "If Thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread." Jesus' answer was immediate, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

Then the evil one took him up into the holy city and set Him on a pinnacle of the temple, telling Him to prove He was the son of God by casting Himself down. The Lord would send His angels to keep Him from being dashed to pieces. But Jesus said, "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God." God had not ordered Him to prove Himself in that way. The Lord's will was His law.

Then the devil took Jesus to "an exceeding high mountain" where He could see "all the kingdoms of the world," and suggested that if He would only worship him—Satan himself—He would be given to rule over all. Jesus told him to "get hence, Satan; for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve." The tempter left, and angels came and ministered unto Jesus. You will notice that the strength of Jesus for victory over Satan was His knowledwge of, obedience to, and use of the Word of God.

Jesus' Cure for Worry

In these troubled times, when anxiety for the present and the future of the world and of our own happiness is uppermost in all hearts, the next lesson Jesus teaches us is especially timely. Are we distressed for fear we will not have enough food in the coming time?

"Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your Heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?"

You cannot make yourself one inch taller by fretting about your height, so why worry about it? "And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: And yet I say unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

Man was made to work and to be thrifty. He should exercise these gifts that God gave him, but why should he worry about these things? Why not trust that the God who provides for the beast and vegetable worlds would show man how to overcome his difficulties and win his way?

"Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you," Jesus advised.

Jesus Visits His Home

Jesus made a visit to the home town, Nazareth, where He was brought up, and where His mother, His brothers and sisters lived. As was His custom, He visited the synagogue on the Sabbath, as was the habit in the synagogue, news of His works having probably travelled there. He was invited, as a prominent person, to read from the scripture.

Jesus chose a passage from Isaiah, "The spirit of the Lord is upon Me to preach the gospel to the poor; He hath sent Me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord."

He then closed the book, gave it to the minister, and sat down, and these people who had known Him from babyhood looked at Him with wonder, asking one another, "Is this not Joseph's son?" Then Jesus said, "This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears."

These home town folk of the Lord's were filled with anger when they heard these words, and they hustled Him out of the synagogue and took Him to the brow of the hill on which their city was built. They would have thrown Him down it to His death, but His time was not yet come. There was work to be done, so Jesus slipped quietly through the crowd and went His way. Truly, as He said to them, "No prophet is accepted in his own country."

The First Things Of Life

By REV. E. R. JAMES.

Isaac builded an altar there and called upon the name of the Lord and pitched his tent there: And Isaac's servants digged a well. — Gen. 26, 25.

Genesis means beginning. The book is a story of the beginnings of life. Abraham left Ur of the Chaldees because he desired to worship God according to his lights. He left a city of high civilization, as we know to-day, and went into the wilderness to herd sheep and cattle. He was the father of the Jewish people and was called the "Friend of God." His son Isaac followed in his footsteps. He knew that the first things of life are God, Home and Work.

We owe a great debt to the ancient peoples. We received the gift of philosophy and thought from the Greeks; law and order from the Romans. The greatest gift came from the Jews; the gift of religion and the worship of the One living God. The Jews of those days had a genius for religion. They were spiritual experts. They produced that race of remarkable men—the prophets. They were men who lived close to God and received an insight into the mind of God.

WORSHIP: "Isaac builded an altar there and called upon the Name of the Lord." The erection of an altar was the first work of the patriarchs. They had an instinct for worship; to give something to God. Do you put God first in your life? Do you say your prayers regularly and read a portion of God's written Word thoughtfully so that you might know something of the mind of God? In a very lesser sense you are to be a prophet to your family and friends. As you get a glimpse of the mind of God it is your privilege to pass it on to others.

Let us not forget that the servants of Isaac saw the altar and from time to time watched him worship, offering sacrifice to Jehovah. It was a public act; an open confession of faith in Jehovah. Do you bear testimony to your faith by going to church regularly and calling upon the Name of the Lord?

HOME: "Isaac pitched his tent there." The patriarchs were pastoral people and lived in tents. They had no abiding city. "They looked for a city which hath foundations, Whose Builder and Maker is God." To the thoughtful Jew the tent reminded him of the shortness of his own life. One day he would go hence and be no more seen. This thought helped him to live a detached life. Yet it was home. There Rebecca came as a bride—there the children were born and brought up according to God's law. Is this also your ideal? If so, you will be happy. Some day your children will rise up and call you blessed.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Meeting Life's Problems — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matt. 4:1-11; 6:24-34; Luke 4:16-30

Jesus said, "Behold the fowls of the air; for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?"

Why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: Yet Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

On a visit to His home town, Nazareth, Jesus went to the synagogue and there read from the book of Isaiah, and people looked at one another, astonished, saying, "Is this not Joseph's son?"

As Jesus expounded His message to His home town people, they grew angry with Him, and taking Him to the brow of the hill, they would have cast Him down.

Carrier Boys' Day

This is the day which the newspapers of this continent observe every year by paying their respects to the carrier boys who deliver the papers. There are many people who think that these boys are the employees of the newspaper which they deliver; this is not so; the Examiner carrier boys buy their papers from us, and sell them to you, and the profit which they make on the deal is their own. Thus they are merchants in a small way of business, and they learn to keep accounts, handle money accurately and wisely, and bear responsibility.

In the course of their work, our carriers make considerable sums of money, and if they spent it on pleasure it would be of doubtful benefit to them. But they do not waste their money; understandably they keep some of it for their immediate use, but they save the greater part of it. We see no reason to keep it secret that in the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Victory Loans our carriers bought Bonds to the value of $4,500. They have bought almost the same value in War Savings Certificates, and they have sold War Savings Stamps to the value of $42,287. All this money has passed through their hands and not a cent of it has been mislaid. We think that this is a fine record, and we hope that you will agree. The Prime Minister of Canada has taken special notice of Carrier Boys' Day, and has said some extremely complimentary things about carriers, which you may read elsewhere in this paper. We feel that our group of carriers deserves this commendation as fully as any group in the country.

The day of the tough "newsie" has gone. The carrier boy of today is a sensible, responsible lad who has already taken a small, but necessary and honourable place in his community. Our belief in our carriers is firm, and we have recently taken steps to assist the best among them to get an university education, if they should want one. In their relations with the Examiner and with the public our carriers have been everything that we could hope for, or expect. If we can give them any help after they have moved on from the carrier stage of life, we are happy to do so.

Community Centre Drive Ends

The canvass to collect money for building a Community Memorial Centre is now at an end, and although the results have not been bad, they have not been unduly encouraging. Why the drive was not a complete success is a question which cannot be discussed now, for it is doubtful if enough information is available to permit a useful opinion to be formed. Great numbers of people who were expected to subscribe failed to do so, declaring that they did not like the site which had been chosen, or that they were not interested in sports, or that they would pay their entrance money at the door after the Centre was built; people are always full of excuses for not subscribing money to community causes. However, the subscriptions from some sections of the population were generous and easy to collect; these people had grasped the idea of the Centre fully, and they saw its immense possibilities.

The idea of our Community Centre has been commented upon favourably in Toronto and Montreal, in the press, and the newspapers in Sarnia and Brantford have asked why, if Peterborough can undertake such a project, Sarnia and Brantford cannot do the same thing? Peterborough has broken new ground, and has won a reputation for leadership in community planning as a result of the Memorial Centre scheme, and the more progressive citizens of Peterborough know how valuable such a reputation can be.

We hope that the committee which undertook the canvass will not allow itself to be discouraged by a somewhat lukewarm response. They have undertaken to lead a very conservative city into a somewhat unusual venture. As we pointed out in an editorial at the beginning of the campaign, the Community Centre could become the very heart of popular entertainment in this city, paying for itself many times over in the pleasure and satisfaction which it would give to our growing population. Men who take the lead in such matters know that discouragement is frequent and the road to achievement steep and rough. At the December municipal elections the ratepayers of Peterborough will have a chance to express themselves again on this plan, and what they decide will tell us whether it is possible to go forward with it or not.

Mitch Hepburn Is Back Again

It is not particularly surprising to learn that Mitch Hepburn means to go back into politics, and the fact that his declaration comes less than a week before a Liberal caucus in Toronto is even less surprising. It looks as though Mitch Hepburn meant to reclaim the mantle which he hung for a time upon the frail shoulders of Mr. Nixon. This is good news for Ontario. During the ten years that he was in power Mr. Hepburn gave us excellent government; he is a professional politician, and as such is worth a cart-load of enthusiastic amateurs. In power or in opposition, Mr. Hepburn is a man whom we cannot spare from the political life of this province.

His rebirth as a Liberal is not without its amusing aspect. Mr. Hepburn began his career as a Liberal, but he did not agree with Mr. Mackenzie King about the conduct of the war, and his Liberalism suffered. Mr. Hepburn, like most highly individual persons, has an unswerving loyalty to himself, and he will not permit anything to affect it; when he found the leadership of Mr. King irksome to him he became very much excited, and his antics were not edifying to watch. He gave his support to Mr. King's arch-enemy, Mr. Arthur Meighen, and it is popularly believed that the love of Mitch Hepburn was fatal to Mr. Meighen. In a by-election at Welland, Mr. Hepburn again appeared as an opponent of the Liberal party and its representative in that campaign. Then there followed a period in which Mr. Hepburn fawned heavily upon Premier Drew, who very wisely did not encourage him. Next he had a whirl with the Labour-Progressives, but seemingly could not find a red cap to fit him. Now he is going to fight "the new Tory menace, whether in the Provincial or Federal Field".

This may mean anything. Like the onions which he grows so deftly, Mr. Hepburn sheds his skins with lightning swiftness, and the more skins he casts the more pungent he becomes. We are glad that he is going back into politics. Life was dull without him. We cannot honestly say, however, that it is possible to regard him as anything except a rugged individualist, after his two-year tour of the parties.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A beauty expert says that it is possible to wish away fat. We know people who are continually wishing it away, but they cast just as much shade as before.

The Washington Bureau of Home Nutrition recommends a breakfast of shortcake, fried onions, baked beans, codfish cakes and brown bread. That's not nutrition, that's taxidermy.

This is the season of Harvest: the frost is on the pumpkin, the corn is in stooks, and Mitch Hepburn, the Liberal maverick is snorting and cavorting back to the party byre.

While Frank Sinatra was in Washington, his New York fans wore black bobby-socks in mourning. Or perhaps, in accordance with the general frowsiness of the swing crowd, they simply neglected to change them.

At least two editorials on the late Sir William Mulock are headed "We May Not See His Like Again". This, we are convinced, would have infuriated Sir William, who hated misquotations, pessimism, and the crack-brained notion that anyone is indispensable to the efficient running of the world.

The suggestion that a few archers might like to kill deer with bow and arrow roused a howl from sentimentalists last Spring; they wrote enthusiastically of the clean, quick death which the gun brings. But already we see several accidents reported in which clumsy handling, or 'didn't-know-it-was-loaded' have maimed and disfigured hunters and their friends. Something seems to depend on who is handling the gun, and we imagine that the deer know how few good shots there are, and how many bunglers.

Diary Of A Fuel-Miser

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Completed the laborious task of carrying and piling my wood today. While I was at work a young friend of mine came in for a chat, and sat herself down on a large block to watch me at my toil. Picking up a stick of birch, she pointed to some red marks on the white bark, and asked me what they were? I explained that the markings were woodpecker-ink; the woodpecker, in autumn, chews up the red leaves of the sumac until a pouch in his stomach is filled with bright red ink. He then chooses the place where he will make his hole next spring, coughs up some of the ink, and marks the spot carefully. For this reason the woodpecker was known to the Huron Indians as Moganoganog-Goganoganog-Egganoganog, or the Surveyor Bird. My friend was greatly impressed by this information, and said that she would tell her natural history teacher about it. I hope she does.

MONDAY: Awoke this morning from drugged dreams, caused by sleeping under blankets heavily impregnated with moth-balls. Cold weather has come upon us so suddenly that heavy blankets must be hurried from the cedar chest to the bed without enough airing. There is no doubt about it, this climate of ours, which we praise for its moderation, is hard to live with. A month ago I sweltered under a sun which was just short of tropical; now I huddle over a fire, and scrabble in moth-boxes for extra blankets. ....Everybody seems to be talking about what a hard winter we are going to have. All the usual authorities — aged Indians, squirrels, chipmunks, scientists and old men with rheumatic joints—have made their predictions of wrath to come. I refuse to be depressed; the only way to get the best of the weather is ignore it....I am beginning to feel rather like a squirrel myself; my cellar bulges with coal and wood, and my cupboards groan with preserved fruit. Let it blow! Let it snow! I shall sit in my barn, and keep myself warm, and tuck my head under my wing. If I just had a hog or two packed away in salt, I could withstand a siege.

TUESDAY: If this cold keeps up, I shall have to light a fire in my furnace. I don't want to do it. I have just got in my winter wood, and I want to keep it for a while, and sneak down cellar in the night to admire it, and congratulate myself on being a fore-sighted ant who has prepared for the winter, while improvident grasshoppers have danced and sung, and wasted their substance. I have become a fuel-miser, and the thought of lighting a fire throws me into a transport of apprehension. Meanwhile I am being chilled to the bone, my workroom is as damp as an aquarium, and my bed is like a swamp. Unless there is a change in the weather soon I shall have to light a fire, and then suffer the tortures of outraged parsimony while I watch it burn....The days of victory, I see by several papers, will not be a day of rejoicing at all. It will be a day of sadness, during which we shall sit quietly at home and think of those who have gone to war and who will not return. Hmmm! Perhaps; I am not betting on it. It have seen wars end before.

WEDNESDAY: Lighted a fire in my furnace today. It was good to be warm, but the pang of breaking into my wood pile was bitter. I looked at the gap and sighed. It is thus, I said to myself, with everything in life: we struggle to attain it, and immediately it begins to disappear, and our pleasure in attainment is spoiled. "Everything flows, nothing remains," said the wise Greek; too true, too true. Collect coal and wood as eagerly as you may, the day will come when you must light a fire. Chewing the bitter cud of philosophy, I turned my attention to my bank account: I seem able to store up everything for winter except money. As soon as I get a few pennies scraped together some joker sends me a bill for something which I bought in a wanton mood, and my financial sand-castle is ruined. I have often thought how delightful it would be to have a large, round sum in the bank, not for use but merely for happy contemplation. But alas, I know that it would be with money as with wood and coal; no sooner would I have it than dire necessity would force me to spend it.

THURSDAY: Aimee Semple Macpherson, I see, has at last been called to face the God with whom she has claimed intimate acquaintanceship for so many years. She combined the most enduring elements of an old-fashioned camp-meeting, a circus and a vaudeville show, and attracted thousands of adoring adherents by so doing; she appealed to people whose sense of devotion was allied to lack of taste, lack of moderation and lack of common sense; she was a boob-squeezer without peer. At various times she appeared before her emotion-sodden audiences as an angel (with wings), a milkmaid (with tin pail), and a master mariner (with oilskins and telescope); observing these shenanigans, many people of austere character felt that if what Sister Aimee was dishing out was Christianity, they wanted no part of it....She was probably sincere in these goings-on, but I cannot see that sincerity excuses her on her followers. Hitler and his dupes are sincere, too; most wrong-headed people are deeply sincere and derive great strength from that quality. But sincerity allied to ignorance, or self-righteousness, or a shoddy spirit, ceases to be a noble quality and becomes a manure for the weeds of error.

FRIDAY: Had occasion to visit a Catholic hospital today, where I was struck by the thought that nuns have been running organizations of this kind for years with the greatest efficiency, but have never yet made any strident claims to 'equality' with men; they simply do the job, and don't fuss over what the world thinks about it. More of this spirit among the rest of their sex would be appreciated....Talked for a while to a taxi-driver who told me of some of the queer dodges which people try in order to get taxis in a hurry. A hack driver sees a great deal of life, and must often hear some strange conversations; a lot of people seem to think that there is a glass partition between them and the taxi-driver—which is rarely so—and they pour out their souls, confess their adorations, plot murders and generally make fools of themselves while the hackie drinks it all in. Luckily cab drivers are rarely novelists or columnists in their spare time, or the air would ring with our ill-guarded secrets.

SATURDAY: Conversed briefly with a nail-biter this morning. Nail-biters fascinate me, because they never seem to have any nail left to bite, and yet they go on biting furiously, and achieve results apparently satisfactory to themselves. If I were of a scientific cast of mind I would look further into this phenomenon.... The nail-biter babbled foolishly about the 'streamlined world' which he expected to see after the war. 'Streamlining' is one of the special idiocies of our time; it was originally intended to cut down the wind-resistance of cars, which I believe it did to some extent, but now we streamline chesterfields, ashtrays, standard lamps and all sorts of objects which never move and consequently have no wind-resistance anyway. But I observe that when we build something for real use and durability, such as a jeep or a tank, we forget all about streamlining and wind-resistance and concentrate on strength....My furnace is beginning to give ominous grunts and moans in the cellarage, like the ghost of Hamlet's father; it knows that I shall be in thrall to it within a month.

New Ideas And Discoveries About Shakespeare

By PROFESSOR DOVER WILSON

NOTE: The works of William Shakespeare have long been the object of study by scholars of many nations. The results have shown a startling change in the world's outlook towards his works and their mode of presentation on the stage.

In this article Professor John Dover Wilson, the distinguished authority on Shakespeare, reviews the recent advances in the study of works of the great English dramatist.

WHEN I was young it used to be the fashion to say that all the best scholars and critics of Shakespeare were German. That has long ceased to be true, if it ever was; and the great progress that has been made in Shakespearian studies since the beginning of this century, most of it belonging to the last 25 years, nearly all derives from the work of scholars in Britain, though the Americans have contributed their share, and are now pressing us hard.

In the interval between the two world wars, our ideas about Shakespeare have been revolutionized in three different directions: his career, the text of his plays, and the conditions of their producton upon the stage. The limits of an article allow me to speak of the second and third of these alone, and that very inadequately.

Of the first I will only say this, that, while the nature of his personality remains hidden from our eyes, except in so far as it stands revealed in the plays, facts about the man and contemporary allusions to him as poet and dramatist have so multiplied upon our hands that only wilful paradox or snobbish ignorance can today maintain that anybody but the actor from Stratford could have written the dramas. Fresh pretenders to the throne will, no doubt, continue to appear — a new book advancing novel claims reached me recently from America—but it is noticeable that all such claimants possess one feature in common — noble birth. In other words, their supporters are snobs who dislike the notion that the greatest of English poets should be a commoner!

As to the developments of knowledge as regards Shakespeare's text and theatre, these are closely connected, both one with another, and with improvements in the playing of Shakespeare on the modern stage. Indeed, the most encouraging fact about the present situation is that actors and students, who thirty years ago worked in isolation, neither party aware of what the other party was doing, are now drawing closer together every day and learning more and more from each other.

THERE are 36 plays in the Shakespeare canon, the text of which is derived from two sources: (1) a collected edition, known as the First Folio, containing all but one of the plays, and published seven years after the dramatist's death by two of his fellow-actors; and (2) individual editions known as Quartos, of some sixteen separate plays, published at various dates during his life-time. Until recently, nothing was known for certain about the relation between the Quartos and the Folio (except that in the case of some plays they differ considerably) or about the kind of manuscript that lay behind.

The Cambridge Shakespeare (1st ed. 1863), which settled the text for most subsequent editions, was based on the principle of eeclecticism, readings being taken from the Folio or the Quartos, according to the taste of the editor. Since 1909, however, the following discoveries or hypotheses have been established with fair probability:

(a) with the exception of a small group of 'bad' texts, reconstructed from memory by actors or piratical agents, all the Quartos were printed from playhouse manuscripts, most of them in Shakespeare's own handwriting, in other words from his drafts, which the scrivener of the company has also used in the construction of its acting-copy;

(b) with the exception of plays derived from previously published Quartos, all the Folio texts were printed from acting-copies or from Shakespeare's original drafts;

(c) we know how Shakespeare wrote, how he spelt, and, in general, how he punctuated. There is even a high probability, accepted as such by a large number of scholars, that we now possess in a disorderly manuscript playbook of the 16th century, belonging to the British Museum, a scene of 147 lines in the handwriting of the master-dramatist. Furthermore, the study of a considerable body of playhouse manuscripts which have survived from the London theatres of the 17th century has taught us much, hitherto unsuspected, about the way dramatists, prompters, and actors went to work in preparing performances, and has thrown a flood of light, not only upon Shakespeare's texts but also upon the methods of his company.

IT became clear that a fresh revision of Shakespeare's text was required; and in 1921, originally in collaboration with the late Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch, I began such an edition, published by the Cambridge Universtiy Press and sometimes called "The New Cambridge Shakespeare," in which sixteen plays have so far appeared. This is admittedly pioneer work, and the earlier volumes have already been rendered out-of-date by subsequent theories or discoveries. Meanwhile the eminent bibliographical scholar, Dr. McKerrow, took in hand an edition for the Oxford University Press, of which up to the present we have had nothing but a volume of Prolegomena published in 1938, when the work was interrupted by a double calamity, the outbreak of war and the death of the gifted editor. Thus, there is as yet no complete text of Shakespeare available in English, though the Oxford edition is to be carried forward by fresh hands. When it comes out, how will it differ from the text of the old Cambridge Shakespeare? In many plays, very little; in others a good deal. In King Lear, for example, the text of 1863 relied over much upon the Quarto text, which differs considerably from that of the Folio, and is now known to be quite unreliable.

But a modern editor of Shakespeare, who tries to do his duty, has not only to establish the text and explain the language of his author; he must also imagine, as vividly as his knowledge and powers allow, every action and situation in the play he is engaged upon, as it would, or might, be represented by an Elizabethan company in an Elizabethan theatre. And here the latest scholarship once again comes to his aid; for we have learnt, during the last generation, almost as many new things about the theatre and methods of acting in Shakespeare's day, as we have about his text.

The realization of the multiform nature of the Elizabethan stage, with its upper stage, its inner stage and its main outer stage, all with trapdoors and other appliances, but without scenery or drop-curtain, has been followed by the further realization, that a dramatic art fitted for an instrument so different from the modern stage must itself differ fundamentally from the art of Ibsen or Bernard Shaw or any of the great dramatists of the last 100 years. This meant that all our notions both of producing and of criticizing Shakespeare needed revision.

GONE are the days of realism, typified by a production of A Midsummer Night's Dream that I can well remember, on which no expense was spread and which was signalised by the (advertised) presence of real rabbits on the stage! Nowadays Shakespeare is generally played without pause, except for one or two breaks, and before a background of plain curtains. Realism is going from criticism also. The great critics of the nineteenth century thought of Shakespeare chiefly as the creator of characters, of characters so life-like that they may truly be regarded "rather as historic than dramatic beings." Attention to the details and necessities of dramatic structure went out of fashion, and the study of a play resolved itself into the painting of a gallery of portraits, the materials for which were collected from any scene without regard to its position in the play and as if the events of the scene had actually taken place in real life.

The essays or prefaces of Mr. Granville-Barker, himself an actor, producer and dramatist as well as a Shakespearian critic, challenge the underlying assumptions of this criticism, and always speak of character and action as part, not of 'real life', but of the stage-illusion Shakespeare endeavoured to create by his art and with the means at his disposal in the theatre of his day. In my "What happens in 'Hamlet'" and forthcoming "Fortune of Falstaff" I have attempted to follow the same line.

The new criticism, like the new production, is still in its infancy; but we can, I think, be certain that both, while avoiding the dead-end of mere archaeological reconstruction, will be based to an ever increasing measure upon the study of Shakespeare's artistic intentions and the conditions social, political, philosophical as well as theatrical, which determined that art.

O Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself; but in me is thine help..... I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death. O death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction. (Hos. 13: 1, 4, 9, 14.)

If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the firstfruits of them that slept....

O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? The sting of death is sin; and the strength of sin is the law.

But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. (I-Cor. 15: 19, 20, 55-57.)

Unconsidered Trifles

At last one weary assistant could stand it no longer.

"Excuse me, madam," he said, "but are you shopping here?"

"Of course I am," she snapped. "What do you think I'm doing?"

"Well, madam, I thought you were taking an inventory."

A naval man insists that this story of Vian of the Cossack is true. Admiral Vian, in command of a destroyer escort, had a minelayer in his charge which laid its "eggs" through an opening in the stern.

Minelayer's skipper was taking his craft round in circles to get exact bearings. Vian watched with interest, then ordered a signal to be run up: "Regret to see that you are eggbound."

A "fowl" insinuation.

Art Treasures of France

France again belongs to the French. But the treasures of art which French civilization created or assembled belong to the world as well. So it is reassuring to learn from an Allied Supreme Headquarters Commission of Inquiry that some of the greatest of these treasures are intact and will soon be restored to the public. Especially mentioned are Leonardo's "Mona Lisa," Michelangelo's "Slave," the Venus de Milo and the Bayeux Tapestry. The first three stand among the topmost pinnacles reached by the soaring human spirit; the last, woven by the wife of William the Conqueror, is one of the great historic documents of all time.

According to the experts of the commission, looting by the Nazi hierachy was not as thorough as previous reports indicated, perhaps because painting and sculpture can neither be eaten nor boiled down into munitions. Thievery from French museums, churches and private collections by German officers, however, is confirmed. Here we shall have to await fuller information, which can be unearthed only in Germany itself.

Servants of the Republic hid French movable art well and carefully. Vichy collaborators revealed many of the hiding places, but the Nazis seem to have returned some of the treasure to Paris, in their own custody, however.—New York Times.

Canuck Fliers Render Aid In Greek Invasion

By FLT. LT. R. M. WILLIAMS, R.C.A.F.

WITH BRITISH FORCES IN GREECE, Oct. 7 — (CP-Cable) — As R.C.A.F. pilots and air crew in the Balkan Air Force helped provide sky support for Allied troops invading Greece, I accompanied the military forces crossing the Ionian Sea in invasion craft — and tonight all my old dreams are realized.

I am a millionaire — a multimillionaire — with 15,000,000 drachmas burning a hole in my pocket. And I could go down to a neighboring village and blow the works on 12 cigarets. But maybe I'll just spend 2,500,000 for four cigarets and save the other 10,000,000 for a haircut.

This Greek exchange business is fantastic. For 2,500,000 drachmas are roughly equivalent to one English penny (about two cents). However, the current situation has been neatly solved by introducing British military authority notes in denominations of one shilling and upwards.

Fantastic Chase

The Greeks urgently require medicine, boots, clothing and food in about that order. Until these things arrive they are selling eggs, wines and services to the British troops and hoarding their shillings until the day comes when they will have something to spend it on.

The most peculiar event of the landing in Greece was the chase of light landing craft across the Ionian Sea by two waterspouts. For an hour these two huge columns of water pursued us as we careened backward and forward at full speed in an effort to escape.

After the chase ended the waterspouts hadn't finished their work. They whirled away over the horizon and deposited all the water they had sucked up on the dirt roads we had to travel after landing, producing the worst rainfall in the Peloponnesus since 1939.

Another invasion freak was the electric power supplied by the German garrison in Patrai to British advanced headquarters just outside the city. The power was generated by Greek patriots in the hills and if the Germans had cut off power for British headquarters the Patriots would have ended the German power supply. The status quo was maintained until a mortar shell cut the lines.

Holland Facing Great Famine

The Premier outlined Holland's plight at a press conference with a plea "not for world pity, but for understanding."

The major Dutch cities, he said, "are faced with the certainty that, unless the Germans are expelled in the immediate future, the available food supplies will be exhausted before the month is out."

Foreign Minister E. N. Van Kleffens said the Germans had burned to the ground the prosperous town of Berkel, between Rotterdam and the Hague as a reprisal.

PETERBOROUGH, Oct. 7— (CP) —Prime Minister Mackenzie King has expressed the appreciation of the Canadian Government for the "devoted service" given by the newspaper boys of Canada during the present war. The expression of appreciation was contained in a letter from the Prime Minister to H. B. Cowan, jr., chairman of the National Newspaper Day Committeee of the Canadian Circulation Managers Association.

Text of the letter, made public last night on the eve of the observvance of National Newspaperboy Day to-day follows.

I have been interested to learn from your letter that Otober 7 is being celebrated both in Canada and the United States as National Newspaperboy Day.

I should like to take advantage of this occasion ot express the appreciation which is felt by the Government, and, I am sure, by millions of Canadians of the devoted service given by the newspaperboys of Canada during the present war. In wartime, the regular and prompt dissemination of the news is of even greater importance than in peacetime. To the thousands of boys who, day after day, in all kinds of weather bring us our daily papers, the people of Canada owe debt of gratitude.

In wartime, the newspaperboys have done far more than deliver the newspapers. The newspaperboys have had their part in almost every national and local wartime campaign. Campaigns for victory loans and war savings to which they themselves have subscribed in large numbers, for paper salvage, for blood donors and many others have been devotedly supported by the newspaper boys.

The newspaperboys themselves are still too young to serve in the armed forces, but we do not forget that dozens of the men in Canada's navy, army and air force were once newspaperboys.

It gives me great pleasure to pay a tribute to the newspaperboys of Canada in connection with the National Newspaperboy Day.

TORONTO, Oct. 7 — (CP). — Just to make the current Mann Cup lacrosse series more interesting, New Westminster and St. Catharines are in a bit of a dither over the Hall of Fame question that has so perturbed hockey fans the past year or so.

Jack Woods of the Salmonbellies started it when he suggested the British Columbia city would be a good place to set up a memorial to the originators and carry-oners of the great Canadian summer pastime. After a hiatus of a few days, Clayton Browne of the St. Catharines Standard replied in sturdy fashion to uphold the honor of the Ontario centre.

Browne points out that they have been playing lacrosse in St. Kitts since 1870, which he ironically says makes the Ontarians of merely "juvenile ranking." The game came to St. Kitts from Montreal, he adds, while the West didn't start until much later.

He cites numerous figures and statistics to support his claim, so it looks as though a good argument is a-brewing between the rival camps. Anyway, the two teams can fight it out when they meet in the Dominion finals. After all, it adds up to good publicity no matter how you look at it.

Saturday stuff:

Jim Coleman of Toronto Globe and Mail reports that Scotty Kennedy of bargain basement mare Omar's Gift fame is trying to track down Ralph Allen in France. Ralph the Globe's war correspondent, at latest reports was having a tough time parley-vousing and savvying the native Patois of the different French districts.....Among the many amateurs getting tryouts in the N.H.L. this winter is Leroy MacDonald, who gallivanted with St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, N.S., last winter. Detroit Red Wings are trying him.... There has been much talk about the formation of a semi-pro baseball setup in Ontario next year, but Bill (Niagara Falls) Gaynon cautions against excessive speed in any such setup, with an eye to the post-war needs of the game, would be much more reasonable. His point is that good Canadian amateurs will be available after the war, and it would be inadvisable to open the gates for numerous imports from the U.S. that they couldn't pay for when the easy money of war industry isn't available any longer.

Jack Shewchuk of the Boston N.H.L. Bruins last night received seven trophies at the annual dinner of the Brantford Golf and Country Club as the tangible result of his season's play. The cups included those for the Brant County title and the club championship.

Peralta Beats Castilloux In 10 Rounds

TORONTO, Oct. 7 — (CP). — Canadian welter and lightweight champion, Dave Castilloux of Montreal, came out the loser of a close decision in a 10-round non-title bout with Joe Peralta, of Douglas, Ariz., at Maple Leaf Gardens here last night. Castilloux weighed 135 and Peralta scaled half a pound more.

More than 5,000 viewed the fight the first professional card in Toronto in three years. Castilloux, who entered the ring a 3-1 favorite, will probably have a return bout with Peralta here.

The Mexican boxer, taller and thicker set than Castilloux, started swing leather from the opening bell, though he back-pedalled after he got a taste of Castilloux' infighting. Peralta's unorthodox manner had the Montrealer upset at times, but Castilloux was able to roll away from what might have proved to be telling punches.

Low Blows

The fighting was fairly even throughout, with Peralta backing away most of the time though throwing a lot of punches at Dave's body. The two started to mix it after the bell in the sixth and ninth rounds and Castilloux dropped the eighth stanza after being warned by referee Tommy Bland for landing low blows.

Castilloux' left hand jabs kept on finding the Mexican's face while his right hand was most effective in the infighting. Peralta's attack was not co-ordinated and he failed to take advantage of any situation.

In a semi-final bout, Pat Gordon of Toronto punched out a six-round decision over Maurice Lavigne of Montreal. Gordon weighed 146 and Lavigne, 148.

With flashing lefts and rights, Cliff Backett of Sudbury chopped Jackie Ball of Toronto to the ground in one minute and 25 seconds of the first round. Beckett weighed 154, a pound less than his opponent.

In another preliminary bout, Bev Carter of Toronto dropped Tony Brandino of Hamilton with a left hook in 1.20 in the first stanza. Brandino went down for a count of four at the start of the bout and clinging to the ropes staggered up only to be on the receiving end of a powerful blow that had him dazed for several minutes. Carter outweighed Brandino by four pounds, coming in at 148.

Nels Broadhead of Hamilton, won an unpopular decision in six rounds over Horace Leftwich of Buffalo, N.Y., Broadhead scaled 128 and Leftwich 125.

Kennedy Keen For Davis Bout

IRISH JACK KENNEDY

"That big ham needn't try working any cord tricks on me. I'll wrap it around his neck and tie him to the ring post if he does," Irish Jack Kennedy declared, discussing his main bout with Karl Krippler Davis at the Brock St. Arena next Tuesday night. Both gladiators are in an angry mood as a result of the clash during the Watson-Davis match last Tuesday and plenty of furious action looms up on the horison. There will be two other tough bouts on the card.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

For Peterborough sport fans who will be home for the holiday there will be a treat when the Peterborough junior rugby squad clash with Toronto Westsides in a game at Riverside Park at 2.30 o'clock Monday afternoon. This opening football fixture, coming on a holiday, should attract a real crowd. It will be needed, too, for the Peterborough club has to pay the expenses of the Toronto team and it costs money to move football squads around. The Peterborough kids have been working out for weeks readying for this initial clash and they are confident that they will make a good showing against the Westsides although they recognise that they will be facing a well-balanced team. Westsides have long been a force in junior rugby in Toronto. The club has been operating for 18 years and has dug up a lot of good material in that time. This year's squad has some outstanding performers and fans can look to them for some pleasing football. Monday's game should be a colorful clash between two fast young teams and with good weather the Thanksgiving Day battle promises to be a real attraction. It is the only sporting event of the holiday.

* * * * * *

Coach Rich Jackson of the Peterborough juniors has intimated that the final lineup for Monday's game will not be decided until just before game time but announces that the following players will be available: Scott, Padgett, centre; inside wings, Miller, Menzies; middle wings, LaPlante, Brooks, Harris, O'Rourke, Conlin; outside wings, Duggan, Quigley, Jordan, Griffin; quarter backs, Daly, Lucano; halves, Wilford, Hodson, Shadgett, Carpenter, Burns, Withers, Outram. The Westsides will arrive in town on the 11.40 C.P.R. train so that there will be nothing to stop the game getting away on time. The Peterborough club has called a chalk talk for Monday morning at 10 o'clock so that the boys can be briefed for the big game in the afternoon. Ald. Adam Sands will kick off and the battle with Westsides will be refereed by Gord Young.

We Hexed Them

This column wouldn't be surprised if we got a wire from Manager Billy Southworth of the Cards today reading something like this: "For the luva Mike, fellow lay off us and start boosting the Browns. You've got us hexed." The reason being that we went out on the end of the well-known limb yesterday and predicted an uprising on the part of the National Leaguers with the natural result that the Brownies breezed home winners by 6 to 2 and took a 2 to 1 lead in the series. It happens every time. We even ventured the opinion that Jack Kramer didn't have the stuff to bother the Cards. Well Mr. Kramer might not have had the stuff at the time we wrote that paragraph but he must certainly have sent out and got some for he had it in gobs in yesterday's game. All he did was to fan 10 of the Cards, allow them only seven hits and two unearned runs and walk off the diamond a clean-cut winner. The bewildering Brownies after going hitless for a couple of innings, turned on Ted Wilks, a 17-game winner, with a barrage of five straight hits with two out in the third and those five explosions blew the Cards starting pitcher right into the showers. Freddy Schmidt the relief pitcher uncoiled a wild pitch and the Brownies had four runs and the ball game right there.

* * * * * *

Coupled with Kramer in the four star rating will have to be placed the veteran first baseman George McQuinn who has been hitting everything the Cards' pitchers have tossed within his reach. He had a double and two singles yesterday and some folks may recall that he hit a homer in the opening fixture that totally ruined Mort Cooper. You can't overlook Gene Moore either. The Brownies' right fielder, not considered much of an offensive threat has been a pain in the neck to the Cards' hurling brigade and it is worthy of note that it was he who got the first Brown hit in all three games. And now comes, of course, the inevitable question "What is wrong with the Cards?" The answer is fairly obvious. So far they haven't been hitting hard enough to punch their way out of a paper bag. In spite of batting averages that show plenty of power the big hitters haven't been producing. Defensively the National Leaguers have looked better than the Browns. They have gone through three games without an error and sparked by tall Marty Marion who has been going great guns at short they have given their pitchers air-tight support. But when it comes to hitting in runs the Cards simply haven't been there up to now. They had better get swinging soon or it will be too late.

Here's The Answer

Twice in yesterday's world series game, with a Brownie runner on third, pitched balls got away from Walker Cooper, the Cards' star catcher and in both cases the man on third scored. In the first instance the run was announced as having been earned and in the second case it was called an unearned counter and probably some fans were puzzled as to the difference in the ruling. The explanation is that the first time the play happened the scorers chalked it up as a wild pitch against Freddy Schmidt, relief pitcher, and therefore the run was legitimately earned, according to the scoring rules. On the second occasion the ruling was that Walker Cooper was guilty of a passed ball and that of course made the run that scored unearned. The difference between a wild pitch and a passed ball is a matter for the scorer's judgment. Unless the ball hits the ground before it reaches the plate, an automatic wild pitch, he has to decide whether the catcher could have stopped and controlled it with ordinary effort. If he thinks the back stop should have done so, the ruling would be a passed ball; other wise the play would be scored as a wild pitch. Ordinarily a passed ball or a wild pitch is not a fielding error but when a batsman reaches first base on the miscue, the catcher or the pitcher as the case may be is charged with an error and not with a passed ball or a wild pitch.

Our friend Ken Colling of the Belleville Ontario-Intelligencer is evidently not back in stride after his holiday trip for in his Thursday sport column under the heading "Home to Roost" appears the following. "It took the American League ever since 1906 to get even with the immortal Chicago 'hitless wonders' Cubs but yesterday St. Louis Browns proved a ball game can be won on two hits." The only thing wrong with that paragraph is of course that it was the Chicago White Sox who were known as the hitless wonders back in 1906. Led by Fielder Jones the light-hitting American Leaguers were matched against Frank Chance's formidable Chicago Cubs, with Johnny Kling behind the bat, the famous Mordecai Brown as ace pitcher and the peerless double-play combination of Joe Tinker, Johnny Evers and Chance. The Sox were not conceded a look-in, especially after a pre-game injury forced their regular third baseman out of the lineup. A substitute infielder named Rohe filled in the gap and came through with a couple of timely hits during the series as the lightly regarded White Sox proceeded to win the classic four games to two with White the winning pitcher against the great Brown in the final game of the series with the "hitless wonders" beating the demoralized Cubs 8 to 3 in that closing battle.

CARDS SCORE SECOND RUN ON FLY IN WORLD SERIES GAME—The Cardinals first baseman, Sanders, slides home on Verban's fly to Laabs of the Browns. This score in the 4th inning of the World Series game (the second) between the St. Louis Cardinals and the St. Louis Browns, gave the Cards their second run of the game. Umpire McGowan is calling the play at home base. Cardinals won 3-2 to square the series.

A Lucky Break Puts Moore In

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7 (AP)—If Gene (The Spinx) Moore, St. Louis Browns outfielder, ever speaks more than three words at a time—his record at present—he might thank Angelo Guiliani for a share in the World Series currency.

It was Guiliani who told Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, last Spring, that he didn't appreciate being traded from a likely pennant-winner to a sure loser. He would quit baseball, Guiliani averred, rather than play with the lowly Browns.

The "Old Fox" had to send the Browns another ball player in lieu of the recalcitrant receiver who had been swapped for Rick Ferrell, another backstop. Griffith sent the 35-year-old outfielder.

Today Moore is swatting the World Series ball at a .333 rate and has been the front man in three of the four Browns' rallies in the first three games of the All-St. Louis fracas.

In one of the daffiest finishes in all world series history, New York Yankees defeated Cincinnati Reds 7-4 in a 10-inning game five years ago today, to win their fourth straight world championship in the fourth game of the series. The Reds fell apart in the ninth and tenth innings with the Yanks scoring five times on four hits and four errors.

World Series Notes

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7 (AP)—Harry Brecheen, today's Cardinal pitching nominee, appeared in three of the five World Series contests last year, but hurled only 3½ innings. He was the losing pitcher in one of the games.

During the first three games, hungry fans have consumed more than three tons of peanuts, more than 100,000 hot dogs, almost 5,000 cases of beer, and 8,000 cases of soft drinks.

The Browns have scored 10 runs in four innings of the first three games. Every run has crossed the plate after two were out in an inning and in every scoring frame but one, there wasn't a batter on base before two were out.

Unless a sudden crime wave should develop, St. Louis police are getting a real break on the World Series. Chief James J. Mitchell has authorized the police radio to carry a play-by-play account of each game, interrupted occasionally to send out calls to scout cars.

Surprising Browns Take Lead Scoring 2nd Win In World Series

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sport Writer.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7 — (AP) — Unless St. Louis Cardinals snap out of it soon, the Ragamuffin Browns are going to complete baseball's big 1944 surprise story by adding a first world championship to their first pennant victory.

Heading into to-day's fourth game of the neighborhood rivalry, the "rags to riches kids" are hitting a thin .170, fielding a wobbly .950 but leading the Red Birds in the all-important detail of two victories to one. Jack Kramer was responsible for yesterday's 6-2 American League triumph.

With the forecaster predicting fair and cooler weather, a contrast from yesterday when most of the 34,737 fans perspired in the 88-degree temperature, skipper Luke Sewell is ready to go with Sig Jakucki, a red-faced right-hander from a Houston shipyard.

A Southpaw.

He will be opposed by Lefty Harry Brecheen from Broken Bow, Okla., whose record of 16 victories and five losses was one of the best in the National League.

Jakucki's last outing was a win in last Sunday's pennant-winning game when the Browns made it four straight over the Yanks. That was a six-hit job coming on top of a five-hit shut-out against Boston but his past performance chart is spotty. A four-game streak in June when he allowed only one run in four starts was his best. He won 13 and lost nine.

Brecheen likewise hurled the flag-clincher for his club in a Boston relief job and captured his last three games, winding up his last starting job with a six-hitter over Brooklyn Sept. 25. Billy Southworth used him three times on relief against the Yanks last Fall when he was charged with one defeat.

Stopping the Brownies appears to be largely a question of stopping George McQuinn, the graceful first sacker from Alexandria, Va. He sticks out head and shoulders over the field on his .625 batting mark completed on five hits, including two doubles and a game-winning homer, in eight times at bat. McQuinn, "a ball player's ball player" has driven in four of the 10 runs his team has scored. Gene Moore has scored three times on McQuinn's wallops.

Nifty Pitching.

If McQuinn was the big gun of the Browns' attack with three blows in yesterday's victory, Jack Kramer rated equal billing on his excellent exhibition of "clutch" pitching.

The 26-year-old right-hander from New Orleans, who drew a medical discharge from the United States navy after six months service a year ago, was in hot water in the early and late innings, although he had one streak in mid-game when he retired 10 Cards in succession.

A two-base error by Vern Stephens on Johnny Hopp's grounder put the Red Bird centre fielder in position to score an unearned run in the first when Walker Cooper singled. Again in the seventh a wild peg by Don Gutteridge trying to complete a double play let Whitey Kurowski move to second and Marty Marion's single was all that was needed for a second unearned tally.

Moore's back-to-the-wall catch on Stan Musial's drive in the eighth and another save by the veteran outfielder after a long run into the sun on Kurowski's fly in the same frame helped Kramer out of a hole but he did most of the work himself, striking out 10 men.

Dodged Trouble

Loser Ted Wilks just didn't have it and was lucky to escape trouble in the second when he loaded the bases on walks, but whiffed Kramer. Successive singles with two out by Moore, Stephens, McQuinn, Al Zarilla and Mark Christman chased Wilks and counted three runs, and a wild pitch by Reliefer Fred Schmidt permitted a fourth to come across in a third-inning rally that meant the ball game.

The Browns added two more off Al Jurisich that proved unnecessary in the seventh. Don Gutteridge's double, an infield out, a walk to Stephens on which the fourth ball was a passed ball permitting Gutteridge to score, and McQuinn's double did the job.

Today's game will be the last in which the players share. With 35,000 expected the pool, which now totals $231,150, will top $300,000. The remainder of the receipts will go to the War Relief Fund that netted $74,255.58 on the third tilt.

THEY HAVE SOMETHING IN COMMON—If these two Red Birds had the same parents, they would have been twins. They are John Leonard Hopp (Left) and John Leonard Martin, both outfielders in the champion St. Louis Cardinals. Not only have they the same given names, but both wear the same size hat, shoes and other clothing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Back in 1903 an unidentified baseball scribe wrote: "John M. Ward, ex-star, prophesies that in 20 years teams will consist of 'local' players, that is actually being natives of the city in which they play. Then the game will really be played for blood." ...Seems from here that the non-local Cards and Browns are doing a pretty good job just playing for money...The City Optical Softball team of Wilmington, N.C., had to go 25 innings to beat Camp Vis 141st air base in a recent game and fans down that way are wondering if it was a record. Now if all the paper consumed by sports writers in picking the Tigers to beat out the Browns for the American League pennant was donated to the same cause, the drive would be well over the top."

Louisville Takes Opening Game

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 7 (AP)—Louisville's American Association Colonels will clash with Baltimore Orioles in the second contest of the Junior World Series here to-night after edging the International League squad 5-3 in the opener of the best-of-seven set last night.

Deutsch probably will be assigned to the mound by the Colonels to-night. Frank Embree is Baltimore's probable starting pitcher.

An Oriole rally in the ninth inning which threatened to tie last night's contest was discouraged by hurler Jim Wilson, with the help of relief pitcher Si Simonds.

Simonds fanned Lou Kahn, a pinch hitter, and forced Hal Kleine to roll out, thereby saving the victory for Wilson over the loser Ambrose (Bobo) Palica, Johnny Podgajny and Kleine.

Besides spreading his hits until the late uprising, Wilson doubled and scored in the third to help his mates along. Catcher Fred Walters, who cracked three singles, figured in three of the early Colonel runs.

Sherm Lollar's double and eventual tally broke Wilson's shutout in the eighth. He doubled again in the final frame to score Howie Moss, who had doubled, and Delix Mack, who had walked. Simonds' reliefing then took effect.

Lieut. Melvin Hanson, sports officer of Military District No. 10, Winnipeg, returned to the football wars with a scheduled turnout as quarterback and playing-coach of the Winnipeg Army team in the Manitoba Services grid loop against No. 3 Bombing and Gunnery School. Hanson, variously called "Fritz" and "Twinkletoes," last saw grid action in 1941 when he led Blue Bombers to victory against Ottawa Rough Riders in the Grey Cup classic at Varsity Stadium, Toronto. He enlisted for overseas service but was severely injured during training in British Columbia when his football career was believed closed.

Seven patrons at Laurel Park, Maryland, yesterday collected a daily-double payoff of $2,908 after Linza, a 51-to-1 shot, won the opening event for two-year-old maidens and No Quota, paying $40.50 for $2, captured the second race. It was the largest double in Maryland racing since 1941 when Early Spring and Javery returned $3,320.40 at Pimlico.

The English Golf Union has preparations in hand for a resumption of championship golf in Britain next season, it was reported from London last night The Royal and Ancient Club, the Ladies' Golf Union, and the Professional Golfers' Association are also considering 1945 tournaments.

Down Stream Of Happy Memories From Its Native Kawarthas 'Stoney Lake' Vanishes Into Mists

By "NAVICULA"

Three hundred yards ahead lay the business section of Trenton and also a long street bridge which had to be swung open to permit the "Stoney Lake" to pass. For the last time, in his forty years at the helm, Captain Bill Scollard pulled the cord, sounded two blasts, signalled her engineer, Fred Young, to throttle the engines, and waited, peering anxiously down-stream to catch the first signs of responsive movement.

The haze of autumn was in the air and visibility was poor at that distance. One could barely discern the figure of the bridge keeper as he hoisted the guard-rails into place. Traffic halted and began to form in long lines. The bridge swung slowly into position and the "Stoney Lake" sailed through the heart of Trenton to be tied up a few minutes later at her moorings. Then the packing of baggage, the transfer of ownership, the arrangements for clearance, handshakes of good-bye, good luck and good sailing from Captain Scollard, Captain Pat Young and Engineer Fred Young to her new master Captain Carnegie and his crew. Thus at 5 p.m., September 29, the Young family, her owners, and Captain Scollard, her master, bade a reluctant farewell to the "Stoney Lake", for forty years the little flagship of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company. An epic of inland navigation had been brought to a close.

Her passing from the native waters of the Kawarthas was peaceful and unhurried in the two-day inland voyage from the head-waters of the Otonabee to the Bay of Quinte — as peaceful and unhurried as the gentle flow of waters, obedient to the law of gravitation, from the highlands of the Balsam Lake Country down to Lake Ontario. Her arrival in the port of Trenton was not unlike that of a stranger in a foreign land. Momentary interest, mild curiosity registered on the faces of a few as they watched this craft so foreign and so strange to Lake Ontario ports, tie up south of the bridge. There were no accredited reporters on hand with pads and pencils, but there were reporters, mistake it not, and they were not to be denied. They came from apparently nowhere. Disdaining the congested arteries of traffic, they appeared from side lanes, from around stock piles of coal, cutting the corners of freight sheds to gaze a moment at this strange craft. Then — "Where did this boat come from"? "Where is she going"? "What is she going to be used for"? "How fast can she go"? One member of the crew replied, "Why, she's a sub-chaser"! "Sub-chaser"? Reporter number one "Oh yeah! You can't kid us. I know fellows, she's a new ferry to the island." Reporters in embryo, school-boys of Trenton, within a half-hour their numbers so swelled and questions so multiplied that the meeting evolved into a full-fledged press conference of Trenton's "Boys-town". Are young 'teen-age boys the world over equipped with a human "Asdic" or "radar" — some psychic listening device transcending ordinary sensory powers which detects and ferrets out the unusual? Psychologically speaking "No", but in the realms of fancy we would like to say "Yes". It is an easy explanation for the precocity of youth.

Bound For Kingston

The following morning, under new registry with strange hands at her wheel and in her engine room, she cleared for her new home, port of Kingston, there to be remodelled an strengthened somewhat for the larger and less kind waters of lower Lake Ontario and the upper St. Lawrence. For forty years her composite hull of steel and oak cleaved the peaceful waters of the Kawartha's, sometimes on regular passenger runs, generally however as an excursion steamer, carrying hundreds of holiday-makers from Peterborough, from Lakefield or Young's Point or Lindsay, Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls. Her high enclosed bow, her ship-like lines, her deep-throated siren were well known along the navigable length of the Trent Waterway from the broad expanse of Lake Simcoe down to the flat lands of the lower valley of the Trent.

Tourists from afar, city dwellers from Ontario, the farmers in their fields on the shore line of the Otonabee—all knew the "Stoney Lake" as the 'excursion boat' of the Kawartha's, and with her, her Captain, 'Cap' Scollard. For the two were inseparable—this inland skipper and his craft. Like an expert canoeist, guiding his canoe to a stop and with as much apparent ease would the "Stoney's" Captain warp his boat alongside a dock or into the innumerable locks. A tribute is paid alike to the staunchness of a boat and the competence of her master when it is said that in forty years of sailing never had there been an accident! No Captain of an ocean greyhound could have cared for more tenderly and loved more faithfully his huge creation of power and steel than did 'Cap' Scollard his little ninety-footer, the Stoney Lake.

For us who live in this portion of Ontario, it is a case of having eyes and seeing not the virginal and natural beauty of the home scene. True, we are a young people; our traditions were brought here and not born here. We are still in the growing stage. Of necessity we are practical realists—but too much so. There is the danger and probability of becoming chronically blind to all values save commercial values. Life's preoccupations of farm, of factory, of profession, have left no time for contemplation of the aesthetic. My point is this—were the Trent Waterway and this land of lakes and streams of farms and forests, cast in an old world European setting it would long ago have been famous. Old-world charm has been sung in poetry and music for hundreds of years. Cannot, will not this part of the New World conceive and bring forth a child of melody—melody of words or of music to interpret the beauty of the home scene—to sing in staves of music or lines of verse, and idyll of Kawartha's loveliness?

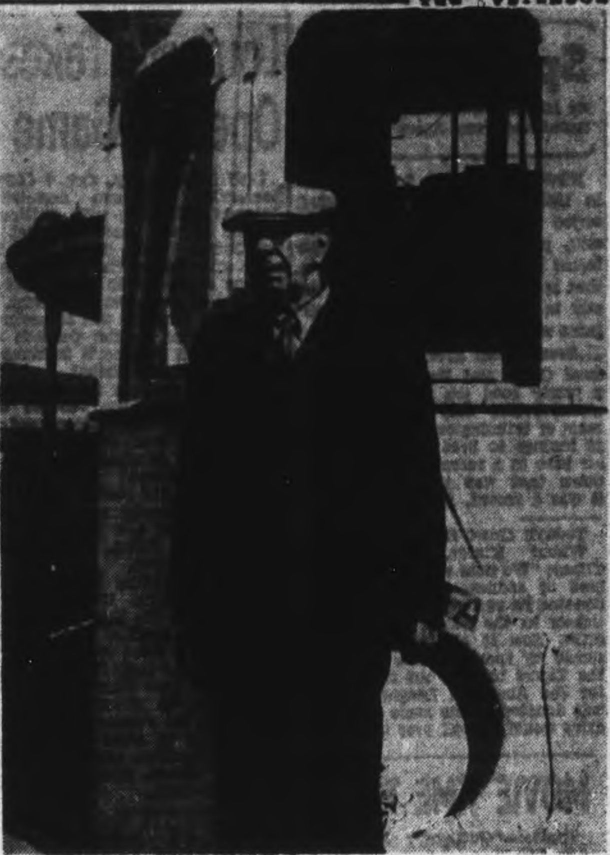
With other little ships whose names are now but memories, the "Stoney Lake" brought animation to this scene. When the century was young in the era of broad-brimmed hats for ladies and patent-leather shoes for men before the days when roads were paved, before the noise of sputtering motors was heard upon the highways — it was then that steamboats were in hey-day.

Looking Backward

Nostaligic memories are evoked of yesteryear. For a little while the Otonabee becomes a New World Danube. It is evening, quite dark. The Stoney Lake sails majestically down stream to Lakefield or to Peterborough. Her decks are crowded; the sound of laughter and gaiety on board can be faintly heard on shore. From above the pilothouse the powerful searchlight floodlights the islands — the shoreline — the elongated timber boom. The wooded islands stand forth as actresses in the spotlight, with the shades of night their back-drop; the boom an attenuated tube of silver lazily floating on the black waters. The deck lights go on; they delicately bathe in light the outline of the boat. The 57th Regimental Band of Peterborough assembles in the bow; they begin to play a well-known overture, it is followed by the lilting tempo of a Viennese waltz. The tones feathering across the waters are sweet and pure, acoustically filtered in the concert-hall of nature. The boat rounds a bend in the river, darkness and distance enshroud sight and sound, and the velvety drapes of night are drawn across the stage.

This was a 'moonlight excursion' before the advent of jazz and jive, of jam-sessions and juke-boxes, when nature, either of the outdoors — or of the human heart — played host to the social needs of man without the dubious aids of modern custom and invention.

On the passing of the "Stoney Lake", there sailed out of these waters not only a boat, but a symbol of the natural but unexploited beauties of a sheltered scenic, inland waterway — two hundred and twenty-five miles in length from the shores of Georgian Bay to the Bay of Quinte. Its commercial justification for existence today is the development of Hydro power. Its right to live should be its beauty. But beauty is not measured in kilowatts.



AT END OF LONG VOYAGE—Captain Bill Scollard, for 40 years captain of the Stoney Lake, stands in front of the pilot house just after berthing the boat at the Trenton dock where she was transferred to her new owners in Kingston. The Stoney Lake sailed the Otonabee, Rice Lake and the Kawarthas for over 40 years.

Union Works Fast

TORONTO, Oct. 7 — (CP). — J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers, Ltd., said last night that the issue at stake in the strike votes in packing plants in Canada was not union recognition, as his company has never been antagonistic to unions, but the objective of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) was "to force a master agreement on the packing companies before the end of the war."

CANADA'S VETERANS
Their Post-War Opportunities

This is the second of a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the Armed Forces. To get the full details save and read every advertisement.

For complete information write for the booklet, "Back to Civil Life."

The War Service Gratuity and Re-establishment Credit—

OTHER BENEFITS AT THE TIME OF DISCHARGE

When the time comes to leave the armed forces, the man or woman in uniform faces a new world. It is a world which has changed in the time they have been serving. For many there will be a choice of many roads, and they will need time in which to make their decision. They will need security also during this period.

The people of Canada, through Parliament, have said that Canada's men and women must have this security and in no country in the world have the wishes of the people been heeded so fully. Canada's veterans will have opportunity and help in making their choice of a lifetime occupation.

THE WAR SERVICE GRATUITY
Passed at the last session of Parliament, this provided monthly payments to those honorably discharged who have enlisted for service in any theatre of war and to those who saw service in the Aleutian Islands for their period of service there.

HOW MUCH IS IT?
There is a basic gratuity of $7.50 for each thirty days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each thirty days' service overseas. A supplementary gratuity of seven days' pay and allowances of rank, with Canadian subsistence or lodging and provision allowance, is paid for each six months of service overseas.

WHAT IS OVERSEAS SERVICE?
Service in Greenland, Iceland, the Aleutian Islands and any other theatre of war, is overseas service. Being in the Western Hemisphere, service in Bermuda and Newfoundland is not. Air crew, flying outside Canadian territorial waters, or stationed outside Canada or the United States, and naval personnel, serving anywhere in seagoing ships of war, are regarded as being on overseas service.

WHEN IS IT PAID?
The Act is to come into force January 1, 1945, unless proclaimed earlier. Monthly payments, not exceeding monthly pay and allowances last received, will start after that time and will continue until full payment is made.

HOW TO GET IT
Application, for those still serving, will be made at the time of discharge. Arrangements are being made for those already in civilian life to make their applications to the service in which they last served.

DEPENDENTS MAY CLAIM
There is provision in the Act for dependents of those who die in service, or of those who die, before payment is made or completed, to make application for the gratuity.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT
In addition to the war service gratuity, a re-establishment credit is set up for ex-service people who are eligible for the gratuity. It can be applied for at any time in the ten years following discharge, and is intended especially for those who do not take advantage of training, education or of benefits under the Veterans' Land Act.

HOW MUCH IS IT?
It is an amount equal to $7.50 for every thirty days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for every thirty days' service overseas.

HOW CAN IT BE USED?
It may be used for the purchase of a home, of furniture, of a business, of tools of trade, or for the payment of premiums under any insurance scheme established by the Government of Canada. This does not include private companies. It can be used for modernization or repair of a home, for working capital of a business or profession, and for purchase of instruments or tools for training or education. Provision is made also to authorize its use for other constructive purposes.

EFFECT OF OTHER GRANTS
If assistance is given under training and educational provisions, or under the Veterans' Land Act, the credit is reduced by the amount of this assistance. If the credit is used, training, education and benefits under the Veterans' Land Act cannot be granted until an adjustment has been made.

PAYMENTS UNDER THE RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT WILL NOT COMMENCE UNTIL THE ACT HAS BEEN PROCLAIMED. DETAILS AS TO THE MANNER OF MAKING APPLICATION WILL BE GIVEN IN THE PRESS AT THAT TIME.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ARE THE FRIENDS OF EX-SERVICE MEN AND WOMEN. IT IS THEIR DUTY TO ADVISE AND ASSIST ALL EX-SERVICE PERSONNEL WITH THEIR RE-ESTABLISHMENT PROBLEMS. IF THERE IS ANYTHING ABOUT THE REHABILITATION PROGRAMME WHICH YOU DO NOT UNDERSTAND CONSULT YOUR NEAREST VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICER.

OTHER DISCHARGE BENEFITS
Before leaving the service, every man and woman is interviewed by a Veterans' Welfare Officer, and the details of the re-establishment programme are explained. They get a complete medical and dental examination and are eligible for free treatment after discharge for anything which this examination shows to be necessary.
They are allowed to retain one uniform and certain other items of service clothing.
To purchase civilian clothing, they receive a clothing allowance of $100.00. This is paid to all ranks discharged since August 1, 1944.
If they have 183 days' service, and receive an honourable discharge, they are paid a rehabilitation grant of thirty days' pay of rank and one month's dependents' allowances.

Main Street Topics

PESTS

Farmers at the market this morning, unable to keep a wary eye on their produce by virtue of pre-Thanksgiving crowds, were bothered greatly by groups of young children, who periodically made of with a pear or apple at every opportunity.

WORK TRAIN

A work train of the C.N.R. including a huge steam shovel, completed Friday some ditching and reducing of banks in the Keene section, moved on to Best's this morning and will be in the Orillia area next week.

TURKEY SHORTAGE

Although the United States this year has one of the largest turkey crops in its history, the same cannot be said about the Peterborough district, judging from the farmers market this morning. Only one stall throughout the entire market displayed turkeys. Farmers wouldn't advance a reason for the shortage other than, "They sure are scarce this year."

ORGANIZING FOR LOAN

Military District No. 3 is organizing for the 7th Victory Loan and at a meeting of the officers in charge was held in Kingston on Thursday. Capt. R. L. Ferguson of Peterborough Training Centre represented this area. While the objective was not announced the district raised $1,137,000 in the 6th loan or 50 per cent more than its objective.

EMBARRASSED

Apples that looked like pears and pears that looked like apples combined to give an embarrassing moment to a woman to the market this morning. After filling a bag with what she thought were apples, but actualy were pears, the flustered woman, with the help of others, finally untangle the fruit. The farmed commented dryly, "You're no farmer, are you!" Snapped the woman, "I certainly am not!"

SAILOR DONATES TO CENTRE

A cheque for $10 coming all the way from Sydney, N.S., and sent by CPO. R. D. Huffman, R.C.N.V.R., has been received by the Memorial Community Centre. Wishes for the success of the campaign were included by the Peterborough naval man, who is the brother of Charles H. Huffman, 629 Charlotte.

CITY'S ACCIDENTS

In his Safety Week report to the city council relating to the Board of Works department, T. A. Lister stated: "It has been determined that the yearly average accident cost over the last five years amounts to $408, which gives a per capita cost of $12.36. "This per capita cost is approximately 600 per cent higher than many industries would regard as a high average.

KNOCKED FROM WHEEL

Jack Platt, Bolivar street, was knocked from his bicycle and received a cut on the head Friday when his wheel collided with the opened door of an automobile. James E. Kylie, 777 George street, had been driving north on George street and pulled into the curb north of the C.P.R. station to park. When he opened his car door Platt who was passing on his bicycle was swept off. He was taken to the Clinic for examination.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER — Maureen Hickey, 633 Gilmour street, was the winner of the $100 scholarship prize announced at the graduation exercises of St. Peter's High School Friday night. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hickey.

The Peterborough County War Savings Stamp Committee extends its sincere thanks to all who helped to make the School Children's Picnic such an outstanding success.

Liquor In Automobile Costs Man $50

Earl Twomey, 26, R. R. 1, Peterborough who entered a plea of guilty in police court this morning to a charge of having liquor in a place other than a residence was fined $50 and $2.50 costs or a month in jail by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K. C.

"He had a bottle of liquor in a car and had been drinking when the officers got him." Acting Chief John W. Thompson stated and the stiff fine followed.

His Worship refused another adjournment in the case of James Neary, charged as a second offender, with being drunk. Neary then changed his plea to guilty and was fined $50 and $2.50 costs or a month's imprisonment.

Maureen Hickey Wins $100 Scholarship

Climaxing an excellent school record, Maureen Hickey, 633 Gilmour street, was awarded the $100 Scholarship prize, and two additional awards totalling $40, at the 1944 St. Peter's High School Commencement Exercises, held Friday evening in Mount St. Joseph's auditorium.

Donated by the Most Reverend Bishop John MacDonald, the scholarship is awarded the highest ranking student, who, having tried Departmental examinations in nine subjects, enters a university to attain a degree.

V. J. McElderry, in an address to the graduating students, told them that they have just closed one chapter of their existence, and were about to enter another. He appealed to the students to look back over the days of happiness and pleasure before leaving their father's homes, and then, to take that happiness and good into the world with them, wherever they may go.

Outlining some of the objects of education, Mr. McElderry pointed out that while there are many outward reasons for obtaining a complete education, the true object is something finer, and worthier, than anything else. A few of the more material benefits, he said, might be to earn one's living; to become good and honorable citizens; a love of literature, the arts and scholarship; but there, he maintained, are merely by-products, and not the real end of education.

"You can miss out on all these things, and yet, if you attain the real object, you will still have the most cherished possession," he said.

Something To Ponder

Without divulging the answer to what is the end of education, Mr. McElderry related the story of St. Sir Thomas More, from his early days of school, to the time he was beheaded because of his firm conviction that a king could not be made supreme head of the church, superceding the Pope.

"What is the real object of education?" Mr. McElderry asked. "Ask yourself this question, 'Where did St. Sir Thomas More go when he was beheaded'?"

University Training

His Excellency, the Most Reverend Bishop MacDonald, in a brief address, reminded the graduates they are not finished with education by any means; that they will go on learning all through life. He said he would like to see the number of university students increase greatly and yearly, so that there will be a steady flow of young people coming out into the world, fully able to assume their leadership properly, in various communities.

His Excellency commended the work done by the teachers and Sisters of St. Peter's High School, for their tireless devotion to a task filled with discouragement few know of. He thanked the school board, headed by H. Gainey, for its whole-hearted interest in education, and their initiative, the results of which, were the prizes offered the students.

In conclusion, he commended the graduates themselves, for the work done in the past, culminating in the present commencement exercises.

Special Guest

A special guest to the commencement exercises, from St. Francis-Xavier University, at Antigonish, Nova Scotia, Dr. B. Sommers, spoke to the graduates briefly, and offered his best wishes not only to the graduates, but also to the parents of the graduates.

"In this city," he said, "you take education seriously, judging from the splendid number of parents at tonight's services." Dr. Sommers warned the audience that while we are living in dangerous times at the present, even more danger awaits us after hostilities cease. Describing the education and its results on students in Germany, he said there is a danger of non-Christian education, even in this country. The best way we can serve God and Canada, according to Dr. Sommers, is by insisting that education can only mean sanitation, in saying, doing and thinking, which will mean, in turn, the putting of Christ's principles into practice.

A choir of fifty-three voices, made up of girls from St. Peter's High School, sang two songs, "On Life's Journey" and "Greetings and Good-Bye." A string orchestra of pupils from St. Mary's Convent played "Ave Maria" and "Vivat Pastor Bonus." Both the orchestra and choir were accompanied by Miss Marian Best, A.T.C.M. Maureen Hickey was valedictorian and Earnest Schiarizza gave the salutatory address.

H. Gainey read the list of diploma and prize winners, and was assisted in this by Teresa Garvey, St. Peter's High School; little Billie Crowley of Grade II., St. Peter's School, and Colleen Picard of Grade III., St. Mary's Convent, who carried the diplomas and prizes to Bishop MacDonald, by whom the recipients were presented the awards. Mary Gordon, of Grade 12, St. Peter's School, introduced the graduates. The ushers for the evening were boys from Grade 13.

LATE FLOWERS

This autumn has been friendly to Peterborough's flowers. Only the tenderest of plants, like the nasturtiums, have been casualties of the 31 degrees temperature of a late September night. Greeting today's "golden dripping sunshine," a George Ade line from the "Sultan of Sulu," were brilliant dahlias, the gentle cosmos fluttering in the breeze, hardy marigolds, salvias with their splash of scarlet, asters, chrysanthemums, pansies, zinnias, and many another.

Warn Gambling Fines May Be Increased

A warning that if there should be any more convictions for Sunday gambling the fines would be stepped up sharply was issued by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. in police court this morning in dealing with four youths who pleaded guilty to using dice on Sunday last.

Police interrupted a crap game going on in an East City doorway and as a result Alphonse Spencer, James O'Toole, Clifford McInroy and Gordon McIlwaine all were fined $5 and $1.75 costs today.

"This kind of thing has been going on for some time," Acting Chief Thompson stated, "and it has given us a lot of trouble." Magistrate Langley pointed out that the maximum fine under the section was $40 and intimated that future offenders might find themselves fined that amount.

Alphonse Spencer was also charged this morning with creating a disturbance at the Brock Street Arena on wrestling night and on that count there was an adjournment until next Friday.

Sportsmen Given Week-end Outing Ideas

The weatherman has promised warm weather conditions for the Thanksgiving holiday week-end. "Generally fair and warm," he says, and that admits just the possibility of occasional rain.

For those who enjoy the beauties of the country and the woodlands—and there are many who insist it is the most attractive season of the year—a drive to Dorset and Haliburton to see the autumn foliage at its most glorious is well worth the trip. If, of course, you are among the fortunate who have the gasoline to spare.

Some will wish to get out in the country for other purposes as well, to satisfy their sporting instincts—and this is likely to be a good week-end for such pursuits. Today the partride season opened, and duck-hunting, by all reports, is going strong at Rice and Pigeon Lakes.

Suggest Kawarthas

It is the wise angler who will take down his rod and reel today or Sunday and make his way to the Kawarthas. As far as bass and pickerel and muskie are concerned, this week-end could be just about many fishermen's last chance for a fling, as the season closes on October 15. But lake trout are already out and no longer constitute a legal catch, the season for them having ended last Thursday.

In the field of organized sport, Peterborough citizens will have an opportunity Monday to watch Peterborough Juniors tackle the Toronto West side crowd at rugby.

But even if the weather should prove disagreeable for outdoor activities—and that's a chance that even the weatherman must take—the confirmed baseball fan still has his entertainment set up for him. For the world series is one—a tense, exciting and as unpredictable a series as has happened along in many a year of the fall classic—and there will be games today and Sunday at St. Louis broadcast on the air. And maybe Monday too, if the Browns haven't walked off with the championship by then.

Firemen Demonstrate Life-Saving Work

As another feature of Peterborough's Safety Week, designed to make people of this city safety-conscious, a demonstration of firefighting and life-saving was carried out under the direction of Fire Chief George Gimblett in Market Square Friday evening, in a well-attended and thought-provoking display.

Various phases of ladder work were shown, and smoke bombs and flares were set on the top floor of the city buildings. Rescue crews went through the motions of carrying an unconscious person to safety. Auxiliary firemen took part in the demonstration.

At the conclusion of the display Mayor James Hamilton drew the number of the winner of the Milk Bottle collar draw. The number drawn was 1830. The holder of this ticket is requested to report to the office of the city clerk, in order to collect the prize.

Friday Night Club Begins Fall Work

The Friday Night Club had their first meeting of the fall and winter season at the Y.M.C.A. Friday night and 16 new applications for membership in the club indicated that keen interest is being taken in the club's program for the coming season.

Chairman Norm Allan presided and the club was addressed by Dr. J. R. Cooper of George Street Church. Dr. Cooper was introduced by Jack Sackville. Singing was led by Jim Shields and Dave Graham. The executive met at the close of the regular meeting and passed on the applications received. Plans for elections were outlined and the new officers are expected to carry on with an attractive program. The chairman said that plans were being considered to conduct the Saturday Night Club this year under the leadership of the Friday Night Club.

Health Centre Campaign Totals $191,743

Contributions recorded at the Memorial Community Centre office up to Friday night totalled $191,743, it was announced this morning as the campaign entered its final day. The increase over the previous figure published was $3,733.

Here is the standing in the four divisions of the canvass today:

Manufacturers	$109,800.00
Employee Canvass	44,250.00
Special and Retail	30,628.00
General Canvass	7,065.00
Total	$191,743.00

The largest increase was turned in by special names and retail merchants, up $2,264 over Friday's amount. A good rise in the general canvass, which includes outside communities, was also evident, as $996 was added to that total. The employees canvass shows an additional $473, while manufacturers section, already way over the top, remained unchanged.

A story of real support for the Community Centre and backing of the project which is as surprising and gratifying as it is true concerns of one family the facts of which the donations of the six members were pieced together at the finance office. The head of this family made his own donation of $10; independently, three daughters working in the city also gave $10 apiece; and two boys of the family, who are employed in industries here, made their donations of ten dollars each also.

Two other special donations were received at the Finance offices today. One, from the Parkhill Youth Movement for $15, was presented on behalf of that organization by Leslie McDougall; while W. J. Shearer, Lakehurst, sent in a gift of $20.

Survey Is Made Of Farm Market

To specialist representatives of both the Dominion and Ontario Departments of Agriculture, Peterborough presented this morning a big and busy pre-Thanksgiving Day market with ideal autumn weather.

Observing the market at the request of the City Council, Frank Perkin, Toronto, of the marketing branch of the Provincial Department, and E. P. Reid of the Economics Branch of the Federal Department, Ottawa, arrived early and spent the morning in a survey including the questioning of producers who were here from a wide area between Trenton and Bowmanville on the south.

"Some of the men told us they regard Peterborough as the best market east of Toronto," Mr. Perkin quoted estimates expressed to him.

A Dinner Party Brings $16 To Robot Victims

Coming into contact with large numbers of all classes of people in all parts of the city and district, the secretary of the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund often comes across many an individual or group who have been doing a steady work in some shape or form on behalf of the war effort of which very few but those chiefly concerned are aware of, itself a concrete evidence of the loyalty of the people as a whole to the Empire and the cause which it is giving its utmost to uphold.

Such an instance was sensed when a donation listed today was brought in, for unwittingly, with no desire for publicity it was learned how a group of ladies, all of them with plenty to do, had been helping out in many various ways by making various articles either for direct use, or for sale to help other worthy opjects, in a very quiet way, their only reward being that inner satisfaction of knowing that they were playing their part in the gigantic struggle now being waged for freedom of action in thought, word and deed.

The Four Corners Club is a group of ladies styling themselves in this manner because while few in numbers they come from the four corners of the city, all of them with one exception being engaged in business of some type or other, and their contribution of $16.00 to this fund listed today was made possible through thet one houswife in the group giving a dinner party and bridge for this purpose.

The finest type of pleasure on earth is that which not only gives pleasure to the participants, but can also take into consideration the distress and necessities of others, and be deliberately planned so that it can also give them a helping hand, and when one considers that this pleasurable party is now also going to make for the happiness of some children in Britain for the Christmas season, the pleasure that they have already had will be duplicated by reason of this fact.

Boys and Girls Attention

You all look forward to Christmas perhaps more than any other festival of the year, and everyone likes to see you made very happy particularly at that time. Over in England a very large number of children, more than you can imagine in your mind's eye are away from their own homes because they have either been blown to bits, or because they were in a place that might have been hit by a German bomb.

You can do a very fine act by helping in various ways to raise money so that these boys and girls will have some cheer for Christmas, and in this manner help to give them some of the pleasure that you expect will be yours at that time, so why not get together now in groups of three to five, and make your plans to do something on their behalf, you will have lots of fun yourself in doing such a worthwhile job, and in the years to come will have very pleasant recollections of having done so.

STATIONED IN BELGIUM — A Spitfire pilot, overseas since February of this year, Flying Officer Donald Church, whose wife and 13-months-old son live at R.R. 11, Peterborough, is now stationed in Belgium. He was formerly employed at the C.G.E.

Pte. Jack Irwin Killed In Italy

Overseas for 4½ years, and a veteran of the Dieppe Raid, Pte. Jack Irwin, whose wife now lives at 866 Broadview Avenue, Toronto, has been officially reported killed in action in Italy on September 16, while serving with the 48th Highlanders.

Formerly an employee of the De Laval Company, Pte. Irwin is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Irwin of this city. He enlisted in May, 1940, with the Toronto Scottish Regiment, but later was transferred to the unit with which he was fighting when killed. He went oversease in July, 1940, and has never been home since. Twenty-six years of age, Pte. Irwin came through the Dieppe raid unscathed.

He leaves to mourn his passing a wife, formerly Yvonne Brioux of Peterborough, a 5-year-old daughter Jacqueline, one brother Reginald of Toronto, and two sisters, Mrs. Andrew McCabe of Peterborough and Mrs. S. Scott, Toronto.

Safety Week Reduces Accident Toll

Today at noon marks the end of the 1944 safety week which compared to previous safety weeks shows a very decided improvement. During the 1943 safety week there was a total of 12 accidents, two being traffic, one a drowning which was a fatality, and nine industrial accidents.

The toll of accidents during our 1944 safety week were as follows: four traffic accidents of a very minor nature only one of which involved injuries to a person. Five industrial accidents which occurred in four of our plants these also were of a minor nature involving no loss of time.

The safety broadcast to the school children should in the opinion of many of the citizens who have been canvassed, be continued, as it is felt that the Safety Education which they receive will go a long way towards helping to solve traffic and industrial accident problems of the future.

This improvement in the accident record over that of last year has convinced the safety week committee that their efforts have met with success and were well worth the time which was put into the campaign by the organizers. Citizens generally have been more safety conscious during this week and it is hoped that this newly awakened interest will continue. The safety week campaign which was inaugurated by Peterborough is being adopted by other cities throughout the province and there can be no doubt that it will in time spread to even more as it is realised that campaigns of this kind definitely do reduce accidents.

SAFETY WEEK

The Safety Week Committee wish to thank the Citizens of Peterborough for their whole-hearted support during the past week.

May we not lay aside the knowledge gained during the past week, but rather keep the triangle of Safety in the Homes, Safety on the Street and Highways and Safety in our Workshops, uppermost in our thoughts during the years to come.

We wish also to thank the City Council and all the Industries, who so generously supported our Safety Week Campaign. Our thanks, also, to the Committee as a whole for their splendid co-operation.

Reception Held For Graduates

The graduating classes of St. Peter's High School were entertained at a reception and dance Friday evening in the Knights of Columbus Hall, under the auspices of the Catholic Junior League. Members of the Separate School Board, parents of the graduates, as well as other students, were also present.

Fabian Galvin, capable master of ceremonies, kept the festive spirit at a high pitch on the dance floor, and several prizes for spot dances and various other special dances were given. At the reception, the long tea table, set with a lace cloth and silver, was centred with the figure of a girl in graduation dress. Pouring tea were Mrs. H. Hickey and Mrs. T. Ryan

Receiving the guests were Misses Gladys Costello, president of the League. Hilda Sullivan, Helen Hickey and Veronica Scollard. Pat Anglesey, as historian for the evening, in cap and gown and quill pen, welcomed the guests on behalf of the Junior League, and wished them a merry time. Members of the League supervised the arrangements for the event, and also helped serve.

Women's Groups Mould Opinion

The importance of the work done by women's organizations, including the Local Council of Women, in moulding public opinion, was emphasized by Mrs. W. H. Morton, L.C.W. president, in a talk to St. Paul's Ladies' Aid, Friday afternoon in the Guild room.

She explained that the L.C.W. was made up of representatives of most of the women's organizations in Peterborough, and what all local councils, through their provincial and national councils, had accomplished, dwelling in particular on the McWilliams' report. Presenting a challenge to women to band together, she urged them to use their influence to mould public opinion to make a better world. At the beginning of her talk, Mrs. Morton gave a brief message on Thanksgiving.

Among the reports presented to Mrs. A. A. McIntyre was the account of the 75 Christmas boxes sent to former members of St. Paul's now in the armed services overseas. Mrs. W. Young, who gave this account, said that each box included a box of crackers, one half pound of cheese a pound of Christmas cake, 50 cigarettes, one tin of chicken, one tin of tomato juice, one tin of sandwich spread, boullion cubes, gum, chocolate bars, peanuts, a writing pad, pencil, razor blades, handkerchief, airmail forms, and a greeting card.

A nominating committee, made up of Mrs. J. J. Craig, Mrs. D. Miller and Mrs. F. Finnie, was named to draw up a list of officers for the coming year. Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss reporting for the Blood Donors' Clinic, said that St. Paul's women would soon be called on to assist again at the Clinic, as they had in February and July. The sum of $50 was voted to the senior choir as a gift from the Ladies' Aid to assist them in buying their gowns, and Miss L. Aitken read the treasurer's report, in the absence of Mrs. Thomas Hendry.

Members were invited to the afternoon tea to raise a donation for the Memorial Community Centre, being sponsored by the Local Council of Women. It will be held October 14, in the Y.W.C.A. and women were reminded that men were invited. The Friendly Group of St. Paul's under the direction of Mrs. A. Powers, is planing a tea for October 18, and the West End Group is planning a tea on November 1. Mention was also made of a letter from Miss Helen Fleetwood, announcing a rally meeting of C.G.I.T. girls on October 16 at 7 o'clock, and that girls between 12 and 16 were invited.

Soloist was Mrs. G. F. Jackson, who sang "Hold Thou My Hand," accompanied by Mrs. W. D. Taylor, pianist, for the meeting. Mrs. J. J. Craig and Mrs. Robert Ross were receiving, and Mrs. Thomas Hendry was in charge of the registration. The vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Mrs. J. J. Craig. Mrs. W. C. Steinkraus took the devotional period, reading the Scripture and offering prayer and Rev. W. L. Newton offered the dedicatory prayer, as the cent-a-day offering was received.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

The recipes which we will give you to-day are perhaps a bit old-fashioned, but they are very tasty.

Stuffed Steak.

Two pounds flank or round steak, 1 cup crumbs, ½ cup stock or water, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 1 small turnip diced, ½ cup chopped celery, 1 small carrot, diced, flour.

The meat should be cut from ½ to 1 inch thick. Wipe the steak, remove the skin and lay the meat out flat on a board. Make a dressing of the crumbs, stock or water, salt, pepper, chopped onion and a small amount of celery and spread it on the meat. Roll the steak with the grain of the meat. Place the diced vegetables in a roasting pan and on them lay the rolled steak. Add two to three cups of water, depending upon the size of the pan. Cover and bake in a slow oven (350 degrees Fahr.) for three hours until tender.

If you prefer to cook this meat on top of the stove, melt one-half cup of suet in the bottom of a flat-bottomed iron or heavy aluminum kettle, flour the meat thickly and lay the roll in the kettle. Turn from side to side until it is well browned. Then add hot water nearly to cover and simmer slowly for three hours. When the meat is cooked, remove it from the kettle or roasting pan and thicken the broth, using one or two tablespoons of flour to each cup of gravy.

Fricassee of Beef.

Sliced corn beef, 2 tablespoons of flour, 3 tablespoons fat, 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Season the meat with salt and pepper. Make a sauce of the fat, flour, water, and remainder of the seasonings. Add the cold meat and cook gently for three minutes, if it is rare beef, mutton, or game. If the meat is veal or poultry, it may cook longer. Serve on a hot dish with a border of rice, mashed potatoes or toast if desired. This makes a delightful dish for either lunch or supper.

Prizes Given Growers Of Flowers

Presentation of the G. K. Fraser, M.P., silver cup to School Section No. 11 Smith, its trustees, pupils and teacher, Miss Olga Wilson, attracted several rural groups to the meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society in the auditorium of the Murray Street Baptist church last night for the annual distribution of its trophies and other awards that were won in various competitions this season.

The presence of a rather large number of promoters of beauty in horticulture from beyond the borders of the city reflected the extending scope of the Society, and its perennial endeavors, this year notably successful under the presidency of Mrs. G. K. Fraser and an executive inspired by her leadership during a season which revived much of the Society's work after its virtual suspension during the last four years of the war.

The audience was more than usually representative, not only in the cross section of town and country, but also in the broad category of age, from children of city and township schools to the veteran horticulturists who have been active members of the society for many years.

Major Award

School Section No. 11 Smith won the Fraser trophy awarded to rural schools of Peterborough county for the beautification of their school grounds, and also the Carter Cup, highest provincial honor in this classification of horticulture which will be presented at the annual meeting of the Ontario Horticultural Society in Toronto next January.

Sharing distinction with their township associates, the children of Queen Alexandra School received the Kiwanis Club silver cup for the highest aggregate of points in the junior section of the Society's flower show this summer.

1944 O.H.S. Diploma

Featuring the program was the tribute paid to Dr. J. A. Middleton, who was awarded the 1944 meritorious service diploma, from the Ontario Horticultural Society. This presentation was made by S. T. Harris who recalled that Dr. Middleton, a former president, "has always been a valued member of our society. In the early 1920's the Society's membership was around 300. In 1922 it has increased to 502, and in 1925, the year Dr. Middleton became president, our membership reached the all time high of 523. At that time we had several most successful flower shows, especially one that was held in the armouries, and in all that work of the Society Dr. Middleton took a prominent part."

Mr. Harris also referred to Dr. Middleton's appointment to the Nicholls Park Trust, and his further activities as director and president of the Little Lake Cemetery Board.

Thanking the Society for the honor it had conferred upon him, Dr. Middleton said that when he looked around the the assembly and saw veterans such as Harry Beal, Dr. A. J. Madill, Mr. Harris, George Benton and others, "and when I think of what they have done for horticulture in Peterborough, I feel that I am not in their class. They have given years of fine service to make Peterborough a horticultural city. Yet, when I listened to Mr. Harris I was almost persuaded to believe that he was referring to me."

Disclaims Credit

Dr. Middleton recalled that during his presidency "we had Leon Fraser as secretary, a young man of ideas and energy, who did so much for the Society at that time that I can't take much credit for our accomplishments." Dr. Middleton made special mention of the late E. H. D. Hall, "who did more for horticulture in this city than any other man I have known. If it had not been for Mr. Hall as legal adviser to the late Mrs. Nicholls and later to the trustees of her estate, I doubt whether we would have ever received the gift of three parks, Inverlea, Nicholls Oval and Jackson Park. It took persuasion on the part of Mr. Hall to get enough money for this purpose, and later to get an additional $20,000 from the estate."

Dr. Middleton suggested that Society might undertake a five-year plan which would include a fountain in Confederation Square, one of the finest things the Society could do. I look to the time when the Society will not have to appeal for memberships, that men and women will want to join the Society as the proper thing to do."

The Society also remembered Mrs. Middleton with a handsome bouquet of red roses presented by Miss Jean Smith.

Gift To Dr. Madill

On behalf of the Society, Mrs. Fraser presented to Dr. A. J. Madill a silver rose bowl, as a gift related to his wedding in July and as an expression of his years of faithful and untiring membership. A bouquet of roses was presented to Mrs. Madill by Miss Mary McBride.

"The Horticultural Society is engaged in doing fine things, and this gift is emblematic of the lovely things they do," said Dr. Madill in thanking the members. 'I wish to add my congratulations to those who have won prizes this year, and especially to the school children, and their teachers, and to Miss Mary Milburn in connection with the achievement of S.S. No. 11, Smith."

The G. K. Fraser Cup was presented by C. H. Saunders, president of the Kiwanis, to Miss Olga Wilson.

"Gordon Fraser and Leo Copp deserve more praise than the Kiwanis Club for what has taken place in the rural schools of our county," Mr. Saunders said. "The part the Kiwanis Club performed in this work was a rather small one. The major share of that achievement belongs to Mr. Fraser and Mr. Copp, but Kiwanis is glad that from such a small seed planted some years ago such large results have grown."

In accepting the Fraser trophy on behalf of her school, Miss Wilson spoke of the interest and assistance of ratepayers who turned out to do the heavy work of levelling ground and straightening fences. "We asked the trustees for their help, and on the first evening twenty-four men of the section turned out, and they did real work. They came out seven evenings altogether, and on the last evening more than sixty men, women and children were present."

Horticulture Oddities

As the special speaker for the occasion, Leo Copp directed the interest of his address to the children, but it was equally pleasing to their elders. As a preface he recalled the initiative of the Kiwanis Club, of which he was a member, when it first became interested in rural schools and boys and girls of townships. Kiwanians used to drive out to some of the schools with flowers and shrubs to be planted, and "what was then started has become an important movement in our county. Fine work has been done this year in Mr. Downey's inspectorate and especially in Smith."

Mr. Copp's talk was a little reason in the family relationship of some flowers and vegetables. Cabbage, cauliflowers and turnips comprise one group, and included with them are the "blacksheep" mustards. Lettuce belong to the same family as the thistle; and the Dahlias, artichokes, ox-eye daisy are all relatives of the lettuce. Another group comprises the beets, mangels, red root or pig weed and spinach. The apple blossom and the rose belong to the same family, "and when you gather bittersweet in the fall do you realize that you are picking one of the potato family, related also to the deadly nightshade, that is not so deadly after all?"

The winners of the prizes in the lawn and garden competition have already been published, also the Victory Garden results.

Distribution of the silver trophies in these competitions was as follows:

The G. K. Fraser Cup to the winner of Class A in the lawn and garden competition for entries of more than 40-feet frontage went to Gordon Cook, 125 Prince street, a new member of the Society.

The Horticultural Society's silver cup, first prize in the class for entries less than forty feet frontage, to Lorne Ritchie, 255 McGill street, another new member of the Society.

The Society's silver cup for the most outstanding display in the junior section of the flower show to Miss Katherine Benton.

The Dr. A. J. Madill Trophy for most points by an adult exhibitor in the flower show to Fred Storey.

The Horticultural Cup for the best dahlia in the show to George W. Downer.

The George H. Clarke Cup for the best spike of gladiolus in the flower show, to Fred Storey.

The J. S. Bell Cup for the greatest improvement of home grounds and surroundings on Scenic Drive, to C. V. Elliott, 279 Monaghan Road.

As diversion in the program H. G. Lewis gave a clever display of caricature with black crayon with equally entertaining feature of ventriloquism.

17-Year-Old Boy To Play Goal

TORONTO, Oct. 7—(CP)—Short, curly-headed Dennis Barkley, 17-year-old Junior, will carry the load in the nets for New Westminster Salmonbellies when they meet St. Catharines Athletics here tonight in the first game of the best-of-five series for the Canadian Lacrosse championship.

Fresh from winning the British Columbia title and a 20-4 victory over an All-Star Service team at Winnipeg, Salmonbellies expressed confidence they would retain the Mann Cup which they won last year by defeating Mimico-Brampton Combines.

'Bellies are making their 17th appearance in a Mann Cup final and bidding for their 10th title. Athletics are making their seventh appearance and bidding for their fourth title.

Both teams have high-scoring records for the past season and prospects are that the series will be tight from start to finish.

batting average for the first three games of the series has been .[illegible] which is pretty fair country hitting in any kind of company.... Baseball has some queer angles. A week ago Chet Laabs won the pennant for the Brownies by clouting two two-run homers in the last game of the Yankee series. Yesterday he was benched for weak hitting.... A hero today and a bum tomorrow has always been the case in baseball.

LOVE SHOULD LAST

A Couple Neglecting Attractiveness Of All Kinds, Kill Affection.

A CORRESPONDENT asks: — "Does love last? Is it possible for a man and woman to love each other when they are old as they did in your youth?"

The answer is yes. Possible, but not probable. It isn't age that kills love. It is neglect. If every man worked as hard after marriage to hold his wife as he did to win her and every woman made as much of an effort to charm her husband as she did her boy friend, there would be no middle-aged couples yawning in each other's faces and snarling at each other just to put some pep into a dull evening at home.

It wouldn't matter to a woman how old her husband got, nor how bay-windowed, nor how many chins he acquired, nor how much hair he lost, he would still be Romeo to her if he continued to be a lover who told her every day how beautiful she was and how different from other women. When a wife falls out of love with her husband, it isn't Time that has killed her affection for him. He has starved it to death by not giving it anything to feed on. He has slain it by brutality, by surliness, by ill-temper, by stinginess.

Age Not a Contributioon

The same thing is equally true of a wife losing her husband's love. A woman invariably attributes this to age and bemoans herself that her husband has grown indifferent to her because she has lost her figure and her complexion, but this is merely an alibi by which she excuses herself. When a man who has once loved a woman ceases to love her, it is because of something far more vital than a few years.

It is because she has lost her interest in him and no longer tries to make herself attractive to him, or to make any effort to please him. It is not because her hair is turning gray, but because she shows him no tenderness or appreciation or because she has developed into a nagger, a shrew, a whiner or a complainer.

A woman may weigh 200 pounds, yet her husband will still call her "little girl" if she makes him happy and comfortable and pals up with him. She may be so old that her birthday cake looks like a conflagration but her husband will still see her as a Lady Love if she jollies him along and burns incense before him and makes him feel there is, at least, one person in the world who appreciates him.

No, love does not sicken and die of age. It is always assassinated. And it is always an inside job. It is killed by boredom, by high temper, by nagging, by lack of courtesy, by tight-fistedness, by bad cooking, by jealousy, by a man or woman making no effort to make themselves attractive to each other.

But when a husband and wife spend their lives tending the sacred flame on the altar, it never burns out. It stands the test of time. It is made up of work and play, of struggles and achievements, of tears and laughter, of proven loyalty and faith of all that they have endured together. It is the fiber of life itself and it lasts beyond the grave.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, October 8

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE holds auguries of a day of lively, pleasant and gratifying social, domestic, affectional and cultural affairs, with spiritual and intellectual activities lending glamor and charm to all sorts of vocations or avocations. Nevertheless there may be danger from mistrust, arguments and suspicion with financial hazards through speculation also indicated.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of unusual engagements and employments, with interests largely centered about the domestic, social, artistic, dramatic or intellectual affiliations. The sensations and emotions may be stimulated to new heights of achievement and satisfaction. There may be dangers from unwise use of funds and complications with elders.

A child born on this day may possess an exceptional or unique talent, incited by high emotional or sentimental urges.

For Monday, October 9

Monday's astrological forecast is for an encouraging degree of expansion and progress, with alluring openings for forging ahead into cherished goals of achievement, with social, professional, and financial ambitions promising. It should be a time for aiming for enhanced prestige and popularity in such desires although the way may be subject to some entanglements and disagreements.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of growth, expansion, increases in finances, credit and standing, with desired hopes and wishes attained in business, social, sentimental and cultural relations. Luck may play an important part but be careful with writings and refrain from annoying elders or those in influential places. Legal matters call for precaution.

A child born on this day will have diversified talents and ambitions, most of which will be achieved by the benefices of Lady Luck, despite involvements with elders or employers, and a tendency to criticism.

For Tuesday, October 10

A keen analysis of current events, sustained by well-balanced plans and wisely organized strategies may bring about surprising and benefic results probably in a devastating situation, with turmoil, strife and high pressured efforts from the opposition. There may be angry antagonisms and hostility best met and vanquished by self-restraints, energetic attack, but with a measure of conciliatory action rather than rash quarrelsome and vindictive reprisals. The use of subtlety, and perhaps personal glamor, may accomplish more than disputes.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which final results and successful achievements may depend upon a rigid degree of self control and determined restraints in aggravating moments when affairs seem to be under terrific strain, with devastating and destructive influences crashing on cherished objectives. A calm analysis of the circumstances, with a holding in leash of reckless and fiery words and acts in moments of crises, should be much more effective than meeting antagonism and hostility in kind. Subtlety, strategem, and the employment of personal charm or persuasion may be found much more productive of happier and more lucrative culminations to important events. Even keen intuitions may be helpful, assisting to saner consequences.

A child born on this day may have wilful and wayward tendencies, with run away feelings, impulses and emotions, calling for early direction and discipline.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WITH TWO SUITS BID ONE

WHEN YOU have two suits worth bidding over the opponents' call, it is nearly always well to bid one of them—whichever will make it most readily possible to show the other later. Doubling or passing may mean that you get shut out of a chance to show both of them, and consequently result in your landing in the wrong contract. If you disclose one to your partner on the first chance, you can often safely reveal the other later, as you put him in a position to choose the better-fitting one.

West: ♠ Q 8 6 ♥ J 7 5 3 ♦ 8 ♣ 9 7 6 3 2

East: ♠ 7 4 ♥ K Q 10 6 ♦ A Q J 4 2 ♣ K Q

Only one East player had the soundness and foresight to make the bid on his first turn which would empower him later to tell a complete story. That was at Table 4, where it was safe to bid 3-Diamonds after first calling hearts, and his partner took him back into his first suit.

At Table 3, East, having bid diamonds the first time, was afraid to show hearts at the three range, for fear that this might oblige his partner to call 4-Diamonds in case he preferred that suit.

Notice how both the fellow who passed, and came in later, and the one who doubled on his first turn, never gave themselves a chance to show more than one suit.

This deal was in a big duplicate. In some cases, South was left in 2-Spades, which he made. The 3-Diamond bidders were all set three tricks, some of them doubled. Split tops went to those who wound up in hearts, being down only one trick each.

Peterboro Soldier Stresses Job Blood Plasma Does Overseas

Men who are serving near the fighting; fronts are the first to acknowledge the importance of plasma in saving the lives of badly wounded men. Time and time again, they have seen a comrade almost slip over the border-line and be brought back by the use of this precious fluid.

A former employee of the Western Clock Company, Garnet Davis, who is fighting in France, saw a reference to Blood Donor work in the company magazine and wrote to the editor, that he had read the article with interest. He said that the men over there had seen the important work being done and the many lives which had been saved.

The large stocks of plasma which had been accumulated before D-Day, have been badly depleted as casualties have mounted, and Red Cross authorities are striving desperately to fill up the supplies.

Hypnotist Act Causes Mass Hysteria

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7—(AP)—All eyes in suburban Springfield Township High School auditorium focused on D. K. Ernst, hypnotist, as he began a demonstration of the power of the subconscious mind. Thirty-five students, acting as subjects, stared at a spot on the ceiling as Ernst waved his hands.

Suddenly there was hysterical laughter, sobbing and more than 30 students in the audience collapsed. The demonstration ended abruptly and for nearly two hours a school physician, nurse and hypnotist worked to snap them out of it. All but one were girls.

"They were suffering from mass hysteria. "I don't think they were hypnotized," said Dr. James Murray Ellzey, the physician. Principal Richard C. Read agreed "they just became rather hysterical with things occurring before them."

Finns Hold Fort Vital To Germans

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 7 (AP)—The Germans are exerting "very strong" pressure on Tornealv, on the Finnish-Swedish border, in order to relieve the two-way threat to their forces at Kemi to the southeast, the Finnish communique said today.

Swedish reports said there was severe fighting at the outskirts of Tornealv, seized by the Finns in a surprise landing nearly a week ago, and that the Germans were slowly gaining ground in an effort to recapture the port. Through it the Finns have been receiving fresh troops and supplies. German bombers attacked the port area again yesterday.

LURE THEM TO DOOM

Understanding your opponents and their tendencies can enable you to enlist their co-operation in the pleasant process of building up the size of your score. If one of them considers himself a much better player of the cards than his partner, and is a bit of a "hand hog" in trying to become the declarer in preference to supporting his partner, you can resort to measures which would be unwise against somebody else.

North: ♠ 5 3 ♥ 8 4 2 ♦ A 8 5 4 3 2 ♣ 9 3
West: ♠ 7 2 ♥ 9 7 6 ♦ 10 9 7 ♣ 8 7 5 4 2
East: ♠ A Q J 6 ♥ K Q J 5 ♦ K 6 ♣ A K 6
South: ♠ K 10 9 8 4 ♥ A 10 3 ♦ Q J ♣ Q J 10

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♦	Dbl
3 ♠	Pass	Pass	Dbl

East, wondering just how to bid his big hand, was mildly surprised to hear South open the bidding, and still more surprised to hear North have enough to take out into another suit at the range of two. This made it clear to him that his partner had a virtual blank, with possibly not a single face card in it. So he saw no game future for his side in the deal.

Better still was the chance of playing against his opponents for penalties. The opponents were using a convention that the bid of a new suit by the opener's partner is an absolute force, so he could be sure South would bid over the 2-Diamonds. Hence he could afford to pass and play a waiting game, later doubling something higher.

When the 3-Diamonds reached him, he saw only a fair prospect of setting that a decent number of tricks, but felt certain that South would take out a double into his own spades, or perhaps clubs or hearts, or maybe even No Trumps, as he knew South as a chap who thought very well of his own skill. Sure enough, South fell for it and was set three—800

Hamilton Man To Be Hanged

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 7—(CP)—Howard Ferguson, 38, of Hamilton, will die on the gallows December 14 for the murder of 65-year-old Abraham Rosenberg, Hamilton tailor.

He was convicted late Thursday of the charge by an Ontario Supreme Court jury which deliberated more than five hours, bringing to a close the four-day trial. Sentence was pronounced by Mr. Justice J. A. Hope, the trial judge.

Ferguson, asked by Mr. Justice Hope if he had anything to say, replied "Nothing."

Rosenberg was found in the rear of his James street tailor shop here on the afternoon of last February 4, and died a few hours later in hospital.

Ferguson was arrested in Fort Erie, Ont., where he was working as a beverage room waiter.

Before the jury retired, Mr. Justice Hope instructed them to find accused either "guilty of murder or not guilty at all."

He reviewed evidence of witnesses, including several who have criminal records, and said "it is a question of what credence you give these witnesses." William Wigger, chief Crown witness, had testified that Ferguson told him February 4 that he had killed a man.

Defence Counsel Orville M. Walsh, in his address to the jury, asked for an acquittal on the grounds that the Crown's evidence gave no "reasonable explanation of Rosenberg's death."

British Liberals Fight Election On Party Basis

By DOUGLAS AMARON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Oct. 7 —(CP Cable) — Liberal organizers have been given the "go" signal by their party headquarters in the announcement that the Liberals will fight the next general election on a party basis.

Headquarters announced Thursday that it is the party's intention to "put forward without any commitments to any other party the largest possible number of its own candidates in complete independence, presenting the party's independent program."

The announcement will enable all constituencies to go ahead with their election plans which are believed to include promotion of large numbers of young servicemen who previously had no party links. The election will take place some time after the war.

The Liberal party, now represented in the National Government where its leader, Sir Archibald Sinclair, is Secretary of State for Air, is the first to announce publicly its decision to contest the election as an independent body. A similar decision however, was taken by the Labor Party's National executive to be submitted to Labor's annual meeting next December.

It appears now that Labor will retain Clement R. Attlee, Deputy Prime Minister, as leader of the parliamentary labor party for another year despite dissatisfaction of some members who asked Home Secretary Minister Morrison and Labor Minister Bevin to stand for nomination as successor. Mr. Attlee's fellow labor members of the cabinet, however, declined to make a move which undoubtedly would have led to party strife.

Political observers say it is certain that Mr. Attlee will remain party leader and that Arthur Greenwood and F. W. Pethick-Lawrence will retain their positions as Deputy Leader and Vice Chairman respectively of the parliamentary group.

The treasurer's bond was renewed with the Globe Indemnity Company, and Council adjourned to meet on Tuesday, November 8, at one o'clock.

120 Divisions Of Reds Menace Reich

Greatest Danger Facing Huns In Eastern Europe

By JOHN KIMCHE
Reuter Military Correspondent

ZURICH, Switzerland, Oct. 10—(CP-Reuter)—It is a great mistake to judge the course of the war, and its possible duration, solely by what is happening in Western Europe. A successful break-through into the northern German plain or into the valley of the main in South Germany may decide the war.

But during the next three weeks it is more likely that Germany's fate rests in the hands of the three Soviet Marshals: Petrov, Malinovski and Tolbukhin.

On Germany's southeastern front the pattern is almost complete with 16 Soviet armies disposing 120 divisions on the edge of the Hungarian plain.

They are faced by the Carpathian passes, the key towns of Cluj and Oradea, and by the fortress of Belgrade, for which the battle has started.

The 20 divisions of the Hungarian army have been mustered in strength; exceptionally large numbers of German troops have been brought south from Poland to act as stoppers along the decisive passes.

Move To Attack

The Russians now are moving to the attack. They have not only mounted a great proportion of their troops down here, but they have been obtaining the maximum support of both the Rumanian and Bulgarian armies. Between them those two provide more than 30 divisions, and cancel out the presence of the Hungarians on the German side.

Armies numbering probably twice as many as those engaged in the west as being into action.

Berlin official circles seem to be conscious of the peril. For more than a week they have been talking constantly of the major offensive in the west which had started and which the Germans were holding in check. But by now the purpose of Allied strategy during the last week has become clearer, even in Berlin.

The Allies are attacking just enough to make a redisposition of the German forces impossible. So long as the attack lasts north of Aachen there will be no troops available to reinforce the Arnhem force, and the same is happening farther south around Metz, where the United States 3rd Army is pinning down the Germans and preventing their removal to a more threatened front.

Reserves Engaged.

This also has been happening on the Hungarian front.

It explains why the German high command did not send troops from the east to the west. It could not do

Huns Get Ultimatum

OUTSIDE AACHEN, Oct. 10—(10:05 a.m.) — (AP) — The American Commander of forces outside Aachen issued an ultimatum today to the Nazi garrison to surrender unconditionally with 24 hours or "American army ground and air forces will proceed ruthlessly by air and artillery bombardment to reduce it to submission."

There was no middle course for the Nazi commander, whose troops were dug into the rubble of the ancient capital of Charlemagne on orders of Hitler to stand and die in its defence.

After the ultimatum was delivered to the commander and the mayor, leaflets were dropped into the city by shellfire declaring the time had come for honorable surrender. The message urged civilians to persuade those responsible to "stop the useless bloodshed and destruction."

Red Artillery Batters Port Of Memel

By DANIEL DELUCE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Oct. 10 — (AP). — A storm of Russian artillery fire broke today on besieged Memel, German-held port on the Baltic, while to the south two Soviet armies wheeled and hurled their full weight into a drive on the East Prussian fortress city of Tilsit.

This constituted an invasion of East Prussia, because the Memel territory—a long, narrow neck of land along the sea—was incorporated into Germany in March, 1939. Hitler seized the area from Lithuania.

At midnight, the Kremlin had reported the Russians only 12 miles from the sizeable seaport of Memel and driving swiftly.

The great Baltic offensive of Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian and Gen. Ivan Chernitakahovsky, ripping apart the German coastal flank protecting the heart of East Prussia, matched in spectacular success the sweep of Gen. Rodio Malinovsky's forces into Northern Hungary.

There, after cutting the railway retreat routes behind the German and Hungarian forces in the Northern Transylvanian salient, the Russian spearhead thrust into the outskirts of Magyar military training centre of Debrecen. General advances on the looping front put the Russian forces within 50 miles of Budapest.

Seek Junction.

Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's northward drive across flat country appeared aimed at the Ruthenian highlands, where a junction might be made with Col.-Gen. Ivan Petrov's 4th Ukrainian Army group on the Czechoslovak border.

Malinovsky's southern wing crossed the Tisza River on a wide front in northern Yugoslavia and swung westward in an advance which outflanked Belgrade and endangered the third largest Yugoslav city of Subotica (pop. 100,000) on the main Belgrade-Budapest railroad.

Prospects were reported good for bottling up most of the enemy forces in Transylvania and the Carpatho-Ukraine, which Hungary took from three sides.

Ferocity of the conflict was indicated in Russian reports of 202 German tanks destroyed. The Red Army also claimed capture of 8,220 German and Hungarian prisoners.

Last escape route out of Transylvania was cut by the Russians with capture of a 25-mile stretch of the Debrecen-Budapest railway.

Americans Raid 10th Palau Isle

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 10—(AP)—Invasion of Garakayo Islet, 10th of the Palau group of Island stepping stones to the Philippines brought under fire of American guns, was announced last night by Pacific commanders who also reported the first neutralizing raid on Zamboanga, important southern Philippines coast city.

Infantry landed Sunday on Garakayo and quickly secured a beachhead. They drove forward against light opposition.

Garakayo is 2½ miles north of Peleliu, where American forces have been fighting since Sept. 14 and are wiping out the last resistance. Object of the Larakayo invasion apparently was to eliminate the batteries that may have shelled Americans on Peleliu.

Of the nine Palau islands in addition to Garakayo where landings were made, all are securely in American hands although mop-up fighting continues.

Agnes Macphail Plans Woodsworth Centre

TORONTO, Oct. 10—(CP).—A project to establish in Toronto a memorial centre dedicated to the late James S. Woodsworth, former national leader of the C.C.F., was launched here over the week-end by Agnes Macphail, C.C.F. member of the Ontario Legislature for York East.

A campaign to raise $25,000 to purchase and alter a three-storey building will be started immediately. It is planned to make the centre a social, educational and research enterprise and eventually to bring into being a labor college.

Dr. H. J. Cody May Resign

University Head Refuses To Discuss Report

TORONTO, Oct 10 (CP)—It was reported today in University circles that Dr. H. J. Cody will submit his resignation as President of the University of Toronto to the University Senate Friday.

Dr. Cody, who has been president of the University since 1932, declined to discuss the reports which say that the resignation is linked with the appointment of a Chancellor to succeed the late Sir William Mulock who died Oct. 1. Just before Sir William's death he had been confirmed in his office for another four years by the University Board of Governors who arranged that in the event of his death the president would discharge the duties of Chancellor until a successor was appointed.

Now 75, Dr. Cody is a native of Embro in Oxford county, Ont. One-time Ontario Minister of Education, he resigned the rectorship of St. Paul's Anglican church in Toronto to become president of the University. He had served St. Paul's parish from the time of his ordination in 1894.

He was elected Bishop of Nova Scotia in 1904 and Archbishop of Melbourne, Australia, in 1921 but rejected both to continue his service to St. Paul's.

Canuck Units Advance Behind Huns

Leopold Canal Area Solidly Held 30 Hun Attacks Fail

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Oct. 10 — (CP. Cable). — Canadian infantry pushed inland from their beachhead on the south shore of the Schelde Estuary today and also surged west along the Dutch coast to move into the town of Hooldplaat, as other Canadians extended the Leopold Canal bridgehead.

This two-pronged operation to destroy the Germans in the Schelde pocket south of the Estuary was going satisfactorily.

After a gallant stand by western Canada infantry on the Leopold Canal in which 30 separate counter-attacks were repelled in four days, these same westerners took the offensive late yesterday and have extended the Leopold bridgehead.

It now has a depth of at least 400 yards at its narrowest point, and troops are closing in on the main road leading north to Aardenburg.

There now is no fear that the Canal will be lost.

The Germans took a severe beating in their efforts to throw the Canadians back into the Canal.

All the battalion commanders who have led troops in this battle say it was the hardest fighting they have known in this campaign.

Landing by the backdoor of the pocket seems to have caught the enemy more by surprise than was at first thought.

The Germans did not have many troops in that area and they have been throwing in line-of-communication troops to try to stop the Canadian advances. These are not part of the crack 64th division which battled so savagely along the Leopold Canal.

Heavy Shelling

The beachhead gained in this amphibious landing now has an average depth of 3,500 yards and is about 5,000 yards wide. Enemy guns are still shelling from Walcheren and South Beveland across the Schelde from the beachhead.

R.A.F. craft attacked these guns and observation posts yesterday and heavy Canadian guns also pounded the positions in counter-battery shoots.

Inside the pocket there still is a considerable German force which has not been committed. The enemy shows no signs of withdrawing from the pocket to Walcheren or South Beveland, and there is no chance the pocket can be reinforced.

Nazis Launch Fierce Counters

ROME, Oct. 10—(CP).—Poor weather yesterday held British 8th Army activity to patrolling while the Allied 5th Army made only local improvements in its positions, the Allied command announced today.

German troops yesterday counter-attacked fiercely against British and Indian units of the British 8th Army fighting to hold bridgeheads across the Fiumicino River on the Adriatic front.

Into their defence line south of Bologna they poured fresh and refitted troops in an attempt to hold off the advancing Allied 5th Army, now within heavy-gun range of that vital communications centre.

The 8th Army was reported holding a broad front on the north bank of the rain-swollen Fiumicino and had taken Monte Gattano more than a mile beyond the river and 12 miles from Rimini.

Between this advance and the sea the lower stretches of the Fiumicino—running between 30 and 35 feet wide and about five feet deep with a strong current—kept Canadian, New Zealand and Greek units bogged down in patrol action. They were reported under constant enemy shell and mortar fire.

Latest reported gains in the centre of the front brought U.S. units of the 5th Army two more miles along Highway 65 to within 10 miles of the southern outskirts of Bologna. The enemy still held strong hill positions in this area.

Churchill Talks For 3 Hours With Stalin

MOSCOW, Oct. 10 — (AP). — Prime Minister Churchill talked with Marshal Stalin for three hours in the Kremlin last night and conferred to-day with the British diplomatic and military staff before starting a second meeting with the Russian Premier.

Mr. Churchill was understood to be presenting his views on questions in Europe and elsewhere — views which were said to have been fully endorsed before he left the Quebec Conference with President Roosevelt.

Latest indications were that his visit would last throughout this week.

To Develop Iran

His presence in Moscow coincided with two important statements in the Russian press. One expressed flat oposition to altering the principal of a unanimous vote by the four major Allied Powers on the International Security Council, in case of aggression. The other statement disclosed a Russian plan for developing oil resources in the northern part of Iran.

Some fields of Iran have been controlled by Britain for more than a century. The country now is occupied jointly by British troops in the south and Russians in the

COMMUNICATIONS CUT

LONDON — All German communications leading westward from Serbia and the Sandjak area now have been cut, a communique from Marshal Tito's headquarters reported today.

Saturation Raid Fires Bochum Ruhr Steel City

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP) — An unprecedented Allied daylight air offensive continued today with many formations going into action at sunrise after a heavy night attack by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. on Bochunn, Ruhr steel capital, which the Germans spent a year rebuilding after the last raid.

The British heavies, reverting to their old tactics of saturation bombing, dumped thousands of incendiaries and tons of high explosives on this German industrial city.

The last big attack on Bochun, Sept. 29, 1943, left it as shattered as any city in the battered Ruhr. The Todt organization has been able to get some of the major industries in working order again, thus setting the stage for last night's raid.

Bochum also is a large railway centre and the area in which it lies produces about 30 per cent of all the Ruhr's coal.

While this attack was in progress Mosquitos were bombing dock installations at Wilhelmshaven. Both missions were supported by night fighters.

An Air Ministry communique listed seven aircraft as missing on all operations.

Three Canadian heavies were lost on the Bochum raid.

Bad weather over the battlefront yesterday limited ground support activity to the bombing of a railroad bridge at Euskirchen by 9th Air Force fighter-bombers, but 1,100 8th Air Force heavies from Britain, with an escort of 900 fighters, plowing through fog, attacked military targets in the Schweinfurt-Cobblenz and Mainz regions of Southwestern Germany.

If Big 3 Stand Together World Peace Is Assured

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

There's only one thing which can make the Dumbarton Oaks program for permanent peace effective, and that's the unselfish and two-fisted determination of the major powers to carry it out, come hell or high water.

Actually the task rests primarily at the outset on the big three—Great Britain, the United States and Russia. In their hands is a vast military strength which can compel peace—by force if necessary.

So long as these mighty powers stand together, there will be peace. The moment they fall out, there will be dark trouble—and nobody can stop it.

Prime Minister Churchill the other day declared that in his proposals for the organization of world peace he will act in accordance with the spirit and principles of the League of Nations but clothing those principles with necessary authority. That was in a letter felicitating Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, chief draftsman of the covenant of the league and winner of the Nobel Prize in 1927, on the latter's 80th birthday. Churchill said at one point:

"The war could easily have been prevented if the League of Nations had used courage and there had been loyalty by the associated nations."

That's a true bill. The league failed—in part—because it lacked guts. Back at the commencement of Japan's aggression against China, which the league sidestepped, Lord Cecil told me that unless the members of that organization pulled up their socks it would come a cropper. They didn't pull up their socks.

I followed the course of the league from the days of the Versailles conference and studied it at close range for years after that.

It was, in my view, more than lack of guts which made the league fail. One of the main reasons for failure was that some important nations used it for power politics. Blocks of countries, serving self-interest, were pitted against one another. They were suspicious of one another — and with reason. They lacked the courageous determinatoin to make the league work for peace.

World Mourns Wendell Willkie

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 — (CP) — Funeral services will be held today for Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 Republican candidate for the presidency of the United States. His body lay in state at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church here while messages of sympathy continued to pour in from many parts of the "one world" in which he took such a vital interest.

The man who polled 22,333,801 votes in his losing campaign against President Roosevelt died early Sunday at Lenox Hill Hospital, which he entered September 6 for a rest and physical checkup. Death resulted from coronary thrombosis after he contracted a streptoccis throat infection last Wednesday which affected the heart muscles.

His family said the body of the 52-year-old former public utility executive would be sent to Rushville, Ind., where burial will be in the family plot. Date of burial will be determined by the return of Mr. Willkie's son, Lieut. Philip Willkie, U. S. N. R., now on convoy duty in the Atlantic.

Mr. Willkie's death left unanswered one of the moot questions of the present presidential campaign—which candidate, if either, he intended to endorse.

A few days before he entered hospital Mr. Willkie told an Associated Press reporter he had not yet made up his mind whom he would support.

Machine-Gun Fire Barrage Blankets Corridor Closing Steel Ring On City

Americans 6 To 10 Miles Inside Reich
Driving On 25-Mile Front
British 2nd Army Striking At Arnhem

LONDON, Oct. 10—(CP).—The United States 1st Army completely surrounded Aachen today and delivered to the German garrison an ultimatum to surrender within 24 hours or be conquered by ruthless attack. The Americans besieging Aachen had sealed off the Siegfried Line with a wall of troops, tanks and guns and already were building up a 25-mile front six to 10 miles inside the Reich for a break-through punch toward the Rhine.

Earlier today the two jaws of a vise had chopped the German escape lane northeast of the city to only a mile in width, and choked it off with curtains of machine-gun fire.

While the Americans thus converged on Aachen the 1st Canadian Army's amphibious forces were reported making "good progress after yesterday's landing on the south shore of the Schelde estuary.

The British 2nd Army beat off a sharp counter-attack on the Netherlands salient west of Arnhem between the Waal and Neder Rhine, but elsewhere on its front little activity was reported.

The jaws of the U.S. trap against Hun forces of Aachen could be considered closed, Associated Press War Correspondent Don Whitehead reported, as it would be impossible for the Germans to escape in large numbers through direct fire of American gunners.

Corridor Death Spot

The retreat corridor was narrowed to a mile, another field report said, and Whitehead wrote that American machine-guns were on both tips of the gap, which also could be raked with mortar fire.

The bottling of Aachen's "fight to the death" defenders came as the U.S. 3rd Army snapped a German bulge in the Nancy-Metz sector back into a straight line.

Elimination of this pocket was reported by Associated Press War Correspondent Edward D. Ball, who said 3rd Army troops had moved up into new positions extendnig from Fresnes en Saulnois, 15 miles north and east of Nancy, to Cheminot, 18 miles due north of Nancy.

Attacks Numerous

Stubborn German defenders, goaded to new fierceness by an order of the day from Field-Marshal Rundstedt, mounted one savage counter-attack after another. The German radio admitted "limited breaches" in the Aachen sector, but claimed thay had been sealed.

Weather-plagued invaders hammered down the counter-blows on

British Troops Occupy City Of Corinth

ROME, Oct. 10— (AP) — British and Greek forces have occupied Corinth, it was announced to-day.

British forward units entered Corinth without opposition. Two hundred and fifty members of the collaborating Greek "security battalions" surrendered there yesterday morning. No Germans were in the city, which is at the south end of the isthmus linking the Peloponnesus and the Greek mainland.

Meanwhile, the Allied land forces of the Adriatic began attacking Sarande, the little southern Albanian port which is a supply base for the enemy garrison on the Island of Corfu.

The attack started at 4 a.m. yesterday and Allied troops quickly penetrated to the western outskirts of the town after over-coming opposition.

Another unit silenced an enemy battery and took the central defences. Then a parachute company landed and captured a second battery.

With the capture of Corinth, the Allied command announced, land forces of the Adriatic now are in control of many communications in the Peloponnesus. A communique added that "operations continue," presumably a drive on from Corinth by British troops. Athens and Peiraievs (Piraeus), its port, are only

Finns Advance Against Nazis

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 10 —(AP) — A Finnish communique announced today that the Finns were pressing after the Germans in the direction of Tervola on the road from Kemo to Rovaniemi.

Six miles north of Tornealv, the Finns captured Alavojakkala and "are still advancing," the bulletin said.

The harbor, railway station and airport at Kemi, at the head of the Gulf of Bothnia, were ruined by the Germans before they retreated, a Helsinki correspondent reported. Buildings in the district of Karihaara were reported burned, leaving 1,500 homeless. The dispatch said Germans also destroyed their supply warehouses outside Kemi, and dumped locomotives, airplane motors, ammunition, radio apparatus and cable into the harbor.

German bombers attacked the Oulu railway area Sunday, the Finnish communique said.

5-Year-Old Girls Vandalize Church

TORONTO, Oct. 10— (CP).—Two five-year-old girls have admitted they did $300 damage to Trinity Anglican church here on Thanksgiving Day, police said today, adding no action could be taken against the girls because of their age.

Harvest decorations were ripped down, wheat sheaves thrown on the floor, a communion set of Belgian glass was smashed, a bronze lectern was kunocked over and broken, and sheets were torn from hymn and prayer books.

Hitler Encourages Youth

Messages Urges Fight To The Death

LONDON, Oct. 10 (CP-Reuter) — Hitler referred to "The Hour of Danger for Our Country," and stressed his determination to "wage this struggle with an ever-greater fanatical will" in a message quoted by the German radio today.

The message was addressed to Youth Leader Axmann who was reported to have told Hitler that 80 per cent of the youth of Potsdam had volunteered for military service.

Hitler's message:

"In the hour of danger for our country, created by our hateful opponents, you have given a shining example of your fanatical will to sacrifice.

"The youth at the front and at home has done what has been expected of them. Hitler youths have shown their unshakeable will for victory by their exemplary deeds in the Volksgrenadier divisions and in all other ranks of the Wehrmacht.

"We know the enemy's merciless plans of annihilation and therefore we shall wage this struggle with an ever-greater fanatical will.

"You as young national socialist fighters must even exceed the whole nation's unflinching and unbendable steadfastness. The reward will be the successful conclusion of the conflict and a free future for our people."

Capt. W. I. Smith Speaker On Thanksgiving

A large congregation representing several denominations, gathered Monday in All Saints church at the annual Thanksgiving service conducted by the Ministerial association. The meeting as in charge of Rev. W. A. Filer, rector of All Saints, and president of the Association. He was assisted by Rev. Dr. E. W. Young, who read the Scripture lesson and by Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe.

Rev. W. A. Fisher introduced the guest speaker, Hon. Captain W. I. D. Smith, chaplain of the local Military Training Centre.

"Our country and the whole world in fact is divided into two camps. There is one group composing many millions of men and thousands of women in the armed services who live a life apart and who have a task to perform in waging physical combat. On the other hand there is a large group living in the main a normal life who are waging a warfare on the home front. Both are important for what use is winning the war if the home front fails to win the peace?"

The padre selected his text from Joshua, "Choose you the day whom ye will serve; as for Me and My house, we will serve the Lord." Joshua spoke these words to the children of Israel at the conclusion of his tenure of office as a political and military leader. He warned them against indifference and disobedience to God's commands with th advent of peace and prosperity, he saiad. It would be a tragedy if too many people think like that at the conclusion of this war. We want our people to make a momentous decision to serve the Lord and stand firm for the things that really matter. The new order is doomed to destruction unless a sufficiently large group of folks make this imperative decision, Capt. Smith declared.

"Some people advocate a change of government, some the rehabilitation of our economic system and some argue to give labor and the poor man a more important part in the country's affairs. Be this as it may, we do need a change of government in which God-fearing men shall accept high office. We do need a new economic system guided by people of integrity and vision. If we don't get these leaders, all I can see is failure, more wars, more depressions, more cruelty and more tyranny. We need men who are followers of the Christ. His was a religion of service and compassion for His fellow man. Our religion must be embodied in a life that grows spiritually stronger from day to day."

Bridges Blown Up

In the advance to the isthmus of Corinth the British found that retreating Germans had blown up bridges on the Patrai-Corinth road. However, the official Allied announcement that no Germans were encountered at Corinth itself seemed further evidence of a systematic withdrawal of some three infantry divisions which had been garrisoning Greece and other units evacuated from the Aegean islands.

A naval communique announced widespread operations against small enemy craft in the Aegean in recent days. An enemy armed trawler and a large caique were sunk the night of Oct. 6 near the entrance to Salonika in addition to the enemy destroyers previously reported sunk in that action by British destroyers H.M.S. Termagant and H.M.S. Tuscan.

On the military side, it was believed plans for occupation of Germany and the possibility of Russia's eventual entry into the war against Japan might rank high on the agenda.

Apropos of the latter topic, the Daily Express printed today a special dispatch from Washington saying it was reported there that Premier Stalin had pledged Siberian bases to the United States as soon as the war in Europe ends. There was no confirmation of this.

U.S. Kept Informed.

While the United States is not represented by a special envoy at the current talks, it was said Washington would be kept fully informed.

Moscow, which said the conference was arranged at Mr. Churchill's suggestion, reported the Prime Minister had delivered a "fighting speech" for Soviet newsreel men who greeted him at the airport.

"I have arrived here on a wave of hope," Mr. Churchill was quoted as saying, "on a wave of certainty that victory will be achieved and in the hope that when it is achieved we will all strive to make the world a better place for the life of the great mass of people."

He paid tribute to the Red Army for being "the first to smash the spirit of the German military machine," and added:

"We also on our side—the United States and the British Commonwealth of Nations—have exerted our forces to the limit and it is for you to judge if we have dealt heavy blows or not."

so because, in its way, the situation in the southeast was in no way less perilous than that in the west. What could be spared had to be moved to the protection of Budapest.

For once any one of the 16 Russian armies has broke through in strength the whole German defence plan falls. There are then no lines on which the enemy can fall back, and the combined weight of the Soviet, Rumanian, Bulgarian and Yugoslav troops would pass across the open plain en route for Budapest and Vienna beyond.

Such a Russian break-through not only promises immense territorial gains for the Allies, but threatens destruction of every vestige of plan that the German high command has husbanded for the final stage of the war.

Marshal Kesselring's 27 divisions in Italy would be lost; Field Marshal Von Weich and his remaining 22 divisions in the Balkans also would be lost; all the remaining occupied and satellite states would be overrun in less than a week; Germany would be left alone with the southeastern flank open, with 70 divisions isolated from the main battlefield and with the defences built up with so much effort in Poland turned by an advance through Slovakia and Bohemia.

On the Canadian sector north of Antwerp German opposition stiffened as infantry and tanks began to push beyond the neck of the Spit which runs out to South Beveland and Walcheren.

The road leading from the Spit to Bergen or Zoom three miles to the north is not cut yet although it is dominated by Canadian infantry and armor within 400 yards of it.

German tanks have appeared on this sector and yesterday two tanks —or self-propelled guns which looked much like tanks — were knocked out.

On the Tilburg sector the Germans are not so aggressive against British and Polish troops of the 1st Canadian Army, but the enemy continued his feverish efforts to build defences around Tilburg.

Evangelist Buried

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10—(AP).—Aimee Semple McPherson made her last public appearance yesterday, still exerting in death the strange, emotion stirring power which brought her disciples by the hundred thousand during her 34 years as an evangelist. More than 5,800 persons attended her funeral services.

both the 1st and 3rd Army fronts, and maintained the momentum of their slow-moving offensive.

German losses were heavy and the Nazi commander in the west braced his troops for an even worse battering.

"You have stopped the enemy at the gates of the Reich," his broadcast order said. "The enemy will, however, shortly launch a new grand offensive. I expect that you will all defend the sacred German soil to the last."

The U.S. 1st Army in the Aachen sector has forged a 25-mile front and was fighting on the approaches to Duren and Julich, highway keys to Cologne and Dusseldorf. Americans were six miles from Duren — 10 miles beyond Aachen and 20 from Cologne — and seven miles from Julich, where an excellent highway branches to Cologne 23 miles beyond and to Dusseldorf 26 miles away.

They had edged into the southern outskirts of Aachen, once the centre of Charlemagne's Government, but the main assault on the city had not yet opened. The enemy garrison there perhaps numbered no more than 1,500 men.

The 3rd Army punch between Metz and Nancy seized at least 10 towns. At Fort Driant below Metz, American infantry still fought to overcome ingenious defences, and had penetrated into underground tunnels guarded by steel doors.

Farther south the 7th Army advancing two miles east of Epinal forced the Germans from the towns of Laveline and Herp-Elmont. The 7th Army forces were also fighting only eight miles from Belfort, guarding the gap leading into South-western Germany.

Christian Scientist Hold Special Service

A Thanksgiving Day service was held by First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Peterborough, in the church edifice on Thanksgiving Day. The service opened with the congregation singing the hymn, "This is the day the Lord hath made; be glad, give thanks, rejoice." The Thanksgiving Proclamation by the Governor-General of Canada was read by Mrs. Mabel L. Louden, the First Reader. The Scriptural selections were from the Psalms 107, 1-15, 22, 32, 116; 12-14, 16, 17, "O give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good; for His mercies endureth for ever (Psalm 107, 1), read by the First Reader. The Lesson-Sermon for Thanksgiving Day given in the Christian Science Quarterly and read in all Christian Science Churches in Canada and many other parts of the world, followed the second hymn. The subject of Lesson-Sermon was "Thanksgiving" and had for the Golden Text: "Thanks be unto God which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savour of His knowledge by us in every place." (II. Corinthians 2, 14). After the responsive reading of Bible passages, Mrs. A. K. Whyte, the Second Reader, read the citations chosen from the Bible, while Mrs. Mabel L. Louden read the correlative passages of Science and Health. A solo, "Thanks Be to God" by Stanley Dickson was sung by Mrs. A. H. Radford, the soloist. Testimonies appropriate to the occasion were then given by Christian Scientists in the congregation. This period was completely filled by expressions of gratitude for healings and other help received during the past year.

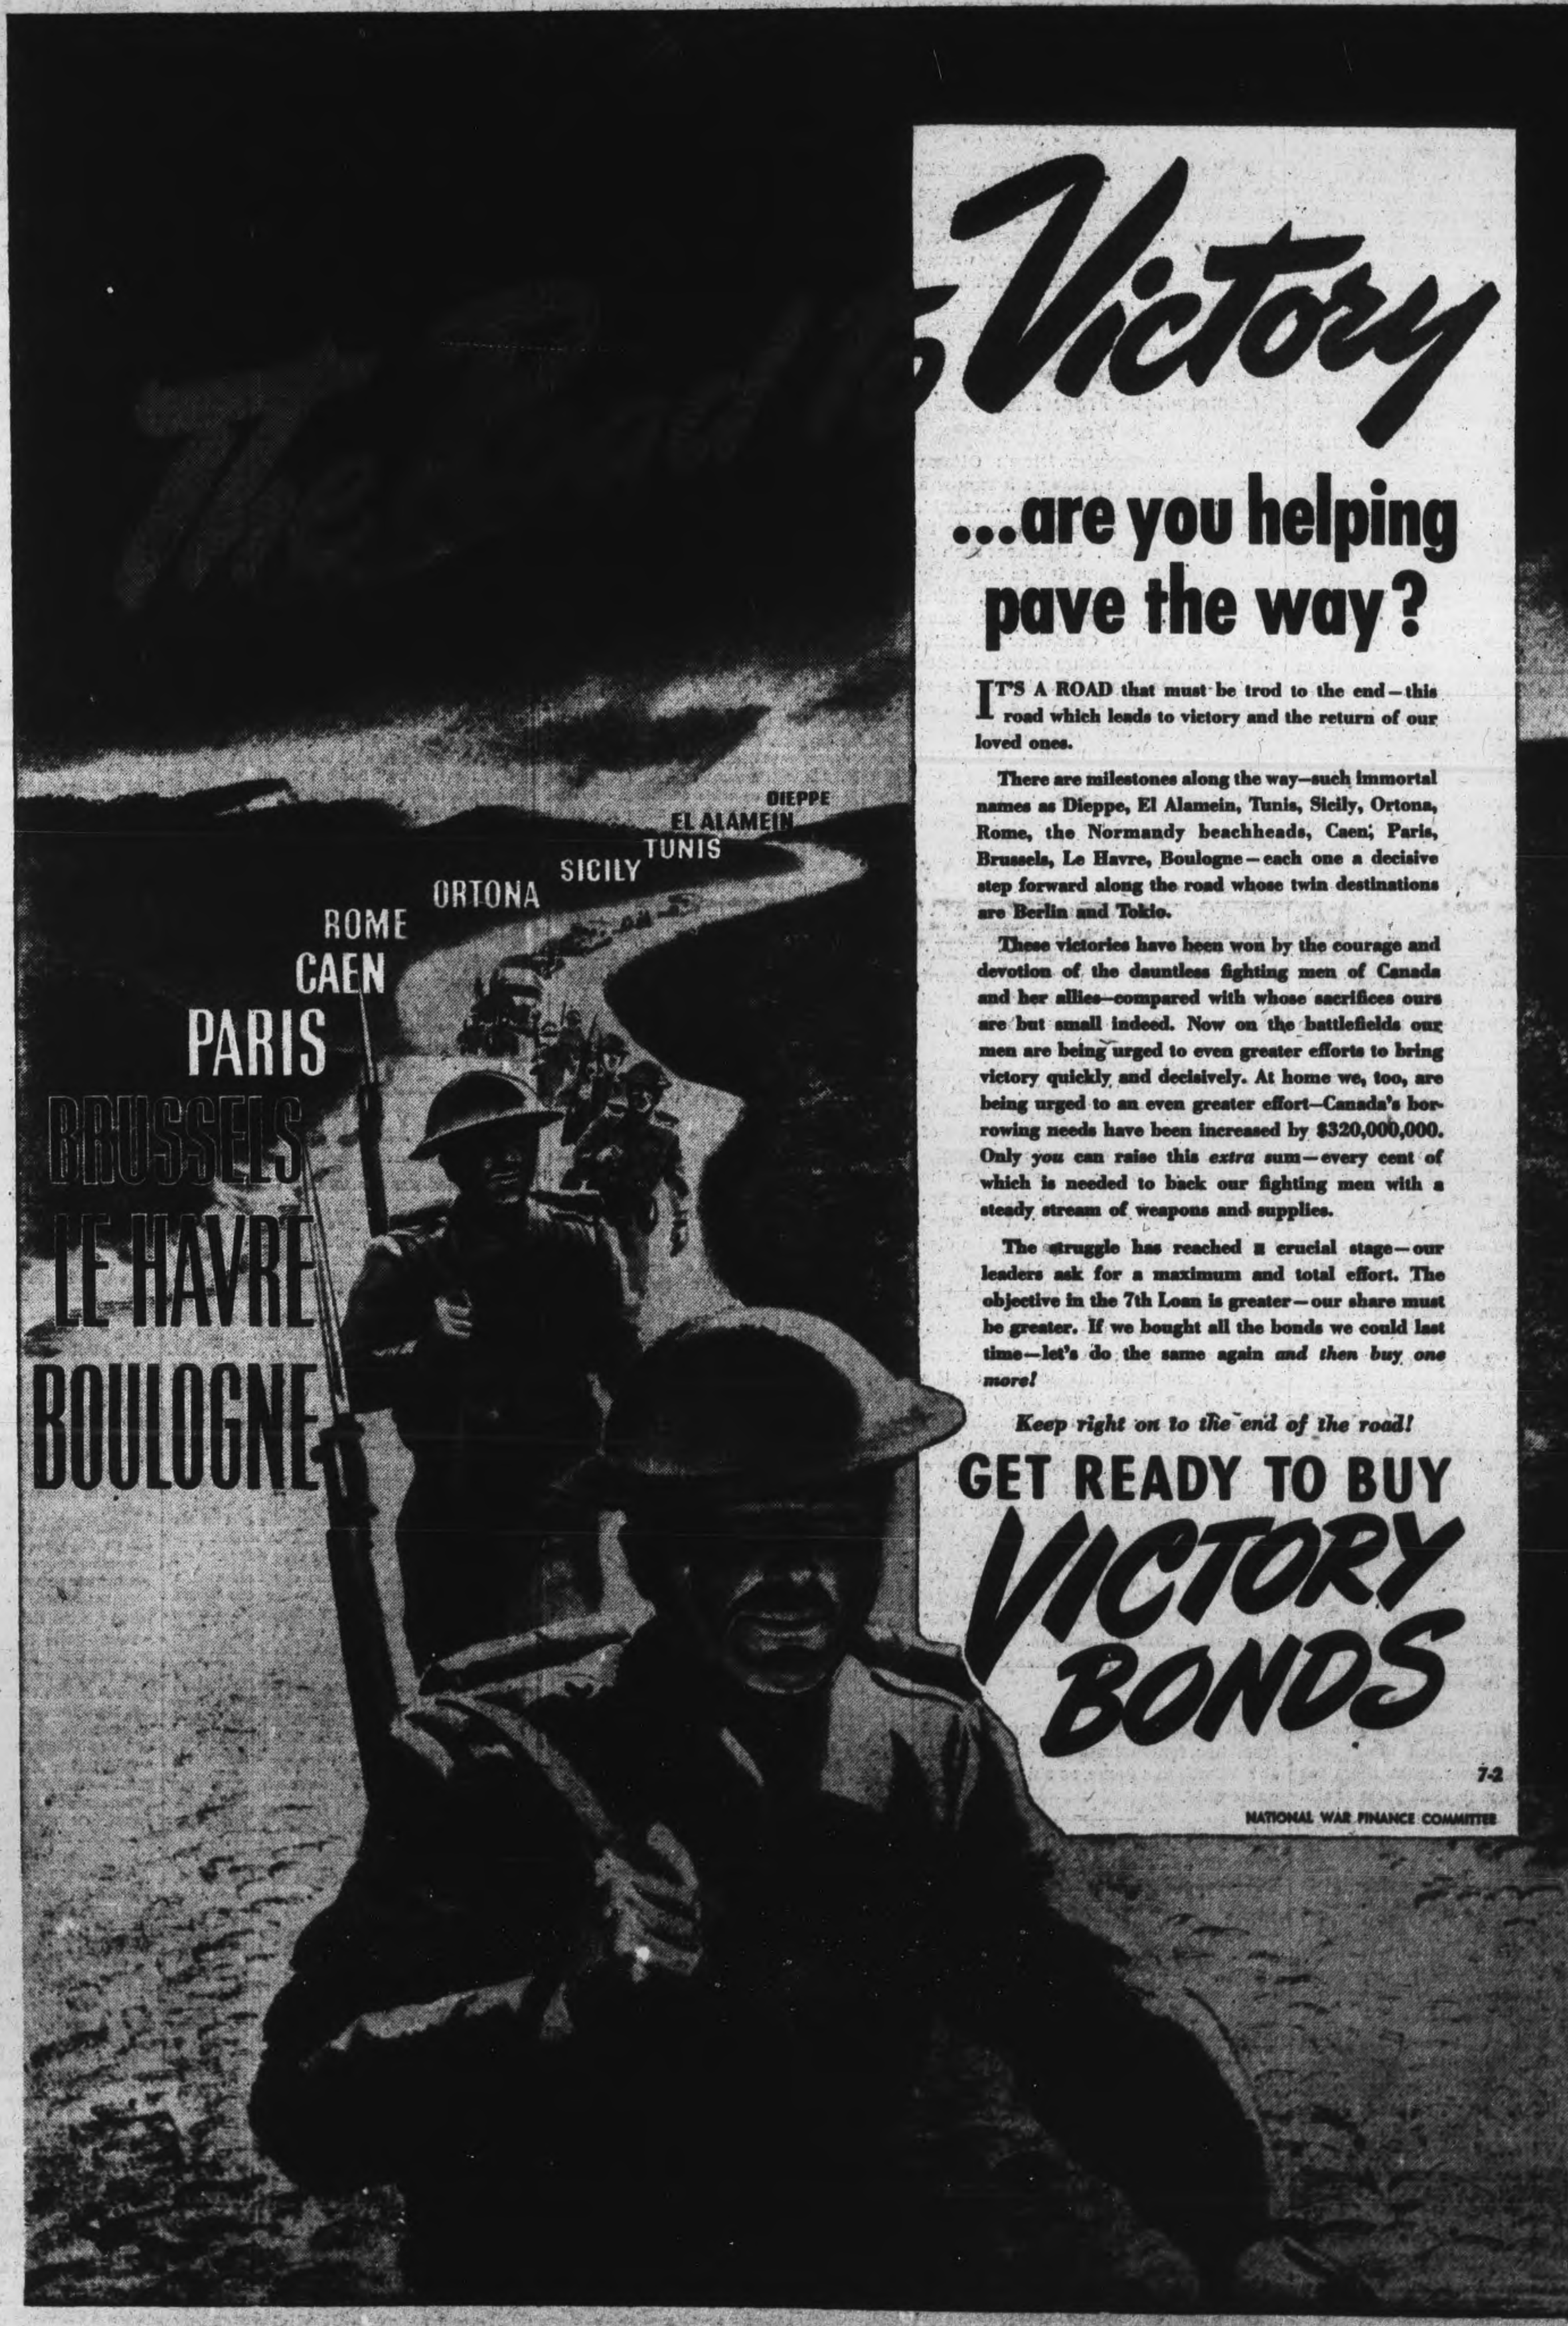
AS FAMOUS AS HAWES' LEMON OIL



...are you helping pave the way?

IT'S A ROAD that must be trod to the end—this road which leads to victory and the return of our loved ones.

There are milestones along the way—such immortal names as Dieppe, El Alamein, Tunis, Sicily, Ortona, Rome, the Normandy beachheads, Caen, Paris, Brussels, Le Havre, Boulogne—each one a decisive step forward along the road whose twin destinations are Berlin and Tokio.

These victories have been won by the courage and devotion of the dauntless fighting men of Canada and her allies—compared with whose sacrifices ours are but small indeed. Now on the battlefields our men are being urged to even greater efforts to bring victory quickly and decisively. At home we, too, are being urged to an even greater effort—Canada's borrowing needs have been increased by $320,000,000. Only you can raise this extra sum—every cent of which is needed to back our fighting men with a steady stream of weapons and supplies.

The struggle has reached a crucial stage—our leaders ask for a maximum and total effort. The objective in the 7th Loan is greater—our share must be greater. If we bought all the bonds we could last time—let's do the same again and then buy one more!

Keep right on to the end of the road!

Liberation For Greece

The liberation of Greece began on September 26, and since that time it has gone ahead so favourably that there is now no reason to doubt that it will be successfully completed. When the Germans and Italians entered Greece the fighting was hard; as the Germans quit the peninsula which is the cradle of so much that is of importance in our civilization, the fighting will be much simpler. The Germans have no alernative to flight: the British have taken the Peloponnesus, which includes a quarter of the total land area of Greece, and are moving toward Corinth and Athens; the Russians are hastening toward Belgrade, through which the Germans must escape if escape is their aim; the Germans may leave garrisons here and there to fight to the death and impede the British advance as much as possible, but the greater part of the German force will get out as soon as it can.

The news that the liberation of Greece was in progress had very special significance to great numbers of people in the United Nations. Greece has, for hundreds of years, symbolized to cultivated Occidentals the highest achievements in the arts and in philosophy. When the Germans, who had viciously denied everything that Greek culture stood for, set their dirty boots on the Acropolis and ran up their barbaric flag on the Parthenon, they outraged the world of the mind and the spirit. Then the familiar stories of plague and starvation began to be heard from Greece; the Germans had brought their customary gifts to a conquered country.

Now, at last, the barbarians are withdrawing from Greece, and in spite of internal troubles the Greek people are drawing together for a final onslaught on the enemy. What a pity there are no Italians on hand to share the defeat!

Too Good For Children

A modern philosopher has said that youth is too fine a thing to be wasted on children; we are inclined to think that this is also true of education. One morning this week, as we stood waiting for a bus, two schoolgirls came toward us mumbling a strongly accented little rant over and over again; when they were near enough for the words to be audible, we made out this:

No nightingale did ever chant
More welcome notes to weary bands.

Over and over they repeated it, coming down heavily on the words chant and bands. Then they changed to this:

Of travellers in some shady haunt
Among Arabian sands.

Then it was clear what they were doing. They were committing to memory Wordsworth's poem The Solitary Reaper.

And they were murdering it. Oh, how they were murdering it! Wordsworth wrote chaunt, to rhyme with haunt, but they had altered the word so that there was no rhyme; they had altered the punctuation so that there was no reason. They obviously hated their task, and nothing would ever make them see any beauty or grace in that poem again. It was hard on Wordsworth and hard on the children.

Consider: in The Solitary Reaper we find, very delicately expressed, the emotions of a grown man, fully adult and a poet, who hears a lonely Highland girl singing to herself in a field. The poem is gossamer; it cannot be ranted by little girls hurrying to school without being utterly destroyed. As the poem is beyond their understanding, it is foolish to impose it on them. And again, we repeat, it is hard on Wordsworth, for if those girls remember his name at all it will be as an old bore who wrote meaningless jingles in which Scotland and Arabia are all mixed up.

Why do we try to educate children? It is a shocking waste of time. An adult can learn as much in a month as a child can learn in a year. Educationists talk about the flexibility of the young mind and the retentiveness of young memories; we doubt the validity of such arguments. An interested adult is always a better pupil than a child.

Would it not be a good idea to try a new experiment in education? Let us find light, productive work for children from the ages of six to eighteen; they could work on municipal treadmills, keep the streets clean, shovel snow and do other necessary jobs. Then, at eighteen, they could go to schools designed for adults, and learn in five years what children at present take twelve years to learn. What is more, they would learn more thoroughly, for they would know what they wanted to learn, and they would not have to be dosed with half-truths in history, and silly evasions in biology, as young children are. And if they wanted to go on to higher education, they could certainly profit more by university work than do students under the present system; a young man who has learned at a snail's pace for twelve years continues to learn at a snail's pace in the university: a man who had learned the rudiments of education quickly would continue quickly.

We do not imagine that educators will be interested in this scheme, but we think that it is logical. The present system is unduly prolonged, wasteful and ineffective in countless cases. Cramming little girls with Wordsworth is not education; it is mumbo-jumbo. But then, the human race has an unflagging appetite for mumbo-jumbo.

Communique From The Word War

Speaking of Premier Drew's Ottawa pronouncement on family allowances a Councillor of the City of Montreal said, "utterances such as yours deserve to be branded as radical". Utterances such as this deserve to be branded as laughably illiterate, and the Ottawa Journal, a good fighter in the Word War, has taken some trouble to set the Councillor straight. The word 'radical' comes from the Latin radicalis, meaning 'pertaining to a root or roots', as anyone who had had two years of High School Latin should know; used of a political matter, the word means 'an advanced view involving political reform on democratic lines'—such is the definition of the Shorter Oxford Dictionary. This being the case, what is wrong with Premier Drew expressing a radical opinion? It seems a pity that the city of Montreal should elect men to its Council who apparently regard the words 'radical' and 'nihilist' as interchangeable. A man who is ignorant about words cannot think straight, and should not be on any responsible governing body.

This is an opportunity to say something about the word 'lady', which is badly knocked about by people who have no feeling for the individual qualities of words. In a letter written to the Hamilton Spectator we find a writer on the subject of beverage rooms who apparently does not know that the word 'woman' exists at all. Although he disapproves of the women who use beverage rooms he cannot bring himself to call them women; apparently he thinks the term too harsh even for female bar-flies. Surely a 'lady' is a woman whose manners (in the broad application of the word) have been consciously raised above the ordinary level? It might also be said that a lady was a woman who had no objection to being called a woman. Women who are insistent on their right to be called ladies rarely have any real claim to that title.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Nazis Try Desperately To Close Breaches", says a headline. We know the trouble; it's those cheap wartime zippers.

Constance Bennett is being divorced from her fourth husband. Constance, eh? What's in a name, as old what's-his-name said.

Winston Churchill has a delightful sense of contrast: At Quebec he gave President Roosevelt a handsomely bound volume of his speeches, with the inscription, "A few more eggs from the old hen".

Mr. Roosevelt has been criticised for fraternizing with Frank Sinatra at the White House, but as that wily politician knows, even the lunatic fringe have votes, and one way to corral them is to make much of a popular idol.

Writing on the popular legend that Americans are speedy, progressive and alert folk, and the British a nation of fogies, a British author points out that the British hold every speed record, on land, on the sea, in the air and on railway tracks.

Farming News and Views

By
HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

CLIMATIC conditions have a large influence on farming. Moisture, warmth and air are among the most important agencies that promote growth when spring opens. It is, therefore, highly important when we lay our land by for winter we have it in a condition that will best promote next year's crop. We have, in this province, the advantage of winter frosts, as nothing will pulverize soil and put in good tilth better than a frost that penetrates well into the land. When they have a mild winter in Britain, we find English farmers complaining that their land, having missed good stiff frosts, requires doube the tilling it otherwise would. This is true, in particular, of their heavy clay soils.

There is some clay land in Ontario, but nothing like what they call their "six horse" land in England. Our clay must be ploughed in the autumn to get reasonably good results. As a matter of fact, spring ploughing for grain crops is not desirable in this province. Neat, well ploughed fields go into winter with good prospects for next season's crop. The furore raised by the book "Plowman's Folly" has died down. Its application could only successfully be made in a semi-arid district, and good ploughing is still a sound feature of farming here. And, let me say, it should be good ploughing. Everything should be turned under, all the trash covered, and a good finish of the ridges with the "rid furrow" well cleaned out but not too deep to bounce into with a binder or combine next harvest.

Where ponds of water are likely to lie, water furrows should be run, and cleaned out with a shovel where they cross the finish of a land. Last year as I went about this province I saw an unusual number of farms well ploughed and with water furrows cleaned out. The wet summer had called the farmer's attention to this necessity and they had kept it well in mind. There is always a danger to forget, but this year is as important as last.

FENCES will be requiring some attention this fall, and right after the freeze up is a good time for that, because there is no time of the year when it is as necessary, as in the early spring the beasts are looking about for a field of easy entry to get an early bite. Do not neglect your fences as complete control of your beast is important. With the fall ploughing all done, including the headlands, and the water courses cleaned out, you can leave your land to the benefits of snow and frost which, of course, is much more effective when the land is left as turned by the plough, and if some stiff clay is a trifle lumpy it will be all to the good.

THIS is clean up time in the stables. I called at W. A. Dryden's farm on my way home from Lindsay Fair, to see a few young bulls he has, and they were quite worth seeing. It was almost dark and a shower of rain didn't help to hold the daylight. William's first admonition was that I should have come in daylight. He turned on the lights with a summer's crop of fly specs, cobwebs and dust on them and said: "You see the whitewash man hasn't got along yet, so we left the sweeping down of the dust until we are sure he will be on hand, and when we get all cleaned and brightened up for the winter, then you can see these calves in the light they deserve." That is one thing the beef cattle man gets away with as the dairy cattle barn must be pretty presentable at all times. Maple Shade is always tidy, no boards lying about the buildings, no doors with a broken hinge and no forks to be tramped on in halls or passages.

However, all stables should be brightened and sprayed with whitewash before going into winter. It adds to the sanitation and the healthfulness of buildings that house all farm animals, and whether or not you have a "Spring cleaning" you should go into the dull days of winter with things brighter.

A SHORT time ago I mentioned the proposed sale of feeder cattle to be held in Little Current, Manitoulin Island, on September 27. The sale was held, and as is often the case with the farm undertakings, the weather did its worst. The sale was on a Wednesday and Monday brought a steady downpour of rain, leaving the cattle pens a sea of mud; Tuesday was anything but promising and Wednesday brought more mud and more cattle to mix it. Though half the cattle had yet to be sorted and penned, the morning of the sale, the whole lot, which numbered 1,742 head, were sold and loaded out for shipment. There were 60 carloads in all and a special run was given them to Toronto in twenty hours.

The prices of such a sale is the crux of the whole matter and they were good. The top load sold for $11.10 per cwt. to J. M. Schneider and Sons, Kitchener. They were nice breedy cattle and would average about 950 lbs. A group of yearlings weighing 600 lbs. each sold for the same price. These were good prices for feeders and the sellers were well pleased. One farmer said the best price he was offered for his cattle all summer was $50 per head and at this sale they brought $74 each. There would be some expense but he had a wide margin and was greatly pleased. A carload of old cows brought $7.65 per cwt. In all the feeder cattle numbered 1,620 and made an average price of $9.25 per cwt. Stewart Brown of Sheddon, was the largest purchaser, buying eight car loads. Jas. Speers, of Winnipeg, bought two cars for his feeding place in Quebec. In all, the cattle were divided among 43 purchasers and realised a total sum of just under $123,000.00.

The organisation work for the sale was done by R. H. Graham of the Ontario Livestock branch and W. S. McMullen of the Dominion Livestock Branch. Both these men deserve not a little credit for their undertaking and the efficient manner in which they carried it out, in spite of great difficulties. Useful public servants of this kind rarely get the credit they deserve for the effective work they do. The useful class of stockers offered was the result, to some considerable extent, of the bull distribution policy of the Federal Department of Agriculture. L. E. O'Neil, Ontario Livestock Director and W. P. Watson, helped to lay the plans, and all agreed that the farmers on the Manitoulin co-operated most satisfactorily. A spring sale of about 1,000 cattle to go on the grass is under discussion already.

THE Annual Shorthorn sales at Klaymor and Glenburn Farms in Unionville, were held early this month. W. J. Russell, James Douglas and Sons, and K. C. Gray were the contributors at Klaymor, and P. H. Deacon and Son, Beath Farms and Murphy Bros. at Glenburn. The top price of the sale was $4,000 paid by James Ewald of Ringwood, Ill., to W. J. Russell for a young bull. Russell had the top for heifers, which was $2,725 paid by W. H. Cuthbert of Dungannon, Ont.

Russell's average on 14 heifers and six bulls, 20 in all, was $1,700. The Douglas top was a heifer, which sold for $2,300, to W. G. Smith of Delhi, Ont. Murphy Bros. top heifer brought $2,000 from H. W. Green of Laurin, Ont. The top heifer of the beef lot was sold to P. P. Law of Weston for $1,300, and Deacon's top price heifer was $1,200 sold to Dodswood Farms, Alton, Ont. The largest single purchaser was Sydney Berry of Lushburn, Sask., who bought seven heifers and one bull, for which he paid $8,340. The cattle were widely distributed among buyers in the United States and Canada. Quite a number remained in the Province of Ontario, while leading buyers in the United States, like Edellyn Farms and Mareilbar Farms of Illinois, were represented. Mr. Thomas E. Wilson, the Chicago packer and W. J. Bartholomay, Chicago, were both in attendance personally. The total proceeds of the two sales amounted to about $82,800 for 92 head, which made an all around average of almost $900.

The Curse Of Storm Windows

By J. H. GRAY

THE arrival of fall is hard enough to take anyway, but if something is not done in the brave new world to rid civilization of the curse of storm windows, put us down with the doubters who have no confidence in the survival of the said civilization.

From Labour Day onward the storm window hangs over the head of the Winnipeg householder like the sword fo Damocles. Dodge and twist as he will, he cannot avoid the thing. The first touch of frost to the dahlias reminds him that the storm windows await his attention. The leaves fall and he is reminded again. Let him go for a troll up the street on a Sunday morning and the fore-handed residents of the neighborhood will be getting out their storm sashes. He can turn his back upon them with a shudder and retreat to his basement and succeed only in barking his shins on the accursed things.

To tackle the storm windows early is to recognize the inevitable—that we are on the threshold of another cold hard winter, that there is nothing much to look forward to but six solid months of coal shovelling. Because we try always to avoid this until the last moment, we put off the storm windows until at least Thanksgiving day.

INEVITABLY it comes up cold. The wind blows and your hands turn blue with the window-washing. And always, just as you have the heaviest window balanced precariously on a ledge, a sudden gust of wind whips around the corner and, if it does not blow you and the window off the ladder, at least it frightens you half to death.

You may tackle the washing job of the storm windows in the basement with spirits high. But, half-way through, the average householder's mood is such that his family flees to the attic to escape. There are no easy ways of washing storm windows; there are only innumerable hard ways. In our youth we once sought to lick the business by laying in a supply of gadgets and sprays. It was sheer delusion, for you come back in the end to soap and water and back-breaking stooping and arm-swinging.

Wash the windows. Dry them. Polish them. Carry them carefuly up the stairs and set them down outside. Haul them up the ladder, get them in place. Then what? You discover, of course, that the inside of the top pane is covered with blotches and streaks. It always happens to the inside, never to the outside where you can get at it. And it always happens at the top where it cannot be reached from the inside. So there is nothing for it but to lug the cursed thing down to the ground and give it a going over. Then it has to be brought back down a third time. to remove all the fingerprints left putting it up the second time.

THE impulse to swear at the streaked window and leave it up must be firmly resisted. We did that once, and every time we looked through it for the rest of the winter the streaks mocked us, reminded us of our weak character, incompetence, and of our stupidity for living in a climate that made storm windows imperative.

It is only at storm-window-time that we understand the modern cliff-dwellers who live in steam-heated apartments. They escape the storm window ordeal. The apartment houses hire people to do the dirty work for them. But what incentive, what lure do they use? Certainly it cannot be money. People will do many things for money, but somehow to offer a man pay, any pay, for putting up storm windows is an affront to human dignity just as storm windows themselves are an affront to the whole human race.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

LONG STRUGGLE FOR WATER

Sir,—In 1932 the owners of this property made application to the city for a water main. The answer was that a main would be put in shortly. Also in 1932, I applied for permission to put in a septic tank. I was informed, "no more septic tanks would be installed."

Eight years later, the adjoining property installed a septic tank. I brought this to the attention of James Dutton, chairman of the Board of Health, asking an explanation. His reply with regard to the septic tank was, "May I point out to you that the Whittington Service Station is not in the city, and any permission given to provide a septic tank was not given by any city official."

It is quite apparent that Alderman Dutton does not know his city.

In the same letter he states, "the cost to lay a main to 'this' property would be almost prohibitive." This property and nine others.

On November 20, 1940, the city completed a sewer from Stewart street to Joe O'Donnell's home on Parkhill road. One property, not nine. I am informed, "it cost as much to lay a main to this one property, as it would to the nine properties on Lansdowne street. In November, 1940, I wrote Mr. Dutton asking why Mr. O'Donnell could have sewer for one house, when there was at least nine houses on this project. No reply!

In June, I had an interview with Mayor Hamilton. He advised me to see Gordon Matthews, chairman of the Utilities.

I had an interview with Mr. Matthews. He said: "If the City Council would give the order to lay the main, they would do it, and if it was not a paying proposition, the city would have to make up the difference."

I said Mayor Hamilton told me that the commission had been asked to put water in.

Mr. Matthews said they had not received any request from the council.

By the courtesy of Little Lake Cemetery officials, I get water in the summer from the cemetery tap, but in winter, I get it from the cemetery greenhouse, a matter of three hundred and sixty yards.

Three of the properties are old ratepayers. My property, 4 Landsdowne, and 48 Lansdowne, are amongst the oldest ratepayers in the city. Then, what are the objections? The excuses the City Council has advanced are:

First,—'too costly.' Is it too costly? There are seventeen houses on Lansdowne and Haggart streets.

Second,—'not able to get the pipes.' The city got all the pipes necessary to lay mains to the properties of Joe O'Donnell and Mr. Dalgleish,—neither are paying propositions.

Three,—'labour shortage.' Lots of men were found for the Nicholls Oval project.

Four,—quote from the Examiner September 26, 1944, 'They were told by City Engineer Parsons that if the sewer was laid to the Harvey place a section of it would be only three or four feet from the surface, exposed to frost penetration and generally an extension that should not be recommended,' unquote.

As a matter of fact the level is three feet two and one-half inches higher at this property—4 Lansdowne, than it is at the end of the sewer at Sherbourne street, the levels, having been taken by a first class engineer, the facts show that when the sewer reaches this property, it will still be the same depth below the surface as it is at Sherbourne street—six feet to bottom of main—plus three feet, two and one-half inches of fall.

As the late Mr. James Lynch jokingly remarked, "In our part of the city, the streets are washed, while you have not water to wash your feet. There is nothing just about it, Harvey!"

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain,
Yours sincerely,
WM. O. HARVEY.
4 Lansdowne street, City.

BETTER NOT BE LATE

An officer was addressing his squadron on the eve of a bombing raid on Kiska.

"Men," he said. "Tomorrow's stunt is one of the toughest we've ever tackled. The enemy has received reinforcements. We are using our oldest planes. There's a hell of a storm brewing. We'll be lucky if one out of four of us gets back alive. We take off at seven sharp. And if any one of you is thirty seconds late, well, he don't get to go!"

A Bible Message

And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away.....

And there came unto me one of the seven angels which had the seven vials full of the seven last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come hither, I will shew thee the bride, the Lamb's wife. And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and shewed me that great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God, having the glory of God: and her light was like unto a stone most precious, even like a jasper stoner, clear as crystal; and had a wall great and high, and had twelve gates, and at the gates were twelve angels, and names written thereon, which are the names of the twelve tribes of Israel.....

And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof. And the nation of them which are saved shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honour into it.....

And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life..(Rev. 21: 1-4, 9-12, 23, 24, 27.)

Tales for Morons

(Ottawa Journal)

The latest cock-and-bull yarn to come from Europe (it was blazoned over the radio on Saturday) tells of Hitler sitting up nights with his astrologer drinking coffee and of an attempt by somebody to poison the coffee.

One would think that after five years of war the public must be tired of such tales, and that those who write them would conclude that, after all, the people of Allied countries aren't all morons.

The Journal has often warned its readers against yarns coming from places like Zurich and Stockholm, notoriously inaccurate and often downright foolish. Lately Madrid and Marseilles and the Paris radio seem to be threatening the supremacy of Bern and Stockholm in this fiction business; so much so that a writer of the Manchester Guardian has been moved to pen the following:

"The moment is plainly conducive
To freedom in rumor; and this
Is the close of a traffic exclusive
Enjoyed by the Swedes and the Swiss.
The poppycock market, extended,
Lies open from Lyons to Ghent,
O Stockholm, thy glory is ended!
O Zurich, they splendor is spent!"

Shudders

A leading American columnist, Mr. Drew Pe[arson], thinks that our Ministry of Information h[as] not done justice to the flying bomb. He blam[es] Mr. Brendan Bracken for failing to let Ameri[ca] know that the terrific sacrifices caused by ro[bot] bombing were comparable with the awful [au]tumn of 1940, and says that when the real st[ory] is told the world will shudder and sympathis[e].

We have not noticed any reluctance on [the] part of the minister to withhold the truth ab[out] these stupid and vindictive attacks by V1, [nor] have we remarked any lack of sympathy f[rom] the outside world. The prime minister mad[e a] very full statement in parliament on July 6, [and] facts and figures have been given the wi[dest] publicity from time to time, after such delay[s in] publication as were judged necessary to k[eep] the enemy in the dark.

But it is "shudders" that Mr. Pearson se[ems] to hanker after; he would like Mr. Bracken [to] make his flesh creep, so that he and the re[st of] the world might enjoy the incomparable s[atis]faction of something like a good cry. In [re]proaching the minister of information he [is] sending his complaint to the wrong address. [The] blame, if blame there be, attaches not to [Mr.] Bracken but to the British people, who ch[erish] the absurd superstition that it is unmanl[y to] squeal when you are hurt, and are content [that] the main facts shall be printed without [sen]timentality.—Yorkshire Post.

Council Chooses Site For Rink

HAVELOCK, Oct. 10 — (ENS) — A special meeting of the council was held last week to deal with the site for a municipal rink.

A communication was received from J. J. Davis, owner of the former Mathison property, offering to rent the valley north of the park for a rink during the winter months of 1944-45 for the sum of one dollar.

while the council would prefer a more central location there seems to be no other site available at present. It has however the advantage of being a sheltered spot and the council will provide lights at the rink and also have three lights connecting at the east end of King street leading into it. Dressing rooms are to be erected at the edge of the woods.

The clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Davis of the councils decision to accept his offer. and to include cheque for rental.

Open Air Rink.

At the meeting of the Park Board a vote resulted in favor of proceeding with an open air rink. Three of the park board members, Carman, Coon, F. McKenzie and S. Southward met with the council after the latter adjourned and Councillors W. Martin and J. W. Ketchin were named to represent the council, Trustee R. Sayers to represent the School Board to meet the Park Board as a rink committee to view the site.

Two Church Groups Hold Joint Meeting

CAVAN, Oct. 10 — (ENS) — The W.A. and W.M.S. of Cavan United Church held their joint meeting for October on Thursday afternoon. The W.A. program was opened with prayer by Miss A. Tinney and Mrs. M. Carr gave a reading. Instead of the annual fowl supper a personal canvass was made of the congregation and $152 has already been collected, with more to come in. Plans were made to give a contribution to the thank-offering collection on Sunday.

Reports Given.

Mrs. (Rev.) W. E. Honey had charge of the devotional exercises of the W.M.S. and Mrs. J. Swain conducted the program, which consisted of a report by Miss Jessie Shauffeur of Springville of the School for Leaders held at Whitby. Mrs Reg. Sutton took up the concluding chapter of the study book, the subject of which was Inspiration of Worship. Mrs. Milton Carr sang a solo, and Mrs. William Seymour gave a paper on Recreation and Temperance.

New York Visitor Lands 25-lb. Muskie

Casting with a red and white pikie minnow on Rice Lake Friday evening around 10 o'clock, Fred Guderian, from North Tonawanda, New York, hooked and landed a 25-pound muskie, despite the fact muskies "don't bite at night."

Mr. Guderian was out for pickerel, and although between him and Mrs. Guderian, 12 nice-sized pickerel were caught, the big 'lunge remains as the highlight of the evening. By no means a novice at fishing in the waters of this district, Mr. Guderian, owner of Serpent-Mounds Villa, on Rice Lake, has caught muskies ranging in weight up to 31 pounds, during the past twenty years he has been vacationing here. It didn't take long to bring the big fish into the boat, he said, and after he smacked it once, it quieted down and was easily hauled in. Before that though, the 'lunge almost leaped into the boat, with the darkness of the night adding to the fun. Mr. and Mrs. Guderian got a thorough soaking in the bargain, but even that doesn't matter, when there's a muskie.

Peterborough and the lake country surrounding it are tops with the Guderians, and no glowing tributes to the district can compete with the fact this is the 20th year of vacations spent here.

Starting Gun

WINDSOR, Oct. 10 (CP). —The composure and dignity of the Windsor City Council was disturbed somewhat when a 1,000-watt light bulb exploded with a loud report and scattered glass splinters in the council chambers just as a council meeting was about to begin. The explosion led to the remark that a "starting gun" had been substituted for the usual rap of the gavel in calling the city fathers to order.

Literary Society Gives Program

HAVELOCK, Oct. 10—(ENS)— The Havelock High School Literary Society held their second meeting of the year Friday aftrnoon.

The program was put on by the Middle School students and was opened with two songs. A reading given by Ross Goheen entitled "Little Mary Cassidy." A poem entitled "Disabled," which told a story about a returned soldier, was read by Carleton Longmuir. A piano solo was played by Betty Holdcroft. The highlights of the program were the school paper read by Cecil Revoy and a quiz between Grades XI and VII. The teams for the quiz were made up of four students from each form, and the questions were on general knowledge, music and riddles, resulting in a win for the Grade XI students. Middle school students furnished articles on sport; Grade X items on wit and humor, and Grade IX gave accounts on current events.

Brock's monument on Queenston Heights, from an engraving by W. H. Bartlett in 1840, and now in the John Ross Robertson collection, Toronto Public Libraries. To the right is the Niagara River, now harnessed to Victory and to the glorious future of Canada Unlimited. The collections of houses are now the communities of Queenston and Lewiston.

"PUSH ON!"

"Here lie the earthly remains of a brave and virtuous hero, Major-General Sir Isaac Brock, commander of the British Forces, and President Administering the Government of Upper Canada, who fell when gloriously engaging the enemies of his country, at the head of the flank companies in the Town of Queenston, on the morning of the 13th of October, 1812, aged 42 years."

Thus reads the inscription on the monument at Queenston Heights, raised where died gallant Brock.

With his last breath he cried: "Push on, York Volunteers!"

And then, faintly: "My fall must not be noticed, nor impede my brave companions from advancing to victory."

"Push on!" Thus the saviour of his country foretold the story of Canada, a story of courageous men and women with faith in their country's future, who sacrificed time and talents, even their lives, to ensure that great future for their children in Canada Unlimited.

History repeats itself. That same faith in Canada is exemplified today by another generation of brave Canadian men and women who have gone to foreign lands to destroy tyranny and secure freedom.

We at home "push on" to Victory, proving our faith in Canada's future when we buy and hold Victory Bonds.

Villains Parade At Tunney Show

PIERRE DE GLANE

Promoter Frank Tunney is staging a parade of bad tempers and mean dispositions in his weekly rodeo at the Brock Street Arena tonight, and the card spells plenty of action.

Irish Jack Kennedy and Karl Krippler Davis supply the main bout, with both of them still hot under the collar by reason of Kennedy's interference with the Davis-Watson clash last week. "I'll teach this bird to mind his own business," Davis declares. "He had no reason to attack me in the ring and he's going to get a receipt for what he handed out." The Irish grappler is equally determined. "I'm going in there to finish what I started last week," Kennedy states, "and all that sounding off by Davis isn't worrying me."

In the semi-final the fiery Pierre De Glane who has a habit of exploding like a bunch of fire-crackers is billed to meet the shaggy exponent of the bear hug, Ivan Rasputin. That shouldn't take long in working up into a lively brawl for Rasputin has been handing it out to all and sundry and De Glane is one of those hot-headed grapplers who sees red without any warning.

And a tough pair of bashing bruisers, Al Bunny Dunlop and Dr. Len Hall collide in the opener. Dunlop was under the weather when he met the hard-hitting Doc some weeks ago and is out for revenge tonight, while the Californian says that the target for tonight is Dunlop and he intends to hit it hard and often. All of which leads up to skulduggery plus.

The Tunney show should have something of everything, with the accent on ruggedness.

Peterborough Collegiate seniors got off to a flying start in the Cossa race Saturday when they invaded Lindsay and walloped Lindsay Collegiate 46 to 12 in the opening game of the schedule. Coach Goulding's boys played smart football to run up that big score, showing speed and resource in their attack and their initial performance was decidely pleasing. The P.C.V.S. team will make its home appearance here Saturday when Bowmanville High School will provide the opposition. The Bowmanville students also opened their campaign with a win Saturday, defeating Oshawa Collegiate in a decidedly low-scoring affair 2 points to 1, with the game played at Bowmanville. Saturday's game here will therefore be a battle between the two winning teams and the squad who come home in front will move out in the van in the Cossa group. The return of P.C.V.S. to interscholastic football has been received with satisfaction by Peterborough fans and they will be out in droves to see Collegiate play its first Cossa game here in several years. The Collegiate gridders have always been popular with local followers of the game and they can be sure of plenty of support in the campaign that has just opened. There will also be a junior game on the card Saturday.

Peterborough's junior rugby squad made their debut yesterday at Riverside Park when they clashed with the well-drilled Toronto Westsides and were finally beaten 15 to 5, after making a real battle of the game. As a matter of fact the Petes carried a 5 to 3 lead well into the third period and were defeated largely through inexperience and a couple of costly fumbles. In possession of the ball they showed some smart plays, one of them a double criss-cross that took the Westsiders completely by surprise. The Petes showed some very promising players and the whole squad had plenty of enthusiasm and fight, in spite of the fact that they were battling a team that has been together for some time. Westsides sparked by Tom Newman and Al Patch, a clever field general and a fine centre half respectively, showed too much power eventually and won the game in the second half with a couple of major scores. Newman's sneaks through the line and his speed when in the open made him the hardest man on the field to stop and his work was responsible for both Westside touchdowns. That Peterborough is hungry for football was shown by the fact that the game, although only an exhibition, drew a real crowd. Only blue note was an unfortunate accident that cost Jakobouski, inside wing player of the Westsides a broken ankle. He was injured in the first half while making a tackle.

Cards Come Through

The Cardinals, snapping out of their lethargy in time to save the reputation of most baseball experts who had called on them to win, are 1944 world champions. Twice behind in the early stages of the series, they finally got rolling in the fourth game and reeled off three straight victories to grab off the annual classic 4 games to 2. Manager Billy Southworth's crew finished the struggle yesterday when they defeated the Brownies 3 to 1, getting ten hits off Nels Potter, Bob Muncrief and Jack Kramer who worked in that order for the American Leaguers. The winning pitcher was Lefty Max Lanier although he was not in there at the finish. Lanier who failed to finish on his other starting assignment only allowed the Browns three hits but he developed a wild streak in the sixth and Southworth got him out of the lineup in a hurry, calling on Ted Wilks who held the losers in complete control for the rest of the pastime, failing to allow a hit. It was sweet revenge for the rookie Cardinal pitcher after being batted out in the third game of the series. The loser of course was the Brownies' leading pitcher Potter who had a season's win record of 19 victories.

* * * * * *

Although it looked during the first three games of the series as if the Cards were not going to get out of the doldrums in which they had been coasting since Labor Day, the National League champs finally got going and in the final three contests got de luxe pitching from Brecheen, Cooper, Lanier and Wilks, who allowed the Brownies only two runs in the three fixtures. And the Cardinal bats, finally began to pour the pine, if not with the power that they had shown most of the season, at least with enough to win three games in a row and end the series. The Dead End Kids of St. Louis Browns made a gallant fight all through the classic but on their season's performance did not rate to beat a club that is regarded by most baseball men as the only outfit in either league that is of pre-war ability. In other words the Cards are looked upon as strong enough to make a showing even if pitted against the kind of opposition that existed before the armed services carried off many of baseball's leading stars.

* * * * * *

The Week-End Games

Cardinal power asserted itself in the two games over the week-end, to back up effective pitching and give the National Leaguers two victories and the lead for the first time in the series. Lefty Harry the Cat Brecheen, in Saturday's game and big Morton Cooper, coming back with a shutout performance Sunday, pitched in a style reminiscent of the great Christy Mathewson. Big Six never worried about allowing a hit or two so long as they didn't come in the clutch and the result was that it was not an unusual thing for him to yield 10 or 11 blows and yet not allow the opposition a run. That was the case with Brecheen and Cooper. The southpaw was touched up for nine hits but bore down in the pinches and the only Brownie run scored while the Cards were reeling of a double play. Cooper's delivery was solved for seven hits but with men in scoring position he held the Brownies helpless. His biggest achivement was hung up in the seventh when he not only had to come up with one of the best defensive fielding plays of the series but also strike out two batters with the bases loaded to hold the losers off the score sheet. Kreevich led off with a single and Moore attempted a sacrifice. Cooper fielded the bunt so fast that he had time to throw Kreevich out at second and the play saved a run for Stephens followed with a single on which Moore ran to third. The big Card pitcher gave the dangerous McQuinn nothing good to hit at and finally walked him to load up the runways. Then he fogged his high hard one past Zarilla and Christman.

* * * * * *

The long ball hitters of the Cards finally found the range and homers by Stan Musial on Saturday and Ray Sanders and Danny Litwhiler Sunday drove in the winning runs. Musial's four master came in the first inning Saturday with Johnny Hopp on first and those two runs were all that the Cards needed, although they eventually got three more. Jakucki only lasted three innings and Hollingsworth and Shirley, relief hurlers, had a lot of trouble, too, although they yielded only one marker. In Sunday's battle, Denny Galehouse, hero of the opening game came through with another four-star effort but he was beaten by the same method that the Brownies used in winning the initial battle for him. Ray Sanders won the argument with a homer over the right-field pavilion in the sixth inning and Danny Litwhiler made Cooper's task easier by lacing another into the right centre field stand in the eighth. Oddly enough Galehouse who gave up four hits, including two doubles in the first three frames, without being scored on, allowed only two more blows in the last seven innings but they were both homers.

London Wants Olympic Games

LONDON, Oct. 10 — (CP-Reuter) —Three British members of the International Olympic Committee today went on record as putting in a bid for the next Olympics to be held in the "scarred and battered" City of London.

The three, Lord Aberdare, Lord David Burghleyla, famous pre-war athlete, and Sir Noel Curtis Bennett, issued a statement to that effect and suggested the games could be held in London with even greater efficiency and with far wider facilities than would have been possible before the outbreak of hostilities.

They said the bid for the next Olympics was in reply to an American statement published here in which Avery Brundage, United States member of the Olympic Committee, advocated early resumption of the international games after the war.

Brundage was reported as saying "London, half-destroyed by bombs, will have a lot more important things to do than stage an athletic meeting after the war," adding "I know that Los Angeles is ready to hold the Olympic games at any time."

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP). — Chick Meehan, who was a good football coach before he blosomed out as a promoter of a new pro league, can't see why other college coaches are worried about the professional "threat"....As Hicks sees it, the pros should make a special effort not to detract from the college coaches' importance....They're all in the same game, he argues, but in different sectors. Of course, they all depend to some extent on the same fans, but Meehan says his Trans-America League is steering shy of cities where Sunday afternoon school or college ball is a big thing....That, of course might be merely showing that Chick is a smart promoter.

The Two-Bitter End

Walt Woods and Harold Bradbury, who work together in Canton, Ill., had a two-bit bet on the opening game of the world series, reports Scribe Jimmy Murphy. Woods won. Next day Bradbury wanted to get even but Woods refused to listen until his pal said: "I'll bet you two bits the Cardinals score in the 11th inning to-day."....Woods, of course, jumped at that one and displayed a red face when the game went into extra innings and the Cards finally won in the 11th.

London Majors stayed in the Ontario senior baseball finals with a 3-0 victory over Welland Steeles at Welland Saturday behind the sparkling four-hit pitching of Tommy White. In the intermediate section of the O.B.A., Chatham Arcades eliminated Toronto Bears from the playoffs Saturday by taking the second game of the best-of-three series 7-2 after winning the first by default. The junior title went to Windsor Ottawa Cartage in straight games. Windsor copped an 8-6 victory over Hamilton Boosters Monday after taking the first game of the series.

Windsor also won the junior Ontario amateur softball championship when the second game of a double-header yesterday with Belleville was forfeited to the Border City crew by the umpire. He claimed Belleville was stalling. The first game of the best-of-three final for the intermediate softball crown was taken by Fort Erie 4-3 at Fort Erie Saturday. Belleville then tied up the series by defeating Fort Erie 8-3 yesterday. The deciding game is billed for Toronto Thursday, and the winning team will meet Sault Ste. Marie in the final.

Wins 5-Miler

Sgt. Scotty Rankine of the R.C.A.F., Canada's premier distance runner of recent years, had too much class for his competitors in the five-mile event of the annual Guelph Thanksgiving Day road races yesterday, stepping the rain-soaked paved course in the time of 27 minutes and 18 seconds. Walter Fedorick of Hamilton was second, 100 yards back, and last year's winner, Whitey Sheridan of Hamilton, finished 100 yards behind him to take third place.

E. E. Barnes of Vancouver was re-elected president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association at the 19th annual meeting at Toronto yesterday.

Jack Allen, manager of Dave Castilloux of Montreal, Canadian lightweight and welterweight champion, announced late night he was agreed with Herman Taylor, Philadelphia promoter, to match Castilloux and Ike Williams, prominent U.S. lightweight, in a bout at the Quaker City November 13. Williams has two victories over Sammy Angott, former world's lightweight champion. Castilloux recently lost a questionable 10-round decision to Joey Peralta, Mexican lightweight titleholder.

Lacrosse Series Tied At 2 Games Each

By ERIC SANDERSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, Oct. 10 (CP) —Captain Bill Wilkes of New Westminster Salmonbellies, British Columbia lacrosse champions, to-day feels that his coaching efforts of the last season have not been wasted.

Reason: his best prospect, 17-year-old Hildebrand, last night scored four goals as the coast titleholders downed St. Catharines Athletics, Ontario champions, 13-4 here in the second game of the best-of-five series for the Canadian championship.

The victory tied the series at one game apiece. St. Catharines won the first game 17-10 here Saturday night. Third game will be played here to-night.

Ike, a shifty player and fast on his feet, drew his check out of position each time to count. He scored three in the second quarter, added another in the fourth and passed to Frank Richardson, who sank the final goal of the game.

Athletics were unable to organize the same passing attacks they used in winning their first game and their defencemen left goalie Bill Whitaker unprotected on many occasions. During the match Whitaker stopped 29 direct shots and Walt Lee 21.

New Westminster, last year's champions and finalists for the national crown 16 times in the last 25 years, outplayed Athletics in every quarter except the first when St. Catharines finished on the long end of a 2-1 count. The fishmen held them scoreless in the second while netting five and were ahead 8-3 going into the last quarter. Three of the second-quarter goals were scored while Bob Nelson was serving a minor penalty for slashing.

Other goal scorers for Salmonbellies were Bill Wilkes and Ritchie McPherson, with two each, Berty Bryant, Bill Dickinson, Ralph Douglas and Johnny Dale. Nelson, Bob Thorpe, Norm MacDonald and Royn (Pung) Morton scored for St. Catharines.

FROM INDIA TO COVER SERIES—Billy Southworth, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, is interviewed by Sergt. Kerr, sports editor of the China-Burma-India Roundup, an army newspaper, was assigned to come all the way from New Delhi, India, to cover the series. The assignment is reported to have been ordered by General Stilwell himself. The Cards won the world series yesterday four games to two.

Cardinals Capture World Series Strike-Out Record Shattered

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10 — (AP). — The best team in baseball won the World Series and that's as it should be.

Superb pitching and perfect infield play by St. Louis Cardinals with an occasional flash of plate power cooled off the Browns' hot streak and left them losers 4-2 in games after a tough struggle.

Overshadowed by the total of 92 third-strike victims that swept all series records off the books was the routine destruction of American League rallies engineered by shortstop Marty Marion and the other Cardinal infielders. The Red Bird quartet handled 124 chances without a boot while the Brownies inner circle bobbled seven of 126 tries.

It was pitching again in yesterday's finale played before a crowd of only 31,630, when Billy Southworth's crew regained the world championship they lost to the Yankees a year ago. Outstanding in the National's 3-1 clinching victory was the relief pitching of Freshman Ted Wilks who failed miserably on his only start in the third game.

Wilks on Top

He stopped the Browns without a hit in 3 2/3 innings after starter Max Lanier went on a wild streak in the sixth.

Wilks fanned four and Lanier whiffed five, making it 49 strike-outs thrown by the Card staff for another new record. The previous high for a six-game set was 44 hung up by the Chief Bender-Jack Coombs-Eddie Plank trio for the Athletics against the Giants in 1911.

Three singles mixed in with a costly error by Vern Stephens and a walk in the fourth inning scored three runs, overcame the Browns' 1-0 lead and meant the ball game.

Attendance held up satisfactorily, and the first all-St. Louis classic drew 206,708 paid to become the fifth successive million-dollar series with the help of $100,000 in radio rights that boosted the receipts to $1,006,122.

Individual player cuts were below the standard of recent years. The Cards' approximate winning slice of $4,334 and the losers' cheques for about $1,842 was reminiscent of 1933 and 1920 for respective previous lows.

Although the victors out hit the Browns, .240 to .183, George McQuinn, Luke Sewell's only consistent performer at the plate, led both teams with a .438 average and drove in five of his club's 12 scores. Emil Verban, the Cards' weak-hitting second baseman picked up three for three the last day for a .412 mark that topped Walker Cooper's .318 and Stan Musial's .304. They were the only .300 hitters among the regulars.

Four Homers

There was no standout hero and nobody wore the goat's horns. Mort Cooper's feat of striking out 12 men, only one short of Howard Ehmke's all-time record in Sunday's game probably was the biggest thrill. For the Browns, Mark Christman's failure to hit was a major disappointment.

The Cards started swinging loosely for the fences Saturday as Harry (the Cate) Brecheen pitched himself in and out of trouble to come up with his first series victory 5-1. Cooper's 2-0 win over Denny Galehouse in one of the prettiest duels in recent years was the payoff. Even the most rabid Brownie fans were prepared for yesterday's defeat.

The series tide turned in Saturday's fourth game when Stan Musial found his batting eye and hammered a home run, a double and a single to spark a Card attack which saw starter Sig Jakucki driven from the mound and two successors roughly handled.

Cardinal power continued to make the difference Sunday as Ray Sanders and Danny Litwhiler punched a pair of Galehouse's slants into the bleachers for the only two runs of an otherwise air-tight mound duel.

Only four home runs were registered in the six games and three of them came off Cardinal bats. Laabs of the Browns and W. Cooper of the Cards hit the only triples. Each team had nine two-base blows. The Cards out hit the Browns 49-36 on the series.

Little World Series Tied At 2-All

BALTIMORE, Oct. 10— (AP) — Their Little World Series squared at two-all, Louisville Colonels and Baltimore Orioles meet to-night in Municipal Stadium where last night a record minor league crowd of 52,833 persons saw Louisville take a 5-4 decision.

Ray Patton was credited with the victory for the American Association champions, but his cause was aided considerably by some great relief hurling on the part of Dwight Simonds, who entered the fray after Patton weakened in the sixth.

The crowd, first to see a Little World series in Baltimore since 1925, topped Sunday's 1944 World Series throng of 36,568.

Manager Harry (Nemo) Liebold named the ace of his staff, Jim Wilson, to face the International Leaguers tonight. Wilson handcuffed the Orioles in the opener at Louisville 5-3. Abrose (Bobo) Palica, who started that game for Baltimore was manager Tommy Thomas' choice.

Louisville took the lead in the first inning last night, but the issue was not decided until Simonds pulled out of a hole by striking out three Oriole batters in the ninth.

Used 4 Hurlers.

Baltimore used four pitchers, starting off with Lefty Kleine, who didn't last the first inning. He was followed by Johnny Podgajny, Sam Lowry and Roland Van Slate.

Kleine was taken out as the Colonels scored a run in the first on three singles and an outfield fly. Nick Polly, Louisville third baseman, clouted one of Podgajny's fast balls into the left field stands for a home run with one on in the third. Steve Barath hit another to give the visitors a 4-0 lead in the same inning. Louisville added another in the fourth on two singles and a sacrifice.

Frankie Skaff started things off for Baltimore in the sixth by getting on base. Sherm Lollar hit safely and Pat Riley, batting for Podgajny, walked to fill the bases. Blas Monaco popped out and then Bob Latshaw slammed a triple to put the Orioles back in the running.

Latshaw, after doubling, scored the remaining Oriole run in the ninth as Polly threw wild to first for the only error of the game, but Simonds struck out Lollar with the winning run on base to end the threat.

Baltimore took both week-end contests at Louisville, edging the Colonels 7-4 in 14 innings Sunday after breezing to an 11-0 victory Saturday night.

HAVELOCK, Oct. 10 —(ENS) — At the opening meeting of the local Home and School Association the officers elected at their previous meeting were insalled by F. B. Smitheran, public school inspector of Peterborough.

The officers are: President, Mrs. W. Woodbeck; first vice-president, Mrs. D. J. Holdcroft; second vice-president, Mrs. J. Wilde; secretary, Mrs. F. Bennett; treasurer, Mrs. C. He said it was the patient piecing together of the old and new ways that brought the advancement, and in his opinion the world was not getting worse as some people thought, but was gradually advancing along the upward path and as the schools attempted to modify their courses they needed the support of the parents and community.

A health play was put on by the pupils of Miss V. Buchanan's room entitled "Friendly Brushes," with the following taking part: Billy Innis, Joan Taylor, Hazel Edwards, Eleanor Scott, Donald Edwards, Gayle Simpson, Leo Turpin, Georgina Hubble, Glenore Stevenson, Jimmy Smith, Samuel Hearns.

The treasurer, Mrs. C. Taylor, reported the sum of $58.87 on hand and the shield for the room having the largest number of parents present at the meeting was won by Miss V. Buchanan's room.

Paris Styles

SOUTH SHIELDE, England, Oct. 10 — (CP) — A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, said today that the Royal Navy already had a formidable fleet in the Indian Ocean and that plans to move warships to the Pacific were going ahead rapidly.

He told a meeting of seamen that the British home fleet constantly was on guard against any activity but what remains of the German fleet, which he said still must be considered seriously.

Says Mr. Gold Seal "I'M AT MY BEST WHEN THE CHIPS ARE DOWN"

"I'm a much more determined character than I look: You see, I have an inborn sense of responsibility. That's why, in addition to devoting our machine-shop exclusively to armament specialties, I accepted the challenge of wartime shortages and went all-out to maintain the quality of my product, Congoleum Gold Seal Rugs and Congoleum by-the-yard. I reflected that by thus assuring a dependable source of colourful, cheery, work-saving, budget-easing floors, I would in my own quiet way, be doing a real morale job. And thousands of Congoleum fans across Canada, seem to agree with me."

YOUR SPINE AND YOUR HEALTH

Every function of the living body is directly and indirectly under the control of the nerve system. Since the nerves radiate to all parts of the body from the spinal cord, they must pass between the bones of the spine to reach their destination.

because of this close relationship to the spine, it is obvious that any derangement or malalignment of vertebrae of the back bone not only throws the entire supporting skeletal system out of order, with resulting stresses and strains on all organs, but it interferes with the normal function of the nervous system.

Pumpkin Crop Is Ready To Pack

Pumpkins will start rolling to Canada Packers Wednesday or Thursday for the last processing of district vegetables.

"We packed between 375 and 380 tons of pumpkins last year," said Ernie Ford, department manager, "but our expectations are for something less than that volume this season."

Packers' pumpkins are grown mostly in Smith, Emily and North Monaghan townships on a contract basis with farmers, and they are hauled to the local plant in five and six ton truck loads. First they get a thorough washing, then they are chopped and the seeds removed, and they go on to the big steamers and finally are packed.

"We have just finished a big tomato pack," Mr. Ford said, "and there are some changes to be made and generally to get ready for the incoming pumpkins. The long week-end also intervened or we might have begun this last pack today."

MISSING FLIER SAFE — Warrant Officer Russell Davidson, who was officially reported missing 19 months ago, has arrived in the United Kingdom, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson, Keene, have been notified.

Bethel Baptist Marks 5th Anniversary

Sunday marked the fifth anniversary of the work of Bethel Baptist Church in Peterborough and also the third anniversary of the opening of the new church building situated on New Romaine and Mervin avenue.

Rev. L. E. Jones has been the pastor since the organizing of the church five years ago and Mr. Bruce Quinn has very capably acted as church organist for the same period of time.

Combining the anniversary services with thanksgiving, the church was attractively decorated with flowers, sheaves of wheat, corn and varieties of vegetables and fruits, reminding the congregation of God's bountiful provision for His people.

The day was definitely missionary, as it was the opening day of the annual week of missions. Rev. T. Titcombe and Rev. F. H. Stanley, both pioneer missionaries with the Sudan Interior Mission were the missionary speakers.

These men have been wonderfully used of God in Africa where they labored for many years among cannibal pagans, and Moslem.

In the morning service Mr. Titcombe told of the wonderful progress the gospel had made, since 1909, in the hearts and lives of thousands of pagans. In some areas congregations over two thousand natives gathered themselves together to hear the gospel preached. Mr. Titcombe based his remarks on Luke 5: 1-11 using as his text "Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught." The application being that if the church of today were as obedient and faithful as the desciples of old, what an ingathering of precious souls would be caught in the gospel net both at home and on the foreign mission field.

The Sunday School was well attended, Mr. Stanley showing and telling of many interesting African curios.

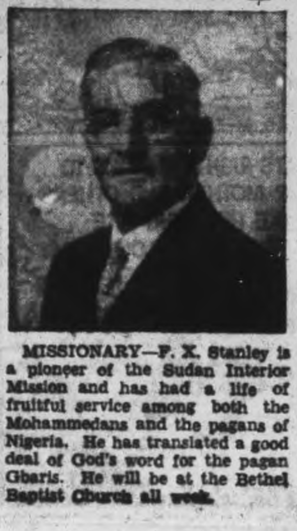
Mr. Stanton Whitehead also spoke briefly at the Sunday School session. Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead, former members of Bethel Baptist Church will be leaving in the near future for Nigeria under the Sudan Interior Mission.

In the evening service the members and many friends received another stirring message, when Mr. Titcombe spoke from Isaiah 43 emphasizing the 11th verse "I even I am the Lord; and beside me there is no Saviour."

J. Richards Wounded By Mine Explosion

Pte. John Richards, a former Genelco employee, serving in France as a stretcher bearer with the North Nova Scotia Highlanders, was wounded in a mine explosion, and suffered a fractured hip and multiple wounds.

Prior to working in Peterborough, Pte. Richards was a farm laborer and for several years made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hayes, R.R. 1 Indian River. He enlisted at Peterborough in June 1943 and went overseas in December, where he served with the Black Watch, later transferring to his present unit. A brother in Toronto is next of kin.



MISSIONARY—F. X. Stanley is a pioneer of the Sudan Interior Mission and has had a life of fruitful service among both the Mohammedans and the pagans of Nigeria. He has translated a good deal of God's word for the pagan Gbaris. He will be at the Bethel Baptist Church all week.

$200,000 Objective Reached In Memorial Centre Drive Final Total May Reach $225,000

"We have attained our $200,000 objective, and are somewhere beyond it, possibly going to $225,000 before all contributions are in and counted, and the Peterborough Memorial Centre is already a long way toward erection and final accomplishment."

That was the statement this morning of J. A. Jebson, chairman of the general committee of the Peterborough Memorial Centre Fund.

"The citizens and industries of Peterborough have done a wonderful thing," said Mr. Jebson, "and it isn't quite complete yet, because we know of many promises of cheques that we have not the least doubt about. They are good as money in the bank, but they are not yet in our hands. I would like to say a whole lot in complimenting Peterborough on this latest community success, and tell them that we stand today before the rest of this province as having made a big success of the financing of this project.

If you will look in the brochure which the committee had published as a means of informing the people what we were planning to do, what was the outline of the project you will see that we set down as expected totals,—$100,000 from the industries of Peterborough; and $100,000 from the general canvass of the citizens.

That is a total of $200,000, and as I mentioned before our last total Saturday night was something in excess of that figure. John E. Keyes, chairman of the finance committee of the Fund, took a holiday over the week-end, and I want to say that he certainly earned it during the last three weeks."

Mr. Jebson said that citizens generally and the committee itself had been thinking in ultimate terms of $300,000.

"And we are still hoping to get it," he added. "I simply have to wait until we get the present figures from Mr. Keyes, and our committee is working on through the week on parts of the job that just did not get done. Then we have other money promised, and I feel certain that there are still quite a number of citizens who want to see us make the fully rounded success of $300,000.

When you think of how well Peterborough has done, and it has been a grand job, would there not be a great deal more satisfaction for everybody if we kept on going this week to that higher objective of $225,000, and then if the people pass the bylaw for $75,000, we shall have made as a community and people a perfect job of our Memorial Centre and the rest of it is up to those who will have the responsibility of the actual details of planning and building."

Mr. Jebson said he would like to make some further comment when later reports are available from the finance committee, but for the first day after the close of the campaign he wished to thank everybody on behalf of the project and what it represented and the effort put into it for "a grand accomplishment in community giving."

Ottawa Minister And His Wife Are Heard At Service Of Christian Business Men

The second of a series of evangelistic services to be held by the Peterborough branch of the Christian Business Men's Committee International was held on Sunday evening when a large audience was present to listen to a message by word and song from Rev. Archie McGillvray, assistant pastor of the Metropolitan Tabernacle, Ottawa, and his wife. A song service led by Alylmer Moore of Peterborough began the service at 8:30. After an introduction by Gordon Hartshorn, chairman of the meeting, the guests of the evening contributed several musical numbers, indicating their talents in the singing of the Gospel message through the hymns well known to Christians.

The theme of the speaker's message centred around the Cross, the most powerful and the most loved symbol in the world; not the crooked cross of the Swastika, but the cross on which, 1900 years ago, our Saviour was crucified on the hill known as Calvary.

It was at Calvary that the world had its greatest tragedy and yet from this place throughout the centuries has come the inspiration that has led men to give their lives in the service of this man, Christ Jesus, who was crucified in order that men believing in him, should be saved.

The speaker referring to the two malefactors who were crucified one on his left and the other on his right said no doubt these men even if they had not actually met Jesus before, had heard something about his ministry, his healing of the sick, restoring sight to the blind, and raising the dead. Yet one died mocking the Saviour, the other died pleading for mercy, one died in sin, the other by his repentance died without sin. The central figure, our Saviour, he died for sin, that all those who believing in him and confessing their faith should be saved.

Sin is an eternal fact. It has polluted the stream of civilization since the beginning of Time. It is present in our National Life, our Home Life, and our Private Life. It has brought nations to ruin, homes to destruction and lives to despair, over and over again. All have sinned and come short of the Glory of God, and the only antidote is that whereas by one man sin entered the world, so by one man, even our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, is there remission and forgiveness of sin. At the service next Sunday the Rev. John MacLeod of Stratford will be the speaker. The special music will be announced later.

DIEPPE VETERAN KILLED—A veteran of the epic Dieppe raid, Pte. Jack Irwin, whose wife, formerly Yvonne Brioux, of Peterborough, now lives in Toronto, was killed in action September 16 while serving with the 48th Highlanders in Italy.

Lakehurst Group Gives Aid To Robot Victims

Ladies' Aid groups formed from within any church are of course primarily organized to assist the particular church to which they belong, their helpfulness extending itself to many features of the congregational welfare, which perhaps is or would never be fully realized unless one suddenly had to do without them.

In a similar manner, the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund has every cause to be thankful for many a group of ladies who have supported its endeavors on behalf of the cause it seeks to serve, among whom have been a number of such groups from such church organizations of all creeds and denominations, giving it a universality that it really deserves, for the benefits that the recipients thus receive are subject to no conditions whatever, except that of the need and necessity occasioned by the misfortunes of war.

All church organizations who can go out beyond their own immediate circle of needs, to carry assistance to others far distant who are in need of help, are really truly upholding the tenets of the teachings of the Great Master, in whose name they are banded together, and in a sense they cannot but help strengthen their own and other individuals' faith in the great mission that Christianity has in a world that is still full of a great many evils, which call for some such effort that the effects of such evils may be counteracted.

In the rural districts, church organizations do not have a large field to draw upon for the raising of money, and much of what they do in this direction, oftentimes finds a ready use in their own immediate sphere of influence, so it stands all the more to the credit of the Ladies' Aid of Knox Church at Lakehurst, that the nice sum of $29.65 has been given by them through their treasurer, Mrs. J. G. Elliott, to help the sufferers in Britain, who have been afflicted through the devastation caused by robot or flying bomb attacks made by the enemy on that country in very recent times.

Perhaps in the days to come they will remember that this particular gift made by them, enabled the fund to cross another milestone in its record of good by passing the $82,000 mark in money raised for the humanitarian purposes it serves.

Vegetable Growers Help.

The Peterborough Vegetable Growers' Association has on more than one occasion taken time out to do a good deed for the public welfare, this fund on more than one occasion having cause to speak of their good work, through the assistance they have given in a practical way.

Through the good offices of their president, Fred Stinson, supported to the utmost by Herb Doig, at whose stand on the market the event will be held, this group will hold a sale of vegetables next Saturday, October 14, to give the fund another of their good assists, and members, friends and any of the farming community who can assist by giving donations of kind to help this forward, may leave their gifts at the aforementioned stand for that purpose. It will be greatly appreciated.

County Council Hears Request Re Highway 28

Apart form Peterborough's project of a municapl airport, requiring diversion of No. 28 Highway west of the "fox farm" road, the Department of Highways is planning an alternation of the present course of the highway in a blue print of past-war revision of the present approach to the city.

This statement was made by Warden Isaac Anderson, quoting J.D. Miller, Deputy Minister of Highways, in a discussion on this morning of the request of a deputation from the city council asking for the county's support for a diversion that would provide the only suitable airport site in the district.

Alderman Bradburn, chairman of the special airport committee, headed the deputation with Mayor Hamilton, Alderman Glover and Sands and City Engineer Parsons. The city's request was similar to its recent request to the council of North Monaghan for their endorsation of an airport project which the council has been considering for some time for eventual reference to the city voters for their approval.

County Council did not reach a decision this morning, but Warden Anderson stated that a diversion of the westerly approach to Peterborough would be an eventual development by the Department, even if the city did not proceed with its airport ambitions.

Reeve M. H. Johnston, North Monaghan, told the council that North Monaghan had expressed assent to the project on conditions that adequate compensation was included for township property owners who would be affected by the re-routing of the present Peterborough-Port Hope Highway east of Scott's Corners.

Oshawa Camper Nearly Drowns

GORE'S LANDING, Oct. 10. —(ENS).—Dalton Fickes of Oshawa, who was spending the holiday week-end at Gore's Landing, was taken to the Cobourg General Hospital Sunday morning, following a near drowning. His condtiion to-day is reported to be improving.

Mr. Fickes, 60, was accompanied by his wife and son, to his cottage at Harold's camp. About 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, he took a rowboat and went out fishing alone. When he hadn't returned at midnight, his wife and son took another boat and began a search.

They located him about 100 yards south of Black Island and he was clinging to his overturned boat. Since he was a big man, the two had considerable difficulty in getting him into their boat, but finally managed to roll him over the edge. He collapsed unconscious as soon as they pulled him from the water.

Dr. Richards of Cobourg, was called, and when the patient became delirious Sunday morning, he was taken to Cobourg Hospital. Mr. Fickes' watch stopped at 7 o'clock Saturday night, and it is believed that he must have been in the water from that time.

Searchers Find Body Of Lindsay Man

LINDSAY, Oct. 10 —(ENS) — Eight days after he was reported missing from his farm home three miles east of Lindsay. The body of Walter Harkin, 60, was found in the Scugog river on Saturday by Robert Reynolds and Donald Lamb.

Harkin, a lifelong resident of Ops township, left home before day break on September 29, without saying anything to his two brothers and sister with whom he had been living. We was in a despondent state of mind resulting from a nervous breakdown and search parties were immediately organized with farmers, Lindsay citizens, firemen and police all joining in the day-by-day search of the entire district. Dragging operations in the nearby Scugog river were made impossible by heavy weeds. The body was discovered by one of the patrol boats, floating nearby the Lindsay street bridge. The funeral will be held this afternoon from Anderson's Chapel. An inquest will not be held.

Mr. Harkin is survived by two brothers and six sisters, Norman, Herbert and Charlotte with whom he had been living, also Mrs. James Robertson, Mrs. Joseph Robertson, Mrs. Thomas Currins, Mrs. John Twohey all of Ops township, and Miss Laura Harkin of Toronto.

ALL THE Extra VITAMINS AND MINERALS ... SHE NEEDS

Authorities say the difference between husky children and those who are poor eaters, underweight, and nervous is often simply a matter of proper nourishment, especially an adequate supply of vitamins and minerals.

But don't worry about vitamins and minerals! Children who eat 3 average-good meals including fruit juice, and drink 2 glasses of Ovaltine each day, are getting all the extra vitamins and minerals they need.

In addition to its well-balanced food values, Ovaltine adds significant amounts of Vitamins A, B_1, and D and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron. So, if your child is not developing normally, remember this rule:

3 good meals plus 2 glasses of Ovaltine every day.

HIGH POLISHED LEATHER — The favorite shoe for casual footsteps in all age groups appears to be the low or wedge-heeled mocassin in one version or another. A far cry from the original teepee mocassin, today's shoe is stoutly made, becomingly shaped, and often of leather which takes a high, handsome polish.—By Prunella Wood.

Marguerite Neals Is Wed In Bethany Church

BETHANY, Oct. 10.— (ENS). — The marriage of Miss Marguerite Clare Neals, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Neals of Lifford, to William Donald Cathcart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cathcart, of Springville, was an interesting event of Saturday afternoon in the United church. Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Bethany, heard the marriage vows. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with baskets of cut flowers in autumn tints and ferns.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory brocaded satin made on princess lines with a long train. Her veil of embroidered silk tulle with coronet was held in place with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

They both wore necklaces of pearls, Queen Ann white English shoulder-length veils and carried bouquets of yellow small chrysanthemums.

Miss Laura Neals of Peterborough, presided at the organ for the wedding music and also accompanied Miss Mary Robson of Peterborough, who sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" as the bride entered the church and during the signing of the register, "I Love You Truly."

Mr. Manson Cathcart was groomsman for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Verne Mulligan of Bethany cousin of the bride, and Mr. Harold Cathcart, Jr., brother of the groom.

Guests numbering seventy attended a reception held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother received wearing a lime green wool dress wtih black accessories and a corsage of rose marie roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a dark green dress with accessories of brown and a corsage of bettertitme roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip west. For travelling the bride chose a rose wool dress with black accessories and a beige coat. Upon their return they will reside on the groom's farm at Springville.

Patricia Duffus Becomes Bride

A pretty wedding of interest took place Saturday in St. Peter's Cathedral, set with yellow 'mums, when Patricia M. Duffus, Reg. N., daughter of the late William A. Duffus, and Mrs. Duffus, of Peterborough, became the bride of Leonard Joseph Gouin, son of Mrs. Jane Gouin, of Toronto, and the late Ludger Gouin. Rev. K. Malane officiated. Miss Veronica Scollard, A.T.C.M., was at the organ, and accompanied the solist, Miss Marion O'Toole, who sang "Panis Angelicus," during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Bert Duffus, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white brocaded satin, with Sweetheart neckline, white tulle veil, and carried a white prayer book. She was attended by Miss Rita Gouin, sister of the groom, in a floor-length gown with pink brocaded satin bodice and taffeta and net skirt.

Joseph Duffus, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Isadore Goiun, brother of the groom, and Charles Duffus, brother of the bride.

At the reception, held in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A., the bride's mother received the guests in a black and white two-piece ensemble, with matching hat, and a rose corsage. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore a two-piece purple dress, with black accessories, mink furs and a corsage of roses.

For a wedding trip to Toronto and St. Catharines, the bride chose a brown dress and coat, with matching accessories, and a corsage of pink roses. On thier return, Mr. and Mrs. Gouin will reside at 512 Aylmer street.

Warsaw W.M.S. Visits Lakefield

WARSAW, Oct. 10 (ENS).—Three carloads of women motored to Lakefield to hold their October meeting of the Women's Missionary Society at the home of Mrs. David Miller.

It was decided to have a tea and show lantern slides around the first of November. Mrs. Snelgrove was asked to be in charge of the devotional service for the sectional rally at Bridgenorth October 18.

Mrs. Stewart Clysdale, leader of Group D, presided for the program. Mrs. Hawthorne read Scripture lesson, Luke 10: 25-37, and sang "Abide With Us." The service of worship was given by Mrs. Gordon Payne and Mrs. John Morgan, and Mrs. Tucker led in prayer. Mrs. George Taylor gave the first chapter of the study book, "West of the Date Line." Mrs. Miller read a portion of Fuzy Wuzzy Angels followed by prayer by Mrs. Clysdale.

WMS Members Increase Giving

Each member was asked to increase her regular giving by $1.25 ot the October meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Knox United church. It was explained that since missionaries in war-torn countries are finding salaries inadequate to meet the high cost of living, W.M.S. groups are asked to give more to make up the difference.

It was decided to donate $5 to the Knox Branch of the Red Cross, for their Christmas parcels, and it was announced that Adjutant Velma Graham of the Salvation Army Recreation Centre, will address the women's societies of the church on the last Sunday in October.

Mrs. H. Lewis and Miss E. Somers demonstrated the next chapter in the study book, "West of the Date Line," and Mrs. C. Gertley, assisted by Mrs. R. Hall and Mrs. J. Grainger, conducted the devotional period. Mrs. J. Halcrow was soloist.

LOVE MUST BE KEPT BURNING

Married Folk in Middlelife Avoid Senseless Quarrels, Show Little Attentions

A young couple who are about to be married ask how they can keep their love alive and make their marriage a success.

Well, children, you keep the sacred flame of love burning in your hearts just the same way you keep the kitchen fire going, by stoking it. You have to keep putting fresh fuel on it all the time, or else it burns itself out and leaves you nothing but a handful of dead ashes that you can never blow into flame again.

Never cease being lovers. Keep up your technique of courtship. Never take each other for granted. Neither one of you are mind-readers. You have to be told that each of you thinks the other a world beater and that your marriage was made in Heaven.

Change your line to meet current conditions, and when one charm plays out substitute another just as potent. When a wife's youth and beauty fade and she gets the middle age spread, she needs more than ever to tell her husband how wonderful he is and how glad she is she got him. When a husband loses his hair and acquires a tummy is a psychological moment for him to get busy plying his wife with the little attentions that women crave. The forties call for heavy lovemaking, for husbands and wives never observe that the other is slipping as long as they are agreeable to live with.

Senseless Quarrels Wreck Most Marriages

On your wedding day take a Bible oath that you are not going to argue, no matter what the provocation. Senseless quarrels wreck more marriages than sirens, or drink, or anything else in the world. Don't delude yourself into believing that the daily spat is an innocent indoor amusement. It ain't. It kills love. It destroys the peace of a home and is first aid to divorce.

Don't try to make your wife or husband over. Marry what you want in the first place, instead of tying up with some unfortunate girl or boy and trying to change him or her to your heart's desire. There never was a happy home that had a critic on the hearth.

Don't let your children separate you. The most dangerous rival that any man ever has is his first baby. Up to the arrival of Junior he and his wife have been sweethearts. He was the one his wife catered to. But too often afterwards he is just the man who pays the bills for the children. Don't give all your time and attention to the kids. Remember that we have our children with us for only about twenty years, but we have our husbands and wives for keeps, if we have had enough sense to keep up our fences.

Be chums. Keep in touch with each other. Interest yourself in the other's interests. If wives would listen with an absorbed expression while their husbands talked to them about their business and their plans and hopes, and if husbands wouldn't answer with grunts while their wives tried to tell them about their housekeeping and clubs, there wouldn't be so many forlorn old couples sitting up yawning in each other's faces.

It takes a bit of doing, as the English say, to make a marriage a success, but it is worth all the labor and though you put into it.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, October 11

A long chain of harmonious and propitious planetary aspects indicate a day of happy, progressive, and possibly thrilling events in which the more personal and social or domestic affairs are uppermost, although a kindred prosperous, warming and expansive state of affairs may pervade business, professional and financial activities. It is advisable to deal with those in prestige and community standing, as the friendship of these is potent, and worthwhile. Press for high objectives and cherished goals, not slighting romance and adventure. Trivial anxieties may be swept away, by good nature and finesse.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of assured progress and expansion, in which ambitions may be developed by efficient and resourceful measures, supported by the influence and friendship of those in high places. Cultivate these, meet obstacles with force but finesse, dare to aspire to new or dynamic goals, although radical change may be involved, and all should flourish. Social, domestic and love affairs may also be under fine stimuli for gracious and joyous events, with probably festivities and conviviality. Romance and surprising friendships are important this year.

A child born on this day should have great efficiency and versatility, capable and resourceful as well as ambitious. It should atttract those in high places who will assist to ambitious goals, with romance and adventure in private affiliations.

GALA GOWN—The long skirted dinner dress is definitely among those present at any dress-up evening occasion and is coming more and more into the fashion picture as the season waxes. New York designer Joseph Whitehead does this gracious dinner dress on black satin and fills in the deeply cut decolletage with a net yoke embroidered in bright blue sequins.—By Alice Alden.

WARNE'S JEWELLERY

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Most of us, nowadays, are busier than ever before. Therefore, we should all have on hand a collection of time-saving recipes and a well-filled vegetable freshener in the refrigerator to fall back on. No hoarding, mind you, but just a few canned and packaged products for those many occasions when jobs or important war work keep you out until almost dinnertime.

Asparagus Surprise

Place thin slices of tomato on rounds of lightly-toasted bread in a greased baking dish. Cover each with canned asparagus tips and thinly sliced hard-cooked eggs. Cover with well-seasoned canned tomato soup (of course you will have a supply of vitamin C tomatoes in this handy-to-serve form). Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) until it is heated through and the crumbs have browned.

Honey Glazed Vegetables

Cook young carrots, onions, peas or hubbard quash by steam-cooking method. Drain and arrange in a shallow casserole. Dot with butter, then spread with honey. Bake in moderate oven for 20 to 30 minutes. Serve with lemon slices.

Turnip Puffs

2 cups mashed yellow turnips, 1 cup mashed potatoes, 2 egg yolks, 2 egg whites beaten stiff. Cook turnips until tender, drain well, put through a strainer. Combine turnips and potatoes and beat well. Add egg yolks and beat again. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Pile in mounds on greased baking dish. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) until brown.

New England Sweet Potatoes (Sugar saving recipe)

4 sweet potatoes, ¼ cup maple syrup, 3 apples, salt, butter, marshmallows. Boil potatoes with their skins on until just tender. Pare, quarter and core apples and slice very thin. Place a layer of potatoes in greased baking dish, sprinkle lightly with salt and cover with thin layer of apples. Dot with butter and repeat, having the top layer potatoes. Pour in the maple syrup. Cover and bake in a moderately hot oven for 20 minutes. Top with marshmallows, cut in halves crosswise and placed on potatoes, cut side down Put in oven until marshmallows are golden brown.

SECRET WEAPON

MELBOURNE, Australia — (CP). — The American soldier was standing beside his foxhole when a Japanese opened up with a machine-gun. He dived in and the bullets missed him. But one of the bullets knocked down a coconut from a palm above him. It broke his leg.

LIFE can Begin AFTER 40, IF..
Around 40 our energy lessens. But, experience has taught us to do our work with less effort. The years ahead should yield the greatest accomplishments, the most enjoyment and happiness. They can, too, if we avoid the kidney and bladder disorders such as Backache, Headache, Rheumatic Pains, Lassitude, Loss of Sleep and Energy which so often attack those around 40. For over half a century Dodd's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women to keep kidneys and bladder in good order. If you are nearing 40, or past it, for the sake of your health and a happier future use Dodd's Kidney Pills today! 125

It's always the first question

People always ask the same question when a man dies—
"How did he leave his family fixed?"
Unless there is life insurance or other special provision, the death of the breadwinner cuts off the family income leaving a string of sad consequences.
Most people want to do the right thing by their dependents. Evidence of this is found in the fact that in the past year 85,000 Canadians bought 125 million dollars of life insurance from this Company.
There is tremendous satisfaction in knowing that your family is assured of financial security. Ask a London Life representative to outline such a program for you.
London Life Insurance Company

They're TALKING ABOUT . . . a Ten-Cent Dollar!
They speak of it glibly . . . but what does it mean? It means that every pay-day if your boss paid you in crisp new one-dollar bills each of them would buy only a measly ten-cents' worth of goods. All those savings you've made with ten dimes to a dollar would shrink to the size of one 10¢. That's inflation! So we're lucky in Canada that price ceilings and other anti-inflationary measures have kept our dollar value HIGH. In fact, a dollar goes further to-day . . . buys more goods than the dollar of 1918. Look at these prices, a pound of cocoa to-day compared to the it was then. The same quality towels now, were then. Yes, we get a good dollar's worth to-day. And remember—you protect your dollar value when you refuse to pay more than the ceiling price . . . denounce black markets . . . buy Victory Bonds . . save . . pay off debts and help keep the cost of living down!
Make This Pledge Today!
I promise to give my support to keeping the cost of living down. I will buy only what I need. I will observe the ceiling whether buying or selling goods or services. I will pay off old debts, save for the future, invest in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. And I will support taxes which help lower the cost of living.
Keep Your Dollar Value High!
Published by THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO) to help sound the dangers that inflation represents for all the people of the Nation.

Toronto Beats Peterboro 15-5 In Rugby

Toronto Westsides came from behind in the Thanksgiving Day exhibition game at Riverside Park to beat Rich Jackson's Peterborough Juniors 15 to 5, after the local youngsters had led at half time by 5 to 3. Two major scores in the second half won the argument for the more experienced visitors, but it was a good battle all the way and the big crowd enjoyed the work of the two young teams.

Lack of seasoning, coupled with fumbles at critical moments cost the Petes the game. That and their inability to stop the quarter back sneaks of Tom Newman, the Westsides' field general, who had an uncanny ability in finding holes in the Peterborough line, and once in motion was a hard man to bring down. Newman's quick breaks were the chief ground-gaining play for the winners and paved the way for both Westside touchdowns in the last half.

Patch, the visiting centre half got a lot of distance in his kicks and Crawford plunged well, Stoddard, the colored boy at flying wing, was another outstanding performer and the Toronto forward line stood up well.

For the Petes Ron Hodson on the half line proved an excellent ball carrier and in addition kicked well. Lynch, at flying wing, was always prominent and threw the forward pass that gave the Peterborough team their only touchdown. Withers, Wilford and Shadgett also went well, while the wing line gave a good account of itself, with Dugan and Griffin shining as pass receivers.

Breaks His Ankle

Only regrettable feature of the game was an accident that sent Jakobouski, inside wing of the Westsides, to the hospital in the first half. The Toronto player was hurt in making a tackle and was taken to St. Joseph's, where it was discovered that he had sustained a fractured ankle.

Toronto kicked off and the Petes lost the ball for interference putting Westsides in a scoring position right off the reel. The Petes line held however and after an attempted forward and a plunge had gained nothing Patch lifted one to the deadline for a point. The Petes played their best offensive football of the game in the next few minutes. Hodson skirted the end for a 30-yard gain to bring the ball to mid-field and then booted a long one that threw Westsides right back on the defensive. The Toronto boys plunged for yards, lost possession on a fumble and took the ball back again on a Peterborough fumble and Patch kicked out of danger for the moment.

Petes Start March

The Petes started another march with Withers and Lynch running the ends for yards and then Hodson getting away for 40 yards on a double criss-cross that fooled Westsides completely. From the 20 yard line Lynch tossed a forward to Dugan for a touch down. A Westsider almost intercepted the pass but it bounced off his fingers to Dugan who made the catch and fell over the goal line with the ball. The touchdown was not converted.

Once more the Petes were guilty of interference on the kickoff and Toronto got possession 35 yards out at the beginning of the second period. They plunged for yards twice and then when the Petes line held Newman tried to drop a goal from the 10-yard line. He missed the uprights but Westsides got a rouge out of the attempt to make it 5 to 2.

Just before the end of the period Patch boomed a long one over the Petes' line for another rouge to leave the half time score 5 to 3 for the Peterborough team.

A long kickoff by the Petes threw Westsides back on the defensive at the beginning of the third period but the visitors gambled with a forward pass and it worked. Patch threw a 25-yarder to Stoddard and the colored boy came close to getting right away. He was pulled down at midfield. The Petes intercepted another Westside forward pass at this stage, but immediately lost the ball on a fumble.

Westsides Go Ahead

Westsides plunged for yards and then Newman found a hole in the line and broke through for a 30 yard gain, carrying play to the Petes 15-yard line. There the homesters held and finally Newman had to kick. He attempted a field goal with a drop kick from a difficult angle. The kick was wide but Westsides regained possession on a fumble. This time they made no mistake Crawford ripping through the Petes' line for a touch-down which was not converted.

Westsides continued to press and a little later another Newman attempt for a field goal turned into a deadline single and it was 9 to [illegible] for the Toronto youngsters.

The Petes were on the defensive most of the final period, as the more experienced Toronto team put on the pressure. Newman was doing most of the damage. He broke through from a scrimmage at the midfield stripe to run 35 yards before being downed. After a series of plunges the Westside quarter ripped through for a touchdown and converted [illegible] with a drop kick to make the final count 15 to 5.

TORONTO, Oct. 10 — (CP). — With New Westminster and St. Catharines contesting for the Dominion lacrosse championship and certain parties in each camp contesting the right of the other city to establish a boxla Hall of Fame within its precincts, it's interesting to look back a bit on the history of the old Indian game.

Frank Menke, author of the comprehensive encyclopedia of sports, presents some facts dug up by F. M. Van Wagner of McGill University during his research work. According to Van Wagner, an old 1894 program containing a bit of history of the game said the first "recorded" match was played in September, 1834, between teams of Iroquois and Algonquin Indians at the Pierre Race Course in Montreal.

The Indians of that early day played a game called baggataway, which was the immediate forerunner of lacrosse, but was played in an open field, with plenty of roving around allowed. In fact, the players wouldn't stay in any particular spot, but might rove all over the fields before they were through. However, since the 1834 game was played in an enclosed field, certain rules must have been in effect and it's possible this was the beginning of organized lacrosse.

Van Wagner also reported that in 1894 an old-time Montrealer said he had played a game "much like lacrosse" back in 1839 near what is now Richmond Square on St. Antoine Street. Aside from that there isn't much to show that white men took much interest in the game until 1842 at least, when the Olympic Club was organized, and lacrosse was played at their annual meetings at least as early as 1848.

After the Olympic Club disbanded in the early 1850's, the Montreal Lacrosse Club was formed in 1856—really the beginning of any organized effort to create interest in the game among white people. The Hochelaga Club was formed in 1858 and the next year the Beaver Club was organized—all in Montreal.

The lacrosse rules were revised and standardized by Dr. George Beers and were adopted in 1860-61. The Dominion Parliament passed an act in 1867 adopting lacrosse as Canada's "national game," which title of respect it stil holds, somewhat insecurely.

PCVS Seniors Defeat Lindsay Team

After a lapse of tyo years the P.C.V.S. Senior rugby team signalled its return to C.O.S.S.A. competition Saturday at Lindsay by defeating the home team 46-12 in a game which was as one-sided as the score indicates

The wide-open game was featured by the scoring of eleven touchdowns, nine by Peterborough and two by Lindsay. The unusual note in the scoring was that on only two touchdowns was an extra point obtained in the attempted convert, P.C.V.S. failing on eight occasions, due largely to lack of practice in the place kicking department.

Peterborough kicked off to open the game and after holding Lindsay on two cracks at the line, forced the latter to kick. On taking possession P.C.V.S. started a march which was only stopped one yard from the goal line as Lindsay broke through on a Peterborough reverse. Not downhearted the local boys took possession on Lindsay's forty, and this time made sure of a major score when Matthews threw a touchdown pass to Rooke.

Aerial Attack

A long Sisson to Smith forward pass once again threatened the Lindsay goal line just as the first quarter ended. And on the first play of the second quarter Jack Matthews carried across on a wide buck through the left side of the home team's line.

Two long runs by Sisson and Matthews then set up a third touchdown, this time on a pass from Matthews to Estlick.

Lindsay elected to receive and returned Lech's long kick-off to give Peterborough possession on the home team's thirty. At this point Outram took over and crossed Lindsay's line on two powerful smashes.

A plunge by Outram, and end run by Sisson, a plunge by LaPlante and an end run by Rooke brought the fifth P.C.V.S. touch. A long run by Jack Sisson through the broken field added a sixth to leave the score at half time at 31-0.

The third quarter opened with Outram taking play close to the Lindsay goal line on a long run. Matthews then threw his third touchdown pass, this time to left end, Don Smith. Matthews made the score 41-0 as he carried the ball across for his second touchdown. Bob Rooke completed the Peterborough scoring as he intercepted a Lindsay desperation pass deep in the home team's territory to scamper over the goal line for a ninth touchdown.

Fractures Leg

During this third quarter Ferguson of Lindsay was carried from the field with a broken leg, as he made a tackle of Leo de la Plante. Seemingly spurred on by this unfortunate incident the home team started to move the yard sticks on cross bucks and end runs which resulted in two last quarter touchdowns, one of which was converted, and a kick to the deadline to bring the final score to 46-12.

The teams:—

Peterborough—Snap, Scott; insides, Patterson and Browne; middles, Lech and Graham; outsides, Davis and Smith; quarter, Sisson; halves, Outram, Matthews and Robinson; flying wing, Rooke; alternates, De la Plante, Estlick and Hinton.

Lindsay—Lewis, Mackey, Glanfield, Batt Hogan, Tyner, J. Gleeson, Neale, A. Gleeson, Anderson, Lawler, Brown Hartwick Bell, Phelp and Ferguson.

Referee—Gordon Young, Peterborough.

REVERSE THE OLD RULE

"DON'T COVER an honor with an honor" would be just as good a rule as the one which so many follow blindly: "Always cover an honor with an honor." A still better one would be to cover when that appears likely to promote tricks for your side and refrain from it when that seems better. There are many cases in which it should not be done, and common sense will indicate these to the thinking player.

West opened his heart 3, which South won in the dummy with the A, in order to preserve his own K as an entry to his hand. Seeing the importance of some diamond tricks, he led the 2 from dummy, and East won the K. He fired back the heart Q, which South won with the K, disdaining a hold-up.

Now came the crucial play. The diamond J was led, South hoping the Q would be put on by West. The latter, who adhered faithfully to the old Whist rule about covering, did just as the doctor ordered, and his Q was felled by the A. That made the contract a cinch. The diamond 2 to the 10 was followed by the 8 and 6 and a successful spade finesse which brought four tricks in that suit, giving South an extra trick.

If West had refused to cover the diamond J, the suit would have been blocked, so that South could not have scored more than two tricks in diamonds, and hence would not have had a chance to make his contract. West should have seen that ducking the second diamond lead probably would have blocked the run of the suit.

Supper Money Helps Repairs

HAVELOCK, Oct. 10 —(ENS) —A chicken supper was served at the White church at Rush Point recently to 300 persons. Proceeds amounted to $141.

The program was under the chairmanship of Rev. J. W. Wilkinson of Havelock. Mr. Wilkinson presented a cheque for $80 to Earl Pollock, superintendent of the Sunday School, which was a donation from Mrs. William Wright of Havelock in memory of her father, the late John Maidens, who was a layman of the Methodist church and who had conducted services in the White church in by-gone days. The money is to be used to purchase paint for the church. The proceeds from the supper will be used to defray the cost of labor of painting it.

An address was delivered by Rev. G. N. Maxwell of Campbellford and accordion selections were played by Captain Garrett of the Salvation Army, Campbellford. A musical selection comprising the organ, guitar and two violins, was given by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pollock, daughter Barbara and son Donald, entitled "Back In The Old Sunday School." Also given were: violin selections by the Wrightly Brothers, a guitar selection by Roberta Brooks and a vocal solo by Mrs. R. Richards.

Packing Navy Boxes Postponed One Week

Because it is realized that many names of Peterborough boys and girls serving in the Canadian Navy or the Mercantile League have not yet been sent in the Peterborough and District Women's Auxiliary to the Navy has postponed for a week the packing of boxes for those serving overseas.

This has been done in order to give friends and relatives of navy personnel a chance to send in their names and addresses. The first boxes to be packed, a week from Tuesday, are those intended for the sailors serving at far-distant posts and it is the names of those who are at present far from home that are wanted now. The Auxiliary does not want to see any of them missed but unless the latest address is furnished within the next week it is certain that some of these Peterborough sailors will be without a Christmas box.

Packing of the boxes for navy personnel serving on this side of the Atlantic or training in Canada will be done later, but right now the job is to take care of the overseas boxes, as those have to be shipped early to reach their destination before Christmas.

Names and addresses may be telephoned to 5591, 5592 or 4776, and friends and relatives are asked to act promptly.

Bitter Hand-to-hand Fight Repels Huns Along Canal

By ROSS MUNRO—Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS ON THE LEOPOLD CANAL, Belgium, Oct. 9—(Delayed)—(CP Cable).—During four days and three night Western Canada infantry clung heroically to their precariously narrow bridgehead along the north side of the Leopold Canal, and tonight (Monday) enemy pressure seemed to be slackening.

(Later dispatches said the Canadians have consolidated their grip across the Canal and that the depth of the bridgehead is nowhere less than 400 yards.)

This strip of ground along the canal, sometimes only 10 yards deep in places, has been a grim battlefield. By superhuman effort these lion-hearted Western troops didn't give up the bridgehead through all this savage fighting. Sometimes they were pressed right back to the edge of the canal but they hung on "with their finger nails," to quote Maj. Larry Dampier of Toronto.

This (Monday) afternoon as the pressure eased I got to one of the Western units. As a little farmhouse shook from the blast of Canadian guns firing from fields and orchards around us, officers and men talked of the bridgehead fight which ranks with the toughest they have been through.

Use Flame Throwers.

Maj. Desmond Crofton of Salt Spring Island, B.C., who got the first troops across the 170-foot-wide canal in a pre-dawn attack with flame throwers Friday, said: "We got over the canal all right by going in right behind sheets of flame laid down by flame throwers.

"One whole German machine-gun post was wiped out by the flames. Our men scrambled up the dike on the far side of the canal and gained their first objectives quickly. Then the Germans came at us.

Bombers Lash Cologne Area

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP)—Military targets in the areas of Cologne and Coblenz, key supply points close behind the western front, were attacked today by American heavy bombers, escorted by long-range fighters.

The attack was carried out by a smaller force than usual, indicating hundreds of heavy bombers possibly were being held in reserve for the assault on Aachen.

The German radio reported formations of Allied bombers also swinging up across Austria from the south.

During the night R.A.F. Mosquitos attacked industrial targets at Cologne and other objectives in western Germany without loss.

Japs Suffer Defeat In Burma

KANDY, Ceylon, Oct. 11 —(CP)—West African units, fighting in the southeastern corner of India near the Burmese border, have captured the village of Mowdolk, the Allied command disclosed today, dislodging Japanese defenders who had held the area throughout the Monsoon season.

Continuing contact with the enemy was reported, indicating a steady push into the frontier hills.

Hand - to - hand fighting flared elsewhere on the Arakan front, with an attack by 80 Japanese being broken by bayonets of the Royal Garhwal Rifles. Southeast of Maungdaw, Japanese artillery shelled Allied positions in the Mayu hills.

Enemy forces are fighting to hold the approaches to Akyab, about 55 air miles down the coast.

Lt.-Gen. W. J. Slim declared his British 14th Army had "inflicted on the Japanese the greatest defeat" their army had yet suffered.

German Troopers Massacre French

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—(AP).—The Paris radio said today that German S.S. troopers had massacred all but 10 of the 520 inhabitants in the Burgundy village of Comblanchien, in reprisal for an incident in which the villagers were innocent.

The broadcast said 6 German soldiers had clashed one night with some of their comrades, and shots were fired. The report said S.S. men from an armored train near the village held the inhabitants responsible, threw incendiary grenades into houses and machine-gunned those trying to escape the flames.

200 Men Rebuild Cornwall

'Quake Damage To Schools Extensive

CORNWALL, Ont., Oct. 11 —(CP) —About 200 skilled laborers and helpers are at work here, along with a number of part-time workers and contractors, speeding repairs to Cornwall homes, schools and public buildings damaged during the earthquake which rocked eastern Ontario on Sept. 5.

The Cornwall office of National Selective Service said to-day that about 100 bricklayers, carpenters, and plasterers from out-of-town points are engaged in repair work.

Most of the chimneys which toppled during the disturbance have been repaired and repair work at Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School and Cornwall Public School has progressed to a point where several classes are being conducted at each school. St. Columban's Convent School is also holding several classes, having reopened on a partial basis.

Since the major tremor, many minor shocks have been experienced but no official count has been kept. A conservative estimate placed the number of shocks at between 40 and 50, while some sources reported as many as 70 minor tremors. None of the minor shocks did any damage, and most recent was a tremor on Sunday, October 8.

Selective Service officials and contractors give no estimate as to when repair work will be completed.

Enemy Units Trapped In Red Drive

2nd Russian Push To Baltic Sea Menaces 5 Divisions

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Oct. 11 (AP)—Russian troops fought within seven miles of Memel and 15 of the East Prussia rail centre of Tilsit today after slashing to the Baltic Sea north of the port, cutting land routes for up to 150,000 Germans still in Latvia and Lithuania.

Yet another death trap was being fashioned in a Soviet drive southeast of Memel, which Hitler annexed to East Prussia early in 1939 from Lithuania.

Advancing along the last 50 miles separating them from the sea south of Memel, the Russians swept along the Niemen River in a lightning move which appeared likely to cut off from three to five enemy divisions between Taurage and Kirieches Haff.

Ten German divisions, totalling perhaps 150,000 men, were trapped yesterday in a Latvian pocket north of Memel when Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's battering ram overran the Baltic beaches 15 miles north of the besieged and shell-rocked port.

Red Army forces southeast of Memel were less than 18 miles from the German communications centre of Tilsit, in East Prussia, and eight miles from East Prussia's northern frontier. Only 48 miles of the Niemen River—the Germans' defence line along the entire north of East Prussia — remained in German hands. Red artillery began shelling Tilsit.

The army newspaper Red Star reported Soviet tank forces pushing down two highways toward Memel —one leading into the port from the north from captured Palange, and the other the Memel-Tilsit highway north of the Niemen.

German forces being compressed into the triangle formed by Nemel, a tiny strip of southwestern Lithuania and the Niemen north of Tilsit included a large number of tankmen and crews of self-propelled guns, who have lost their weapons. Battered infantry forces also were believed in the newly-developing pockets.

Red air force bombers and fighters attacked German shipping at Memel and Riga, wtih low-flying Stormoviks joining the assaults on transports and warships in both harbors. Other aircraft bombed and strafed convoys and individual vessels off the coast from north of Memel and Konigsberg.

More than 300 towns and villages were reported captured north and southeast of Memel as the Russians advanced, including Kretinga, a large railway station 12 miles northeast of the port. Darbenai and Lenkimai, seven and 10 miles from the sea northeast of Memel, also fell. The Soviet forces crashed through to the Lithuanian Baltic coast of Palanga.

British Take Albanian Port

ROME, Oct. 11 —(AP) — British troops in Albania have captured the Port of Sanandre (Port Edda), isolating the German garrison on the Island of Corfu, it was announced to-day.

Allied Headquarters said also that "patrolling is active" in Greece, but there was no indication whether the land forces of the Adriatic have moved beyond captured Corinth toward Athens.

Sarande, supply port for the Germans on Corfu, was captured after a hard battle, it was said

About 500 prisoners were taken.

With the port in British hands there appeared little possibility that the Germans in Corfu, last reported to total a regiment, would be able to escape to the mainland.

"The troops who first penetrated in to the western outskirts of the town met with stiff resistance but the launching of a big attack with artillery support resulted in the taking of the area," said the official description of the Sarande battle.

"Pockets of resistance continued but by 10 a.m. October 10 these had been overcome and consolidation in the town and on the hills overlooking the port was completed."

Balkan air force Beaufighters with Mustang escort attacked barracks and railyards at Kriz, in Yugoslavia 30 miles southeast of Zagreb. The escort shot down a Dornier-217 and two single-engined Biplanes.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11 — (AP). — There's nothing halfway about Henry J. Kaiser's Swan Island shipyard, even in the way it flaunts superstition. Friday the 13th the yard will deliver the 13th tanker from shipway No. 1. There'll be 13 persons on the launching program, and 13 diners at the sponsor's table.

Allies Plugging Ahead Slowly In Italy

ROME, Oct. 11. — American troops, still slowed by rain and deep mud, have reached the southern outskirts of Livergnano, 11 miles due south of Bologna on Highway 6, and advance elements there are meeting fierce German counter-attacks, it was announced to-day.

Pace of the fighting along the entire Italian battlefront, including the British 8th Army sector near the Adriatic was reported retarded by adverse weather.

After several days of bloody fighting. British troops of the 5th Army drove the Germans off Mount Cece and took possession of the little knob of ground. British units also managed to put troops on Mount Freddo, where the Germans had reacted violently for days to any attempt to advance.

South African troops were reported locked in bitter fighting on Mount Stanco, just west of Grizzano on the American left.

The 8th Army appeared to be making slight progress in the hills of the Adriatic front despite almost constant rain. British and Indian troops reached the summit of a new ridge extending from Montigallo to Mount Farneto, northwest of San Marino, and threw the Germans out of a few houses they attempted to hold in the villages of Roncofreddo and San Paolo.

Heavy fighting continued a mile east of Langiano.

Air operations again were restricted by the weather, but there was some activity against rail, bridge and gun targets by fighters and fighter-bombers. Five Allied planes were lost from about 800 sorties.

CLUJ CAPTURED

NEW YORK — Cluj, capital of Transylvania and sixth largest city of Romania, has been captured, the Romanian command said today in a special broadcast communique.

Military Gratuity Forms Ready For Discharged Men

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.—(CP).—Application forms for war service gratuities now are available at all naval, military and air force units and establishments in Canada and at all district and sub-district offices of the Pensions Department, Defence Headquarters announced to-day.

Headquarters urged that honorably discharged members of the active service forces and dependents of deceased members of such forces apply immediately for the gratuities provided under legislation passed at the last session of Parliament.

Under the legislation, active service personnel will receive $7.50 for every 30 days' service in the western hemisphere, which includes the West Indies, Newfoundland and South America; $15 for every 30 days' service overseas, including the Aleutians, Iceland and Greenland; seven days' pay and allowances for each six months' service overseas, and a re-establishment credit.

Members of the Home Defence Army who served in Kiska are entitled to gratuities covering the period of their service there. Other Home Defence troops however, receive no benefits under the legislation.

Nationals of other countries who served in Canadian forces are entitled to the gratuities.

Dependents of deceased members of the forces may apply, providing they were eligible for dependents' allowance at the date of the member's death, or if not eligible for dependents' allowance providing they were dependent upon the member at the time and in receipt of assigned pay from him.

Two Ways To Apply.

Canadians who have been discharged from other Empire forces during the present war may apply, if they now are domiciled and resident in Canada, and were domiciled in Canada at the outbreak of the hostilities.

Former members of Canadian forces who qualify must use the printed application form but dependents and Canadians who served in other Empire forces may submit their applications by letter.

Due to the number of person who have been honorably discharged up to the present time, headquarters emphasized the importance of early action by applicants in order that claims for the gratuity may be cleared reasonably soon after the machinery goes into full operation.

However, payments will not commence prior to January 1, 1945, and in some cases there may be further delay, depending upon the time the applications were received.

"This announcement pertains only to the war service gratuity," headquarters said. "Public announcement will be made at a later date respecting the manner in which applications for the re-establishment credit are to be made public."

Ontario Unit Launches New Advance

Schelde Beachhead 3 Miles Deep And Four Miles Wide

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Oct. 11 (CP-Cable)—Canadian infantry operating north of Antwerp swung a column west today and pushed 1½ miles along a narrow spit leading to South Beveland Island on the north side of the Schelde Estuary. Veteran Ontario troops led the way into this new advance.

East of the neck of the spit, Western and Quebec troops cleared woods along the Antwerp-Breda road and mopped up a wide area.

Canadian infantry on the south side of the Schelde struck out from their beachhead, which now is four miles wide, and pushed it three miles inland in the drive to trap perhaps 20,000 Germans barring their way to the great port of Antwerp.

The Germans were unable to bring up any of their crack troops of the 64th division to block the advance because these forces now are committed to the Leopold Canal battle, where they have suffered heavily, or are held in reserve in the western side of the Schelde pocket.

The Canadians still are lightly opposed by line-of-communication and coastal garrison troops on the main perimeter of the beachhead, but in the coastal town of Hoofdplaat street-fighting continues between Ontario infantry and some tough Nazis.

Troops Pour In.

More Canadian forces have passed into the beachhead, however, and the postiion there is becoming stronger every hour. A day and night ferry service is running along the coast taking supplies and equipment right under heavy German coastal guns.

Canadian infantry last night launched another attack against the German Schelde pocket, striking through a gap between the eastern end of the Leopold canal and the head of an inlet which runs south from the Schelde. The Germans to-day were strongly opposing this attack which is in an area

New Conditions May Be Set For Surrender

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 — (CP). — Hope for a new agreement coordinating Anglo-American and Soviet war aims in Europe in an effort to end further slaughter of Allied forces in the complete conquest of a German army already hopelessly beaten was revived here with the arrival in Moscow of Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden.

Although there are many pressing issues which would take the Prime Minister and the large entourage which accompanied him to Moscow it is believed here that a prime purpose is to seek agreement on a formula which might induce the German army to throw itself on the mercy of the Allies.

It is known that there was some discussion at the Quebec conference last month on the subject of revising the Casablanca "unconditional-surrender" proclamation.

Churchill in Favor

There have been demands from influential circles in London and Washington for something less drastic and more realistic than "unconditional surrender" as the terms under which the Germans might lay down their arms.

It is believed that Mr. Churchill is in favor of something more definite and less despairing to hold before the German people as an inducement to them to end the further sacrifice of lives and property.

Little could be done about this in Quebec because Premier Stalin was not there. But now Mr. Churchill and Mr. Eden are fresh from the Quebec talks with President Roosevelt. They can present his views, at least.

And there are many who believe this Moscow meeting is only preliminary to a full-scale Churchill-Roosevelt-Stalin meeting to deal with the whole tangled problem of post-war boundaries and policies in Europe.

Bulgaria Slow To Remove Army

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP)—Minister of State Richard Law informed the House of Commons today the Bulgarian government had expressed readiness to withdraw its troops from Yugoslavia and Greece, but that the withdrawal so far had been limited.

"We have repeatedly declared," he said, "that they will have to evacuate the territories which they filched and robbed from the Allied Nations. With regard to the agmistice terms discussions are still in progress."

Discussing other foreign affairs in the absence of Foreign Secretary Eden in Moscow, the minister of state said he "thought" the French administration never had officially requested in writing the recognition of the provisional government, but in conversations the French had clearly indicated they hoped for recognition at the earliest opportunity.

Mr. Law said Portugal had assured the British government that it would not grant asylum to war criminals, and that similar assurances had been received from Spain, Argentina, Sweden, Turkey and Switzerland.

He said the government had accepted an offer from Japan that prisoners of war and interned civilians be allowed to send a 10-word cable home free of charge.

Nazis Reject Ultimatum To Surrender City Major Battle Developing

Obliteration Barrage Thunders Into Action Germans Speed Reserves From East To Bolster Lines Beyond Aachen

LONDON, Oct. 11—(CP).—The Germans rushed up troops tonight in efforts to reinforce Aachen, which United States artillery and planes were pounding after the Germans rejected a surrender ultimatum. A major battle was developing. The German reserves were being rushed in from the east.

Heavy eight-inch guns, 155-mm. Long Toms, and 105-mm. rifles of the U.S. 1st Army thundered in an obliterating barrage and bombers hurtled down on the surrounded city.

Gunners loosed the first salvoes at noon, an hour and 10 minutes after the expiration of the ultimatum.

Meantime 1st Canadian Army troops fought forward east of Breskens near where they had made an amphibious landing on the south bank of the Schelde estuary early Monday, and the German radio reported additional landings in that sector, where it said fighting was growing in intensity.

As a test case, Aachen indicated the Germans will see their cities destroyed rather than yield.

As the blows to level Aachen began, U.S. 1st Army men closed the ring tighter about the city. To the north they seized Scharfenberg and Bardenburg, advanced to Wurselen, and mopped up Germans in the southern part of Haaren, northeast of Aachen.

South of the siege site, 3rd Army men and Germans battled underground in a winding tunnel at Fort Driant before Metz, ricochetting bullets off the walls. Americans and Germans were so close they could hear each others orders.

Highway Sliced

Farther south, Americans virtually cleared the enemy from Parroy Forest, and scored gains east of Luneville and Epinal. A house-to-house fight was on for Maiziere six miles above Metz.

Canadians sliced the main highway connecting the Schelde Estuary island of South Beveland with the Dutch mainland, lopping off the escape route for thousands of Germans holding there who have prevented Allied use of Antwerp port.

To the southwest, other Canadian infantry widened their Schelde River beachhead to four miles, and drove three miles inland in the backdoor assault on the Germans south of the Schelde's mouth.

Violent fighting continued at the Canadian bridgehead over the Leopold Canal, spearhead of the push from the south of knock the Germans from the lower Schelde area, but since amphibious troops to their rear had forced the Germans to reduce their counter-attacks it was held more securely.

The Allies heavily bombarded the holdout port of Dunkerque on the French coast.

Stalin Praises Assistance From Allies

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Oct. 11 —(AP)—Talks between Prime Minister Churchill, Premier Stalin and their aides moved forward today on a new note of harmony sounded at a state luncheon yesterday at which the Soviet leader warmly praised British and American contributions to victory and toasted post-war Allied collaboration.

Twice during the elaborate 3¼-hour luncheon in Spirodonovka Palace, Stalin rose to emphasize the ties binding Russia and her Western Allies.

The first time, he emphasized the need for post-war co-operation in the interests of international security, declaring that "peace-loving nations are never prepared but aggressor nations always seem ready." This, he said, must in the future be avoided.

Later, after other speakers had acclaimed the Red Army's triumphs, Stalin asserted that Russia could not have done what she has done without the aid of the Allies.

He praised the military might gathered by Britain and the United States, singling out for particular comment the high quality of British-American planning and the work of the merchant marine of both countries. He said Canada had given "much assistance" to the Soviet Union.

Turning toward United States Ambassador W. Averill Harriman, seated on his left, the Premier emphasized Russia's gratitude for material aid given by the United States. Previously Mr. Stalin also had paid a special compliment to State Secretary Hull.

Police Recover Kidnapped Child

DETROIT, Oct. 11—(AP).—Robert James King, four-months-old white child abducted 10 days ago by his newly employed Negro nursemaid, has been returned safely to his parents, Paul H. Wencel, chief of detectives, announced today.

A woman in whose home the child was found is being held. Wencel said she gave her name as Mrs. Eleanor Smith, 33, and that she had sought to delude her husband into believing the child was theirs by altering its complexion with sun tan make-up. Positive identification of the child has been made, Wencel said, through footprints.

Smuts Warns Nazis Desperate

JOHANNESBURG, Oct. 11. —(CP)—Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts said to-night that "the war is now everywhere at or near the doors of Germany and the last phase has now been reached in the west."

"The German people are desperate and are led by desperadoes who expect no mercy and to whom none will be shown," the Field Marshal said in a speech opening the Transvaal Provincial Congress of the United Party.

He continued:

"The bitterness and horror of this final struggle in the west may well surpass anything that has so far happened in this war.

"Let our thoughts, our prayer and our efforts be concentrated on that final clinch in the west."

Young Men Need Special Assistance

TORONTO, Oct. 11—(CP). — The Ontario Agricultural Commission of Inquiry yesterday discussed special assistance to young farmers wishing to become established on farms of their own and a measure of government participation in farm mortgage loans. The commission decided to draft a report on farm credit for presentation oo the government.

Members of the commission expressed the view that young persons should be given assistance in getting a start in agriculture. It was also suggested that loans at low interest rates, along the lines of the National Housing Act, should be made available to farmers.

In a discussion of Northern Ontario agriculture, the commission commended Agriculture Minister Kennedy for implementing some of the recommendations resulting from the commission's northern tour earlier in the year. The establishment of a potato warehouse at Cochrane was specifically mentioned.

Members of the commission said that no new land should be opened for settlement in the north until present settlements are filled up and that a complete soil survey should precede adoption of any settlement policy.

Claim Hepburn Ready To Pilot Liberals

TORONTO, Oct. 11 — (CP). — The possibility of Mitchell F. Hepburn's return to the Leadership of the Liberal group in the Legislature was discussed yesterday at a caucus of party members, it was learned from Liberal sources.

The official announcement as to the result of the deliberations of the 16 members said only that "complete unanimity and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed" and that Ontario Leader Harry Nixon will outline the party's policy in a broadcast to-night over a CBC network.

W. L. Miller of Bruce Mines, member for Algoma-Manitoulin and caucus chairman, said that Mr. Hepburn, who resigned as Liberal Premier two years ago and was re-elected in Elgin riding as an Independent Liberal, was given an enthusiastic welcome.

He declined to say whether the Leadership was discussed although he said that another caucus will be held in about six weeks and it may be under discussion then.

It was learned from other sources however, that the members are keen to have Mr. Hepburn, who served as Ontario Leader for 12 years and Premier for eight, return to the Leadership and that Mr. Hepburn himself is willing to resume that role.

These sources consider it likely that by the time the next caucus is held Mr. Nixon may be elevated to the Senate to clear the way for the appointment of Mr. Hepburn as House Leader by the Liberal M.P.P.s. A convention of Ontario Liberals would be necessary to name an Ontario Party Leader.

While the former Leader has not made any direct rapprochement with Prime Minister Mackenzie King, of whom he was a caustic and sometimes bitter critic, it is said that peace overtures have been made and these may reach fruition in a few more weeks.

British Hold Ground

A sharp counter-attack near Dodeward on the Waal was repulsed by the British 2nd Army, headquarters said.

Southeast of Aachen, the communique reported gains to the southwest of the German town of Hurtgen and patrol and artillery action near Monschau.

The U.S. 3rd Army was fighting house-to-house in Maizieres Les Metz, five miles north of the French fortress city of Metz. East of Luneville, 3rd Army troops advanced about a mile.

Positions were improved east of Epinal despite increased German cannon fire.

A substantial bridgehead was reported established across the Moselotte River in the Le Thillot sector, where "heavy losses were inflicted by the enemy." The Longagoutte and Gehan forests were largely mopped up.

West of Belfort, where the U.S. 7th and French 1st Armies are striving to drive through the Belfort Gap between the Vosges and Alps, "progress has been made in the Champagney region," headquarters said. The last Allied position reported was within eight miles of Belfort.

Headquarters Moves To Paris

LONDON, Oct. 11 — (AP). — The press section of Allied Supreme Headquarters moved to Paris yesterday with 45 war correspondents. The correspondents attended the regular morning "briefing" at old Sheaf Headquarters in Britain and had one hour to write their stories before boarding special planes for France. The customary afternoon conference was scheduled for 5 p.m. at the new Press Headquarters in a Paris hotel.

"Moving closer to the front will shorten our lines of communications many miles and should considerably speed up the relay of official news," a headquarters spokesman said.

For the initial move, Press Services were permitted to send two correspondents and the individual newspapers one. The Associated Press is represented by James M. Long and Lewis E. Hawkins.

U.S. 3rd Fleet Cripples 58 Jap Ships

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 11—(AP). —In the boldest naval stroke of the Pacific war, delivered 200 miles south of Japan, the American 3rd Fleet has launched carrier planes against the Ryukyu Islands.

As the climax of powerful blows delivered since August 30 in the Philippines, Palaus and Bonins, Admiral Halsey's task force wiped out 89 planes and sank or damaged 58 surface craft—every vessel sighted—in the Ryukyus, 500 miles from the China coast, Monday.

Not one American warship was hit by the enemy in an operation which, in ways, was more daring than the 1942 carrier-based raid on Tokyo inasmuch as the carrier in that case retired while the planes flew on to China.

A communique yesterday said the U.S. planes swept over the 570-mile-long chain "in great force." They shot down 14 planes, wiped out 75 on the ground and could find no warship bigger than a destroyer. It was among 12 sunk. Japan's home fleet kept out of sight and the home-based air force did not come to Ryukyu's aid.

Task force raids, which have overwhelmed such strategic areas as Manila, have resulted since August in knocking out more than 1,100 enemy planes and 500 surface craft ranging from destroyers and big cargo vessels to luggers.

In all these raids not a warship has been damaged.

Significantly in demonstrating how the American fleet can disperse its units in strength, this blow fell one day after battleships spent all day Sunday blowing to bits the Japanese defences on Marcus Island, more than 1,500 miles east of the Ryukyus.

A Japanese imperial communique today said 400 United States carrier planes made Monday's attack on the Ryukyu Islands.

Tokyo claimed that "more than 26 of the enemy planes were shot down," and asserted only "slight damage" was done.

Pte. Arthur Beaver Killed In France

ALDERVILLE, Oct. 11 —(ENS)— Word was received today by Mrs. Minnie Beaver of Alderville, that her son, Arthur Beaver, had been killed in France, while fighting with the Queen's Own Rifles. He has been overseas since 1941.

Earlier in the invasion, the young soldier was wounded, July 24, but since that time he had recovered and was back in the lines. Prior to enlisting, he worked at Clarkson and attended the Alderville Public School and Campbellford High School.

Surviving besides his mother, are three brothers, Ivan with the R.C.A.S.C. in Italy; Elmer with the C.A.C., Newmarket; and Osborne; and two sisters, Miss Myrtle Beaver, Toronto, and Norma at home.

Plain Language

Mr. Churchill was visibly moved by Mr. Stalin's acknowledgment of the British-American war effort.

"It is a sign of a great nation and a great man to be magnanimous and generous," the Prime Minister said. "I have always thought, and I think now, that it was the Red Army which clawed the guts out of the filthy Nazis."

Mr. Harriman, who spoke twice in response to Mr. Stalin's remarks, said the United States was not prepared for war, but that Japan had rendered a service by "throwing us into it."

Stalin was clad in a light khaki uniform and wore no medals or decorations, but the Star of a Soviet Marshal gleamed from each shoulder. Mr. Churchill wore a red-tabbed colonel's uniform and a row of ribbons on his left breast.

After a round of martini cocktails Mr. Stalin led the way to the banquet hall, where caviar and zakuski—assorted cold Russian delicacies — introduced the elaborate meal. A toast to President Roosevelt was proposed by Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov.

Toward the end of the meal Mr. Molotov toasted Dana Wilgress, the Canadian Ambassador to Moscow, and Mr. Stalin interjected that "Canada is a nation that has given much assistance to the Soviet Union."

Mr. Churchill and Mr. Stalin sat side by side.

LONDON— Soviet troops have captured Cluj, capital of Transylvania, and seized, second city of Hungary, Premier-Marshal Stalin announced tonight.

DOMESTIC QUARRELS A CRIME
Children's Respect for Parents Killed, Can Produce Maladjusted Boys, Girls.

DEAR MISS DIX — Why don't you preach in your column to the fathers and mothers who make their children's lives miserable by their quarrelling. My father and mother are continually quarrelling, hurling abusive language at each other, and accusing each other of things that were not meant for children's ears. When they are peaceful they are grand parents.

The strange thing is that they try to teach us children self-control. When we quarrel among ourselves we are scolded for it, yet they don't realize that they are setting a very poor example for us. Please tell parents that when they fight they are hurting their children more than themselves.

A CONSTANT READER.

Parents Kill Children's Respect

ANSWER—Why so many fathers and mothers consider that their quarrels are their private affairs that do not concern their children, is a mystery that nobody can explain. For they have only to look at the horrified faces of their youngsters to see how shocked and amazed and hurt they are. And they have only to use the slightest intelligence to realize that they are killing their children's respect for them.

Parents seem to forget that when their children are little they take their ideas and views from Father and Mother. For what Father thinks of Mother the children think, and what Mother thinks of Father the children accept. Hence the father and mother who tear each other down before their children do them a terrible wrong, because it destroys all the parents' influence over them. And of the effect of the parents' quarrels upon the nervous systems of the children, any doctor and psychiatrist will tell you it is responsible for most of the neurotics and the maladjusted people in the world. One famous psychiatrist even went so far as to say that he had never had a case of men and women who broke down with nervous prostration after 45 who had been brought up in peaceful and happy homes.

So think it over, you parents who are always quarelling before your children. Your domestic spats are not a pleasant parlor game. They are a crime against your children.

DEAR MISS DIX—Seven years ago I married a man I loved very much. A year later our son was born. Then he changed. He was bored at home, wanted to go around with the boys, but did not seem interested in women.

My husband is now in the army. In packing his clothes I found a picture among his things and a girl had written on it: "I love you always." He says this girl loves him, but he doesn't love her, and that I mean everything to him.

I don't know whether to divorce him, or not. All he has ever been to me were headaches and heartaches. What would you advise me to do?

ANSWER—I advise you to hold on until after the war is over before you come to any decision. Perhaps being away from you will bring him to his senses and make him realize what a good wife you have been to him, and how superior you are to the girl who has been having an affair with him.

Anyway, as long as you don't get a divorce you are his legal wife, and in case he should be killed you would be entitled to his insurance money.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am 16 years old, a sophomore in high school. I don't like school and want to stop and go to work. School is too tiresome for me. What to do?

MISS UNDECIDED.

ANSWER—If it isn't absolutely necessary for you to stop school and go to work, don't think of such a foolish thing as quitting. When you look for a job, the very first thing you will be asked is: "Are you a high school graduate?" You will be able to get a much better place and a much better wage if you are.

Can't you see that an education is your tool with which you will have to work as long as you live, and the better it is, the more successful you will be? Going to school may be tiresome, but so is a job. Don't think that going to work is just fun and having a pay envelope. It is long hours and hard work.

difficulties and the Texan replied with headlocks and a few sly punches that didn't do the Georgian any particular good. Then Davis got an opening to apply a hammerlock and again Kennedy was in trouble. However he eventually punched his way out of that jam and drove the Texan back into a corner with a series of rights and lefts. Remembering the success of his human battering-ram tactics in the second round he launched another barrage of the same kind but this time the attack back-fired and cost Kennedy the match. Davis ducked after having been hit twice in the stomach by Kennedy's head. The Irish star missed the mark altogether, his shoulder collided with the ring post and he dropped through the ropes on to the arena floor. It looked as if he would be counted out but there but fans rushed to his rescue and assisted him back into the ring.

Davis was quick to take advantage of his opportunity. He softened Kennedy up with a couple of punches, then grabbed his injured arm and turned the hold into a hammerlock. Kennedy tried to hold on but as Davis ruthlessly continued to apply the pressure the Georgian finally conceded the fall. The end came after 12 minutes of spirited action.

DeGlane Beaten

Pierre DeGlane, the hot-headed French-Canadian grappler, gave the Mad Russian, Ivan Rasputin, quite an argument before finally losing after 16 minutes hard going in the semi-final. Rasputin was tougher than usual and he dug into his book of rough-house lore to hand the explosive DeGlane a rocky passage. DeGlane had his moments, too, and the crowd gave him a big hand when he tore into the shaggy Rasputin with all his guns firing. In the middle of the excitement some moronic fan tried to crown Rasputin with a pop bottle and the missile nearly cost the Russian the bout.

He walked over to the edge of the ring to tell the crowd what he thought of that kind of target practice and while he was still addressing the populace DeGlane grabbed him, threw him around the ring several times and almost got a fall. The Russian finally got out of that tight corner and retaliated by tossing DeGlane out through the ropes and following him out. Then the two proceeded to continue the battle out among the ring-siders. Meanwhile Referee Maxwell had begun his count. Each pulled the other out several times but finally as the referee's toll was approaching the 10-mark Rasputin pushed his opponent back into the crowd and hurried into the ring, just in time to beat the count and be declared the winner.

Doc Hall Wins

Substituting for Bunny Dunlop who is out with an injured back, Jack Wentworth, just back after a long trip south of the border, staged a lively bout with the belting Doc Len Hall in the preliminary. The Doc whose quaint idea of a good time is to stamp on the other fellow's fingers, was in rare fettle and he gave Wentworth the whole gamut of back-alley stuff. Wentworth knew a few tricks of the same kind himself and he had his moments, too, much to the delight of the crowd who cheered frantically every time Hall was in trouble. Finally however the Doc took all the gimp out of Wentworth with a barrage of elbow smashes and drop-kicks. Then he applied his pile-driver hold, drove Wentworth's head down into the mat and pinned him for the fall. The crowd didn't like it but there was nothing they could do about it.

Bert Maxwell refereed the entire card and Fred Scates kept track of the time and announced the gladiators.

300 Autoplane Airports Are Planned Throughout Canada

HAMILTON, Oct. 11— Russell L. Gibson, president of Canada's largest pre-war manufacturer of light planes, announced here to-day a plan to create post-war jobs for hundreds of returning air force pilots and mechanics through the building of 300 inexpensive Autoplane airports throughout the Dominion.

Because the plan was "too big and important from the standpoint of returning airmen to be monopolized by any one company, the rest of the aircraft industry would be invited to participate, Mr. Gibson said. The plan he added, would be worked out in close co-operation with the regulations of the Department of Transport in Ottawa and with provincial and municipal governments.

The 300 airports will be allocated at least one to each town and city with a population of 2,000 or over. All sites would be approved by the Department of Transport before purchasing.

The strips would be located as close to towns and cities as possible, adjacent to important roads or highways in most instances, they would be at least 2,000 feet long and 200 feet wide, with provision for expansion to 3,000 feet for larger feeder line type of aircraft, if, as and when the government is ready to assist in the building and maintenance.

Municipalities will be asked to co-operate by beginning immediately to secure sites, Mr. Gibson stated. "They will be urged to do this as a progressive civic move and as a patriotic contribuation toward the problem of rehabilitating returned airmen.

Adequate strips for light planes could in, many cases, be built for "just a few hundred dollars," strips which could be later be expanded for larger aircraft, Mr. Gibson said. The buildings, designs for which have already been prepared, would not be expensive. In many cases the costs would be well under $5,000, especially where operators "begin with a pile of lumber and provide their own labour."

Mr. Gibson said that no trouble raising capital was anticipated. Two such airports had already been spoken for by young air force veterans, who happened to hear of the plan before its public announcement and both of whom were prepared to handle their own financing.

At least one large oil company was interested in the project and the committee in charge of the plan was ready to receive its proposals and proposals which might be made by others.

Polish Leader Goes To Moscow

By ALEX. H. SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Oct. 11 — (AP). — Polish Prime Minister Stanislaw Mikolajczyk has been invited to the momentous Moscow conferences as Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain gained the first objective in his effort to end the long-standing Polish-Soviet dispute and mend a potentially-dangerous rift in Allied relations.

The Cabinet of the Polish Government in London, hurriedly summoned into special session, approved acceptance of the invitation in principle, and it is probable that the peasant-born Premier and his Foreign Minister, Adam Romer, will start shortly on their second mission to Moscow.

The invitation and the fact it was extended little more than 24 hours after Mr. Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden arrived in the Russian capital underscored the importance which the British Government attach to a quick solution of the difference between Russia and Poland.

It was learned that the Polish Government in London will stand squarely upon Mr Mikolajczyk's memorandum to Moscow, outlining his desire for long-term friendship between Poland and Russia and sketching a proposed coalition government for establishment after return to his homeland.

Secrecy Shrouds U.S. 9th Army

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Where is Lt.-Gen. William H. Simpson's U.S. 9th Army?

Secrecy with which Allied Supreme Headquarters is surrounding this fighting force has left its movements a matter of conjecture on both sides of the western front. Its whereabouts, when finally made known, may be the key to Allied strategy—the master plan to deliver a knockout blow to Germany.

Headquarters emphasized the element of mystery concerning the 9th Army when it officially disclosed last night that the French 1st Army has been combined with the U.S. 7th Army to form the 6th Army group holding the extreme right flank of the western front. Previously, Gen. Eisenhower had said only that the new army group was composed of "French and American units."

There had been unofficial speculation that the 9th would be a part of this army group.

The 9th has been in the news twice since its presence in France was disclosed in September. The first time was when 19 men rounded up 20,000 Germans south of the Loire River, and guided them to surrender at Orleans, Sept. 14. Next was when the Germans—fishing for information—declared in a Berlin broadcast that Gen. Simpson's men had taken up positions on the Belgian-German frontier.

They counter-attacked time and time again. They mortared, shelled, machine-gunned and sniped us. Even some huge coast guns swung around and pumped great shells into our positions. Sometimes it was tougher than other battles we have been in, for they were using heavy guns and heavy mortars.

"Some of our companies got north of the canal about 5,000 yards despite all the fury blazing around them, but we could not prevent the enemy from infiltrating right among us. At night they would counter-attack straight into our positions and I have never seen anything like the fighting that went on in those fantastic melees.

Tough Fighters.

"We would clear them out of some buildings and they would come right back into them. Those Germans fought cleaner than the S.S. troops, but they were just as tough."

The Canadians were supplied over bridges which were under constant fire and sometimes temporarily were knocked out during the struggle. The Westerners were kept in food and ammunition but for three days they had practically no sleep.

"Every one of our men over there had all the guts in the world and throughout the battle we only had one or two cases of battle fatigue," Maj. Crofton continued. "This morning I made a trip to all our company positions and the men were amazingly cheerful, even after this Marathon ordeal and a night of heavy shelling. One group had a Dutch gramophone playing loudly and others were plucking chickens you had better say were killed in the fighting.

"What struck me most were the terrific German casualties. I have never seen so many dead enemy soldiers in one small area. The Germans certainly came off second best. We have taken it in that bridgehead for four days and every time they came in at us they were rocked back on their heels. I think they have had enough."

Says No Session For This Fall

TORONTO, Oct. 11 (CP)—Premier Drew announced last night there will be no special session of the legislature this fall, since "nothing has ariseh since last session which calls for a special session of the House."

Mr. Drew made the announcement after the first Progressive Conservative party caucus since his return from overseas. The caucus will be followed today by a joint meeting of elected and defeated candidates in the last election.

"We had a most satisfactory caucus," the Premier said after the meeting, during which he reported on his overseas trip and discussed the performance and plans of his administration. "All members were in complete agreement on the subjects discussed."

At a testimonial dinner last night Mr. Drew was presented with a silver desk set inscribed with members' names. The presentation address was delivered by W. B. Reynolds of Brockville, member for Leeds.

St. Andrew's Planning Bazaar For November

MILLBROOK, Oct. 11 — (ENS) — The first fall meeting of the W.A. of St. Andrew's United Church, was held at the home of the Mrs. P. I. Bentley.

The reports came in from most of those who were appointed to canvass for funds in place of the formerly annual fowl supper. It was decided to hold the annual bazaar on Saturday, November 18. The members voted $10 toward Christ-overseas boxes, and $100 toward the church anniversary thankoffering. They also paid the taxes on the parsonage, amounting to almost $90.

Mrs. A. L. Sisco, and Mrs. H. R. Edmunds had charge of the devotional period, with Miss Finniemore Reg. N., giving a reading.

Health Board To Advertise For More Nurses

In an attempt to find a solution to the problem of obtaining the services of more public health nurses, a decision was made at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Board of Health to advertise immediately.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H. broached the question when he asked the members if advertisements should be made, in view of the fact more nurses are needed. Mayor James Hamilton thought it wise if the power to take further setps along this line was left in the hands of the chairman and Dr. Kelly. D. V. Canning upheld the Mayor's plan, and the motion carried.

Among communicable diseases reported this month from Peterborough residents were four cases of chickenpox, one of mumps, five cases of scarlet fever (now wiped out), and one reported whooping cough.

The September report of the Sanitation Branch of the Health Department was received and reviewed. Several complaints arising from vermin, animals, dwelling-places, nuisances and sanitary conveniences were investigated, and an extensive program of food control and inspections was carried out.

Mayor Hamilton queried R. M. MacPherson, Sanitary Inspector, as to the ventilation in beverage rooms. His Worship told the Board members that while passing through Oshawa recently, he had noticed through an open door of a beverage room the large numbers of people packed into such a small place. Supposing that ventilation in such a room must be very poor, he asked Mr. MacPherson if any such conditions existed in Peterborough. It was disclosed that probably, ventilation in some beverage rooms was poor. In any case, the members were advised all beverage rooms are equipped with fans to keep the air circulating.

Northumberland Has Objective Of $1,625,000

COBOURG, Oct. 11.—(ENS). — The objective for the county of Northumberland in the forthcoming Seventh Victory Loan campaign will be $1,625,000, it was announced at Victory Loan headquarters in Cobourg this week. The quota is $25,000 higher than the objective in the Sixth Loan last spring when over $1,630,000 was raised. The drive gets under way on Monday, October 23rd, for three weeks to Armistice Day on November 11.

For purposes of the campaign, the county has again been divided into 14 canvassing districts. Each district has been allotted a separate objective as follows:

Cobourg, $400,000; Hamilton Township, $140,000; South Monaghan Township, $30,000; Haldimand Township, $95,000; Alnwick Township, $25,000; Percy Township, $100,000; Cramahe Township, $85,000; village of Hastings, $45,000; Colborne Village, $75,000; Brighton Township, $70,000; Brighton Village $125,000; Murray Township, $100,000; Campbellford, $200,000; Seymour Township, $135,000—$1,625,000.

Accept Objective

At a meeting of the reeves and deputy-reeves of the county in Warkworth on Monday evening, the reeves of each canvassing district accepted the objective for his community and pledged his support to the campaign. Mr. Fred J. Slade, honorary chairman for the drive, presented each reeve with a Victory Loan pledge flag as a symbol that his district has accepted its objective and has pledged to reach its quota. At the opening of the campaign these pledge flags will be flown on the central flag staff in each canvassing district.

The payroll savings section of the county loan organization under the chairmanship of R. G. Parker, which conducts a canvass in the industrial plants of the county, have again accepted an objective of $100,000. Each plant will be alloted a separate objective, and it is anticipated by the officials of this section that the employees in the county will be strongly behind this part of the drive.

The slogan for the seventh campaign is two-fold—"Invest in Victory" and "Buy One More Than Before." With crop conditions the best in years in the county, Victory Loan officials are anticipating that the citizens of Northumberland will get behind the drive better than ever before.

A Political Issue?

Some weeks ago Major Conn Smythe caused a sensation by a statement that green and incompletely trained soldiers were being sent as reinforcements to the Canadians fighting in Europe. As Premier George Drew was abroad at the time and was visiting Canadian troops, it was expected that he would have something to say on the subject when he came home; however, the Premier did not commit himself immediately on his return. But last Thursday night, in an address to the Canadian Corps Association in Toronto, the Premier expanded Major Smythe's charges, saying that "most of the men went into action with little or no infantry training". This is a serious charge, and Canadians will want to know what lies behind it.

Both Major Smythe and Premier Drew are men of military experience, and this must be given due weight in considering their criticisms. But men of experience equal and superior to their own are dealing with the matter of Canadian reinforcements, and they have made no complaint about the quality of the troops. The chief officers of the Canadian army in Europe are not mute, and they are determined to do the best job they can in the fighting which confronts them; if they felt that the reinforcements they were getting were not equal to that fighting would they not say so? And the excellent record of Canadian troops in Europe is plain for everyone to see who reads a newspaper. Does it sound as though it were a record of the achievements of men with little or no real infantry training?

The nature of the problem becomes clearer when we look at Premier Drew's solution for it. He wants men of the Home Defence Army sent overseas as reinforcements. This has been the demand of his party for years. But consider this: Canada's army has been built on a volunteer foundation; the men in the home defence army clearly do not want to go abroad and fight. What guarantee can Premier Drew or anyone else give that if they were sent abroad they would be of real value to our forces? Which is the better fighter—the volunteer, or the forced man? And suppose that large numbers of Zombies were sent abroad to fight with volunteer troops—would there not be constant friction and fighting between them? If we have trouble between General Service men and Zombies in Canada, what would it be in Europe? How does Premier Drew suggest that this problem be dealt with?

Frankly, we doubt if the Premier's thoughts have gone so far. Major Smythe began this matter by saying that some reinforcements were green; now the Premier has improved on that criticism, and insists that "most of the men" are green. The whole affair has a strongly political flavour, and the fact that it has had no support from the men best qualified to speak increases our suspicion that the Premier is working up a political issue. We suggest that the answer to what he says is to be found in the record of the Canadian troops abroad, who are not comporting themselves like green men.

Two Notable Americans

The past week has seen the death of two notable Americans, Alfred E. Smith and Wendell Willkie. In some ways they could not have been more unlike, for Al Smith was a professional politician who knew the ins and outs of power intimately, while Willkie was always an amateur. But both men were alike in their genuine patriotism, in their honesty, and in their great affection for people. Both were men of large spirit, and the political life of every country always needs more men of the Willkie and Smith stamp.

Al Smith had a very humble beginning in life, but he rose to be Governor of New York State and a candidate for the presidency of his country. He was a product of Tammany Hall, and he knew all aspects of political organization, and every cog that goes to make a party machine; but Al Smith was himself an honest man, and because he was not in politics primarily for money he was able to defy political bosses and beat them when it was necessary. It will be recalled that he refused very substantial bribes to give his support to William Randolph Hearst when that publisher sought a place in political life. Despite lack of education, Smith was a man of brilliant and comprehensive mind, and as Governor of New York he sponsored some remarkably enlightened and humane legislation. When the time came for him to run for the Presidency it was obvious that his Catholicism would defeat him, but he made a gallant campaign, and after his defeat was the same jaunty Al, in the brown derby, who knew everybody and whom almost everybody admired. He was a great man, in his way, and a man whose career could only have been possible under an advanced democratic system.

Wendell Willkie, "the barefoot boy from Wall Street", entered political life after a successful professional career, and at once attracted favourable attention by his engaging personality, and his frankness of purpose. He seemed to gain in strength after he had been defeated in a presidential campaign, and he was accepted by both parties, and by the world, as a sort of American envoy extraordinary. He went everywhere; he saw everybody; he gave plenty of good and bad advice; he did much to fill that reservoir of international friendship of which he spoke so often. He was not a man who could be controlled by a party machine, and in consequence his party disciplined him severely; in doing so it cut off its nose to spite its face. But Willkie did much to wean his party away from its traditional stand in international matters. That he should have died at the outset of a great career is a tragedy for his country; the advice which he could have given during the years of postwar settlement will be sorely missed.

Like Al Smith, Wendell Willkie was a character that only the U.S.A. could produce. He will be missed in every country where liberty is a cherished ideal.

Mitsuru Toyama

Mitsuru Toyama is dead, having reached his 90th year. His career reads like a chapter from Sax Rohmer; he was at least as insidious as Dr. Fu Manchu. Much of the present evil disposition of Japan is attributed to his influence; for many years he was head of the Black Dragon Society, an association of political assassins who were ready to kill anyone at all at a sign from Toyama. He influenced the government; he influenced the Imperial House. He was undoubtedly the most powerful man in Japan after the Emperor, and the Emperor took good care to keep on the right side of Toyama.

His personal character was amusing. He refused to swat mosquitoes hard enough to kill them, and he once bought some cakes for a dog which had bitten him. He was a gentle old man of benevolent appearance; he wore huge horn spectacles, and his beard was long and snowy. His simple philosophy was that a political opponent was better dead than alive, and he had plenty of killers to carry out his wishes. As a young man he had been a professional murderer himself, so he knew his business, so to speak, from the ground up.

Toyama regarded as a political enemy anyone who was not prepared to further schemes for the aggrandizement of Japan. He was a mighty believer in Japan's destiny, and the Black Dragon killers dealt with anyone who doubted that destiny. When his methods began to spread, and when the Japanese army and navy began to develop their own corps of killers his work slackened somewhat, but his influence remained great. The fact that he lived to be ninety points to the fact that neither a pure heart nor a candid spirit are necessary factors in longevity.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Definition of work: an onerous duty laid upon man to throw leisure into elegant relief.

A man was arrested recently for selling his wife for $700. What was the charge—profiteering?

A woodpecker's tongue is longer than its head, we are told. A lot of people suffer from this same disproportion.

Somebody suggests that the new Fall millinery will be 'sensible'. Along what lines? we enqu-e apprehensively; the poke bonnet or the cow's breakfast?

"De Gaulle Gags Speech and Press" says a headline. The advance of democracy by such means leaves us a little puzzled.

Laski's New Religion

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

THERE are many clever people who insist on referring to the time in which we live as a period of revolution; they are rude to the general public because it is not as excited about this revolution as they are themselves; they invent expressions like "the revolution of our time" and attach great significiance to them. And the most striking thing about them is that they want certain things done with more than revolutionary swiftness; they are in a tearing hurry, these revolutionists. Now nobody denies that we live in stirring times and that we shall see great changes during the next fifty years, but anybody with an elementary knowledge of history realizes that this might be said of any century. The Victorian Era, which we sometimes pretend was all smugness and propriety, was a period of violent revolution, social, political and moral. As the people who insist on the revolutionary character of our own age are usually very well versed in history, we must conclude that they have some axe to grind, or they would not forget their history so conveniently. What is the axe?

VERY often it is a political axe, usually a Communist axe. I have just finished reading "Faith, Reason and Civilization," by Professor Harold J. Laski (Macmillan); he calls it "an essay in historical analysis." Professor Laski is a keen Communist; I use the adjective advisedly, for he pursues Communism with the fanatical, humourless, intolerant enthusiasm usually reserved for sport. The theme of his latest book is simple. Mankind, he says, always works best when it has a driving force, part intellectual and part mystical—that is to say, a religion. Christianity supplied such a driving force until it became divided, over-organised and enfeebled; it is now useless. Let us discard it therefore in favour of the newest and most powerful religion, which is Communism. Reduced to these bare bones, the argument sounds a little silly. But as Mr. Laski expresses it, it is not silly; it is subtle, well-argued and convincing. Laski cannot be waved aside by people who do not like his opinions; he is too clever for that, and he has a large following.

THE book has many flaws. The champions of Christianity will no doubt wish to refute what Mr. Laski says about their faith; they will have their work cut out for them, if they hope to refute all that he says. But the odd thing about Mr. Laski's argument is that he insists on relating Christianity to the churches, Catholic and Protestant, and he accepts their actions and pronouncements as the sum of what Christianity means in the world. He never once suggests that religion might be a deeply personal matter —an inner struggle in which man strives to reconcile the conflicting elements of his character by relating himself to a greater power. Unless I have misunderstood Mr. Laski grossly, he thinks of mankind as a collection of extroverts who must have an outer symbol to worship. He offers the State as that symbol, and tells us that it has worked very well in Russia.

AGAIN, I may have misunderstood Mr. Laski, but he appears to me to be juggling with the old saw that "religion is the opium of the people" which Marx gave to his disciples. Now it is true that a considerable amount of popular religion in every age is a drug for discontented and maladjusted people, but it is not the only drug. Laski, with the breath-taking wrong-headedness of the logician, seems to think that the chief purpose of religion is to keep people quiet, and that therefore it is only common sense to kill two birds with one stone, and make a religion of the political faith which you want to establish. Professor Laski does not write as crudely as I do. He writes about "holding the great ends of life in common," but his meaning is clear enough. He is not, as orthodox people may be disposed to believe, a monster who wants to stand the world on its head and banish one of the popular faiths of mankind; he is a man who thinks he knows how to make us all good and happy, and as such he is infinitely more dangerous than any iconoclast. It is from such men that tyrants are made.

THE book is persuasive rhetoric, but it does not stand close examination. Mr. Laski is too much inclined to use the words "solemn truth" when putting forth his own opinions; he is too glib in relating the fall of Rome with Christianity, and the fall of Christianity with Communism; history repeats herself, but not word for word. He admits that "the desire for heaven is not dead," but it is obvious that his idea of heaven is precisely that of the most ignorant and ignoble Christians—a place where everything is free, where there is no work, and where it is unnecessary to use one's intelligence. Despite his passionate denials, it is clear that he regards the function of the artist in the state as a cross between that of the evangelist and the politician. And he reduces all human aspiration to a craven yearning for security.

WHAT is more, Mr. Laski, who would like us to think of him as a hard-headed fellow, is a sentimentalist and a hero-worshipper; he can write of British bravery with dry eyes, but when it comes to Stalingrad "no one can read of it without emotion." Similarly the death of British aristocrats in battle leaves him unmoved, but Mr. Laski's eyes fill and his tender heart throbs when a Communist leader is shot in Paris. He holds up Stalingrad to us as the highest pinnacle of human bravery and sacrifice; he can be perfectly calm about Alamein and Tobruk. In short, Mr. Laski loves all that is Russian and Communistic, and takes a black view of everything else. Our time he insists, is revolutionary, and we have two choices—Communism or the Abyss. As I am quite sure that neither Britain nor Canada will choose Communism, we shall shortly find out what the Abyss is like. It probably will not be too bad. The difference between Professor Laski and the street-corner evangelist who predicts the end of the world is one of quality, not of essence.

POISONED WINE

So much methylated spirit had been used in a wine made by a London company, it was said at Old-street yesterday, that blindness, unconsciousness and death could have been caused to anyone drinking even small quantities of it.

About 3,000 gallons, said Mr. P. C. R. Noble, prosecuting, were found at the premises of the Golden Wine Co., in High Holborn.

It was so dangerous that the place was locked up and the wine destroyed.

Chemists, said counsel, had found that 45 samples consisted mainly of methylated spirit. Some 300 gallons were sold to a licensee.—London Daily Express.

LATEST TERROR WEAPON!

Social Security: Two Sides

(NEW YORK TIMES)

THE British Government has brought forward its social security plan. Like the Beveridge plan, it is designed to insure everybody against all the common hazards of life.

Already it is being assumed by many critics that the Government plan is necessarily inferior to the Beveridge plan because it will pay somewhat small amounts and have greater limitations. But if a social security plan is to be judged solely by the size of its payments and the absence of limitations, it would be very easy for anyone to outbid Sir William Beveridge by removing even his limitations and increasing even his proposed benefit payments. If a social security plan is to be judged, in fact, solely from the side of what it pays out, it would be hard to see what limitations should be placed on the payments made.

The truth is that the social security problem is always and inevitably a two-sided one. We desire to provide insurance as far as possible against the dislocations and disasters incident to economic advance, but we do not wish to weaken the forces of advance themselves. We want to mitigate for individuals the penalties for failure or misfortune, but we do not want to weaken the incentives to production and success. In the past we unduly neglected one side of the problem; we did not give sufficient protection to unfortunate individuals.

The danger today, however, is chiefly on the other side. We are in danger of forgetting the effect of unemployment benefits in reducing the incentive to find useful work, while few politicians even dare to express concern regarding the increased taxes which every extension or enlargement of social security necessarily involves. But excessive taxes can reduce the total production upon which the welfare of all of us depends.

The Government can pay nothing to A, in brief, that it does not take from B. It must consider the effects of this forced transfer on both. Few men will be eager to take jobs if their insurance or relief payments are greater than or almost as great as what they can earn by working. Again, most taxes have some deterrent effect on production; the greater the total tax burden the greater this deterrent effect is likely to be.

While we must continue to examine every social insurance problem, therefore from the point of view of the protection that it gives to the individual against the worst misfortunes, we must examine it also from the standpoint of its effect on the productive system as a whole. We must not aim solely at the security of special groups and neglect the security of all.

On Keeping An Elephant

THE market price of an elephant ranges from that of a Ford to at least as much as a Rolls-Royce, depending on age, sex, training, gait, and general disposition. A baby is worth approximately five hundred dollars....The Tharu mahout of Ram Piari, an elephant driven for fifteen years, drew a salary of two rupees a month, plus food and clothes. It would have taken him some seven hundred and fifty years to earn the price of the elephant he drove. A good elephant, according to dictates laid down by the various mahouts I conversed with, should belong in body. Like a ship, it rides the roads better with fore and aft well drawn out....

The initial price is only a part of the cost of an elephant. To keep two or more tons of elephant satisfied, an enormous quantity of food has to be provided. Balrampur allowed a hundred rupees a month to feed each of its fifty elephants. In addition, every animal had to have at least two men to take care of it, a driver and a cook. The average elephant received a daily ration of a thousand pounds of food. Every night for dinner a full-grown elephant consumers about ten pounds of rice, a half pound of salt, and ten pounds of coarse wheat flour made into huge chapatis. The mammoth of Balrampur required fifty pounds of grain a day. The rest of the food consists of fodder, grass, sugar-cane, and a huge pile of banian leaves and branches, particularly delectable to an elephant....

Back of the tahsil, close to the tank, was a grove in which the mahouts always made camp when they stayed in Pachperwa overnight. Fetching their own banian leaves and branches from the jungle, some of the elephants would be coming in with towering green loads on their backs. One would be enjoying a bath in the tank. Its attendant would order it to lie down in the shallow water, first on one side and then on the other, while he scrubbed its enormous flanks with a stone. But an elephant knows how to give itself a good shower bath and will obey an order to suck up water with its truck and spray itself thoroughly. After drinking at the tank or out of large iron scoops filled by the mahouts at the well, the elephants were all chained by their front legs to trees for the night....

Little fires gleamed out where the attendants were busy cooking the elephants' dinner, each a separate affair. In big clay pots the rice was being boiled. On flat sheets of iron propped up on two bricks, the round wheat cakes, a foot and a half across, were baking. The elephants rolled their small gray or pale brown eyes in the direction of their dinner and swayed restlessly, making their ankle chains clink. The mahout stands by and helps feed his animal, tossing it sheaves of succulent leaves twisted into small bundles and neatly rolled chapatis. The elephant picks these up with the sensitive lip of its trunk, curls the trunk under, and deposits the morsel in its mouth. Sometimes the cooked meal is finished off with a baseball of brown sugar. Afterward the animals begin on the rubbery leaves and branches, and the mahouts cook their own food. Then they curl up against the saddles, wrap themselves in cotton cloths, and drop off to sleep.—From "Voiceless India," by Gertrude Emerson.

Pretty Please, Mr. Petrillo!

(NEW YORK TIMES)

THE letter of the President to James C. Petrillo, head of the American Federation of Musicians, illustrates once more the double standard of the Administration in dealing with disputes between unions and employers. Mr. Petrillo has defied an order of the War Labour Board. One cannot imagine the President's writing so gentle and friendly a note to an employer who had defied an order of the Board. The President and his advisers find that the law can do nothing to Mr. Petrillo because his defiance does not "unduly impede the war effort." One has only to contrast this with the action of the Administration in the Montgomery Ward case, where noncompliance with a War Labour Board order was deemed so perilous to the war effort that Federal troops were instantly ordered in to seize the plant and remove the head of it bodily.

What began as an "order" to Mr. Petrillo to desist has ended as merely a personal "request," to which Mr. Petrillo is asked to yield as a special favour to the President and to the American public.

Nothing is said in the President's letter of how it became perfectly legal for Mr. Petrillo to exercise the irresponsible private dictatorial powers that he does. Nothing is said of how it became perfectly legal for this private citizen to tell the American people what music it can and cannot hear. To find out how this situation came about, one has merely to review the labour laws which the Congress has put upon the books and the laws and amendments that the Administration has opposed, together with the interpretation of the existing laws by the Supreme Court. The plain truth is that the powers exercised by Mr. Petrillo are powers conferred upon him by acts of Congress as interpreted by the Supreme Court. Congress has made it illegal for employers to discourage membership in a labour union, but has refused to make it illegal for unions to coerce workers into membership. Congress, according to the Supreme Court, has granted sweeping immunities to labour unions under the anti-trust acts, the anti-conspiracy acts and even the anti-racketeering acts. These immunities are simply go-ahead signals to unions to commit acts that would be illegal if committed by anyone else.

Under the powers conferred upon him by Congress Mr. Petrillo can force practically every musician in the country into his union. He has the power to boycott any musician or the employer of any musician who refuses to join. Under these powers he can levy a private tax on the records of recording companies (a tax which must ultimately be paid by the consuming public) so that he can force the employment of unneeded men during a wartime manpower shortage and set up his own private system of unemployment relief. If the Administration is now, as it professes, powerless to take any legal action against Mr. Petrillo, and is reduced to asking him to desist as a special favour, it is because, through its own labour legislation, it planned it that way.

A Bible Message

All that the Father giveth me shall come to me; and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out. For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me.

And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that of all which he hath given me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day. And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day. (John 6: 37-40.)

Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him....And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever. (I John 2: 15, 17.)

Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. (Matt. 6: 10.)

Unconsidered Trifles

As the shifty-looking individual prepared to leave the restaurant, another diner accosted him timidly:

"Excuse me, but do you happen to be John Smith of Newcastle?"

"No, I'm not," snapped the shiftly fellow aggressively.

"Oh—er—well," replied the other, "you see, I am, and that's his overcoat you are putting on!"

A doctor, in want of a strong lad, advertised to that effect, and, being a ventriloquist, adopted the following firm use to test the nerves of the applicants.

The first, a great hulking lad, he sent with a basin of hot gruel to feed a skeleton he had in a dark cupboard. During the process of feeding, the skeleton observed in deep sepulchrel tones, "It's deuced hot." The boy's hair stood on end. He dropped the basin and fled in terror.

The second applicant, a small shocked-haired lad, had to go through the same ordeal; but when the skeleton made his remark, he replied unconcernedly, "I could have told you that. Blow on it you fool." He got the job.

Lt. Nels Foster Home From Invasion

Lieut. Nels Foster, gunnery officer of the corvette H.M.C.S. Camrose, credited with the probable sinking of a submarine and which was part of the invasion fleet, is spending a furlough with his wife and parents, Euclid avenue.

Going overseas on the Camrose in November, 1943, Lieut. Foster has remained with his ship until the present time, and is enthusiastic about the fighting qualities of corvettes, which he says take the rough seas amazingly well.

About the submarine action he is off hand. While on convoy duty in the Bay of Biscay at the beginning of the year, the general alarm was sounded when a submarine moved in to attack the ships.

"It was around midnight when the first alarm went and I was below sleeping, since I was off duty. By the time I got to my post, and the guns were ready, the submarine, which had only begun to show herself, had submerged. We dropped a pattern of depth charges and 2½ hours later, it was apparent that the submarine had sunk, as wreckage floated to the surface and the water was covered with oil. None of the crew was saved."

E Boat Attacks

The invasion trips were relatively quiet, Lieut. Foster reported, with only the odd clash with E boats to provide any excitement. Although they fired a few rounds, they had no luck in knocking one of them off, he reported. They are so fast that they will take on anything, and can dart in and out, and be away, before larger vessels can do them much harm. They are the equivalent of the Allied motor torpedo boats.

"We were working just north of the American sector in the invasion, and our job was escorting smaller ships across the Channel. We had little opposition in landing, because by that time, the fighting had moved a good bit further inland. We did have a few air attacks at night. The night bombers would roar in dropping "chandeliers," which illuminated the target and everything else for a good distance around, they never got us, nor did our ship bring down one of them."

Appreciates Gift

Lieut. Foster was enthusiastic about the thoughtfulness of Peterborough people. A few days ago he attended a bingo held by the Workers and Unemployed Association. When the heads of the organization saw his stripes for overseas service, they gave him $5, presented by Mrs. J. Post.

One of the things this sailor mentioned, was the amount of thought men in the Navy are giving to "after the war" plans, both officers and crew. He pointed out that on convoy work, there was usually lots of time for talking and reading, and said the men kept track of government plans, discussed them and tried to map out something for their own futures.

Lieut. Foster said that many of the men who have taken special courses in things like electricity, do not want to go back to their old jobs, but want to put their new trade to some use. Some of course will stay with the Navy, but most of them intend to return to civilian life. He particularly mentioned the good work the Canadian Legion is doing with educational services.

Prior to enlisting, Lieut. Foster was employed at the Western Clock Company. His wife, formerly Dorothy Blade, lives at 444 Dublin, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Foster, 236 Euclid avenue.

SUGGESTS PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES

The so-called "Common Cold" is unfortunately very prevalent at the moment. It is also a proven fact that the spread of "Colds" is invariably caused by the infection of one person by another. We admit that it is indeed difficult to stay clear of all others so affected and it therefore behooves us to exercise the most stringent precautionary measures. The building up of systemic resistance by the taking of suitable "Vitamin Compounds" is of course obviously indicated. The use of antiseptics is also highly recommended in this respect. If however, a "cold" should strike, treatment should be commenced immediately and if favourable results are not quickly apparent, a visit to your doctor is very much in order. Your Tamblyn Drug Store can of course supply you with the necessary remedies for treatment and is also qualified and fully prepared to compound your doctor's prescription exactly to his specification. As a further aid and reminder to you of the very excellent "Cough and Cold" preparations available a number have been included in this list of

To Seek Juniors.

Reference was made during the evening to the fact that next year greater stress would be laid on the work of getting junior players for the club, and a very reasonable membership fee will be set to encourage younger people in the city and district to take a greater interest in golf.

Joe Jebson, of the Peterborough Club, speaking on behalf of the members from the older club, voiced the opinion that not sufficient attention was being given this particular sphere of golf, and suggested that the calibre of the competition would suffer unless young men and women were attracted to the game in Peterborough.

Mrs. Ken Smylie and Mr. Lionel Browne, teamed up to present the prizes in the women's division and the following are the winners:

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—An Ohio football official reports finding the toughest and best football player in the world in a game between Columbus St. Charles and West Jefferson . . . A West Jefferson pass was intercepted and as the official was headed toward the pileup, one West Jeff boy called: "hey, ref, watch that 79. He's slugging me on every play." . . . Five steps farther another kid complained: "Gee whiz, ref, watch that 79. He just slugged me." . . . As he stopped where the players were being untangled, the official heard still another West Jeff boy remark: "Keep your eyes on that 79; he just slugged me." . . . When the pile of players finally was loosened, there on the bottom was 79—with the ball . . .

Easy Experting:

Before returning from the World Series to Greenville, S.C., Carter (Scoop) Latimer dispatched this wire: "It may be a case of a man giving a hot dog indigestion, but take a tip that Marty Marion will receive the award as the most valuable player this year." . . . Right on both counts.

Today's Guest Star:

Joe Gootter, Paterson, N.J., Evening News: "Simile to end all similes: as ineffective as a St. Louis Browns' pinch-hitter."

Have a Coca-Cola = You're home again

...or how to welcome sons on furlough

Countless letters from our fighting sons overseas tell us how much they miss Coca-Cola or, finding it, how much it reminds them of home and friends. So when your boy, or your neighbour's boy, comes in on furlough, have a frosty, refreshing "Coke" to offer. It's a little thing—but one that says better than words: "It's the same old friendly place as before. You're home again."

Coca-Cola the global high-sign

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke". 875

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Cossa season will open here on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park with Peterborough C.V.S. seniors clashing with Bowmanville High School in a game that should have a lot of color. Both teams won their opening fixture, the Peterborough students swamping Lindsay away from home 46 to 12 while the Bowmanville team was victorious at home over Oshawa Collegiate 2 to 1 so that the Saturday meeting will be a clash between two winners with first place in the rgoup race the reward for the victorious twelve. Cossa football has always been noted for fast and open play, the Collegiate teams usually come up with a lot of hipper-dipper, razzle-dazzle stuff that delights the fans. Saturday's game should be of that variety for the Peterborough team showed plenty of smart moves in overcoming Lindsay, scoring nine touchdowns, a bunch of them by the aerial route with forward passes clicking in great style. That is the kind of football that the crowd eat up and there will undoubtedly be an oldtime turnout to see the first Cossa fixture in some years. Saturday's card will be a double-header for the senior fixture will be heralded in with a junior battle.

The composite box score of the six games of the world series reveal clearly why the Cardinals won the argument. The statistics show that offensively the Browns were able to bat only .183 as a club and that had it not been for the great hitting of George McQuinn the American Leaguers' batting average would have reached an all-time low. On the other hand the Cardinals, while not breaking any records themselves did set up a team average of .240. So far as hits went the Cards had a total of 49 as against 36 for their opposition, while in total bases the 1944 world champs had 69 as against 50 for the losers. But when it comes to the defensive side the superiority of the Cards is as conspicuous as a flat-chester dame in a bathing contest. The Brownies kicked in with ten fielding misplays in the six games with Shortstop Vern Stephens and Second Baseman Don Gutteridge each having three boots and Third Baseman Mark Christman erring once. Against that shaky display of fielding the Cards went through with only one error and that a very doubtful one charged against Stan Musial. The Card infield handled 124 chances with nothing that looked like a misplay, the agile and long-armed Marty Marion heading this great display of defensive work by handling 29 chances without a skip. Verban had 22 and Kurowski 19 and the result of this tight fielding all around was that the Brownies had to earn all their runs. The Cards refused to hand them anything. On the other hand the champs cashed in with seven unearned markers.

It Was Long Overdue

Even those Peterborough fans who pulled for the Browns—and their number was legion—will endorse the following tribute paid by Doug Vaughan of the Windsor Star to a really great pitcher who has had more than his share of bad luck: "All the way through it has been a series packed to the gunwales with color and dripping with drama but what happened yesterday certainly topped anything that had gone before. It was a great pitcher's duel between two mighty craftsmen. For Denny Galehouse it was a tough game to lose. For Morton Cooper it was a day of sweet revenge for all the heartbreaking things that have happened to him in the past at the hands of American League standard-bearers. There is no denying that Cooper has long been a great pitcher. Yet, around the American League there were those who were inclined to belittle his ability because of the tough luck he always seemed to have whenever fate pitted him against anything representing the junior circuit. Up to yesterday Cooper had pitched in four world series games—including his two-hitter of last Wednesday against the Browns—and been beaten three times. He has pitched in two all-star games and has yet to win a decision. Yesterday marked the first real break that Cooper has ever really had in inter-league competition and even then he had to give one of the finest exhibitions of pitching cunning and displays of courage than any hurler ever did, to come home a winner. Surely no one can belittle his performance of yesterday, minimize its importance to the Cards or begrudge a truly fine fellow and great competitor a long overdue reward."

The reason why baseball is still flourishing in Niagara Falls is illustrated effectively in this paragraph from the Niagara Falls Review. Years ago the sporting leaders of the Cataract town started out to look after the young players and they have never departed from that policy. The clipping we now republish shows how the kids are being encouraged: "The kids of Niagara Falls, Stamford and Chippawa are really going to have a time for themselves when the Ball Association springs with its annual dinner, October 23rd. Through the generosity of merchants and fans of the three communities, every boy who played ball during the past summer is assured of a meal at the General Brock Hotel and an evening of bang-up entertainment. Those in charge of rounding up the kind of program that fits in with a boy's idea of fun have a magician, a comedian and smart musical numbers along with Dick McCabe, former Boston Red Sox pitcher who will fill the speaking role. Juveniles, Juniors, Seniors and adults will gather the following evening with Lou Boudreau doing the speaking chore. Boudreau is the youngest manager in the big leagues, at 27, and recently was given another three year contract by Cleveland and comes with the American League batting crown tucked in his duffle bag. Along with Boudreau will be any number of big and minor league stars and those who haven't picked up their ducats would be well advised to look them up over the week-end."

Chick Pays His Tribute

Chick Appel, Stratford sport commentator who missed the Westclox-Kroehler final game because of a holiday trip returns in time to pay his tribute to the twice-champion Stratford girls as follows: "Back in harness again, after the annual vacation period, this corner offers belated congratulations to the Stratford Kroehler girls' team, officials and sponsors in capturing the intermediate Provincial Women's Softball Union championship for the second straight year. In commending them, it might be pointed out that they turned the trick in very decisive fashion, leaving no doubts as to their superiority over all comers, by wading through to the title without suffering a setback. From Manager Gar Landers and Coach "Smokey" Harris down to Art Brickman, the batboy, every member of the club had an important role in the scheme of things, and it was this team spirit which played a leading part in the victory."

* * * * * *

"What makes Kroehler girls' second consecutive victory so remarkable is that they swept through the playdowns without a single defeat," continues the Stratford scribe. "They played eight games against four different opponents, and collected 90 hits and 55 runs as compared with 73 hits and 28 runs scored by their rivals. In those eight game played they came from behind several times, a sure indication that they are battlers. In all, 89 innings were played, one of the games going 14 innings and another 13 frames. But the greatest factor in the fine victory was the pitching of Greta Harmer, who hurled every one of these 89 innings, and finished the season as fourth highest batter on the team, with a mark of .302. In limiting four of the province's best teams to 73 hits and 28 runs, Greta turned in a mound record that was almost perfect so far as control was concerned, by walking but four batters and uncorking no wild pitches. It's doubtful if this record has an equal in any girls' softball, and may be a mark that will stand for a long, long time."

Wrestler Uses Shoe Lace To Win Match

On a card in which villainy triumphed all along the line, Karl Krippler Davis, who now wants to be known as the Texan Fox, won an unpopular main bout victory at the Tunney wrestling showing in the Brock St. Arena last night by beating the free-wheeling Irish Jack Kennedy two falls to one.

It was a bad night for the popular choices. Doc Len Hall belted Jack Wentworth into submission in the preliminary and threw him with a pile-driver and the rugged Russian Ivan Rasputin defeated Pierre DeGlane in the semi-final.

The big crowd was hot under the collar over the Davis win and particularly over the manner in which the rowdy Texan took the first fall by parlaying a shoe string into a victory. It all came about when Davis, after clapping a toehold on the popular Kennedy, proceeded to tie the Georgian's feet together with his own shoe laces. Apparently everybody in the arena except Referee Bert Maxwell saw the shoe lace incident.

Maxwell made Davis break his hold after he had punched his opponent in the face several times but Kennedy was helpless. With his feet hobbled he floundered around the ring and of course was a setup for the Texan who flattened him twice with elbow smashes and then rolled him over and pinned him.

Crowd In Uproar

By that time the crowd was in an uproar and it looked for a few minutes as if the riot squad would be called out. As Referee Maxwell started his count, some of the infuriated spectators grabbed him and nearly pulled him out of the ring but the official broke away and declared Davis the winner. Meanwhile other fans had climbed inside the ropes and untied Kennedy's feet. Maxwell was deaf to all protests and in spite of the clamor from the crowd awarded the fall to the Texan.

It came after 14 minutes tough wrestling in which there was little advantage either way. Kennedy opened hostilities before the sound of the opening bell had died away by landing a hay-maker under Davis' eye and the punch slowed the tough hombre up for the opening minutes. He even broke clean the first two or three times but finally got rolling with his usual brand of rough stuff and found Kennedy ready to mix with him all the way. Until the shoe lace episode there had been little to choose between the two grapplers.

A Quick Fall

When Kennedy came back into the ring for the second round he was obviously angry and Davis must have thought that he had been tossed in with a human buzz saw. The Irish mat artist waded in with a barrage of lefts and rights to the jaw that drove Davis back to the refuge of a corner. Then with the Texan helpless against the ropes, Kennedy hurled himself like a battering-ram against his opponent, pounding his head into Davis' stomach four or five times. The Texan was out on his feet by the time that blitz ended but Kennedy took no chances. He threw him twice with headlocks and after Davis had landed hard for the second time on the mat the Irish grappler had an easy task in turning him over and pinning him for the fall that squared the match. It took only two minutes and had the crowd wild with excitement.

When the battlers returned for the third round the going was decidedly tense. Kennedy used a series of scissor holds that had Davis in TORONTO, Oct. 11 — (CP). — The brightest bit of news to come from the sport front during the past week was confirmation that the National Hockey League is definitely against any haphazard signing of hockey urchins below the age of 16. Anything above that, yes, but the smaller fry will have to be thrown back no matter how good they might look.

After all, some dignity has to be preserved, or else the youngsters might take the league over in its entirety. As it is, the big-time pro loop every season is coming more and more into direct competition with Canada's top Memorial Cup-seeking teams. Even if the N.H.L. doesn't pay much more to the urchins, the glamor of being in the big tent is enough to take the cream of the crop from the juniors.

The pro loop's self-sacrifice came to light when Andy (Toronto Star) Lytle reported that Hap Day of the Toronto Leafs had signed up two of the Chin brothers from Lucknow, Ont., but had to leave 15-year-old George for further seasoning despite the glamor allure of the three Chinese brothers.

From here to there:

Stan Stronge, one of Vancouver's outstanding soccer goalies before he was struck by a falling tree and paralyed, is making a gallant fight to regain his health. He has been taking treatment at a United States paralysis correction school and is making good progress....Surveying the hockey scene from Winnipeg, Frankie Boucher calmly opened up a fertile field for argument when he remarked that the greatest improvement in hockey the past 25 years has been in goalkending. There's no argument with his choice of Frankie Brimsek and the late Chuck Gardiner as the greatest of the modern era, but Frankie could not have been looking at the goalies of the past year or so when he spoke about that improvement.

Where's Joe?

Gone to get another VICTORY BOND

Joe knows the importance of owning and keeping Victory Bonds. He knows that when peace comes his Bonds will mean far more to him than they do today. He knows that when radios and refrigerators, automobiles and washing machines once more are available, his Victory Bonds will enable him to buy what he wants when he wants it.

Joe doesn't think he is making any sacrifice when he buys Victory Bonds. The men and women in the fighting forces are the ones who are doing that. And he is grateful to them! He knows that by their blood and sweat and toil they are keeping him secure and free. He thinks they are great. So, he cheerfully digs down and buys one more Bond than he did last time. Won't you do the same?

West--Enders Swamp Queen Alex

Prince of Wales soccer eleven are now in a play-off position in the Public School Soccer League by their emphatic defeat of the Queen Alexandra boys, on King Edward Park, on Tuesday afternoon by the score of 5-0. It is a keen battle now for the play-offs and King Edward will have to win against Central on Thursday afternoon if they expect to be in the deciding games.

First Half

Right from the kick-off, it was evident that the smaller calibre of stature of players from the north end could not meet with the heavy combination from the Prince of Wales School. It was only a matter of time that eventually gave the decision to the Westenders as they rattled in three goals in the first half. Queen Alexandra boys tried hard to penetrate the full-backs territory but Hughes and Miller were giving no favours as the ball hovered in their goal area. Half time —Prince of Wales 3, Queen Alexandra 0.

Second Half

Both elevens open up with a steady attack to test the custodians while the half-backs indulged in close checking the forwards to confine the play to mid-field, until McMullen gathered up a loose ball and sent his team-mates away to the other end where Prince of Wales registered two more goals and seemed satisfied to hold their total of five goals against none until the final whistle. Full time—Prince of Wales 5, Queen Alexandra 0.

Greens Capture Field Day At Grove School

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 10 — (ENS). — Contrary to previous years, Sports Day at the Lakefield Preparatory School, was this Thanksgiving a day of low hanging clouds, drizzling rain with only momentary glimpses of sunshine. However it failed to dull the brilliant Autumn coloring, or to dampen the enthusiasm of the spectators or the contestants. School sweaters of red and green swarmed over the green of the Lower Rugby Field, where a huge flag of Canada was suspended above the Victory Stand, from which was announced the names of the winners. In the background, through thinning trees, glimmered Lake Katchewanooka, gray and uninviting.

Orioles Score 10-0 Victory

BALTIMORE, Oct. 11 (AP) — Louisville Colonels of the American Association face an uphill fight in tonight's sixth Little World Series game which they will enter with two victories to Baltimore's three.

Baltimore Orioles, champions of the International League, pounded three Louisville hurlers last night to fashion a 10-0 victory behind the four-hit pitching of Charles (Red) Embree, ace of the Oriole staff.

The Colonels' top hurler, Jim Wilson, winner of the opening game of the best-of-seven series, started last night's contest but the Orioles jumped on him for four runs in the first two innings. He was followed by Vic Johnson and George Diehl.

Embree, who had won the second game Saturday 11-0, again was in rare form as he shut out the visitors. He set down the first 17 batters in order and was never in trouble.

The fifth was the Orioles' big inning as they scored six runs. They touched Johnson for six singles and a sacrifice and took advantage of two Louisville errors and a passed ball.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

Joe Krol, backfield star of the Hamilton Wildcats in the Ontario Rugby Football Union, leads scorers in both Ontario's football leagues, it is shown in statistics compiled by The Canadian Press.

Krol scored 11 points Saturday against Ottawa Trojans to bring his total to 29 points, four more than Leading Seaman Annis Stukus of Toronto Navy, leader in the services league.

Second to Krol in the O.R.F.U. is Earl Selkirk, Toronto Balmy Beach, with 15 points, and second to Stukus in the services league is Sgt. Doug Pyzer, also with 15 points.

A program studded with rich events is scheduled for Los Angeles Santa Anita track, which has been granted permission by the California Horse Racing Board to hold a 55-day meet beginning the last week in December. Feature races will be the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap and the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby. There will be two other $50,000 stakes, two $25,000 stakes and nine $20,000 stakes.

Rangers Training

Lester Patrick, whose New York Rangers finished a dismal last in the National Hockey League last winter, sees better things in store this season. At Winnipeg, where Rangers open pre-season training Thursday, Patrick admitted the team might still be "a little weak" on defence, but looked forward to "a vast improvement in the club's all-round play." Patrick said Grant Warwick, forward who suffered a fractured skull last winter, would be back in the lineup.

Hopes that the Quebec Senior Hockey League would function this winter were dashed yesterday as Sylvio Mantha's time elapsed for the organization of three Montreal entries. At a Sept. 29 league meeting, Mantha, former Montreal Canadien defenceman, forestalled suspension of the circuit's operations by announcing he would attempt to find financial backing to operate three metropolitan clubs, the number deemed necessary by officials to form a league. Mantha has failed to advise league officials that his search has been successful, so a previous league resolution to suspend operations goes automatically into effect.

Athletics Take Lead In Lacrosse Finals

By ERIC SANDERSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, Oct. 11 —(CP) —St. Catharines Athletics— the team that entered the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior series this season just to round out a five-team loop— are one game up on New Westminster Salmonbellies in their bid for the Canadian championship.

Athletics, led by veterans Roy (Hung) Morton and Frank Madsen, scored an 11-10 victory last night in the third game of the best-of-five series with the defending-champion Salmonbellies, to give them a 2-1 lead. They won the first game 17-10 here last Saturday and lost the second Monday night 13-4.

Venue of the fourth game will be decided today.

Down 10-7 with only 12 minutes left, Athletics began a comeback which netted them four goals without a reply from the Fishmen. Morton got the first of the needed markers, Carson Myers sank the second and Madsen netted the tieing goal. Doug Cove, member of the squad for the last two seasons, drove home the winning goal 21 seconds from time.

Morton, Myers and Madsen each scored three times during the game and Bill Mackie netted the other goal. Veterans Pete Meehan and Bert Bryant got three apiece for New Westminster and other scorers were Captain Bill Wilkes, with two, Ike Hilderbrand and Ritchie McPherson.

Both teams checked closely throughout, although the coast champions had the better of play in the first half.

Checking was close in the final quarter, although there were no penalties. Each of the four goals was netted after ganging attacks in the Salmonbelly zone and Goalie Walt Lee had little chance to save. During the game Lee stopped 11 direct shots compared to 16 by Bill Whitaker, star St. Catharines netminder.

Rev. J. J. O'Brien To Be Invested As Domestic Prelate Tonight

Recently appointed a Domestic Prelate by Pope Pius XII, Reverend John Joseph O'Brien will be invested with the dignity, rank and distinctive purple of his new office by Bishop J. R. MacDonald at the Church of the Sacred Heart this evening.

The papal honor conferred upon Rev. Father O'Brien extends to him the associated title of Monsignor. It is a recognition of his long years of devoted service in the priesthood since his ordination forty-six years ago next December. Thursday, Octover 5, was the thirty-fifth anniversary of the beginning of his pastorate in the parish of Sacred Heart. His other years of duty were spent at Sturgeon Falls, North Bay, Lakefield and briefly between times at St. Peter's Cathedral.

For the occasion of his investiture, both clergy and laity have been planning expressions of tribute and congratulation. Among the expected visitors at the ceremony are two bishops, six monsignori, six deans and thirteen priests from outside dioceses, Kingston, Toronto, Sault Ste. Marie and Hamilton, with probably all the priests of Peterborough diocese or as many of them as can attend, including those coming from a Deanery meeting at Lindsay during the day.

Expected Dignitaries

With Bishop MacDonald of Peterborough will be Bishop R. D. Dignan of North Bay, cathedral centre of the diocese of Sault Ste. Marie. Others who are expected are: Monsignor Thomas J. Crowley of Sault Ste. Marie, who was born in Peterborough and lived in his youth with his parents on Lake street; Monsignor F. J. O'Sullivan of this city; Monsignor Leo J. Bryne, Kingston; Monsignor A. A. Rae, St. Andrew's West, in the Cornwall district; Very Rev. T. P. McLaughlin, Superior of the Redemptorist Order, Toronto; Rt. Rev. J. E. McRae, Superior of the China Missions Seminary, Toronto; Very Reverends E. J. McCorkell, C.S.B., Toronto; Dean M. J. O'Leary, Bracebridge; Dean V. J. McAuley, Lindsay; Dean Michael Cullinane, St. Catharines; Dean E. M. Leacy, Napanee; also Brother Simon, F.S.C., Toronto, head of the Christian Brothers.

Older members of St. Peter's parish, when it comprised the entire city, have recalled Father O'Brien as a pious young altar boy, manifestly marked for a vocation in the priesthood. The years since his ordination have confirmed those early impressions pointing to a mission in religion which has won for him the reward of honorary appointment to the prelacy of his church, the announcement of which was gratefully received by all his friends, and especially by the people of the parish of Sacred Heart.

Wars and Depression

Those thirty-one years of pastoral ministrations and solicitude included the anxious periods of two world wars and an industrial depression of nearly ten years, times of worry and distress and sacrifice from which few homes escaped. As much and as long as possible, Father O'Brien strove during the ordeal of unemployment to save from recourse to public aid any families of his parish falling into conditions of want and hardship; and in that stringency the ordinary physical needs of parish and church property were subordinated to the personal necessity of some homes with aid that was veiled to avoid impairment of self-respect and the spirit to rise above adversity. Indeed, the extent to which Father O'Brien shared his allowance is only his own memory, but some intimations transpiring from time to time within the parish were confidently believed, and greatly endeared him to his people.

Participating in their joys and sorrows for more than thirty years, Father O'Brien has been close to his parishioners from the school days of many of them to their marriage and parenthood, and to the enlistment of others in the military services of their country. He has been with them at the baptism of their children, and to the last prayers for their dear ones at the graveside; at the celebration of the mass every day in the week with some of them, and at the Sunday devotions with "all who call themselves Catholics"; preaching the commandments and the Christian ideals of life, often with emphasis on its briefness and vanities and ultimate disillusion of worldliness.

In these latter days Father O'Brien has quite obviously deepened his message of appeal to parents to realize their duty of guarding the home against new enemies, constantly to set an example to their children in deed as well as precept, and to make associates of them in the Christian way of life.

Love For Children

Father O'Brien's pastorate has been full of duty, patience and perseverance; especially devoted to the children and their education, and "primarily in their education that they shall know God and begin their young lives in His love and service." His interest in the men's Holy Name Society and in the girls' Sodality of the Blessed Virgin has never slackened. At the same time he would be the first to acknowledge the co-operation which he has received in all these affairs from his assistant priests and from zealous parishioners.

In his community relations Father O'Brien has been an unobtrusively good citizen. Although he is a native son of Peterborough and for thirty-one years the head of one of the largest and most important parishes in the diocese, he has been content to remain in the background, while supporting public projects by announcement and otherwise; preaching on occasion the duties of citizenship, respect for constituted authority and active interest in the welfare of the municipality. So long and so consistently has Father O'Brien been the modest, unassuming, and even retiring priest, that the honor bestowed on him by the head of his church assumes brighter enhancement by its contrast of dignity and rank as a Domestic Prelate.

Born in Peterborough

Rev. J. J. O'Brien was born in Peterborough, son of the late Edward O'Brien and his wife, Anne Lynch. He received his primary education at the old Catholic School on Murray street, present site of the Armouries, was graduated from St. Michael's College, Toronto, went to the Grand Seminary in Montreal, where he completed his philosophy and theological courses, and was ordained to the priesthood by the late Archbishop Bruchesi in St. James' Cathedral, Montreal, on December 17, 1898.

Returning to Peterborough Father O'Brien was appointed early in 1899 to the parish of Sturgeon Falls, then in the diocese of Peterborough, jurisdiction of the late Bishop R. A. O'Connor. At that time Peterborough diocese extended north and west as far as Rainy River and Fort William. It was a comparatively vast episcopal territory involving hardships of travel and long absences from his see when Bishop O'Connor used to make his annual tours of parochial visits especially for the administration of the sacrament of confirmation. Journeying into the by-way missions and parishes, much smaller than they are today, was often a trial of physical endurance by buggy and canoe beyond the end of railway and steamboat communication.

A New Diocese

As population was gradually increasing in those areas of the province, around the turn of the century, it was decided to create a new diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, comprising the northern division of the diocese of Peterborough, with the cathedral at North Bay. Rev. Father Scollard, parish priest at North Bay, was consecrated first bishop of the diocese of Sault Ste. Marie. He was a native of Ennismore township.

In the meantime, Father O'Brien had been called back to St. Peter's Cathedral in February, 1905, and on April 5th he was sent to North Bay as assistant to Bishop Scollard by an interdiocesan arrangement which might be freely called a priestly loan. Father O'Brien spent six years at North Bay, and in October, 1911, was appointed parish priest at Lakefield. Two years later, on October 5, 1913, he came back to Peterborough again, assuming charge of the parish of the Sacred Heart in the vacancy caused by the elevation of its first pastor, the late Archbishop M. J. O'Brien of Kingston, to the episcopal authority of Bishop of Peterborough on the death of the Right Reverend Richard Alphonsus O'Connor.

SHORT SESSION

Police court did not last long this morning. Magistrate E. A. Gee was on the bench and it was impossible to proceed with either case on the docket because the accused persons were not on hand. A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of one man and in the other case a police request for a week's adjournment was granted.

ANOTHER ONE

There seems to be no ceiling on the number of false alarms turned in these days, and the latest addition to the list of duds came shortly before one o'clock this morning, when fire engines raced to box 5, near the Canada Packers, only to find it was false. In many cases, these alarms are turned in by children, for the fun of it, and few seem to realize the potential danger that lies in the act.

2nd Potato Crop

BONARLAW, Oct. 11—(ENS). — Mrs. Cora Faulkner, Highway No. 4, a short distance from Harold, is now harvesting her second crop of potatoes in her garden. Whenever she dug a hill early in July she planted more, and now she is harvesting a second crop of good-sized potatoes. The foliage is green in spite of the recent frosts, and the amount of tubers in each hill are really above the average.

Son's Sacrifice Honored By Gift To Fund

Twenty-six years ago this October 11, and only one month within sight of the promised goal of victory, a Peterborough boy laid down his life in the great struggle that was then being waged as now, that others might be free from the same great menace that threatened by a nation who sought to enslave and conquer all those who stood in their path of aggrandizement for themselves at the expense of others.

In this country a great epidemic of influenza was raging at that time, and in this particular circumstance there seemed to be a link, for the boy's mother fell a victim to its scourge at about the same time, so that time and eternity for them both had a common meeting place, both of them being mercifully unaware of the others passing.

At this point it might be well to pause and pay a tribute to all of the countless numbers of heroes who both then and now have taken time out in the midst of their hazardous duties, to write to parents bereaved in this manner, putting into effect a genuine desire to be of some solace to them in their great trouble at that time.

In this manner, a letter addressed to this same mother subsequently reached this city, written by Pte. Stanley Crowe, a member of the same unit who was by the young soldier's side when he became mortally wounded, and of course it never reached her, but was later published in the columns of this newspaper, telling of how his last words and thoughts had been of her.

Lance Corporal Carl Noftall enlisted when he was only 17 years of age, a young bright life for whom the future had much in store, and although this all happened more than a generation ago, his star still shines bright in the memory of those near and dear to him, a tribute to such being paid to-day in perhaps one of the most worthy ways that any hero can be honored, by doing some good in his name for others.

And so it is that a gift to assist the sufferers from robot bomb attacks made by the enemy over Britain, is credited in this column on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, as a tribute to the sacrifice he made at that time.

There is much patience and painstaking care for others in evidence when one can gather 633 coins to do some good for a people whom the misfortunes of war have afflicted, and this in effect was demonstrated when a kindly gentleman well advanced in years brought in $6.33 saved in coppers for that purpose.

This gift naturally comes into the personal class, and perhaps will accentuate the fact that another of the fund's lists of personal gifts is now in the making, there being four of such on hand at the moment, which will appear in the course of a few days, for which the fund would welcome further additions in this higher type of personal sacrifice on behalf of others.

Lights Replace Gates At C.P.R. Crossing

The old gates that for 40 years or more have been used at the George street crossing of the Canadian Pacific Railway to guard traffic are being removed for a more modern system of protection.

Starting tomorrow flashing red lights that will show whenever a train is approaching the crossing will be in operation and it is expected this warning system will be a more effective method than the ancient gates which have been crashed time after time by motorists since they were first installed.

The change to warning lights has been adopted by the railway with the approval of the city council.

Shrapnel Hits Pte. T. S. Rogers

Fighting with the Cameron Highlanders in France since D-Day against fierce Nazi resistance, Pte. Thomas S. Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Rogers, R. R. 9, Douro, has been officially reported wounded in action September 19, and is now in an English hospital, word reaching his parents reveals. In a letter to his parents recently received, Pte. Rogers said he was feeling much better, and doing as well as could be expected.

He is a former employee of the Peterborough Lock Company.

Council Pleased With Campaign

The city council's appreciation of the accomplishment of the Memorial Centre committee in the financing campaign that is now exceeding its $200,000 objective was recorded Tuesday night in a resolution by Alderman Swanston, seconded by Alderman Sullivan.

"They have done exceptionally good work in reaching $200,000," Alderman Swanston said, "and it certainly is nice to see one of our own members (Alderman Bradburn) taking a leading part in this really splendid job."

Alderman Sullivan said everybody should be grateful to J. A. Jebson and his committee, and to Alderman Bradburn in the success of the first stage of this project. "I think our city has shown the way to Kingston, Kitchener, Sarnia, Hamilton, and other cities in the province who have heard of what we set out to do."

Alderman Bradburn said the council's compliment would be appreciated by all those citizens who took part in the campaign. "We made some mistakes, but seemed to blunder through. I hope the Memorial Centre will be a credit to Peterborough."

"I feel that it will be more than a credit," said Mayor Hamilton; "it will be a great asset and blessing to the community in days to come."

Union Members Take Vote At Canada Packers

A strike vote taken recently among members of Local No. 210 of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, employed at the Peterborough plant of Canada Packers was unanimous in favor of a strike if the Union request for a master agreement is not granted, it was announced this morning. "The vote was 100 per cent for a strike" Union officials informed the Examiner.

J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers has said that the Union is trying to force a master agreement on the packing companies before the end of the war and that because the time is so short the union's tactics is to throw the work of the plants into confusion. It was asserted at least a dozen slowdowns had occurred in the larger plants in the last three months.

Want Security

The Union in its reply says it is trying to secure union security for its members but at no time has it suggested that it would demand discharge of any of the old employees who did not wish to join the union. Union members claim they are endeavoring to guard against the same things happening again as did during the depression when employees worked often only two hours a day. They also accuse the company's supervisors of telling the men that they may expect a return to similar conditions, and the men on the other hand are determined if it does happen their union is not going to be the first casualty.

The Union charges discrimination in the refusal of the company to deduct union dues from wages at the request of the employee, and in reply to the charge of slowdowns the union declares it is convinced the packers are deliberately refraining from buying in order to discredit the union among the farmers.

It is maintained that the solution of the present difficulty is quite simple and lies in the hands of Mr. McLean, who the union says, has to re-open discussions which started a year ago to negotiate a master agreement.

A master agreement has been in effect, the union claims, between certain companies and the union in the United States for three years and it is maintained that in Canada it would be the most efficient and satisfactory method of conducting employer-employee relations in companies whose managements are highly centralized in their head offices.

Four-Year-Old Boy Injured In Accident

Four-year-old Dennis Lee, 542 Bethune street, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering from a broken leg shortly before 7 o'clock Tuesday evening after being struck and knocked down by an automobile at London and Bethune streets.

Arthur Parker, Omemee, was driving his car west on London street and as he reached the Bethune street intersection the Lee boy ran from the northeast corner in front of the automobile. The little fellow was hit by the front of the motor vehicle and knocked to the pavement.

Dr. J. M. O'Brien who was called to the scene ordered the child to hospital where the fracture was reduced.

Farmer Killed

LINDSAY, Ont., Oct. 11.—(CP). —L. M. Noakes, 56, farmer living near Manilla, was killed yesterday while operating a cutting machine. A piece of the steel lace on a revolving belt caught his trouser leg, swinging him off his feet against the motor.

Bear Likes Milk

FORT COULONGE, Que., Oct. 11 — (CP). — Thomas Armstrong solved two puzzlers when he shot a bear on his farm. He found it contained a fairly large quantity of milk. His prize cow gave relatively little milk recently. Veteran farmers said the possibility of a cow suckling a bear was quite believable.

WOUNDED SECOND TIME — Cpl. John M. Coughlin, serving with the Royal Winnipeg Rifles in France, has been wounded a second time in the head. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Coughlin of Lakefield.

Council Plans Creek Diversion

Diversion of the creek crossing Monaghan Road at Romaine street as a means of cooperating with Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company in their interest in properties at the southeast corner, adjoining their plant, was set down by the council Tuesday night in its records as an undertaking when labor conditions are more favorable.

Options held by the company expire on October 15, but Mayor Hamilton informed the council that Hugh Campbell, manager of the company, recently said he did not wish to deceive the council and for the present had no building plans in that direction.

City Engineer Parsons submitted several accommodating proposals. One is a diversion of the creek to the west of Western avenue as pondered by the council a month or more ago. Linked with that partial remedy would be one of two changes east of Monaghan road, the laying of a three-foot tile pipe along the south side of Romaine street, and returning to the creek beyond the property under consideration, or a culvert five feet square in the same suggested course. The latter plan would cost around $2,000, and the three-foot drain $800.

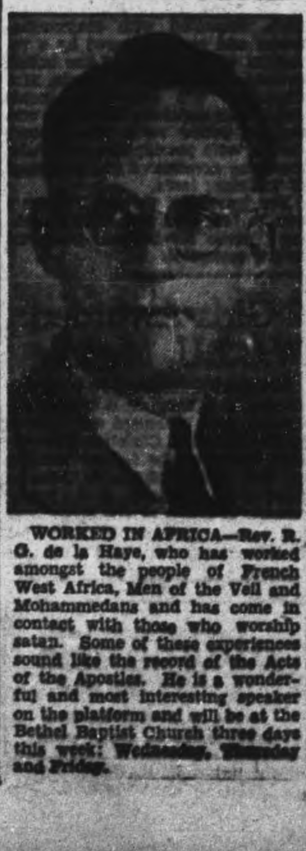
Either would permit the filling of the present water course, diagonally crossing the property from the corner at Romaine and Monaghan road. Alderman Bradburn's acquiescing motion was seconded by Alderman Glover. The attitude of the council was a desire to "cooperate with one of our established industries" in their purchase of a property that is only a weedy corner.

Film On Kawarthas To Be Sent Overseas

"The Call of the Kawarthas," technicolor film photographed by Fred L. Roy, and paid for by the city council, as publicity for the tourist attractions of this district, is going overseas, as suggested by Douglas R. Oliver, Toronto, director of the provincial Travel and Publicity Bureau.

The war halted its mission in the United States as both Washington and Ottawa decided to discourage border crossings. Since then it has been shown in military camps across Canada, especially on Royal Air Force programs. Mr. Oliver wrote the council that it would probably be of interest in the Old Country, and that it could be sent to Maj. Armstrong, newly appointed agent of the Ontario Government in London.

"Mr. Oliver's proposal is a good one," Alderman Bradburn commened, and Alderman Sullivan seconded his motion approving the sending of the film to Major Armstrong.



WORKED IN AFRICA—Rev. R. G. de la Haye, who has worked amongst the people of French West Africa, Men of the Veil and Mohammedans and has come in contact with those who worship satan. 52-Bed Addition Planned To St. Joseph's Prospect of the erection of a 52-bed addition to St. Joseph's Hospital was affirmed in a letter from its Board of Directors to the City Council Tuesday.

Estimated cost of the enlargement was mentioned at $250,000 on the basis of $6,000 a bed. The letter suggested that in the event of the taxpayers giving their approval to the civic hospital plan, St. Joseph's would lose voluntary subscriptions from Catholic citizens because they would be taxed for the general hospital. To offset that revenue the Board suggested that the city should make a grant in some fair amount to be discussed by representatives of the council and St. Joseph's directors.

The letter, as follows, was referred to the council's special hospital committee:

The Board of Directors of St. Joseph's Hospital met to consider the request made to Bishop MacDonald by a committee of the city council for suggestions as to the relation of St. Joseph's Hospital to the proposed construction of a new hospital under city management and control.

The Board of St. Joseph's Hospital begs to submit the following comments:

(1) The Board wishes to record its deep appreciation of the evident desire of the Mayor and Aldermen to deal fairly with St. Joseph's Hospital.

(2) Since its foundation in 1890 the facilities of St. Joseph's Hospital have been at the service of all classes of citizens. They will so continue to be. During 54 years of service to the community, St. Joseph's has neither asked nor received any financial assistance from the city.

(3) The Board does not wish to express any opinion for or against the principle of a civic hospital. That is a matter for the city taxpayer to decide. Nor does the Board wish anything in this document to be understood as anticipating the decision of the taxpayers.

(4) The Board is desirous of cooperating in solving the problem of increasing need for hospital accommodation, and therefore is prepared to add fifty-two more beds to the present capacity of the hospital, bringing the total of 150 beds, including bassinets. It is estimated that at the present time it costs $6,000 per bed for hospital construction and equipment. A conservative estimate for this addition would be a capital expenditure of $250,000. In the event of the construction of a new hospital by the city, the plans for the proposed civic hospital could be reduced by 52 beds, in view of this provision by St. Joseph's, thus materially lowering the capital cost to the taxpayer of the city.

Want Equitable Grant.

(5) Should the taxpayers favor the city council's hospital plan, St. Jospeh's Hospital Board considers it manifestly fair that an equitable grant should be made by the city to St. Joseph's Hospital for the following reasons:

(a) The proposed addition to St. Joseph's would mean a large saving to all the taxpayers:

(b) St. Joseph's has always been and always will be open to all citizens without distinction.

(c) In the past, St. Joseph's has depended entirely on voluntary financial support from Catholics. If Catholics are to be taxed for another hospital the voluntary support available in the past will be largely withdrawn.

(6) It is the unanimous opinion of the Board that the amount of this grant should be determined on the bed capacity of the Hospital, and that further details should be discussed at a joint meeting of the hospital committee of the city council, and a committee from St. Joseph's Hospital Board.

(7) In view of a grant St. Joseph's Hospital Board would be pleased to make provision in its membership for a representative appointed by the city council.

(8) The grant should become effective if and when the citizens generally become taxable for hospital purposes, and the terms of the grant should be incorporated in an agreement between the council and the Corporation of the Sisters of St. Joseph's, owners and operators of St. Joseph's Hospital on behalf of which the Board of Directors respectfully submits the foregoing recommendations.

Signed on behalf of the Board of Directors:

J. R. Corkery, chairman.
J. G. McCarney, secretary.

TORONTO, Oct. 11— (CP). — Wing Cmdr. G. N. Parliament said yesterday that more than 10,000 men and women of the R.C.A.F. have discussed post-war employment and career problems with personnel counsel officers since the air force inaugurated this service. Motorists Are Worry To Railroad Men

C.N.R. engines blow whistles, passing through the city because the public flouts warning signs and wigwags, "and I feel certain that no member of your City Council would feel that the use of engine whistles in these circumstances should be discontinued." Such was the explanation to the council Tuesday night from A. L. Wilson, Lindsay, assistant superintendent, replying to a request from the council that night whistling should be abated.

D. E. Bell, local agent, wrote in the same vein, the joint answers having the effect of disarming the council's criticism of railway manners. Drivers of automobiles, and pedestrians, it was explained, worry engine crews, who in turn open up the whistles, wakens some of the neighbors and in this cycle of petty events the council receives a letter or two of protest and aldermen are hailed on the streets or over the telephone in the midst of dinner.

So, the answer of the C.N.R. officials was simply,—don't blame us, blame your own people who ignore our warning signs and silent cautions for their safety. When they refuse to pay any attention to these quiet postings of danger, then we have to blare at them because we certainly do not intend to injure anybody if we can help it, and we don't want messy accidents at public crossings, with more or less blame pointed at the railways.

Alderman Bradburn had reported to the council complaints made to him, but several of the members told him that he should hear the midnight C.P.R. whistling its way up to the city's southwest gate and generally right through the front door.

Her full-length veil was held by a cap of Duchess lace, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Miss Florence O'Toole, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, wore a gown of pink sheer. Her finger-tip veil was held by a headdress of pink ostrich plumes, and she carried pink roses. Little Shirley Ann Guerin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Guerin, as flower girl, was frocked in pink dotted Swiss with matching Juliet cap, and carried a nosegay of baby 'mums.

Clem O'Toole, brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Leonard Dore and P. J. Dore, uncles of the bride.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, decorated with chrysanthemums and roses, followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother. Receiving her guests, Mrs. Chambers was attired in orchid crepe, with matching hat and a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother wore powder blue crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

For travelling, the bride chose a powder blue wool suit, with matching Tuxedo fur-trimmed coat and navy accessories.

2 Girls Awarded W.C.T.U. Medals

Margaret Johnston and Esther Brown, as winners in a temperance contest, were presented with medals by the Women's Christian Temperance Union at the regular meeting of the Nettie McKenzie Mission Band of Knox Church, in the junior room. "Children of the Bible" was the theme of the worship service, led by Miss Inez Barrer, the superintendent, with Gwynneth Todd reading the scripture. Sylvia Ferguson led in prayer.

The second chapter of "Tommy Two-Wheels" was read by Miss Barrer. David Donaldson and Lloyd Gaskin took up the offering. During the pre-session period, Rev. H. J. Mahoney acted as pianist, and helped the children to learn new hymns. Mr. Mahoney also offered the closing prayer.

Mrs. W. Armstrong War Bride Arrives "Home"

Smiling and happy and glad to be "home" again is Mrs. W. T. Armstrong, a war bride, who arrived in Peterborough Monday evening after a long trip from Aberdeen, Scotland, where she had been living for several years.

"I really consider Peterborough my home, since several of my family live here," she observes, "and I myself lived here for several years before going to Scotland in 1936. It seemed that when I was in Canada I wanted to see Scotland again, but when I got there it wasn't long before I was homesick for Canada."

Born in Scotland, Mrs. Armstrong (nee Miriam "Allie" Dymond) came to Canada when she was quite young, when her whole family, as she says, "got the wanderlust," and decided to come to North America. While here she worked in the Canadian General Electric Company, and intends to contact several of the friends she knew then.

"I haven't yet had a chance to get my bearings," she laughs, "and am just taking it easy for a while. You know, I didn't realize how tired I was until I arrived here, but just relaxing and resting certainly feels wonderful."

In Wrong Job

While in Aberdeen, Mrs. Armstrong worked in a fruit and candy store owned by a friend of hers who was working in an insurance office. "However," she explained with characteristic wit, "shortly after the outbreak of war we discovered that our store certainly wasn't in the right business since candy and fruit were a thing of the past. So we 'converted' to vegetables and I worked there until the day before I left." She explained that every single Scottish girl is required to work. That is, she must put in certain number of hours a day at a certain job. Of course, it can be voluntary work, and there was really no thought of compulsion since, as she says, "everyone wanted to do his or her job and dig in and do his bit."

The Scottish — and Canadian — lassie, with just a trace of pleasant accent, was married in December, 1943, to Cpl. W. T. Armstrong, with the Medical Corps. "But for the fortunes of war," she smiles, "we might never have met. Her husband has relatives in Ireland and was intending to spend his first leave with them. However, since several Canadian soldiers had crossed the border from Northern Ireland to Eire and had been interned, a ban had been placed on travel there. So he took a pass to the farthest north spot he could get, which was Aberdeen."

Cpl. Armstrong, whose home is in Myrtle, lived in Toronto before joining the army, and is now in Belgium. Capt. Dymond, her brother, was a doctor in Port Perry before enlisting. She and her husband and brother spent many happy times together since the two army men managed to arrange leaves together and Mrs. Armstrong would travel to meet them.

Praises Red Cross

She is full of praise for the Red Cross, on both sides of the Atlantic, for their sympathetic and understanding help. "They couldn't do enough for us," she continued. The abundance of food in Canada quite staggered her, since, as she explained, the decline in the scope and quantity of food was quite gradual, as one thing after another was either curtailed or disappeared completely from the market. She said that they always had enough to eat, but often had to stand long hours in "queues" for scarce commodities. Her first impression of Canada's "opulence" in the food line was gained when she sat down to two eggs and bacon for breakfast on the train, after being accustomed to one egg a month during the winter and perhaps one a week in the summertime.

She has two sisters living in Peterborough, Mrs. H. G. MacKenzie, 280 Monaghan road, with whom she is staying, and Mrs. W. Amos, 477½ Bolivar street. When asked her plans, both for the present and after the war, she said she really wasn't sure, but knew that her husband, a Canadian through and through, would return to make his home here. "Canada is my home, too," she concluded, "and I am very happy."

WMS Can Be Great Force For Good

The great force for righteousness that the Women's Missionary Society can be, was stressed by Mrs. G. Adams, in her report of the recent Training School for Leaders in Whitby, presented to the Thanksgiving meeting of the W.M.S. of George Street United Church Tuesday afternoon. She reported in detail the talk given by Mrs. Smythe, of Pembroke, the dean of the school, on the topic, "One Way of Hope."

Members decided to send a letter of appreciation and a small gift to Mrs. H. L. Roberts, in recognition of her great assistance, cheerfully given, to all departments of W.M.S. work. Mrs. J. H. Rowe, the president, Mrs. E. Brown, Mrs. N. Macdonald, Mrs. J. Fanning and Mrs. McIlmoyle were named as a committee in charge of the arrangements for the ice cream and cake treat to be given to the Mission after their next meeting.

Mrs. J. Fanning, treasurer, reported that $102 had been sent to the Presbyterial treasurer, leaving a balance of 80 cents in the bank. Notice was given that the society's allocation had been increased $150, since more money was needed for missionaries to meet rising cost of living. Mrs. J. W. Hales, for the sick visiting committee, reported 104 calls made, and Mrs. R. Parnall, for the community friendship, said that 19 calls had been made in homes and 18 in the hospital.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, October 12

AN EXCITING and progressive day is forecast from the ruling configurations. A day in which the forces and faculties may be geared to high purpose, exceptional ambitions and aspirations, with the energies, nervous and physical under high compulsion and the intellect keyed to dynamic and possibly unique accomplishment. Great things might be achieved under these emotional and mental tensions the danger being in over zealous or enthusiastic urges, with indomitable will, determination and aggressiveness that might have reactions on nerves and mind. With the brakes on and impulses kept well in hand, important objectives may be reached, despite trivial annoyances with papers or legal matters.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of high tension and outstanding accomplishment, in which a concentration of the forces and faculties may be brought to bear upon objectives and major projects of outstanding significance. Unusual ingenuity and skill applied with energy and initiative may yield exceptional results, although a too zealous or hectic quest of such advanced goals, may produce a nervous or physical depletion by its very intensity.

Reasonable restraints, controlled emotions and impulses are advised, since there are petty annoyances or dangers through legal entanglements or the loss or confusion of documents. Be cautious with speech, correspondence and financial investments.

A child born on this day may possess exceptional mentality, with unusual skills and ingenuity, original and advanced ideas and ideals. It may reach sensational heights although have financial reverses.

County Is Asked For Support In Building New Hospital

Assuming an affirmative position of willingness to co-operate with the city in its proposed civic hospital, the county council Tuesday afternoon appointed a committee to obtain further information and report back, a commission probably implying a recommendation as to what should be, if any, the county's financial contribution to the funding of the project.

The members of the committee, who were requested to report as soon as possible, were: Reeves Mather, McIlmoyl, Gifford, Deputy-Reeve Archibald and Warden Anderson.

The council's action followed the hearing of a city deputation composed of Alderman Sands, chairman of the city council's hospital committee; Alderman Glover, Alderman Ovens, E. Bruce Fowler, secretary of the Nicholls Hospital Board; John Hornal, superintendent of the Hospital; and Mayor Hamilton.

In counting the vote on the co-operating resolution by Reeve M. H. Johnston, seconded by Reeve Gilbert McIlmoyl, Warden Isaac Anderson announced that fourteen of the seventeen members had supported it. Those who did not vote with the majority were Deputy-reeve Erie Pearson of Smith, Reeve Norman Lean of Burleigh-Anstruther, and Reeve Hall of Chandos.

Alderman Sands had said that he regarded the civic hospital project as an undertaking not to be deferred until after the war. Maladies and accidents had not vanished from the community for the duration of the war, but on the other hand the city's population had increased, and both Peterborough's hospitals have been filled to their capacities, leaving no margin of empty beds for possible emergencies.

Factor of Urgency

After the deputation had gone, Mr. Pearson touched upon that point of present urgency. "Is it necessary to go ahead with the hospital project at the present time? It involves a large sum of money, and I have been thinking whether it could be held over until manufacturing opens up again. I am not opposed to the idea of a hospital, but I am thinking of the economic side."

Reeve Lean had suggested before the vote was taken that the council consult its solicitor, but Warden Anderson replied that there was no point to calling in the solicitor until the council had something definite to refer to him.

Alderman Sands had proposed to the council a contribution of 20 per cent of the cost of the hospital, a proportion approximating the percentage of patients from the county. On that basis the county's share of the cost would be $260,000, twenty per cent of the estimated cost of $1,300,000. Alderman Sands later supplemented his suggestion with an explanation "that one has to start somewhere, and at one stage of discussions with your council's representative we mentioned 20 per cent, but your decision is entirely up to yourselves. If you thought of giving a lump sum you might even work up from the 20 per cent, but of course you can also work down from it."

Reeve M. H. Johnston said the county's assessment was about one-third of the city's; the rural population about one-half, and when you look at it that way, the one-fifth doesn't look too bad; and the county's patient would get the same treatment as those from the city."

Hoping for $100,000

In his review of the financial background, Alderman Sands quoted the total estimated cost of the hospital at $1,400,000, but it was expected that this amount would be reduced by $100,000 which the committee was hoping to receive as aid from the Provincial Government.

Alderman Sands said there had been an increasing lack of hospital accommodation for some years, and public opinion was rising in the city to the point "where we have to do something about hospitalization". "Both hospitals in Peterborough are to all intents and purposes private hospitals, and the members of our committee felt that the proposed new hospital should be a general hospital, and should be paid for by all the ratepayers. It was also felt, and I am sure you have all felt so too, that as the county people use the hospital they should also help pay for the building of a new one. We have been working on this question for about a year, and we invited Warden Anderson to attend our meetings or send some one in his place. Mr. McIlmoyl has been attending, perhaps because he lives fairly close to the city."

360 Beds Needed

Population of the city and county was around 60,000, Alderman Sands continued, and on the basis of six beds for every 1,000 persons, the accommodation should be 360 beds. St. Joseph's can take care of approximately 100 persons, so that would leave 250 beds to be provided. The trustees of Nicholls Hospital have agreed to turn over all their property and other assets for a civic hospital which we felt should contain a memorial to Mrs. Nicholls.

There has been a rumor that St. Joseph's were thinking of building a fifty bed addition, and I think there is something to it. That would leave 200 as a total for the new hospital. However, Dr. Vivian, Minister of Health, pointed out that acute hospitalization was one thing, and that chronic illness was another, and after our discussion with him we felt we should have fifty beds for chronic patients."

Alderman Sands said the committee had also recommended closing the Isolation Hospital, and providing a section of fifteen beds in the new hospital for cases of communicable cases requiring isolation. The Queen Mary Hospital was costing the city around $6,500 a year, and it was computed that the new hospital would carry the same service at $4,200 a year. That change would make a total of 265 beds, but it was hoped that the new wing of Nicholls Hospital could be used with its forty beds, probably for the cases of chronic illness.

Estimated Cost

Referring to financial estimates a copy of which was given to each member of the council, Alderman Sands pointed out that proposed plans provided 5,700 cubic feet of hospital space for each bed, a total of 1,282,500 cubic feet for 225 beds; and at 65c cost per cubic foot the total would be $835,000. This amount did not include storage of fuel, garages, tunnels, accommodation for nurses, help and internes, teaching facilities, power stack, roads, etc.

The estimated cost of cold storage and stack was $15,000; tunnels not included above $25,000; residence for 120 nurses at $2,000 a room $240,000; accommodation for three internes $5,000; road, walks and grounds $10,000; alterations to 1914 building $20,000. Total $1,150,000.

Architectural, engineering and legal services and sundries at 8 per cent, $92,000; increasing the total to $1,242,000.

Equipment, furniture and furnishings $8,000. Total $1,400,000.

Proportion of Patients

Referring to the place of residence of patients at Nicholls Hospital for five years and nine months, Alderman Sands quoted the records as 59.8 per cent from the city and 24.5 per cent from the county. In 1939 the county's percentage was up to 31.4.

"We know that you have expressed a wish to pay for the hospitalization you get. Personally I have heard that from many sources, and we feel that would make our going easier in the city."

Alderman Sands said he realized that 20 per cent of $1,300,000 would amount to "quite a sizable sum".

"We ask you to consider the facts, and if you are going to contribute, that you decide how much, and as soon as you can because we want a by-law to go to the people on December 4. It is the feeling of our hospital committee that the county should be represented, and 20 per cent of the Board should come from the county with the warden an ex-officio member with the Mayor of the city.

I would like to say also that the Nicholls Hospital Board has given us 100 per cent co-operation. They are willing to turn over their buildings, lands and other assets and that is a good start. We hope the county council will be enthusiastic about this project. It is something that should be in the hearts of every citizen of the city and county councils. I think the city will do more than its share. We will take up the slack between our 60 per cent and your 20 per cent of the cost."

A Mounting Problem

Mr. Fowler said he believed the county council was quite aware of the hospital situation. "I have been in it a long time, and it is serious. Nicholls Hospital Trust has come to the point where they cannot handle it. Demands have been increasing for the last fifteen years. We did our best to meet them, but we simply could not . . . We agreed to turn over our assets to a civic hospital on condition that a memorial to Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls be established in it and maintained. That is only right and fair. Over the years more than $1,250,000 has been given to the hospital from the Nicholls estate."

Mr. Fowler said that according to the average one of every ten persons in the council room would go to a hospital in the next year, and the nine who do not go should help pay for the benefits to the fellow who does. A hospital should be regarded as a general utility in the community, as the fire and police departments. "I think the council is wise in making this a general hospital in which all will participate in its benefits, and those benefits should take precedence over fire and police departments. I feel wrathy sometimes when I see hospital service place back in the fourth or fifth position of our civic life."

Brantford's Plan

Alderman Ovens said that Brantford in 1939 had built an extensive wing to its hospital with the county of Brant contributing 25 per cent of the cost. The city of Brantford had put up the rest, and debentures were spread over 25 years. Three members of its board are appointed by the county council, one or two by the Governor-General and the others by the city of Brantford. City and county have worked hand in hand.

Mayor Hamilton, replying to Reeve Mather, said the county's proportion of the cost would be based on the sum of $1,300,000; that is on $1,400,000 less the expected sum of $100,000 from the Ontario government. And the Nicholls Hospital Trust money, part of the hospital's assets, would be deducted from the city's share of the cost.

Mr. Mather also enquired whether any hospital in Ontario was paying its way. Mr. Hornal replied that the only one he knew of was Belleville, "built prior to the war and was all set when the peak demand for hospitalization arose. Their new building cost about $275,000 with equipment. They received financial aid and they also borrowed $125,000 from the bank. They have paid off $60,000 since 1939 or '40, retiring $12,500 a year by agreement with the bank."

Mr. Hornal mentioned prospective aids in operating costs including an insurance scheme proposed by the provincial government, and the Blue Cross Hospital Plan, new influences intended to cut down deficits in hospital maintenance.

Mayor Hamilton said other municipalities were paying substantial subsidies to hospitals. Fort William's contribution was about $75,000 a year? Kitchener was another city paying a large amount.

Assets of Trust

Alderman Ovens stated that the Nicholls Hospital Trust was prepared to contribute to a civic hospital its trust fund of $250,000, plus $50,000 of good equipment with its lands and buildings, amounting to $350,000 or $400,000 in assets. And if the Ontario Government gave $100,000 there would be $350,000 in cash immediately available for a new hospital.

Reeve Ferguson, Norwood, computed that one-fifth of $1,300,000 would be $260,000, which, spread over 20 years, would be $13,000 a year. If the county decided to set up four small hospitals at Lakefield, Keene, Apsley and Norwood or Havelock, each of them would receive between $3,000 and $4,000 a year, making the equivalent of a county grant to a central hospital in Peterborough, not for twenty years but only ten years, "I am sure the municipalities would be overjoyed to put up whatever balance would be involved to get those hospitals."

There were altogether too much centralization, Mr. Ferguson said. Centralization of great industries was one of the causes of the war. Industries had become established in the cities to the detriment of the small communities, and with no benefit to the farmers. The small industries of years ago had all vanished, "and all the small places of that time were practically sustaining."

"I am not against a hospital," said Mr. Ferguson, "but I am wondering what is the best thing for the county to do. I am not in a position to say."

Special Items of Cost

The answers of Mr. Fowler and Mr. Hornal were to the effect that modern hospital equipment such as X-ray machines, could not be provided for the small hospital. "We had the idea that it would cost less to separate the convalescent and chronically ill patients from the others, partly because they do not require so much attention, but we found that we could provide the necessary care in the total picture by concentrating all in the one hospital," Mr. Hornal said.

Specially trained nurses, special equipment, and other developments in hospital services all involved substantial costs which could be offset only in the larger and central hospitals.

"Almost every city has put large sums into hospitals," said Mayor Hamilton. "Fortunately in Peterborough hospitalization has not cost us much. The investment in a new hospital is something which the city and county of Peterborough can afford."

His Worship said that with the civic hospital under way present streets to the south and north would be extended to make the hospital on the northern hill as accessible as it could be in any other section of the city.

Belmont Council Meets

HAVELOCK, Oct. 11 (ENS) —The October meeting of the Belmont Methuen council was held Saturday afternoon with a very small agenda of business, the only item being the pasing of accounts for payment. The voucher payments for road work for September amounted to $1,179.90. Others accounts were as follows: Rebatement of $4 on taxes granted Cordova Free Methodist parsonage for 1944. Abatement granted to William Yelland of $3.75 on account of loss of house by fire.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

APPLE DAY SATURDAY

The Boy Scouts and Cubs of Peterborough will once again go to Mr. and Mrs. John Public for their financial support on Saturday next when about 300 boys armed with official Scout apple day tags and cash boxes with a smiling Scout printed thereon and, good Ontario grown McIntosh red apples, will invade the city, taking in every house, every store and many of the uptown corners. These funds, so raised go to this entirely voluntary youth movement for the training of its officers, building of suitable accommodation at the Scout Grounds and other essential things for the betterment of YOUTH. This year much of the money raised will go to the sinking of a pump on the Scout property and also for the purchase on necessary equipment to carry on good Scouting at that spot.

There are no paid officers in Scouting in Peterborough. All workers have to supply their own uniforms and other needs. Therefore all monies go directly into the work of Scouting.

Your earnest support will be appreciated. Our aim $1,000.

ST. LUKE'S, THE CUBS

A good turnout of Cubs gathered about the Council Rock as Billy Evans gave the lead in the Grand Howl to start off the trek through the Jungle Path. That game of "Cat and Birds" gave vent to lots of fun before the serious business of the evening was started. Three members of the Pack showed advancement, Hugh Rose passed Ball Throwing and Norman Thomas and Billy Harvey completed Time Telling. Some real singing was heard at the Red Flower, Akela also congratulating the Pack on its good showing at the recent Jamboree. All boys were reminded of Apple Day on Saturday and also of the coming Church Parade. The closing grand howl was led by Larry Walsh.

JUST TO REMIND YOU

The Scouter Club is holding its third annual banquet at the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday next October 18. All previous events of this sort have been successful. Let us get behind President Earl McNabb and make this one the best yet. If you intend to attend please get in touch with the Club Secretary Mrs. Langhorn as the caterers want to know how many to prepare for. Akela McKinney is in charge of the entertainment so you can reckon on a good evening.

ST. JOHN'S PACK

Both the Pack and Troop enjoyed a good attendance at the last meetings. There were four new sixers appointed in the Pack. Bobby Rogers, Sixer of the Browns, Teddy Nobbs, Sixer to the Greys, Terry Chapman, Sixer to the Reds and Jack Adams, Sixer to the Whites. The seconders of the whole pack will be chosen during the next two weeks. Owing to many of the senior boys going to the Troop it was found necessary to reform every Six. Bobby Rogers passed Savings, Gerry Cousins, Book Balancing. In the Scouts Jamie Collis passed First Class First Aid and is also training for his Ambulance badge.

The Cubs and Scouts will hold a Church Parade on Sunday morning next October 15. All members are requested to be in the Sunday School at 10.35.

URGENT— NEWSPAPERS WANTED

We have a very urgent call for newspapers and would ask anyone having old papers that they have no use for to 'phone 3067 and we will arrange a pick-up. It is doubtful if any pick-ups will be made on Saturday owing to apple day but send in your calls and we will arrange for papers to be collected as soon as possible.

ANNUAL MEETING

Attention All Scouters—It is apparent that all registration papers have been forwarded to the Scoutmasters of the Groups. Please see that the Cub Leaders get their forms and that the Group Committees are approached about getting the Charters renewed. Let Peterborough get in front for once, not one of the last. Let us get all this data fixed up before the Annual Meeting of the Local Association that takes place on Wednesday, October 25. Also reserve the evening of the 25th to attend the annual meeting and do what you feel is right with the association. If you have any problems to air, that will be the place to do so.

Minor Changes Made In Meat Ceilings

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.—(CP).—Minor changes in certain meat prices were announced Tuesday in three Prices Board orders.

One order, affecting pork, makes small adjustments in ceiling prices. To ensure continuity of supply for British Columbia, an area which obtains pork products from other provinces, all pork ceilings in the main British Columbia cities and on Vancouver Island are being increased one-half cent a pound to permit British Columbia buyers to purchase hogs in Alberta.

The second order applies to pork items classed as "fancy meats" and including livers and hearts. Wholesale price ceilings remain unchanged, but retail ceilings will be slightly lower.

The third order affects ceiling prices for veal and permits the sale in all parts of Canada of veal carcasses with the hide on at the same price as hide-off carcasses. In future, retailers buying veal below the ceiling will be required to make corresponding reductions in the selling price.

IN MEMORIAM

LUSTIC—In loving memory of my darling mother, Mrs. Maude Lustic, who passed away October 11, 1933.

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's weary troubles and trials are past,
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more,
Two little words not hard to write
But I'll remember them all my life,
"My Mother".
—Ever remembered by her son Jim.

LUSTIC—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Maude Lustic, who passed away Oct. 11, 1933.

No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered, since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Fondly remembered by her daughter and family.

LUSTIC—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, who passed away Oct. 11, 1933.

Sleep on, dear good mother, it has been long years
Since you left our hearts filled with sadness and tears;
Yours was a heart that was blithesome and gay
Scattering sunshine all along the way,
You know how we loved you, and yes, love you yet,
Though God took you from us we cannot forget.
—Sadly missed by husband, son, daughter-in-law Clare and Bernice and grandchildren Shirley and Doug.

LUSTIC—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Maude Lustic, who passed away Oct. 11, 1933.

Mother dear, I am so lonely,
Since the day you went away,
And my memory wanders often,
To your grave not far away.
Eleven years have passed, but loving memory
Never from my heart will fade;
Of the dearest, kindest mother,
Ever God to children gave.
—Sadly missed by her two sons, Fred and Frank.

BYERS—In memory of a dear son and brother, Roy Byers, who passed away five years ago.

No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered, since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear Ray
That we do not think of you.
—Fondly remembered by mother, father, sister and brothers.

King George 11 Lose To Queen Mary

After a keen contested soccer game in the Public School League on Riverside Park, Tuesday afternoon, Queen Mary gained a verdict over the fast aggregation from King George by the score of 2-1. Northcott got the losers' counter and Russel and Taylor for the winners. This win puts them up alongside King Edward, who have another game to play, with five points each, when they meet Central in the last scheduled game on King Edward Park on Thursday afternoon.

First Half

Captain Butcher of Queen Mary won the toss and selected the east goal with the sun in his team's eyes. Right from the kick-off King George penetrated the westenders' goal to find Gray and Butcher blocking their progress, while Bradley in goal was in an unbeatable mood. Relying on a break-away to get the advantage of their attacking method, Queen Mary caught the East City boys playing too far up the field as they hemmed the Queen Mary defence into their own territory. Barnsley, Queen Mary, intercepted many dangerous raids led by Wyatt, on the left wing, and Thompson, on the right, that resulted in Bradley having a busy session in between the goals. Butcher frustrated a well-planned combination by King George as he tackled keenly in beating three men, then kicked out to Grafstein, who beat along the wing. He centred across to Russel, who met the ball with a first-timer that beat King George goalie. Within the next few minutes King George registered the equalizer through Northcott in an individual effort that found the inside of the upright. Half-time—one each.

Second Half

On resuming, King George went right into the Queen Mary area to find Bradley, in goal, saving and clutching the ball from all angles, as the King George forwards rattled the ball into goal. On one occasion he picked the ball from under the crossbar and stepped out of his goal to clear. On the next visit Wyatt and Northcott worked their way pass the defence to get right upon the custodian, but again found the Queen Mary goalie controlling the decision. A relaxation of their part allowed Queen Mary to get the winning counter when the full-back kicking the ball out slammed it against Grafstein. Quick as a flash Taylor grasped the opportunity to beat the goalie from close range. Thereafter King George bombarded the Queen Mary goalie without success as Gray and Butcher coolly and collectively replied with steady tactics, although conceding no less than six corner kicks that failed to bring any result. Full time—Queen Mary 2, King George 1.

King George—J. Shearer, goal; J. Deckrell and T. Davis, full-backs; A. Beavis, R. Gandy, K. Monson, halves; N. Thompson, W. Ferguson, G. Rome, A. Northcott and R. Wyatt, forwards.

Queen Mary—H. Bradley, goal; D. Gray and R. Butcher, full-backs; R. Barnsley, S. Murphy, K. Gordon, halves; H. Grafstein, J. Nichols, P. Russel, L. Payne and T. Taylor, forwards; subs, K. Goodfellow and R. Regan.

Referee—Stroyan Leith, Sr.

Louis Fought In 73 Exhibitions

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP).—Joe Louis, back from the European and African war theatres, expects some good fistic talent to emerge from the armed service.

The champ, only seven pounds over the 207½ at which he made his last title defence against Abe Simon in 1942, said he ran into some "real tough boys" as he appeared in 73 exhibitions in England, Scotland, Ireland, Africa and Italy. More than 1,000,000 servicemen saw the shows "for free."

Louis said Elzria Thompson of Cleveland, whom he first met in a three-rounder in Reading, England, gave him so much trouble that he met him four more times. Then came Johnny Ebarb, an Air Corps mess officer from Oakland, Calif., whom he met in Italy twice, and George Culberson, a Brooklyn boy.

40 Leafs Reach Owen Sound

TORONTO, Oct. 11.—(CP).—Toronto Maple Leafs, 40 strong, yesterday headed for Owen Sound to start their training for the 1944-45 National Hockey League campaign for which their prospects—in the words of Coach Clarence (Happy) Day—"are the best since we won the championship in 1941-42."

Members of the squad which left for training camp were introduced to newspapermen at the Leafs' annual get-together luncheon.

Day said he based his hopes for a successful season on the return to the Toronto roster of Nick Metz, recently discharged from the Canadian Army, and Sweeney Schriner "who will round out our team." Neither Metz nor Schriner were at the luncheon, but they will join the team at Owen Sound later on.

Most of the members of last year's team were in the group which left for camp, the most notable absentee being Goaltender Paul Bibeault. He is the property of Montreal Canadiens and Leafs are still negotiating for his services.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

AN IDEAL ARRANGEMENT

EIGHT TRUMPS on your side constitute a normally sound trump suit, but those eight may be distributed a number of different ways between yourself and your partner. In many respects, the best arrangement is with them evenly divided, four in each hand. That gives you a pliability as to which holding will be treated as the master hand, using the other to ruff. It also is very handy if you decide to embark upon a cross-ruff.

North: ♠ A K 9 5 ♥ 2 ♦ A 10 9 6 4 3 ♣ 10 4

West: ♠ 4 3 2 ♥ J 8 4 ♦ K Q ♣ A K Q 9 7

East: ♠ Q 10 ♥ 10 7 6 5 3 ♦ J 8 5 2 ♣ 8 3

South: ♠ J 8 7 6 ♥ A K Q 9 ♦ 7 ♣ J 6 5 2

(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1♣	1♦	Pass	1♥
2♣	2♦	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3♠	Pass	4♠

Against that kind of bidding, a cross-ruff would ordinarily be indicated, as it was clear each of declarer's two holdings could ruff the other's red suit. But East did not like to lead a spade from his two honors, fearing that might throw away a possible trick. So he offered the 8 of the unbid clubs. West scored his Q, then the K, and fired back the A.

That launched North on a neat cross-ruff, even though he lost the trick, his spade 9 being over-ruffed by East's 10. The heart 5 was chosen for the return, though it really made no difference. The A won, the diamond 7 was led to the A, diamond 3 ruffed by the spade 6, heart K scored for a diamond discard and likewise the Q, the heart 9 ruffed by the spade 5, diamond 9 by the spade 7, club J by the spade K, diamond 10 by the spade J, and the spade 8 to the A made the final trick.

Do you see a way to try for an extra trick here? Suppose North had trumped the third club with the K, then laid down the A? What then?

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 10 7 4 3 2 ♥ 5 3 2 ♦ J 8 4 2 ♣ 8

West: ♠ A Q 8 ♥ 8 ♦ A K 10 6 ♣ A 9 7 6 2

East: ♠ K 6 5 ♥ A Q 9 6 ♦ Q 9 5 3 ♣ 4 3

South: ♠ J 9 ♥ K J 10 7 4 ♦ 7 ♣ K Q J 10 5

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

If South opens this deal with 1-Heart because of his distribution, what should be the rest of the auction?

Ralston Says Remustering Likely Soon

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Oct. 11 (CP Cable)—Canada's Defence Minister, Col. J. L. Ralston, told Canadian war correspondents last night there may have to be some remustering in the Canadian Army, which would be a question of taking men from one branch of the service and placing them in another where the need is more imperative.

On the question of reinforcements both for the Italian and European war theatres, however, Col. Ralston said that reinforcements and recruiting were satisfactory, according to his latest figures, and had been working out according to plan.

(Premier George Drew of Ontario in a speech before the Canadian Corps Association in Toronto last week charged that insufficiently trained men were being used as reinforcements for the 1st Canadian Army. Similar statements were made previously by Maj. Conny Smythe of Toronto, who was wounded in Normandy and invalided home.)

The defence minister said that on his return to Canada he intended to go into the reinforcement question carefully.

Home leave for men with long service overseas was another question which will be carefully investigated, he said.

Col. Ralston was scheduled today to visit several sectors of the 1st Canadian Army front in the Low Countries.

During last night's interview, he cautioned against over-optimism and said the war was not over yet and there was much hard fighting ahead. He declined to say when he thought it would end.

The defence minister yesterday had a talk with Field Marshal Montgomery at field headquarters of the 21st Army group and he said the field marshal had unstinted praise for the job done in this campaign by Canadian troops.

St. Paul's Rector Conducts First Service

MARMORA, Oct. 11 — (ENS) — Large congregations were present at St. Paul's Sunday to welcome the new rector, Rev. John W. Brownlie, L.Th. S.Th. and to participate in a thanksgiving service.

Preaching at the morning celebration of Holy Communion, at which there were seventy-five communicants, the rector gave an outline of what he believed should be the four marks of not only a harvest thanksgiving service but also of every form of Christian service—truthfulness, right proportions, sacrifice and love. Prior to his sermon, he expressed thanks to the congregation for the renovation which had been carried out in the church and rectory which was reminiscent of the days of the rebuilding of the wall of Jerusalem under Nehemiah's direction "when the people had a mind to work" He further expressed thanks for kindnesses received since coming to the parish on Friday.

During the offertory, the choir sang, "This Is My Father's World," with Mesdames P. Gray and C. Nichol taking a duet part.

In the afternoon, brethren of Marmora A.F. and A.M. 222 with visiting brethren attended. The parable of the unprofitable servants was chosen as the basis for discourse upon God's claim on all our service. The lesson was read by W. J. Cottrell and L. R. Rundle sang "The Stranger of Galilee."

In the evening Rev. J. M. Brownlie officiated at the annual harvest thanksgiving service at St. Mark's, Bonarlaw.

HOW DRIVES PERIL THE RUHR—How Cologne and the huge Nazi industrial section near it are periled by the great new drive north of Aachen is shown in this map where the white area frames the key cities of the Ruhr. In planning a drive through Arnhem and over the top of the Siegfried Line, the Allies had in mind a knock-out blow to the war machine, as well as the outflanking of the Line. In its Aachen drive the U.S. First Army is reported to be definitely through the old Siegfried Line and in a fierce tank battle. The British Second Army has extended its salient in Holland almost to the fork of the Lower Rhine.

Russians Say Hungarians To Quit Soon

Debacle Develops As Reds Advance On 120-Mile Front

LONDON, Oct. 12 —(CP) — Russian troops battled within five miles the Prussian port of Memel today in a siege of growing ferocity after invading what Hitler considers German soil by occupying the town of Plikisi inside the Memel metropolitan area, acquired by Germany in the spring of 1939.

In the south, the Moscow radio said, other Russians broke into Debrechen, third largest Hungarian city of 122,517, on the Orient railroad 116 miles east of menaced Budapest. The Germans said their tanks had thrown a 20-mile wide ring about strong Soviet armored forces in this area and had beaten back relief columns moving from Oradea, in Romania, and Karcag, in Hungary. The German communique acknowledged the loss of Cluj, capital of Transylvania.

Use 200 Tanks.

All along the frontiers of East Prussia, the Germans reported violent Battle.

A "concentric attack" was launched against Memel by more than 200 Russian tanks, Berlin said. Of these 98 were reported destroyed, 15 by guns of German warships supporting the beseigned garrison.

Soviet attacks north of Warsaw and south of Rozan on the historic Narew river were checked the enemy asserted, as was another thrust from the Lithuanian frontier town of Vilkaviskis toward the east frontier of East Prussia.

The Germans said the Red Army had renewed its assault on Riga, capital of Latvia, with fresh divisions and material. The Russians have been at the edge of the port for weeks.

"Near Tilsit, heavy fighting continues on the eastern border of East Prussia," the Berlin radio said. "The Soviets at the same time continued their flank attack with strong forces from the south out of the Natew sector against East Prussia."

The German garrison on the big Estonian island of Saare (Osel) at the mouth of the Bay of Riga was compressed into the Sworbe Peninsula, Berlin said, and Russian attempts to liquidate the force with an amphibious operation were declared beaten off.

4th Largest City.

The enemy said Russian forces which reached the fourth largest city of Hungary, Keckemet, 50 miles south-east of Budapest, had been pushed back by a German-Hungar-

BRITISH CLEARING DUNKERQUE FOR THE LAST ROUND — A British soldier is shown aiding an elderly woman from Dunkerque during the 60-hour truce between the British and the defending Nazis to evacuate civilians from the fight-to-finish arena. As soon as the truce was up the grim battle was resumed.

Hard Road Ahead - Eisenhower

By EDWARD KENNEDY—Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Oct. 12—(AP). — Gen. Eisenhower declared today that "we have a hard job ahead but victory is certain. The Supreme Commander said he would permit no fraternizing with the Germans as his invasion armies move deeper into the Reich. He is resolved on one thing: that the fight will continue unabated through the winter, if necessary, and as much longer as it may take to crush the enemy. There may be pauses in the Allied advances due to the ferocity of German resistance and Allied supply problems, but there will be no letup in aggressive action on the part of the Allies.

Discussing recent operations, the General praised the gallant fight of the British 1st Airborne Divisions at Arnhem in Holland. Only about 2,000 of 8,000 men returned from the attempt to hold the Arnhem bridgehead.

"I feel myself that not enough credit has been given to the tremendous advantages that accrued to us through operations of the first Allied airborne army," he said, "the first British airborne division not only gave all the Allied forces one of the most gallant examples of bravery, fortitude and courage in all this war, but by drawing upon themselves the fury of the German counterattack, they enabled us to hold important bridges.

Valiant Effort

"It was a valiant manoeuvre and it does not detract in the slightest degree from the excellent work and courage of the 82nd and 101st U.S. airborne divisions which came behind them. They did beautiful work and I am proud of them all."

The present destruction of Aachen by the United States 1st Army following the refusal of the German commander to surrender to spare the town is a matter of field tactics, rather than general policy toward German cities, he said. Field commanders, it was made clear, can use their own methods as long as they observe the rules of war.

While the general regards a sudden German collapse as always a possibility, he sees no reason to rely on its coming at any given time. The threat of the Red Army in the east and the Allied Army on German soil in the west can have no effect on the leaders who face the loss of everything, once they admit defeat, in Eisenhower's opinion.

He told correspondents today:

"I have every confidence in the peoples of the United States, Great Britain, France and all the United Nations to see this war through to final victory, and as long as they will see it through, I know that the soldiers and sailors and airmen possess the indomitable will to win. We have a hard job ahead but victory is certain."

Gen. Eisenhower, who appeared in excellent health, said the Allied armies were entering Germany as conquerors and would treat the Germans justly.

Moose Hall Fire Culprit Gets Life Imprisonment

HAMILTON, Oct. 12—(CP). — Douglas Dunsmoor, found guilty of manslaughter by a Supreme Court jury, today was sentenced to life imprisonment in Kingston Penitentiary. Dunsmoor was charged with manslaughter in connection with the Moose Hall fire here on May 23, when ten persons lost their lives.

Sentence was passed by Mr. Justice J. A. Hope.

The Moose Hall fire started on the second floor of the building during a dance held by about 70 Royal Oak Dairy employees.

Dunsmoor's sentence was on a charge of manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Dorothy Martin, 33, one of the victims in the fire.

A statement which police said Dunsmoor had given them during the investigation was entered as evidence during the trial. In the statement Dunsmoor confessed to setting five fires in Hamilton.

After sentence was passed, Dunsmoor expressed his thanks for a fair trial and voiced appreciation of the attitude taken by the prosecution and the jury.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter on September 29 after a three-day trial. They had deliberated for three hours.

In his statement, Dunsmoor testified he had set fire to a piece of burlap in the cloakroom of the downstairs entrance to the hall.

Nazis Moving Out Of Holland

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, HOLLAND, Oct. 12.—((CP Cable.)—The Germans may be preparing to withdraw the main part of their forces from Holland and fall back behind rearguards into the Reich.

The Nazis have wrecked all essential installations in Rotterdam, Holland's second city and principal seaport, for the second time in 4½ years, it is learned. Six thousand demolition experts have been working at this task for weeks.

Meanwhile there is a mass movement of German transport in the Rotterdam and the Hague areas and it is possible that these are the first signs of an enemy effort to cut losses in the Netherlands and pull out of the country.

In May, 1940, German bombers levelled the central portions of Rotterdam after the Dutch had made a formal surrender of the city. Now it is learned the enemy who has been at work about 10 days, has already wrecked more than 10 miles of quays and dock works and probably has also destroyed railway installations.

Selling Bonds In Front Line

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Oct. 12. — (CP Cable.)—Canada's 7th Victory Loan campaign has opened on the 1st Canadian Army front, and they are selling bonds right on the battle-line.

The campaign continues here until Oct. 26 with $3,500,000 as the targets.

In a message to the troops the Canadian army commander said that in the past the overseas army has been an inspiration and challenge to Canadians in Canada by the way it has subscribed to successive loans.

"We have shown our faith in the future of our country in a very practical and convincing manner. The Allied forces are now gathering on the threshold of complete military success. Let each one back this 7th Victory Loan to the limit of his finances. In doing so we shall hasten that success and secure the future of our country."

Brazilian Unit Gains In Italy

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press War Correspondent

ROME, Oct. 12 — (AP). — Brazilian expeditionary forces today pushed to the vicinity of Gallicano, 29 miles inland from the big Italian west coast naval base of La Spezia.

Another column, advancing up the opposite side of the Serchio River Valley, reached Barga, four miles east of Gallicano. The apparent objective was to outflank La Spezia itself.

In central Italy, British and American forces of the Allied 5th Army met increasing enemy resistance in their attempt to break through the last of the Apennine Hills into the Po Valley, Allied Headquarters announced.

The only other significant gains in yesterday's fighting came on the British 8th Army front where British troops captured Longiano, 12 miles west of Rimini, and the neighboring village of Lacrocetta. The 8th Army also pushed additional forces across the Fiumcino River and occupied the towns of Gatteo and San Giovanni.

Franco Finds Opposition

40,000 Republican Maquis In Revolt

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Toulouse radio declared today that the "Supreme Junta of the Spanish National Union," in a meeting at Toulouse, had called upon patriotic Spaniards to join in a struggle to liberate Spain "from all traitors who sold her to foreigners."

The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, followed receipt of dispatches from Madrid saying the Spanish government had offered the French government "all possible facilities" to bring under control Spanish Republican Maquis who have been raiding Spanish territory from France for the past 10 days.

It has been reported that as many as 40,000 of these Republicans—all avowed opponents of the Franco regime — are scattered through Southern France.

Mosquitos Raid Berlin Lose One Plane

LONDON, Oct. 12 — (CP). — Synthetic oil plants at Wanne-Eickel in the Ruhr were attacked by a strong force of R.A.F. heavy bombers to-day in the first blow of what appeared to be a three-pronged daylight smash at Germany after Berlin was hit for the 173rd time last night.

Spitfires escorted the British bombers on their second successive daylight operation.

Wanne-Eickel is an industrial city north-east of Essen.

While this force was out, approximately 750 U.S. heavy bombers attacked an aircraft components factory at Bremen. This armada, escorted by a powerful fighter screen, also bombed other unspecified targets in North-western Germany as the German radio reported still another raid on Central Austria by Italy-based bombers.

Aid Canadians.

A small force of R.A.F. Lancasters shot across the Channel to Holland ripping gun installations at Breskens, where a large number of German troops are trapped by 1st Canadian Army forces.

The widespread daylight attacks followed the 173rd raid on Berlin last night as British Mosquito bombers, which seldom miss a night over Germany, unloaded several tons of explosives on industrial targets in the capital.

They also hit other objectives in Western Germany with the loss of one plane, the Air Ministry said.

Hundreds of American bomber crews that had been alerted for possible participation in the annihilation of Aachen still were standing by. The heavy bombers will not be called in unless the weather is perfect for visual bombing. Attacking troops are dug in to close around the city.

Meanwhile Aachen was gradually being destroyed by artillery and U.S. 9th Air Force dive-bombers.

Fighter-bombers dropped more than 100 tons of bombs on the city in five hours yesterday afternoon without the loss of a plane. One pilot said he saw a 10-storey building crumble under two direct hits. Others reported great fires burning in the heart of the city.

Breach Dike

R.A.F. heavies were sent out late yesterday to crack the sea wall around Walcheren Island, off the Dutch coast, for the third time.

They breached the dike on the east side, making the escape of flood-trapped German troops virtually impossible.

British Typhoons destroyed a number of German barges in the Schelde area—near the 1st Canadian Army sector—where increased waterborne traffic has been reported the past two days.

Packinghouse Union Chief Claims Meeting Cancelled

TORONTO, Oct. 12— (CP).—Fred W. Dowling, Canadian director of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) announced to-day that a meeting between the Federal Department of Labor, the Canada Packers Lt., Burns and Co., and Swift Canadian Ltd., and the union slated for today has been cancelled.

Mr. Dowling issued the following statement:

"The Canadian Federation of Agriculture and the Beef and Hog Producers' Associations all signified their willingness to come. Canada Packers and Swifts said they would not be represented because their chief executives, J. S. McLean and J. H. Tapley, respectively, were out of town. He had no reply from Burns and Co.

"We were advised unofficially that the government did not want to have any part in the discussions. However, I am trying to get in touch with Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor, to ascertain whether this is right.

"The whole matter now will be referred back to the various locals in the plants in question. I'm keeping my fingers crossed but I can't help but think the companies' action in this respect will help precipitate a strike."

The strike vote was ordered when the three companies refused to conclude a master agreement with the union. The agreement would have provided for unstated wage increases, uniform wage rates across Canada, a closed shop, and a "check-off" system for collecting dues.

Union officials claimed the decision to strike was practically unanimous.

Peterboro Troops In Battle Along Belgium Beachhead

Major Neil Gemmel Mentioned In News Dispatch

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, Oct 12.— (CP Cable.) — New gains were made in the Schelde pocket beachhead to-day as Canadian infantry captured the town fo Biervliet, three miles south of the Schelde estuary, and advanced well beyond Hoofplaadt on the road to Breskens, across the mouth of the estuary from Flushing.

The build-up in the beachhead is going well and signs are that the operation should now develop more rapidly.

Attacks by R.A.F. heavy bombers on gun positions along the north shore of the Schelde have reduced enemy shellfire on the beachhead. These guns had been shelling the Canadians consistenly and accurately.

Ground troops could see the big bombers scoring direct hits on gun emplacements. The heavies have also blasted a new breach in the Walcheren dike, southeast of the town of Veere on the north shore, and tide waters were reported flooding anew on to the island.

German opposition along the beachhead perimeter still is not severe and the position of the Nazi garrison, now whittled down to about 3,000 men, is getting worse every day.

Cut Main Road.

Along the Leopold Canal today it was comparatively quiet, but in the sector north of Antwerp Canadian infantry cut the main road on the Causeway leading from South Beveland Island and were approaching a secondary road along the north side of the Causeway.

Four miles north of this escape route the Germans rushed up a force of parachute and S.S. troops to screen the town of Bergen Op Zoom and were resisting the Canadians strongly.

At Dunkerque, on the coast, the Germans made some raids into the lines of Canadian army forces besieging the port, but were thrown back with heavy losses.

Tactical air force planes supporting the Canadian Army flew 700 sorties in fairly good weather yesterday, most of them directed against targets in the Schelde pocket.

Maj. Neil Gemmell of Peterborough, Ont., said flame throwers were used to good advantage by Ontario troops who near Hoofdplaat took two groups of 100 prisoners each with a couple of squirts of fire.

Some of the German defences on the Causeway between South Beveland Island and the mainland have been overrun by the advancing Canadians in this attack 25 miles east of the Schelde bridgehead. Enemy pioneer troops were captured as they worked on trench systems and gunposts.

Show Little Fight.

The mixed force of Germans opposing the Canadians in the fight for the Causeway is not showing the determination with which the 64th Division troops battled along the Leopold Canal.

"They show a lot of fight generally until our troops get within 200 yards, then many of them just

German Cities Won't Be Spared

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 —(AP)—Other German cities may expect to suffer the fate now being dealt out to explosive-blasted Aachen if the Nazi High Command incorporates them into the battle line, War Secretary Stimson said to-day.

Discussing for a news conference the ultimatum which was ignored by the Aachen garrison, Mr. Stimson:

"No German cities may expect to have immunity from destruction so long as they are maintained as a part of the enemy's battleline. As General Hodges of the American 1st Army, has stared there is no middle course. Either surrender or destruction must be chosen by the Nazis. German civilians will necessarily have to bear the burden of any decision imposed upon them by their military leaders which make their city a part of the defence line."

Mr. Stimson described the offensive in the Aachen sector as designed "to give us elbow room within the Siegfried line after testing and overcoming some of its most formidable obstacles."

Enemy artillery fire has been strong and enemy troops willing to fight desperately, he said.

Godbout Raps Premier Drew In Interview

QUEBEC, Oct. 12 —(CP) —Former Premier Godbout said to-day in a press interview he was "disgusted with the injurious statements recently made by Ontario Premier Drew about the Quebec people regarding the question of family allowances."

He added he was "astonished that Premier Duplessis had not yet publicly protested against Col. Drew's uncalled for remarks."

Mr. Godbout, who now is opposition leader in the Quebec Legislative Assembly, made his statement at a press interview given upon his return here from his Frelighsburg, Que., farm where he went for the harvesting.

(Premier Drew said that while Ontario would contribute more money for family allowances than Quebec with its large families would benefit more from them.)

Mr. Godbout added:

"Never before had a public man taken upon himself to insult in such a way the whole population of a Canadian Province. It is inconceivable that the civil head of the Quebec Province has not yet raised his voice to avenge his own people.

"Col. Drew does not wish the people of his province to contribute in any way to the payment of family allowances outside the boundaries of Ontario. If the Province of Quebec had adopted such an attitude in the past, none of the country's great national undertakings wculd have been completed.

"Will Col. Drew inform us how he intends to bring about his famous immigration plan if not with Federal funds obtained from taxes levied upon residents of every province in the Dominion?

"According to a persistent rumor, Premier Drew and Premier Duplessis will meet shortly. The Ontario Premier wants the Ottawa river power agreement cancelled. I believe it is advantageous for both provinces. Anyway, I know it is for this province and I hope that Mr. Duplessis, while co-operating with the Conservative Ontario premier, will not betray his province's interests."

Hitler's Hold Remains Strong

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The imminent climax of the battle for ancient Aachen, which the Germans made a key position in their Siegfried Line, is likely to make it easier for us to estimate prospects of achieving a quick knock-out of Germany.

There's not the slightest cause for anxiety over the progress of the Allied offensive, though we may be entitled to grouse a bit over the unfriendly weather.

There are increasing signs that Hitler's remaining strength may shortly be put to the supreme test of concerted all-out offensives in both eastern and western Europe. The defence upon which the Fuehrer is depending heavily is to impede Al-

Factory District Invaded; Counter Jabs Fail

By DON WHITEHEAD
Associated Press War Correspondent

OUTSIDE AACHEN, Oct. 12 — (AP).—American infantry fought into the factory district on the outskirts of Aachen late today while to the north foot troops and armor beat off a day-long counter-attack by the Germans who were supported by 20 to 25 tanks.

The Germans have thrown one of their finest divisions into the battle in a desperate, but so far abortive, attempt to relieve or reinforce the Aachen garrison. German troops inside the wrecked and burning city were being battered from the land and air.

Every counter-attack has been beaten back under a barrage of heavy artillery.

The corridor in the American are about the city still is about a mile wide and it is under artillery and small arms fire.

"Nothing has come through that corridor in any size in any direction," a high ranking officer said. "Certainly the Germans have not, and are not evacuating Aachen. Try to tell that to the boys up there who are doing the fighting for Aachen, and give them a laugh."

Infantry attacked this morning while heavy artillery pounded the besieged Germans and dive-bombers screamed down to blast them from their hiding places.

Fires burned in the southeastern part of Aachen and grey smoke drifted over the sprawling city.

Under a bright sun, Aachen lay like a festering sore in the path of the 1st Army—battered and beaten by a terrible weight of explosives but not destroyed. It is too big to be wiped out entirely except by weeks of steady pounding.

From a ridgetop overlooking the city, however, fires and smoke could be seen boiling up from exploding shells and bombs and from wrecked buildings in which the Germans who declined a surrender ultimatum were hiding.

Utter Folly.

In a move of utter folly late yesterday, the Germans brought their columns from the east toward Aachen in broad daylight, to attack

1,000 Bombers Hit Formosa

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 12 (AP)—American forces controlled 11 islands in the southern Palaus today, after the second new landing in three days, as Tokyo reported continuing aerial blows against the key petroleum centre of Borneo.

Infantrymen landed unopposed Tuesday on Bairakaseru islet, 9½ miles northwest of Peleliu, Admiral Nimitz announced in a communique last night. Other infantrymen Sunday invaded Garakayo, 2½ miles north of Peleliu, and secured control within 24 hours.

Tokyo radio, heard last night by federal communications commission monitors, reported nearly 100 Liberators and 30 escorting fighters had smashed the important Borneo oil refinery at Balikpapan Tuesday.

The enemy radio added today that aproximately 1,000 Allied planes attacked Japanese-occupied Formosa off the east China coast today.

There was no confirmation of either broadcast.

Formosa presumably is the base from which Japanese forces are operating in their campaign against the Chinese in the Foochow area, directly opposite on the China coast.

A Southwest Pacific communique today reported a four-hour attack on Balikpapan Sunday by night patrol bombers, the fifth attack in recent weeks against this oil centre which produces 15 per cent of Japan's aviation gasoline.

Soldiers May Decide Vote

11 States Can Be Swung For President

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—(AP).—The soldier vote may decide the forthcoming presidential election in at least 11 states—including the five with the largest number of electoral votes.

It may be the margin of victory in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, California and Ohio, which cast a combined vote of 160 in the electoral college, as well as in Colorado, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Oregon and Rhode Island. The last six have a total of 46 electoral votes.

Thus servicemen and women, an Associated Press survey indicates, already are casting the ballots which may determine whether 206 of the 531 electoral votes will go to President Roosevelt or to Governor Dewey.

Three times since 1904 the winner's plurality has been less than 206. In 1916 it was 23.

Nixon Reports Truce With Tories Ended

TORONTO, Oct. 12—(CP).—Former Ontario Liberal Premier Harry Nixon told the people of this province last night that "come what may" the political truce between his party and the Progressive Conservative government of Premier Drew is ended.

Since the defeat of the Liberal government in August, 1943, the Liberal members of the Legislature, believing it to be in the public interest that the present administration should have every opportunity to put into effect the promises on which they obtained power, had assisted the government on many occasions, Mr. Nixon said in a broadcast over the provincial network of the CBC.

Little appreciation had been shown for this assistance "and certainly there have been wholesale dismissals of civil servants throughout the constituencies who received their appointments under the Liberal regime."

Attacks Unity.

Mr. Nixon, Provincial Liberal leader, said the reason for calling off the truce was because Mr. Drew struck at "the very basis of Canadian unity in his shocking speech of August 9," when he condemned the Federal Family Allowance Act and attacked Quebec.

(Party standing in the Ontario Legislature is: Progressive Conservatives, 38; C.C.F., 34; Liberals, 16; Labor Progressive, 2—total 90.)

When Premier Drew said his one ambition in the political field outside Ontario was "to see an end to the weak and incompetent government-election of John Bracken as Prime Minister, "he shuts the door to friendly co-operation in the face of every self-respecting Liberal member."

But it "is not because of this and not because of his administrative record, bad as it is, but because he strikes at the very basis of Canadian unity in his shocking speech of August 9" condemning the Federal Family Allowances Act and attacking Quebec "that I make this announcement" that the truce is ended.

Premier Drew had announced in the Aug. 9 speech that his government would oppose the Family Allowances Act because it was a "bribe," because it was unconstitutional, because he was not consulted and because Quebec would benefit at Ontario's expense.

Mr. Nixon said the "unworthy charge of bribery" cast a reflection on the Progressive Conservative members of the House of Commons who voted for the measure. If the Premier was "worried about the constitutional side, he need not have made a radio speech at all.

Utter Nonsense

"All he needed to do was to take the same action so often taken before—a reference to the Privy Council."

The Premier's objection to the Act because he wasn't consulted was "utter nonsense."

"If that theory held water, each province would have to be consulted about any and every federal expenditure. What then would be the use of a House of Commons? Doesn't Col. Drew think the 82 members of parliament elected by Ontario constituences represent the province? or maybe he would rearrange the Dominion and make the Canadian government merely a co-ordinating committee of a Federation of Provinces. If he wants to make that an issue sometime, well and good, but just now we are operating this nation on the basis determined at Confederation."

Mr. Nixon said that in his nearly 25 years as member of the Legislature for Brant riding and before that time "and up to recent weeks" the policies of Ontario governments had been to be good neighbors with the other provinces and to take a full part in the development of the Dominion.

For that reason "I deplore and strongly condemn the unprovoked attack made recently by the Premier of Ontario on our sister province of Quebec."

"I know he is wrong in attempting to arouse racial hatred against the sister province and I feel sure he is wrong in thinking there is any large section of this province who can be successfully appealed to on such a policy of disunity."

Mr. Nixon spoke of the return to Liberal ranks of Mitchell Hepburn, member for Elgin and former Liberal premier.

"You can accept my assurance that his outstanding abilities will be directed to the advancement of sound Liberal policies and the defeat of reactionary Toryism in this province and the Dominion.

Should Stay at Home.

The Brant member also critisized the Provincial government for failing to implement its pledge to remove half the burden of school taxes from real estate and suggested to Premier Drew, who recently returned from a trip overseas, that he "stay at home for a while" and "leave the direction of the war to the proper authorities."

He said Premier Drew had been quoted Sept. 30 as saying that "former power agreements between the Liberal administrations in Ontario and Quebec had been cancelled" and "if Col. Drew's government has cancelled these agreements without knowing for certain that he can replace them with a better arrangement, he has done a grave disservice to Ontario."

(Premier Drew, commenting on the speech, said the Ottawa river power agreement has not been cancelled and no announcement to that affect had been made by him. He said it would require a decision of the Legislature to cancel the agreement and added: "What I did say in a recent address at Ottawa is that I had no reason to doubt that a friendly agreement could be reached with Quebec for the development of Ottawa river power.") ian counter-attack.

The Germans, however, admitted their Tizla River line had been shattered and said that "heavy fighting is raging west of the river."

Hungary appeared on the verge of a military knockout to-day as the Russians overran Magyar defences on a 120-mile front guarding Budapest.

The developing debacle, with apparent imminent collapse of Hungarian resistance, emphasized final disintegration of Hitler's Balkan defences, and indicated an early assault by the Red Army upon Austria.

The army newspaper Red Star said Soviet troops already were more than halfway from the Hungarian-Romanian border to Budapest, which would place them less than 60 miles from the capital.

The Hungarian Army was reported in the utmost state of confusion, with its elite divisions trapped in northern Transylvania or scattered among the Carpathian passes of Ruthenia. Neither the army nor the people appeared willing to fight an hour longer on the side of Germany, Red Star said.

Moscow military sources expressed belief the German high command already is reckoning on Hungary's complete elimination from the war.

Russian and Romanian forces yesterday captured Szeged, second largest city in Hungary, and Cluj, capital of Transylvania, with general advances elsewhere on the Balkan front.

(Marshal Tito announced that Russian and Yugoslav Partisan forces had surrounded Belgrade.)

Meanwhile, to the north, the battle for East Prussia seemed under way, with the Germans being thrown back from their border defences 15 miles northeast of the fortress city of Tilsit.

Attack 3 Ports

A Soviet column, following the Tilsit Siauliai highway and railroad, pressed back German infantry while low-flying Red Air Force Stormoviks slashed at the Nazi ground forces and turned green-camouflaged tanks and self-propelled guns into blazing wrecks.

A second column pushed forward along both the north and south banks of the Niemen River, and at the closest point was less than 30 miles east of the city's fortifications.

Still a third sweep on the German bastion came southward from besieged Memel, almost reaching the Baltic coastal highway which now has been severed along a wide stretch north of Memel.

The Germans fought furiously at all three major Baltic ports—Memel, Liepaja and Riga—which are under heavy Soviet attack.

Polish Dispute Likely To End Soon

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 12— (AP). — A frank understanding between Russia and Britain in dealing with the Balkans and Poland—two potential threats to Allied unity—appeared to-day to be emerging from the conferences of Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill in Moscow.

The two rival Polish political factions were called to sit at the same conference table with Messrs. Churchill and Stalin serving as intermediaries. The last obstacles to a meeting apparently were removed with the disclosure that leaders of the Soviet-sponsored Polish Committee of National Liberation had arrived in Moscow and that Premier Stanislaw Mikolajaczky of the government in London was ready to fly there.

These developments were greeted with applause in London, where it was generally believed that Mr. Churchill's trip to Moscow was mainly concerned with preventing any clash of Soviet and British interests over the Balkans or Poland while leaving the question of Germany to three-way conferences later with President Roosevelt.

Prospects of settlement of the Polish dispute were especially welcome to Britons, who have admittedly been alarmed at the idea of a divided Poland. Said the British Labor party organ, the Daily Herald: "An Anglo-Soviet-Polish agreement would provide the cornerstone for solid relations between ourselves and our great Ally in the East."

Albanian Unit Routs Germans

ROME, Oct. 12 — (AP). — Albanian Partisans have cleared German troops from Gjashdle, 2 miles inland from Sarande (Porto Edda), Albanian port opposite Corfu, which British invaders captured yesterday.

More than 600 prisoners were taken in the area by the land forces of the Adriatic. Gjashdle, which was mopped up before noon yesterday, fell to Partisans who turned a captured artillery piece on the Germans. Many Germans were killed.

Allied Headquarters said a considerable quantity of guns and stores were captured in the Sarande area. The list included 24-pounders, Italian 77-mm. howitzers, Gedman 20-mm. anti-aircraft guns, staff cars, small arms, much oil and miscellaneous equipment

The bulletin gave no information on the situation in Greece.

The prices vary according to grades, lengths, varieties of woods and range from $5.30 per thousand prices for merchantable grade lath, 32 inches long, made from spruce, jack or princess pine, to $18.50 for No. 1 red pine, one half inch thick by one and one half inches wide by four feet long.

The pricing regulations for lath cover all parts of Ontario and south of Sault Ste. Marie, except Ottawa.

the Americans' virtual ring of steel about the city. The two-pronged assault force, estimated at division strength moved into the open under direct observation.

More than 100 big guns, including 240-mm. rifles, turned on these columns, which moved into action about dusk. A battle raged for two hours. Then the shattered enemy columns fell back. They had failed either to relieve or reinforce Aachen's defences.

At 8 a.m. to-day the American infantry began its move, driving toward the factory district on the north-east side, known as Schlachof, and toward Observatory Hill, which looks down on Aachen from the northern edge of the city.

"The enemy is hidden in ancient caves, sewers and basements which are almost impregnable to air and artillery attack—but we'll take it," a high-ranking officer said.

Despite the fires and smoke, in the clear sunlight of noon-time I ould see the tall, blackened spire of the cathedral in which Charlemagne was buried.

Five thousand rounds of shells were poured into the city yesterday along with more than 100 tons of bombs. Principal targets were Lousberg and Observatory Hills north of Aachen, the Quelenhof Hotel area and the factory area on the northeast side of the city which the enemy has been using as a command post and supply area.

During the day one patrol entered the city.

It is believed now there are five enemy battalions in Aachen and that from 5,000 to 25,000 civilians remained in their homes.

ARRIVES IN CANADA—In the Navy one-and-a-half years, and believed to be the only Peterborough member of H.M.C.S. Restigouche's crew Petty Officer Robert McClennan, 18 Dixon Lane, has arrived in Canada on leave, and is now in Halifax.

PO. Bob McClennan Home On Restigouche

Believed to be the only Peterborough member of the crew of one of Canada's oldest warships, the H.M.C.S. Restigouche, Petty Officer Bob McClennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClennan, 18 Dixon Lane, arrived in Canada on leave recently, and is now in Halifax.

The Restigouche has had a stormy and action-jammed career from the beginning of the war, when she helped convoy the first Canadian contingent overseas to the tune of tons of Nazi shells and bombs. The young Peterborough sailor, who has been in the navy one-and-half years, is serving aboard the ship, has had the honor of helping to operate the touted "luckiest ship in the Royal Canadian Navy." Veteran of the evacuation and invasion of France, practically everything has happened to her, and yet still the Restigouche carries on, doing its share to make the sea-lanes safe for Allied shipping.

When PO McClennan arrives home, many will be the episodes he can tell, concerning both the boat itself, and the members of the galland crew that have brought her through every time. Before enlisting, he was an employee of Genelco.

Order New Trial In Love Tangle

TORONTO, Oct. 12 —(CP) — Chief Justice Hugh [illegible] of the high court of justice [illegible] Ontario yesterday adjourned hearing of an application for a change in venue in retrial of a suit for alienation of affections from Whitby to Toronto. In the oringial action at Whitby in October 1943, Alfred Clifford of Claremont, Ont., was awarded $10,000 in his action against Robert Gerrard Roy of Toronto for alienation of his wife's affection.

George T. Walsh, counsel for Roy, asked that the retrial, ordered by the Ontario Court of Appeal and scheduled to open in Whitby, Oct. 16, be heard in Toronto because in view of publicity the case had received in Oshawa and Stouffville newspapers it would be impossible to get a jury in Ontario County "who would not have heard of this action, who would not have been influenced by the publicity and who would not already have formed their opinion and come to a conclusion."

lied preparations until the bad weather comes to his rescue.

The battle of Aachen gives us useful guidance on several important questions. For one thing it emphasizes that Hitler intends to fight to a bloody finish, ruthlessly sacrificing not only military but civilian lives, and inviting the destruction of proud cities like this one-time centre of culture for western Europe.

Again it is demonstrated that Hitler has fanatical commanding officers who are ready to do his will. The German command in Aachen did their best—or one might better say their most cruel worst—to prevent the surrender not only of their soldiers but of civilians before the American ultimatum expired.

Obituary

HERBERT E. OLIVER

HASTINGS, October 12 (ENS) — The funeral was held recently for Herbert Ernest Oliver, who passed away in Peterborough in his 65th year. Although he had undergone an operation several weeks ago, he failed to rally from a bad turn recently. The service was held from his late residence in Percy, to Trinity United church, at 2 o'clock, where Rev. J. E. Glover officiated.

Interment was in Trent Valley cemetery.

Born in Percy township, he operated a farm on the Cobourg road for the past 35 years. A faithful member of Hastings' Trinity United church, he was a member of the Trustee and Parsonage Board of that church.

He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing widow, formerly Agnes Mae Harriot, a daughter, Mrs. Gordon Dickey, two sons, Virgil and Cecil, all of Percy township.

Pallbearers were Roy King, Arthur Beamish, Roy Taylor, Ezra Peters, Donald Beamish and Fred Richardson. Flower bearers were Eric Pulfer, Ray Pulfer, Bruce Trotter, Richard Williamson, Howard Porter and Francis Parker.

Rev. J. J. O'Brien Invested As Monsignor

The forty-six years of his priesthood, the last thirty-one of them as pastor of the people of the parish of the Sacred Heart, reached a solemn climax of honorary reward for Rev. J. J. O'Brien with his investiture last night by Bishop J. R. MacDonald as a Domestic Prelate of the household of Pope Pius XII.

His Church advanced Father O'Brien to the ranks of its Monsignori, and bestowed on him both the title and symbolic purple of his new dignity, formal recognition of a long accumulation of worthiness recommending Bishop MacDonald's nomination for the tribute and distinction to one of the elders of his diocesan priests.

The church of the Sacred Heart was crowded to its capacity for the ceremony which followed the mid weekly devotions in honor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help. Conspicuous among the visiting clergy was His Excellency Bishop R. D. Dignan of the diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, in which Monsignor O'Brien received his first appointment. The large number of priests from Peterborough and other dioceses was an evidence of the esteem in which Monsignor O'Brien is held by his ecclesiastical colleagues, and the congregation of the laity indicated the affectionate regard of his parishioners.

Congratulations and good wishes were expressed to Monsignor O'Brien when he received his purple vestments, and a delegation of men of the parish added the helpful substance of a bank cheque to their felicitous address read by W. Stanley Bogue. The presentation on behalf of the parishioners was made by Harold A. Legrow.

Special music for the parochial event was played by Harold Armstrong, organist at St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto, and the vocal music was by the children's choir.

The sermon was preached by Very Reverend Dean V. J. McAuley of Lindsay, assistant priest during Monsignor O'Brien's first years at the Church of the Sacred Heart, and Bishop MacDonald joined in the congratulations to the new Prelate and wished him God's abundant blessings in the continuance of his work.

Bishop's Address

"For forty-six years Holy Mother Church has watched the priestly career of Father O'Brien, and she found that career satisfactory," Bishop MacDonald said. "She found his priestly work worthy of reward, and at this time confers that reward in the form of a Domestic

Ruin 3 Villages

LONDON, Oct. 12 — (CP. Cable). — Three villages were practically obliterated when German forces delaying the Canadian advance into the enemy pocket south of the Schelde Estuary were blasted all day yesterday by rocket-firing Typhoons and bomb-carrying Spitfires.

The villages containing the German were Costburg, Schondijk and Sluis. Oostburg (pop. 1,000), commands three important roads south of the Schelde.

The sustained aerial attack began after Canadian soldiers signalled the enemy was well dug in throughout Oostburg. Halfway through the onslaught the Canadian army reported gunfire from Oostburg becoming weaker and said the Canadians had resumed their advance.

Just before dusk pilots reported roads blocked and village buildings reduced to a state where defence was virtually impossible and evacuation difficult.

Stories Conflict In Car Mishap

Judgment was reserved by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning in a charge of careless driving against Elmer G. Godfrey

W. J. Arthur Fair defended the accused and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

The charge arose out of an accident on the evening of July 10 in which Benjamin Swartz received an injury to his hands.

Giving evidence this morning Swartz stated that he was on his way back to his parked car after posting a letter in the mail box at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets when he noticed a car coming south on Aylmer street at 20 miles an hour. The witness stated that the automobile which he said had been driven by Godfrey did not stop at the stop sign and was still going at 10 miles an hour when it came in contact with him.

Swartz said that he had tried to run when he realized that the car was not stopping. As a result of the collision witness said that his hand had been cut.

Mrs. Swartz, who said that she saw the accident from where she was seated in her husband's car also testified that Godfrey did not stop his car at the stop sign nor not at all until after it had struck her husband.

Godfrey swore that he had stopped his car and that just after he started it up again in low gear Swartz had walked in front of it. Godfrey said that he had stopped his machine again in two feet after the collision. He swore that he had seen Swartz at the letter box and noticed that he had not looked north on Aylmer street but only looked south before starting out to cross the street.

Magistrate Langley reserved judgment until Saturday.

Stalin Admits Americans Turned The Tide

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MOSCOW, Oct. 12 — (AP) — Premier Stalin, praising the industrial might of the United States, told a gathering at the British Embassy last night that without American war aid the course of the European conflict might have been different.

Speaking at a precedent-setting dinner given in his honor by Prime Minister Churchill, the Soviet Premier also said both Russia and Britain had played big parts in the war, but the stupendous production and organizing ability of the United States had helped turn the tide.

It was the most generous public utterance of any Russian in this war, and British and Russian guests called it a "great tribute."

Sets Precedent.

The formal dinner lasted until almost midnight.

Even as the dinner was in progress the close co-operation of the United Nations was emphasized by announcement that Bulgaria had acceded to joint Allied demands to withdraw her troops from Greek and Yugoslav territory before October 15.

Mr. Stalin broke all precedent by attending the dinner in the British Embassy — the first time he ever had visited any Embassy in Moscow. The dinner was interrupted by the sound of Moscow's victory guns saluting the Red Army's capture of Cluj, capital of Transylvania.

Mr. Churchill exclaimed it was the first salute he had heard in Moscow and led a group of 30 guests to the windows of the dining room, where they watched until the last rocket had arched over the Kremlin.

When the meal progressed for some time without toasts, Mr. Stalin inquired if it was against the law to make a toast. Mr. Churchill responded with one to the leaders of both countries — King George of Britain and President Kalinin of Russia.

Many Toasts

Mr. Stalin's first toast was to President Roosevelt, and his second to the United States for her part in bringing victory to the United Nations. There were many subsequent toasts to the importance of co-operation and friendship among the three great powers.

During the meal, at which turkey was the main dish, Messrs. Churchill and Stalin talked long and earnestly. The Prime Minister was overheard to compare the situation as regards Russia and Britain today with the outlook when he came to Moscow in 1942. Then, he said, both nations were in great difficulty, with the Germans near Moscow and near Suez. At that time, he continued, Britain could give Russia little help.

After the dinner, Mr. Churchill Foreign Secretary Eden, Foreign Commissar Molotov and United States Ambassador Harriman talked with Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark Kerr.

Kinsmen Club Plans Hallowe'en Collection

COBOURG, Oct. 12 — (ENS).— Cobourg Kinsmen Club has evolved a plan which will help its Milk for Britain Fund and at the same time save the police and householders a headache on Hallowe'en from those whose activities on that night tend towards a bit of destruction.

The plan calls for the joint cooperation of children and householders. The Kinsmen Club will open a depot on King Street from four to six each afternoon over a designated period of time in which sheets of "milk tickets" will be given out to the children who will sell them for one cent each. On Hallowe'en the youngsters will don their masks and costumes and go from house to house, collecting these tickets, which they will turn in. Prizes will be given those with the best collections, and in addition each child will be given something when the tickets are handed in.

Red Cross Committee Plans To Hold Dance

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 12—(ENS).— The monthly meeting of the executive of the Red Cross was held on Tuesday evening in the Red Cross Rooms. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $645.21, and Mrs. Edwards, in charge of the wool, stressed the need for more knitters and reported that the following articles had been shipped: 17 sweaters, 11 pairs gloves, 15 helmets, 32 pairs socks, 2 caps, 3 pairs mitts, 1 scarf.

Ted Wickett reported that the average of a blood donor a day is still maintained, but that new donors are badly needed. Mr. Morris of Young's Point claimed that of their small group, seven had donated blood six times or more, and reported five new donors. Mrs. Gilman reported that 20 pairs of men's pyjamas had been shipped. Mrs. W. W. Leonard, Mr. Morris, and Mr. Wickett were nominated to look into the practical uses of psychotherapy in preparation for the day when the wounded are sent home.

Mrs. Ketchum, president, asked for suggestions to raise money for the Red Cross. Mrs. Grylls' idea of a dance seemed to be the most popular, and a committee was formed to make all arrangements: Mrs. Grylls, Mrs. Erskine, Mrs. Robinson, Mr. McKerchar, and Mr. Morris.

Port Hope Man Finds Japanese Are Fanatic Fighters

PORT HOPE, Oct. 12. — Six months in the Pacific theatre of war has convinced Capt. John Leuty of Port Hope that the Japs are fanatical fighters who apparently prefer death to surrender. A member of the Midland Regiment, Captain Leuty was among a group of Canadian Army officers who were sent into the South Pacific war area to gain battle experience. He is now home on leave. He was the only Ontario officer, with the exception of Capt. W. E. Watt, among the group.

Capt. Leuty was reticent in describing his experiences in the South Pacific. Before taking part in the Saipan campaign he had a vigorous training in amphibian operations and jungle warfare. The Japs are good fighters, he says, but the U.S. troops are better and have better battle equipment. He believes that China's mainland will be the main theatre of military operaions in the big battle against Japan.

All members of the officers' group who went to the Pacific War had been stationed for some time on the West Coast before going into the battle area. Capt. Leuty spent six months in the Pacific fighting zone and along with the others in the group, escaped injury. He enlisted with the Midland Regiment early in the war with the rank of lieutenant and in 1942 he was promoted to captain.

Conversations In Moscow

Mr. Churchill did not allow much time to pass between his trip to Quebec and his visit to Moscow, and it is likely that he is expressing not only his own views to Marshal Stalin but also—informally and unofficially of course—those of President Roosevelt. In all probability they are talking about British and Russian interests in the Balkans and Central Europe, and about the occupation of Germany which the three great Powers will undertake after the Germans admit their defeat. Apparently the talks are aided by what dispatches call "a most cordial atmosphere".

An official policy on occupation should not be hard to establish. Presumably Mr. Churchill and the President agreed at Quebec as to what they were prepared to do, and it is now necessary to see what Stalin thinks of their plans. But decisions about Balkan affairs may be more difficult, and the Polish question is a tangle of difficulties and embarrassments.

Russia is supporting the Polish National Committee of Liberation, and will have nothing to do with the government-in-exile. But Churchill has made it clear that a friendly Poland will be a necessity to Russia after the war, which is a broad hint to the government-in-exile that its intransigent attitude is not admired; and both Britain and the U.S. have indicated that they favour settlement of Polish boundary disputes along the lines laid down by Russia. But the important fact is that the time is drawing near when it will be possible to re-establish civil government in Poland, and when that time comes the government must be one with which all the United Nations are on friendly terms.

In Yugoslavia Britain and Russia have been backing rival governments; Britain favoured the government-in-exile and Russia the partisans under Marshal Tito. A union of the two interests was effected—somewhat forcibly—but now that Yugoslavia is being liberated there are points of difference which will make trouble unless they can be resolved.

In Greece also there is civil strife which complicates the task of the liberators. There are several factions which war upon the Germans and on each other with impartial vigour. Both Britain and Russia must be in agreement on Greek matters if there is to be any peace or stability there.

Bulgaria and Turkey will undoubtedly be discussed, also. Russia must safeguard her right of entry through the Dardanelles, and Britain must know where she stands with the close neighbours of the Suez Canal. And Hungary, too, must be the object of a settled policy if it is not to become a bone of contention.

Peace in the Balkans is vital to the peace of Europe, and no two powers are more vitally interested in Balkan peace than Russia and Britain. It is as easy to guess what Churchill and Stalin are talking about as it is hard to guess what they may be saying.

How Many Jews Agree?

The Jews are apt to be a sentimental people; Americans are deeply sentimental, also, and an American Jew is perhaps the most sentimental creature in the world. But it really was amazing to read a story sent to this continent by a war correspondent in which two American Jewish soldiers, Staff Sgt. Cohen and Sgt. Friedlander, decided that the Germans were really "a timid people" and not so bad as they were painted. And why? Because Cohen and Friedlander had peeped into a German house and had seen "nice comfortable chairs and a baby carriage and a high chair and nice pictures and baby clothes"! Can sentimentality go farther? If there had been a white-haired, smiling old German mother sitting in one of the comfortable chairs the boys would probably have declared an armistice at once.

But how many Jews will agree with Cohen and Friedlander? Not many, we think; they know how wildly sentiment can betray those who are its victims. The Germans are sentimental, too, and their sentimentality showed itself plainly in their uncritical acceptance of the Nazi doctrine of the Master Race. Once that doctrine was adopted, the persecution of the Jews followed logically, for a Master Race has to prove its mastery by bullying some inferior race, and the Jews have been the scapegoats of idiotic persecution for two thousand years and longer. Thousands of Jews were killed, tortured or condemned to a life worse than death in order to uphold the race theory which was in essence a bubble of German sentimentality. German children have the high chairs and pretty clothes which Cohen and Friedlander admire so tenderly, but Jewish children starved, or were butchered, or died of neglect, because they were not of the Master Race.

Sentimental tripe of the Cohen and Friedlander description must be censured now, or we shall suffer from it when the war is over. Naturally the Germans have homes, like other people, and they make those homes as comfortable as they can. They have children, too, and we presume that they are as fond of their children as other people. But the Germans have denied the right of other races to have comfortable homes, and they have outraged the feelings which other races have for their children. They must be taught better manners, and it ill becomes any Jew to speak on their behalf.

The Value Of Criticism

A few weeks ago Miss Mae West opened a play of her own in New York, called Catherine Was Great; she played the star part herself.

The critics agreed, with striking unanimity, that Catherine Was Great was a terrible play. But it continues to run, and to draw large audiences. Questioned about the critics, Miss West spoke thus:

"I never read 'em. I'm a constructive kinda person. Don't believe in readin' destructive kinda trash.

"The way I figure is those critics came up against a play that was so fine, so sincere, so puhfick they knew there wasn't anything they could write in praise would add to it. So they went off and panned it. See what I mean?"

We see what she means. And the audiences see what she means, for Miss West has her own way of making her meaning clear. And as for the serious pursuit of criticism, it seems to have suffered a complete rout.

The Machrihanish Monster

Every man has his streak of credulity. The editor of the Brantford Expositor, for instance, is very bitter about the pretensions of prophets, and cocks a snook at Nostradamus whenever he gets a chance, but he is a glutton for sea serpents. He is now busy advertising the charms of a sea-serpent which has been seen off the coast of Scotland near Machrihanish; it is described as "a fur-covered monster more than twenty feet long with enormous eyes and feet, resembling neither whale nor seal"; the report says that this creature has been washed up on the Atlantic coast near Campbelltown; if so it should not be difficult to get a trustworthy professor of sea monsters to go and take a look at it.

If it has feet we doubt if it can rightly be called a serpent; it may be no more than a cow which fell in the water and swelled after drowning. Or it might be a simple Canadian Wendigo which went for a swim in the ocean and got caught in the Gulf Stream; a well-grown Wendigo is about twenty feet long, has fur and big eyes, and very remarkable feet. We throw out these hints because we have always had a taste for prophets, and have never cared much about sea-serpents.

Not that we wish to deny our contemporary his fun. If he likes to brighten his leisure hours with fantasies in which sea-serpents play a prominent part, we would be the last to harass him. But we have had rather a lot of experience with sea-serpents (so-called) and they always turn out to be drowned cows, or Wendigos, or some simple thing of that kind.

The C.C.F.

By GRANT DEXTER

(The Last of Three Articles on the Standing of the Principal Political Parties of Canada)

It is the general belief at Ottawa that the past three months have disclosed fairly clearly the national strength of the C.C.F. A year ago, many Liberal and Conservative politicians were actually thinking in terms of a C.C.F. or, at least, of the C.C.F. as the largest group in the next House of Commons.

To give the C.C.F. leaders due credit, they never were as sanguine as their opponents. The C.C.F. brain trust a year ago probably regarded 100 seats as the maximum, with 80 as a more likely figure. At that time their hopes were based on the exceptionally favorable result of the Ontario election plus their known strength in Saskatchewan and British Columbia. The party also had a good footing in Manitoba and Nova Scotia.

Where the party stood in the other four provinces was not clear but the outside figure of 100 seats was dependent upon substantial success right across the country. The C.C.F. leaders evidently realized that unless they could demonstrate nation-wide strength, their chances in a federal election of holding what they had in B.C., Saskatchewan and Ontario were not good. Hence the statement issued by Mr. Coldwell immediately after the Ontario election (August 4, 1943) hailing the results as proof that the party had achieved major national status. Hence, also, the strenuous campaigns of Mr. Coldwell and his lieutenant in recent months in Alberta, Quebec and New Brunswick. The results in all three provinces came as a cruel shock. As the Canadian Forum put it: "Let's agree quickly that Alberta and Quebec were sad disappointments for the C.C.F." The vote in Alberta, however, was substantial and might well elect a few federal members. One member was returned, although by a minority vote, in Quebec and New Brunswick was a blank.

As a result of these elections, the C.C.F. is no longer able to maintain the prairie fire technique. Something more than a noisy, gaudy band wagon is essential.

It is difficult to appraise the position of the C.C.F. today. As a party it is young and its strength instead of being spread across the country varies from province to province. In Saskatchewan, for example, the C.C.F. is basically a farm movement which spread into the towns and cities. In Manitoba it is a labour movement trying to spread into the farming areas. In Ontario and British Columbia, also, it is essentially a labor movement and its single minority win in Quebec is in a mining county.

This variety of background is reflected in the policies of the party which, so far, have been formulated only in the most general terms. The C.C.F. was born as a party of protest against hard times. It had a strongly socialist slant. New parties of this kind attract all those who are at outs with the older parties. They equally attract all reforming elements that have failed to find party sponsorship. The moment a new movement of this kind pops up, the advocates of this or the other cure-all make tracks to it in the hope that here, at last, they will find support.

In the thirteen years of its life, the C.C.F. has varied greatly the emphasis on this or the other phase of its program. The one constant quality in its public advocacy has been the appeal to fear. Being a child of the great depression, it seems unable to escape from this environment. The appeal almost always is that unless you vote C.C.F. there is going to be a recurrence of hard times. This, essentially, is a negative attitude but perhaps has provided the party hitherto with the best way of avoiding inner conflicts. The C.C.F. from its birth has contained and still contains men of widely divergent views. There are doctrinaire socialists and there are trade unionists and others who are no more in favour of socialism than the most reactionary Conservatives.

Since the down turn in C.C.F. fortunes, following the Saskatchewan election, the leaders of the party appear to have realized that continued progress could not be achieved simply by appeals to fear or by shouting that the two old parties are dead. Lack of clarity in policy was recognized as a serious barrier. Much study, therefore, has been given to an immediate program—a program that would be binding on the party for, say, the term of the next parliament. It would provide an escape from the old campaigning technique and would supply arguments to be used with those who might support the party if they could be persuaded that it would be moderate and reasonable. The lesson of the recent failures that there is not a socialist majority in Canada or anything approaching it — has not been lost on the C.C.F. brain trust. Such a program has been drawn up and will doubtless be made public well before the federal campaign begins.

But whatever success may attend the new program, it has become evident that the C.C.F. now faces a long and hard task to establish itself in great areas of the country where, today, it has little or no strength. Ordinarily, provincial elections are not a dependable barometer of national politics. The C.C.F., however, has been built on the plan of a single party operating in federal, provincial and municipal fields and, therefore, the provincial contests are an accurate indicator.

The optimistic forecasts of 100 seats or better are rarely heard today in responsible C.C.F. quarters. Most C.C.F. members will be highly satisfied if the party gets 60 seats. After all, that would be an almost incredible gain and might well place it in official opposition.

But many third parties in our politics have come up like the C.C.F. and then disappeared. As a rule they have failed to put down roots except in a few areas where the soil was favorable. This explains the ardent desire of the C.C.F. to fill in the blank spaces on the party map. The real problem, after all, is not how many seats can be won in the next election but whether the party can become in fact a national movement. Can the farmer and the city labourer team up? Can French and English-speaking Canadians find common ground on C.C.F. policies? Can the party appeal with success to Maritimers as well as Saskatchewan farmers?

The hard fact is that no third party which has failed to establish itself in strength east of the Ottawa River has ever survived. They have flourished mightily. They have carried many provinces and have elected more than 60 members in the House of Commons. But lacking truly national character they have invariably withered and died.

"THERE ARE TWO OF US!"

Modern Art And The Church In Britain

By IRIS CONLAY

NOTE: Church decoration in Britain is gradually being influenced by modern art, and turning away from the accepted classical forms of treatment for religious subjects. Now that so many bombed churches in Britain will soon have to be rebuilt, interest has been stimulated in modern sculpture, painting and architecture as applicable to church building.

In this article, Miss Iris Conlay, Art Critic of the Catholic Herald, describes the relationship between the Church and modern art in Britain, and shows how the decorative tradition is being revived.

For many centuries new churches in Britain have been built with very little decoration. After structure, airiness and light have been considered essential, but a curious belief has long been prevalent that in order to be considered beautiful a church should be bare and empty.

In medieval times this was not so. Britain's old parish churches are full of examples of the craftsman's art, and frescoes as brilliant and lively as those of Mediterranean countries are still being discovered under layers of plaster and paint on the walls of many of our pre-Reformation churches.

Today there are signs of a revival of the decorative tradition. Recently an Anglican vicar in Northampton, casting around in his mind for something the could give his church to commemorate the jubilee of its building, decided on two things—a statue and a cantata, and both, he decided, should be modern in style.

On the advice of Sir Kenneth Clark, the director of the National Gallery of Art in London, he commissioned Mr. Henry Moore to make a statue of the Madonna and Child. Henry Moore is a leading British sculptor, but previous to this he had never attempted religious work. Nor is his work in any sense "conventional" or "expected". His figures are stone figures, rounded, solid shapes, monumental and vital.

At first Mr. Moore was undecided whether his experience would allow him to tackle such an unfamiliar theme. He explains his difficulties in this way:

"There are two particular motifs or subjects which I have constantly used in my sculpture in the last twenty years; they are the 'reclining figure' idea and the 'mother and child' idea. Perhaps of the two the 'mother and child' has been the more fundamental obsession. I began thinking of the Madonna and Child by considering in what ways a Madonna and Child differs from a carving of just a Mother and Child—that is, by considering how in my opinion religious art differs from secular art.

"Of the sketches and models I have done, the one chosen has, I think, a quiet dignity and gentleness. I have tried to give a sense of complete easiness and repose. The Madonna is seated on a low bench, so that the angle formed between her nearly upright body and legs is somewhat less than a right angle, and in this angle of her lap, safe and protected, sits the Infant.

"The Infant is the centre of the work, and yet the subject speaks of the Incarnation—the fact that Christ was born of a human mother—and so the statue is conceived as any small child would in essence think of his mother, not as small and frail, but as the one large, secure and solid background to life".

When the statue was put up, many of the congregation were puzzled by its unfamiliar look, but in time they acknowledged the power of the work.

The vicar took the same attitude towards the Cantata. He chose Benjamin Britten, one of England's younger and most experimental composers of secular music. The words Mr. Britten used are taken from a long poem, "Rejoice in the Lamb," by the eighteenth-century English poet, Christopher Smart. Smart was deeply religious, but his poetry is chaotic in form, yet containing many flashes of genius. The main theme of the poem is the worship of God by all created beings and things, each in his own way. Here is one of the ten sections:

For I will consider my cat Jeoffry.

For he is the servant of the Living God, duly and daily serving Him.

For at the first glance of the glory of God in the East he worships in his way.

For this is done by wreathing his body seven times round with elegant quickness.

For he knows that God is his Saviour.

For God has blessed him in the variety of his movements.

For there is nothing sweeter than his peace when at rest.

For I am possessed of a cat surpassing in beauty, from whom I take occasion to bless Almighty God.

A Catholic parish priest in an industrial town near London thought that there was no reason why his congregation, which was composed mainly of wartime factory workers, should not enjoy good contemporary painting as much as Londoners who have the opportunity of visiting the Art Galleries. Being very much impressed by a series of paintings of bombed London by Eve Kirk, he asked her whether she would paint a religious subject for his church against a background of London bomb destruction.

In three panels Miss Kirk depicted the Annunciation to Our Lady, the Agony in the Garden, and the Deposition of the dead Christ in the tomb. In the first panel a strangely beautiful collection of mellowed ruins of London homes forms the background to the agonies of the inhabitants of the city. The Blessed Virgin is shown emerging from a temple into a beam of brilliant light, while an angel hovers over the sad city. In the second painting, Christ is being caried out of the wilderness of destroyed streets, like an air-raid casualty, and the third panel, depicting His Agony, takes place outside the city, where He can contemplate the horrors taking place there.

The most interesting experiments in fresco decorations for churches have been made at Berwick and at Brighton. Berwick is a small country village church, which has been redecorated with frescoes by three British artists, Vanessa Bell, Duncan Grant and Quentin Bell. The Last Judgment, and the Wise and the Foolish Virgins were among their choices of subjects. The work of these three artists has great simplicity and sincerity.

Hans Feibusch's Nativity, which covers the walls behind the altar in a new Brighton church, is rather a theatrical work, reminiscent of El Greco's style, but there is such joy and delight and bright happiness in the simple conception that it well deserves its place. In Brighton, there is also to be found another modern painting by Augustus Lunn, in the Bishop Hannington Memorial Church, entitled "The Great Commission." It is a very interesting technical experiment which lends itself to the expression of mystical ideas and not just naturalistic scenes.

Britannica Out Of Date

Looking through the Encyclopaedia Britannica, the Editor of The Peterborough Examiner chanced upon the name "Peterborough" and read on to find it described as a city having, among other things, an electric railway and iron and steel bridges.

"It seems odd," comments the Peterborough Editor, "that the Britannica, which was last revised in 1941, should not know that Peterborough has had no electric railway since the autumn of 1926. And we are told that iron and steel bridges have not been built here for at least fifty years." The Editor goes on to suggest that the City Council might instruct its Clerk to send the Britannica a more up-to-date article.

This experience resembles that of Brantford. The fourteenth edition of the Britannica (copyright 1937) refers to this community as being on a river "navigable within two and a half miles of the town" and adds that "for the remaining distance a canal has been constructed." This, of course, is absurdly out-of-date information. So is the statement that Brantford is the locale of a women's college. All other references, including those to industry, are inadequate where not inaccurate. Incidentally, there is no mention of the fact that Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone here.

However, the fault has been drawn to the attention of the Britannica's editors and, at last reports, and on their suggestion, a correct and appropriate summary of facts about this Telephone City, as prepared by the City Clerk, is in their hands. No doubt it will appear in the next printing of the famous work.—Brantford Expositor.

Out Of Step

No wonder the world is cockeyed. Now they tell us we've been out of step with time—everybody and everything—for 269 years.

They found it out recently when they had to reset their clocks in the London suburb of Greenwich to conform to the dictum of a new quartz crystal timepiece, accurate to one-thousandth of a second.

We have been blundering along with some outmoded old apparatus which only kept time to a hundredth of a second and often was various thousandths of a second wrong. — Minneapolis Star-Journal.

A Bible Message

The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God.... Behold, my servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high. (Isa. 52: 10, 13.)

Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?....

He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not.... He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth. (Isa. 53: 1, 3, 7.)

For what glory is it, if, when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye shall take it patiently? but, if, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye take it patiently, this is acceptable with God. For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps: who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth: who, when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not; but committed himself to him that judgeth righteously: who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed.

For ye were as sheep going astray; but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls. (I Pet. 2: 20-25.)

A NOTE ON OUR AGE

In the past there was an age of Shakespeare, of Voltarie, of Dickens. Ours is the age not of any poet or thinker or novelist but of the Document. Our representative Man is the travelling newspaper correspondent who dashes off a best seller between two assignments. "Facts speak for themselves!" Illusion! Facts are ventriloquist's dummies. Sitting on a wise man's knee they may be made to utter words of wisdom; elsewhere they say nothing or talk nonsense or indulge in sheer diabolism.—Aldous Huxley in New York Times.

The Open Court

Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier declined to "clear the court" during the hearing of a case in Ottawa this week where evidence of a salacious character was introduced. At the same time, His Lordship deplored the presence of women spectators, making scathing comments on the attitude of sensation-seekers who crowd into courtrooms when the seamy side of life is revealed.

A parliamentarian of many years' experience before he was called to the Supreme Court of Ontario, Justice Chevrier knows his history, has deep-rooted convictions on the subjects of justice and freedom, and is scrupulous in avoidance of any suggestion of the Star Chamber of mediaeval days. The safeguards of the individual against injustice and tyranny, built up in Great Britain over the centuries since the days of Magna Carta, have been too hardly won, and are too precious to imperil for any minor consideration.

Although it lies entirely within his powers to order from the courtroom spectators and all not directly concerned with the case, Justice Chevrier upholds the principle of the open court—the principle which assures full protection to an accused. Despite his very manifest dislike of his court being used for dubious entertainment, His Lordship maintains and follows the traditions of British justice.

In these times when governmental authority—no doubt necessarily in many cases—intrudes so largely in the life of the individual, it is doubly important that basic rights of the public be protected. It is all too easy to fall into a system of benevolent, even democratic dictatorship, with spreading censorship, and officials deciding what is and what is not "good" for the people. It is reassuring to see a judge of Ontario's Supreme Court refrain from using the powers that are his. Justice, one feels, is safe in such hands.—Ottawa Journal.

Ontario Government Ready Begin Nipigon Scheme

TORONTO, Oct. 12 —(CP) —The Ontario Government intends to proceed with and sponsor the Nipigon Forest settlement scheme, which will be the blue print for establishing a new type of community in Northern Ontario, Minister of Planning and Development Dana H. Porter said to-day. Estimated cost to the Government is placed at between $100,000 and $150,000 which Mr. Porter termed an investment to rehabilitate those now in the armed forces and which may be duplicated in other places throughout the north.

"This is an attempt to try something which may become a standard type of community that will grow in the north," Mr. Porter said. "It should not be regarded as something to give employment in post-war days but is an attempt to answer the question arising in the north what are we going to do as an experiment to provide living quarters for those going into the forests?"

The area set out and which is to be surveyed immediately is 75 square miles, about 11 miles from Cameron Falls.

Construction will start in the spring. A road will be built from Cameron Falls and a forest village at a selected point on the south shore of Lake Nipigon constructed. Each member of the community would have an interest in a forest lot subject to definite limitations as to cutting and maintenance of good forestry practice.

The objective would be to maintain these lots in perpetuity.

Plans are for about 100 persons to form the community which may grow, and others of a similar size to be established.

A hunting and fishing lodge with cabins would be a part of the development scheme, and some agriculture, handicrafts and particularly woodwork would be part of the program, Mr. Porter states.

"Purpose of the venture is to provide a permanent suitable high standard rural livelihood for a number of families, 25 at the outset to be increased 75 or more drawn from members of the armed forces," he said.

Concur In Call To Dr. Semple

At the fall meeting of the Belleville Presbytery of the United Church, the Presbytery concurred in the call of the Rev. Dr. James Semple of Belleville to the George Street United Church in Peterborough.

Regrets at Dr. Semple's departure from Belleville and the Presbytery and eulogies on his work were expressed by Reverends C. D. McLellan, J. A. Dils, Dr. A. J. Wilson, Dr. A. J. Myers, W. H. Baugh and Mr. Fetterley. Similiar sentiments could have been expressed by all members. Rev. J. G. McKee moved and Rev. W. R. Merrick seconded the following motion: I count it an honor and a privilege to add my testimony to that of those who have already spoken, and to express the Presbytery's appreciation of the great service rendered during these past years by Dr. James Semple. No task was too arduous, no charge too distant, if the court saw fit to lay some burden upon him. And more often than not the work to be done was of a nature from which most of us naturally shrink. But with fearlessness and energy many a problem was faced and many a difficulty overcome.

Dr. Semple has been called the friend of the young man. He is the friend of all, and a true servant of the Church. Few indeed are those in the Presbytery who have not benefited in some way through services rendered. One might be tempted to use the great words of one of our national leaders: "Never in the history of" this Presbytery "has so much been owed by so many" to one man. We shall miss him from our Court, but we are pleased to know that he will still be within the bounds of Conference and that we may continue to count on his interest and support.

It gives me pleasure to place on record our appreciation of the efficient and untiring services of Dr. James Semple during the eleven years of residence among us, and assure him of our best wishes and our prayers as he leaves to serve the congregation of George Street Peterborough."

Officials Named To Organize Demobilization

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—(CP).—Pensions Ministers MacKenzie today announced three appointments in connection with the demobilization of Canada's armed forces.

They are:

Maj.-Gen. Guy R. Turner, 55, Fredericton, former deputy adjutant and quartermaster general of the 1st Canadian Army, in charge of finding accommodation for the demobilization staff.

J. G. Clark, Toronto, vice-president of the Robert Simpson Co., Ltd., in charge of selecting demobilization personnel.

Group Capt. S. N. F. Chant, 48, St. Thomas, Ont., former R.C.A.F. director of personnel research, in charge of installing a business efficiency system so that men discharged will "go through the procedure of returning to civil life in a normal orderly fashion."

All will be special assistants to Walter S. Woods, associate deputy minister of the pensions department.

Must Be Ready

"Nobody can forecast accurately when the war will end and nobody knows just how soon the problem of demobilization will be upon us," the Minister said. "The services of these three men—each outstanding in his own field—have been made available to us so that we may build the organization which we will need at that time and be ready to receive and care for discharges from the three services in the way which they have every right to expect we will be able to handle them.

"It is essential that, when the hundreds of thousands now in the services are being returned to civil life, they are returned with a minimum of delay," Mr. MacKenzie said. "We do not want the man or woman coming out of uniform to have to go to one section of a city for one thing and to some entirely different section for another.

Streamline Organization

"It is our hope, insofar as possible, to have all the necessary offices housed under one roof and set up in such a way that we will follow almost an assembly line procedure. These preliminary organizational steps are to so streamline our organization that the petty annoyances which a man might otherwise encounter will be done away with as much as possible."

Mr. MacKenzie said the services of Mr. Clark will not cost Canada anything. "Mr. Clark's company not only is paying his salary, but also it is paying every dollar of the expenses he will incur in his work for my department."

The Minister said that the three men would be with his department on a temporary basis only, but he explained that it would be their function to help to lay the foundation of "an efficiently-functioning organization."

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

New York Rangers of the National Hockey League arrived in Winnipeg yesterday fo pre-season training. They will open their season against Toronto Oct. 28 at Maple Leaf Gardens.

St. Louis Flyers, their ranks thinned daily by players returning home to obtain clearance papers for crossing into the United States, will break training camp Sunday, Coach Hap Emms said at Port Arthur yesterday. The squad will reconvene at Windsor, prior to opening its American Hockey League schedule.

Coach Frank Boucher of the New York Rangers foresees a brand new setup for professional hockey in the near future, parallel to that of pro baseball. He suggested in an interview at Winnipeg yesterday that the N.H.L. might be divided into two groups with a man heading each, under the governorship of a top man with powers approximating those of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis in baseball. Boucher also thinks air travel will be a feature of post-war hockey, with all N.H.L. clubs owning their own planes.

Athlete Killed

Lieut. Gordon J. Christie, 26, former star all-round athlete and prefect of St. Andrew's College at Toronto, was killed in the 1st Canadian Army's drive on the French port of Calais.

Aspirants for the 1944-45 Maple Leafs National Hockey League squad put in a hard day's work in the community Y.M.C.A. gymnasium at Owen Sound yesterday, and two sessions on the ice later in the day, both strenuous and spirited.

Coach Happy Day is asking the boys to give their best and each of the 40 players is working at top speed. Goaltenders Frank Cool of Calgary and Pat Boshmer of Kitchener were in the nets for the practice, while Defenceman Bob Gray of Winnipeg, Dean McBride of St. Catharines, Pete Backor of Fort William, Brank Bennett of Toronto and Phil Samis of Edmonton were out doing blue line duties.

H. C. Hatch's Be Brief yesterday scored a four-length victory in the sixth running of the $3,000 added Canadian Championship for all ages, the feature race on the final day's sport of the Long Branch race meet over Dufferin track at Toronto.

Canadiens Start Training Plan

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—(CP). — Under the watchful eye of Coach Dick Irvin, the Canadiens' hockey team of the National Hockey League skated out at the Forum last night for their first practice of the season, taking the ice for the first time since they won the Stanley Cup April 13.

Members of the Quebec Aces, Allan Cup champions, were represented by Lude Check and Armand Gaudreault at the workout.

Boston Bruins are expected to arrive in Quebec Saturday. They will train in Quebec for the second consecutive year before inaugurating the hockey season with Canadiens at the Forum Oct. 28.

A Bowmanville High School football squad without a McIlveen in the lineup would scarcely have any official standing so that it is not surprising to find that in the Bowmanville squad which plays Peterborough Collegiate seniors at Riverside Park Saturday there is a McIlveen all right and according to Oshawa reports he is about the star of the outfit, shining not only as a successful line-plunger but doing some accurate forward passing as well. Bowmanville have a number of outstanding performers. Sturrock, the kicking half, gets a lot of distance and his long hoofing was one of the main factors in the B.H.S. victory over Oshawa last Saturday. "Jake" Brown was prominent for his broken-field running and Strike a standout by reason of his effective tackling. In short the Bowmanville team will be tough opposition for the Peterborough students here Saturday and the game should be a real tussle between two fast young school teams. P.C.V.S. came through the Lindsay game in good shape and after a number of drills this week will be all set for Saturday's important clash. A real crowd will be on hand to see the squads tangle and the scenes will be reminiscent of Saturday afternoons of other years when Cossa teams provided exciting football fare.

While Bowmanville and Peterborough seniors are battling here Saturday in a clash between winners, the two losing teams in the opening day's play, Lindsay and Oshawa will be battling each other at Oshawa. Although the Motor City team lost their first game by the narrow margin of 2 points to 1 in Bowmanville the Oshawa students are not down-hearted and are looking for better things from their future games. Scribe George Campbell has the following to say about the outlook: "O.C.V.I. gridders lost their opening game on Saturday to Bowmanville High School but the Red, Green and Gold clan feel they learned a lot by their mistakes and will climb into the victory column in their next game, here on Saturday afternoon. Both teams stressed defensive play in Saturday's game at Bowmanville. The two lines were like brick walls and the outsides didn't permit too much wandering around the ends either. Oshawa scored the first point of the game with a dead-line kick only to give up two points when Bowmanville rouged the Oshawa kicker, on what is claimed to have been "a bad snap." Oshawa C.V.I. had the ball 25 yards out from the B.H.S. goal-posts in the last minute of the game but their placement attempt was blocked when even a safety would have tied up the game and a good boot between the uprights would have meant an O.C.V.I. victory. Coach Doug Waugh will have his gridders out every night this week, drilling hard for Saturday's game here, when the O.C.V.I. boys hope to get a win."

It's Different Here

One reason why baseball is still flourishing in such towns as Welland while in Peterborough the game is virtually dead is explained by the different attitude adopted by school authorities toward baseball. Here there has been no hardball played by school teams for years, the softball variety taking its place. On the contrary the Welland school board not only encourages baseball in the schools but helps along by engaging an instructor. Bill Sootheran of the Niagara Falls Gazette tells about it in this paragraph: "Welland may not have a home brew ball player on their senior roster, but that is one situation those behind the game in the County Seat are going to remedy in a hurry. The past couple of years has seen a phenomenal development in the number of kid teams playing in their minor circuits and some of the boys who showed in the O.B.A. playdowns give every indication that they would shortly be ready for the big time. The lion's share of the credit goes to Gordie Grogan, big outfielder for the senior club. Since Grogan has taken over the athletic instructor's post in the Welland schools the enthusiasm for baseball has been on the upgrade. During the summer months, the Board of Education has seen fit to hire Grogan as a full time supervisor for minor baseball and the results show the proposition going over with a bang. There's talk now for another ball diamond to augment the one at the Burker Park and with Welland every inch a ball town we can see the kids getting their request before another season rolls around."

Whether the boys on the Oshawa Times-Gazette were suffering from a hangover of the holiday or merely had lost the office copy of the rugby rules this column doesn't know but the report of the Bowmanville-Oshawa Collegiate football game that appeared in Tuesday's issue certainly contained some new rugby scoring features. Bowmanville won the game 2 points to 1 and the Oshawa paper's explanation of how the points were scored is novel. For example it tells how Dell of Oshawa "kicked beautifully to the coffin corner, in fact to the deadline and Bowmanville had no chance of running the ball out and Oshawa scored a safety touch for the first point of the game." The only thing wrong with that is that the play could not possibly be a safety touch and if it had been it would have counted two points instead of one. Then the writer went on to tell how as a result of a bad snap just outside the Oshawa line Dell of Oshawa was dropped behind his own goal line "and Bowmanville scored a rouge" which gave them the two points needed to win the game. That of course was not a rouge but a safety touch. George Campbell has probably taken the offender to one side by this time and whispered to him the difference between a rouge and a safety. The scribe had to be doubly unlucky to get both ends of the scoring plays wrong.

A Notable Victory

Twenty years ago saw the local Lakeviews score an important victory in the final series of the junior O.B.A.A. race when they defeated McCormicks in Toronto 6 to 0 in a replay of the sensational 17-innings 3-3 game the two clubs had staged two weeks earlier. Lou LeBarr's Peterborough kids were distinctly on the spot for McCormicks had invaded Riverside Park for the second game and had outscored the Lakeviews 3 to 1, with Irish Rasson having a slight edge on Frankie Whitehouse in that battle. As a result the Peterborough youngsters were faced with the tough task of winning the replay in Toronto or dropping out of the picture. Playing at Stanley Park the Lakeviews turned the trick defeating the Toronto club 6 to 0 in a game that was finally called in the seventh inning after a water pail had been hurled at Umpire Shiner Johnston by McCormick supporters. When the Lakeviews took an early lead the Queen City club did a lot of stalling in the hope that darkness might save them but those tactics did not get them anywhere. Whitehouse, after allowing two hits in the opening frame was boss of the situation after that and the McCormick attack faded completely. The win tied up the final series and made a third game, arranged for Oshawa, necessary.

Peterborough's junior rugby squad which made such a good impression against the Toronto Westsides in the Thanksgiving Day game here will be seen in action again a week from Saturday when the fast Toronto Vikings will visit Peterborough for a battle with the local youngsters. Vikings are coached by Les Bland and by Elwyn Morris of hockey fame and they have a fast, clever young team who play pleasing football. With the experience gained in the Westside fixture supplemented by steady workouts the local juniors will be in much better shape to meet the Vikings.

Baltimore Orioles made a good job of cleaning up the little world series, winning four games to two. The International League representatives wound up the playoffs with Louisville last night, coming from behind to take the sixth game 5 to 3. The Colonels had a 3 to 2 lead going into the seventh when the Orioles came through with a three-run rally that settled the argument. Palica was the winning pitcher and the loss was marked up against Deutsch.

Mayor Calls Meeting To Discuss New Rink

COBOURG, Oct. 12 — (ENS).— Mayor Jack Burnet has called a public meeting for next Tuesday to discuss what can be done to provide hockey and skating for the young people of the town this coming season. Due to the fact that the community rink has been declared unsafe, it cannot be used again until extensively repaired, and as it is private property, the Town Council declines to put any more money into it.

It was pointed out at a meeting of the Town Council last week that heavy tax arrears are against the property, and the suggestion was made that the owner be asked to turn it over to the town, in lieu of costly legal proceedings, but nothing has developed from the suggestion. It is possible that the local factory employees may get together, as in Port Hope, to provide voluntary work to ensure hockey and skating this winter.

Orioles Capture Baby Series From Louisville

BALTIMORE, Oct. 12.—(AP). — Baltimore's International League Orioles, Frank Merriwell finish specialists, were back in minor league championship ranks today for the first time since 1925 to end one of the most successful seasons in junior baseball history.

The Birds clinched the title last night with a 5-3 defeat of Louisville of the American Association.

This season saw all attendance records for minor games shattered with the junior series drawing greater crowds than the main show in St. Louis. Paid attendance at Monday night's game here was 52,833, approximately 17,000 more than the top crowd at the World Series.

The Orioles already have sold three players — Left-fielder Stan Benjamin, Second-baseman Blas Monaco and Centre-fielder Felix Mackiewicz—to Cleveland Indians. Other major league scouts have been eagle-eyeing such Orioles as Kenny Braun, kid shortstop, and Howie Moss, right-fielder, voted the most valuable player in the International League.

The Birds were one of the few teams in the last decade to win their league pennant, semi-final and final playoffs, and Little World Series—and they did it the hard way.

They entered the final five games of the regular season just a fraction of a percentage point ahead and squeaked through to pennant victory. Both play-off series, against Buffalo and Newark, respectively, went the route with Baltimore winning four of seven. They won four of six games in the Junior World Series.

Last night's climax, before 23,536 paying customers, was true to form. Louisville scored two runs in the third inning, holding a 3-2 lead until the seventh. Then Bob Latshaw singled, went to second when Moss drew a walk, and scored when Louisville's Nick Polly missed Mackiewicz's grounder.

Moss scored from third on Catcher Fred Walter's wild throw and Mackiewicz came home on Frankie Skaff's single.

Each team used three pitchers, Ambrose (Bobo) Palica being credited with the victory, Mel Deutsch with the loss.

Sports Spice

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(AP). — Another war casualty seems to be amateur boxing. . . . Nat (Ring Magazine) Fleischer, who keeps tabs on such things, reports that since D-Day, more than 1,000 youngsters from the amateur mitt-swinging ranks—mostly 18-year-olds — have been inducted into the services. . . . As a result about 80 per cent. of the A.A.U. talent in the midwest and far western strongholds of amateur boxing is missing and the clubs that used to stage regular shows have been closed for the summer and likely won't reopen.

Just T's-ing Again:

Before last week's Penn State-Navy football game, a bunch of the boys were sitting around the navy boathouse and, naturally, talking about the "T" formation. . . . One visiting fireman from Clark Shaughnessy's current address had all the answers and when one quiet little guy questioned some statements, he remarked: "Listen, I've been living with and writing about the 'T' formation for the last two years." . . . When the party broke up, the visitor casually asked the identity of his neighbor. . . . It was only Keith Molesworth, Navy backfield coach and for seven years a star of the T-powered Chicago Bears.

Sergeant Joe Louis says the most embarrassing moment he experienced in his boxing tour of the war zones was the day he got off the boat in England. . . . A little guy who said he was former champion of South Wales rushed up, shook Joe's hand seven times and kissed him on both cheeks. . . Unlike the time Arto Godoy kissed the champ after staying with him 15 rounds, Joe hadn't been handing out any smacks with his gloves.

Lacrosse Game Location Starts Trouble

By ERIC SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 12 — (CP). — Where is the fourth game of the best-of-five series between New Westminster Salmonbellies and St. Catharines Athletics to be played?

That is the question facing Canadian Lacrosse Association officials yesterday.

Yesterday the C.L.A. decided at a meeting here that it would be played Saturday in this city Maple Leaf Gardens, but last night the St. Catharines Lacrosse Association executive, in a wire to C.L.A. President E. E. Barnee of Vancouver now in Toronto, "insisted" that the fourth contest be played tonight at St. Catharines.

G. H. Lancaster, chairman of St. Catharines Parks Commission, told The Canadian Press in a telephone conversation last night that he had made plans in mid-September with Gene Dopp, immediate past-president of the C.L.A. for the staging of the fourth game of the Mann Cup series there and said that "we have completed arrangements for the game tomorrow (Thursday) night."

Three in Toronto

Originally it had been planned to play the first three games in Toronto and if a fourth game was necessary to stage it at St. Catharines, but the New Westminster team objected to playing there because lacrosse in that city is played in the open air and the C.L.A. constitution provides that Mann Cup games must be played in an enclosed rink.

The St. Catharines Association did not say what action they planned if the fourth game is not played there tonight, but Mr. Lancaster said more than 60 per cent of the 4,000 tickets for the game there already had been sold. The Athletics lead the series 2-1.

Further complications entered the scene today when it was learned that Saturday night is the only available date at Maple Leaf Gardens for a week and if a fifth game is necessary it will have to be played in some other city. Montreal has been mentioned previously as a likely spot for the contest.

However, Mr. Lancaster said "we feel we should be given some consideration as Ontario Lacrosse Association champions," and the telegram, signed by W. J. Taylor, president of the St. Catharines Association, said, we demand to know officially the ruling of the C.L.A. executive and reason for same."

Joe Kirkwood, Jr., Canadian pro golfer, has been signed by MGM Studios and will become an actor after his RCAF days are over. He was presented with a gold chain at the dinner which followed the recent Canadian Motion Picture Golf Championships. . . Time for audience applause had to be allowed after the main titles of "The Thin Man Goes Home" flash on the screen. Myrna Loy and William Powell return to the screen in it and silent action had to be created to allow audiences to welcome them back. The film had to be brought back to the studio after its first showing because it was evident that the same thing would happen everywhere.

An actress named Alma Kruger, who is appearing in "Babes on Swing Street," will probably play Cobourg's late Marie Dressler in any film story of her life. The Kruger lady, as Hollywood has noticed, is a ringer for the great comedienne. . . Canadian motion picture executives are winning international recognition in the film world. Recently David Coplan of United Artists in Canada was placed in charge of that company's British interests and now Wolfe Cohen of Warner Bros. in Canada has been given supervision of Mexico, South America, Central America, Australia and New Zealand. . . Brian Donlevy owns a Tungsten mine in Arizona. . . Paramount's starlet, Dianna Lynn, whose last screen appearance was as Betty Hutton's little sister in "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek," made quit a hit during her recent visit to Toronto. A pleasant and unassuming person. Her newest appearance is as a co-star with Gail Russell in "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

World premiere of "When the Lights Go On Again" will take place in Quebec City during European V-Day and everything is set to work on 24 hours' notice. . . . Fred Allen's first film since 1940 will be "It's In the Bag." He appears as the impressario of a flea circus, with Robert Benchley as an insect exterminator. Sounds funny. . . Vancouver-born Yvonne De Carlo will have the lead in "Salome, Where She Danced." She was chosen by Producer Walter Wanger when he spotted her on the screen in a small part. Wanger had asked for applications, saying that he wanted a new face, and heard from 20,000 girls. But he found his girl right in Hollywood. . . You'll see Sylvia Sidney again soon. She will play opposite Jimmy Cagney in "Blood On the Sun."

In production right now is "The Church of the Good Thief," story of a Catholic church within the walls of the USA's Dannemora prison. The priest who built it is acting in an advisory capacity. . . Bing Crosby's four sons will appear with William Bendix in "Duffy's Tavern." . . . Jean Cagney, sister of Jimmy, married a six-foot-four lad named Kim Spaulding.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

TORONTO, Oct. 12 — (CP). — It's always nice to dream, but it would be something if the war brings a return to the old days when the Punkin Centre team was made up of Punkin Centre players. That is, it would be nice for local pride, but the fans wouldn't like it so well because the brand of sport wouldn't be as good.

Hope that the old amateur intermediate teams would reappear when things got straightened around after the war was expressed by Maj. Harry Beaumont, sports officer of the Canadian Army. With senior sport kayoed by the war in many centres, the Major thinks people will appreciate what it means to "localize" sports and give the young players a chance.

He has something there, but it all comes down to the fine point of human nature. Most people, after being exposed to top-notch sport as provided by the lush, expensive teams of imports, simply refuse to support anp hometown team of the hometown boys who have plenty of spirit but just lack the glamor.

It's always nice to dream, anyway.

He gets around:

Miscellany:

It was a successful year for racing in Quebec too—very successful. The Ottawa Journal reports that the bettors slipped more than $2,000,000 into the parimutuels on the Quebec Racing Association tracks this season—the best in years. Connaught Park, Ottawa, led the parade with $576,000....In an effort to rejuvenate lacrosse and get up interest, officials of the Canadian Lacrosse Association plan to put on a drive in the Maritimes. The game has never caught on down there, and in fact it's probable only one person in 10 has even seen a contest....The new sports officer for Military District No. 1, with headquarters in London, Ont., is none other than Bert Steel, former sport columnist with the Galt Reporter.

Southern Tracks To Open Soon

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—(AP). —After three years' idleness, Southern California gold mines, disguised as race tracks, are re-opening soon.

Hollywood Park and Santa Anita, the State's two multi-million-dollar ventures in racing, will resume business in that order, the former starting Nov. 1 and ending Dec. 16 in a 34-day meeting and Santa Anita ringing in Dec. 30 for a 55-day canter.

That the meetings will be tremendously successful is a foregone conclusion. The two tracks operated last in 1941 and war conditions closed them until now. The tracks are in a hotbed of racing—money, sports-minded population and climate forming a combination that never misses.

For the 34-day Hollywood Park meeting, the club will pay out $230,000 in purses, compared with a maximum of $235,000 for a [illegible]-day meet during pre-war times. [illegible]ack officials hope to raise more than $1,000,000 for charity.

With The Armed Forces

The editor of this column will welcome extracts from letters from boys serving or any other information concerning them.

By JEAN STENTON

No mercy is being shown collaborationists in Belgium, writes Pte. Alden Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Moore, 43 Frank Street, who has walked by the cages in Belgian towns where these traitors are penned up.

"In the Town Hall of one place we visited, there were about 300 women imprisoned and almost the same number of men. There was also one German officer about five feet tall, in a separate cage. The women were all clean shaven, not a hair on their heads. They were there for collaborating with the Huns, and the people are not forgetting their suffering in a hurry. We think it a little unfair to see them, many almost hysterical, not knowing what will happen to them. But officers of the underground have little pity for them, as they know they are responsible for more than one death.

"From where I am now stationed, we look into another country. On the way we passed two rivers and many fields and swamps which still bear marks of the last war. Although lorries and trucks have caved in and grass has grown over them, still there was the outline which could no doubt tell a lot of weird stories.

Clean Cities.

"We are quite comfortable now, and are not far from several towns including two with Canadian memorials, which have become quite famous as tourist centres since the last war. I had quite a surprise when we entered this new land. The cities are spotlessly clean, the neatest I have ever seen. It's the same with people, cafes, and restaurants. A fellow naturally forgets all rowdyism and acts according to the environment.

"It is the first place we have been where they give free meals and beer to the troops. They have a large hotel given over for this service. The biggest surprise was to see ice-cream signs and nobody rushing to get in, no line-ups such as we have seen for 2½ years. Cafes and restaurants sell anything you want to eat and fruit stores have plenty on their shelves."

Little Time for Fun.

A letter received by J. H. Jamison and the C.D.S. employees, from Lieut. Reg Dixon, intelligence officer with the S. D. and G. Highlanders, stresses grim routine which Canadian troops are enduring.

"I am typing this in a captured German headquarters and on a captured German typewriter, which we have pressed into service for the Intelligence section. It is quite a machine and has a lot of peculiar things on it, but so far have not found the button that blows it up. I have not been to Paris yet, and don't expect to for a long time. Our life is pretty grim for the most part, and leaves little time, if any, for pleasure.

"Since D-Day I have had only two hot showers, the remainder of the time I wash a square inch at a time from a canvas pail, but I won't go into details. I have had quite a few adventures and a number of close calls too, since D-Day. As you can guess from the papers, we have been busy cleaning up the 'rocket coast' and all German very heavily defended coast line strong points. They are fantastic creations of concrete, mines and wire, and very heavily gunned too. However, after our heavy bombers and flame throwing tanks have done their stuff, he is usually ready to 'talk turkey.'"

Lieut. Dixon, whose wife lives at 657 Aylmer Street, was formerly display manager of the C.D.S. store, prior to enlisting in March, 1941. He has been overseas since September, 1942.

Sailors Generous.

British sailors have the kindest hearts in the world, writes Pte. John Richards, a former Genelco employee, serving with the North Nova Scotia Highlanders, who had reason to know when he was back from the front recently for a rest. He has since been reported wounded.

While the unit was back on rest, there was picnic at the beach each day for the men and they were taken, a platoon at a time. The day he went, they had about five "ducks," and the men piled in and were told they would visit a British cruiser. On the way across the beaches, the driver narrowly missed running over a cluster of four mines, half buried in the sand. They had probably been there since D-Day, the soldier wrote, just waiting for some careless individual. Some of the boys were thrilled, he said, but he was grateful for someone's prayer.

"These little ducks will hold about 25 men and they drove along the beach for about half a mile, then they took to the water. When they were out beyond wheel depth, the driver shifted gears to engage with the propeller, and we headed for the cruiser. The British tars are gentlemen, and don't let anyone run them down. Regardless of nationality, all say they are cool and daring fighters.

Gun Demonstrations.

"We were allowed to see the workings of the gun at the rear of the ship, and the machinery around that baby is a credit to humanity. The shell weighs nearly a ton and it has a tremendous range. Gunners made several loading practices for our benefit. All working parts are operated by hydraulics and from what I could see, they could get one shell away easily in 30 seconds. Pom-poms are quite a vicious looking weapon. Used against aircraft, they sport a number of barrels all working together and fed automatically. All the smaller guns are operated by an electric motor and no time is lost swinging them around.

"Towards evening, we were ushered to the mess hall below, for tea. We were served fresh bread, generous helpings of canned peaches, strawberry jam and tea. The bread was white, too. After sharpening our teeth on hard tack for several weeks, we found it hard to behave like gentlemen. There were four different brands of cigarettes on each table and matches to boot. Of course we were forced to accept all of these before leaving for 'home.' When the sailors noticed how much we enjoyed the bread, they got together and gave us a loaf each before we left the ship. We lingered long after supper, exchanging stories and experiences. These particular fellows had taken part in four invasions and had had their full share of dive bombings."

Tough Advance.

When the men reached shore again, they were notified that their outfit was pulling out before dark. Pte. Richards had been made a stretcher-bearer and first-aid man of the platoon. He told how they marched all night until three in the morning. After digging in, they slept a short time and by 8 o'clock they were away again.

"After reaching part of our objective, we sat along the roadside, moving up at intervals. We had a wonderful view of heavy bombers going in and out on their mission of destruction. I cannot find words to describe the scenes of ruin and havoc which I saw that afternoon. Early in the afternoon the prisoners began coming out. Where this 'super race' is I cannot say. They have been rather scruffy looking so far, although I will admit they are determined fighters.

Gather Up Wounded.

"Towards evening I received a call to go up ahead to help with some of the wounded. When I got there, I saw two boys down, who had been picked off by snipers. One had a slug in his side, and the other had taken his through the neck. They were all bandaged up when I arrived and were in need of stretchers, which were not available just then.

"We managed to get two light doors and there happened to be some prisoners passing at the time. We placed our wounded men as comfortably as possible on the door and made the Huns carry them back. So far, I have tied up one man who had a bad hole in his left shoulder. He was the victim of a moaning minnie. You would be surprised at the number of cuts and bruises, to say nothing of the burns and blisters, that a platoon of men can conjure up during the course of a few days. They are worse than a bunch of children."

In another letter, Pte. Richards said things had been quieter for two weeks, a rest sorely needed by the older members of the unit. He said that there were still some of the D-Day boys surviving and they need more care.

"The letter I last wrote went through the mill. I finished writing it at RAP where I was supposed to be on duty for a spell, left it on the table so it could be picked up in the morning, and stayed in a house further down the street. Shells and minnies came over off and on all night, until finally, in the wee small hours an 88mm landed directly in front of the RAP. Just below the window, an M.O. and a corporal were sleeping inside. They were unhurt, but scared a little.

Not Cricket.

British officers don't think much of the way Canadians conduct a baseball game, according to a story told by a Canadian Divisional Headquarters in Italy.

Several high ranking British officers were invited to witness a tussle between division sappers and gunners, and they watched with polite interest. So polite, in fact, that often one of them would clap enthusiastically following some play and shout "Well done, sir" and then ask his neighbor what had happened.

The highlight of the afternoon came when one of the visitors remarked to Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes: "There seems to be a great deal of noise. All that shouting that the men do—doesn't that put the players off?"

To which Gen. Vokes replied: "What on earth do you think they are shouting for?"

Stanley Says War Brewing In Palestine Area

LONDON, Oct. 12 (CP) —Colonial Secretary Oliver Stanley said today recent terrorist outbreaks in Palestine "seriously impeded" the United Nations' war effort and did nothing but harm to the Jewish cause.

"It is most important that people realize the tense situation," he declared in the House of Commons.

Earl Winterton, Conservative, said he had received information that both sides in Palestine, whose population is largely Arab, were prepared for civil war after the Second Great War ends.

County Council Votes $150,000 Towards New Civic Hospital Asks For Four Seats On Board

A contribution of $150,000 to the Peterborough General Hospital was authorized by the County Council at its closing session Wednesday after[no]on.

The money is to be borrowed by the issuing of debentures for twenty years, and payment is to be made to the hospital fund on a construction progress timing and "as needed."

The county suggests that it be accorded a representation of four members, and the warden and three others to be appointed by the County Council, but not necessarily members of the Council, the term of one of those three ending each year.

The Council also asks that if the hospital should receive more than $100,000 from the Provincial Government it should receive a proportional refund.

These are the general terms of the Council's action as explained by Reeve P. J. Mather, chairman of the Council's special committee which was appointed to deal with [th]e request from the city for the county's co-operation in the erection of the proposed new general or civic hospital. Adoption of the committee's report was moved by Reeve Mather and seconded by Reeve Gilbert McIlmoyl, and culminated several fact-sifting sessions with representatives of the city's hospital committee.

Credited To Both

Reeve Mather informed the Council that the city's representatives had made an attractive concession by agreeing that the funds of the Nicholls Hospital Trust should be credited to both the city and county, instead of to the city alone.

It may be remembered from Tues[da]y's session that this point was [me]ntioned by county representatives. The trust monies amount to more than $242,000, and have been quoted at the round figure of $250,000. In the apportioning of contributions, it was first proposed that only the city would receive the financial advantage of this money being converted to the uses of a new hospital.

A net result of the County Council's action is this,—for their contribution of $150,000 they receive a substantial equity, virtually of partnership in the proposed modern hospital which is estimated to cost $1,400,000. Add to that the assets of the Nicholls Hospital Trust, lands and buildings, and the total value of the proposed institution is around $1,700,000. And the county's suggestion of representation on the directorate is likely to be carried through without any questioning.

Reeve Mather explained to the Council its committee's approach to the problem, and incidentally the city's representatives had been hoping for at least $200,000 from their neighbors, although a percentage grant had been set forth as a basis of discussion of what decision the Council should make. Twenty per cent. had been proposed in that preliminary stage of discussion, and one-fifth of $1,300,000 would be $260,000.

Annexation Changes Things

After January 1 the population of Peterborough County will be 16,000 and of the city 36,000, as a result of the North Monaghan annexation, Mr. Mather said.

Reeve M. H. Johnston, toward the close of the Council's session, said his recollection was that the city's present population was 28,000. (The assessor's rolls for 1945 show a present count of 28,031 persons.) Add the 4,000 from North Monaghan and the city's population in the new year will be something more than 32,000, rather than 36,000.

After January 1 the assessment of the county will be $10,000,000 and of the city $30,000,000.

Figures Approximate

All these figures were accepted as approximately correct.

Of the city's $30,000,000 assessment, Mr. Mather continued, $15,000,000 represents industrial valuation,—the committee's information relating to the assessment of Peterborough's factories.

The estimated cost of the hospital is $1,400,000. Subtract $100,000, the expected grant from the Provincial Government. That would leave $1,300,000. The Nicholls Trust funds come out of that sum, Mr. Mather said; an advantage to the county as direct shares in that resource, a fact which Mr. Mather mentioned with a note of appreciation.

"So, we subtract that $250,000 from the $1,300,000, instead of from the estimates of what the city itself would have to pay, and that leaves $1,050,000. Then the county is proposing $150,000, and that reduces the amount to $900,000.

If the city could raise half that amount on its industrial assessment, the other $450,000 would be raised on the assessment of private property in the city."

Reeve Mather next turned his focus on that sum of $450,000, pointing out that as a charge against private property the city would be raising three-fourth from that source, and the county one-fourth. In other words $450,000 to be obtained from taxation of private property in the city and $150,000 from the private property in the county.

On that basis of comparison the county would be paying one-quarter, and its population is just about exactly one-half the city's.

It was Warden Anderson himself, whose work this year has most favorably impressed deputations from the city, who said that on the population basis "we should contribute one-half." The Sands committee had cautiously suggested one-fifth.

The council voted unanimously for the adoption of the Mather-McIlmoyl motion, and wound up the sessional business by passing a by-law authorizing the grant of $150,000.

It is unlikely that the county will have to consider the issuing of debentures for a year or more. Plans of the hospital will require seven months' preparation. Alderman Sands reported Tuesday, and the county has "a progress and as needed" clause in its recommendations. Reeve Ferguson enquired about the effect of the grant when reduced to mills in the rural taxpayers' bills, but that detail could not be determined Wednesday, but it was felt that it might be close to one mill.

Mrs. Spurway, clerk, reminded the council that its present debenture debt would be retired in 1946, and the council had been projecting its hopes into that rosy future when it did not owe anyone a dollar.

"But there is always some danged unforeseen thing coming up," said Rork Ferguson of Norwood. "Just when you think everything is all in order. I'm not saying a word against the hospital, but it just seems that when you've got everything about paid off and you have nothing more to worry about, something you hadn't been thinking about pops up at you, and there you go."

Dr. H. E. Ayers Finds Changes In Peterborough

After an absence of forty-one years since he was physical director of the Y.M.C.A., Dr. Horace E. Ayers of New York City told the Examiner this morning that he is finding difficulty in adjusting his recollections to the realty of Peterborough's expansion and physical changes.

Dr. Ayers has returned for a brief visit as special guest at the Y.M.C.A. centennial dinner tonight.

"My first impressions after really a long absence were of appreciation of the trim and neat appearance of the city and of surprise and delight at its industrial development," Dr. Ayers said. "However, I was somewhat prepared for your industrial growth by one of the trainmen on my way here. When he heard I was coming to Peterborough he said to me "that's the only real live city on our line; why, they've got more than seventy industries", and as I learned as a matter of fact that this chance information is correct."

Dr. Ayers was being assisted today in his re-orientation to the Peterborough at the turn of the century by Ross Dobbin, and memories and friendships were refreshed at a little social affair Wednesday night at the home of John R. Marshall. "One of the old friends I miss is the late Frank Dobbin. I knew him exceedingly well. He was a delightful character, homely philosopher and wag, and I read his book "The Old Home Town" with a great deal of interest."

Former Examiner Man

As a young man in Peterborough, and those forty years between have treated him gently, Dr. Ayers was employed as a machine operator at the old Examiner plant on George street, when the late J. R. Stratton was its proprietor.

"Rollie Glover was in the office in those days. I always considered him one of the finest sportsmen and athletes I ever knew, and I was delighted to meet him at Mr. Marshall's home last night. My doctor told me I was developing chronic lead poisoning from the old machines that were in use in those days, so I was forced to make a change. I had become interested in the Y.M.C.A. and particularly in its physical department, and so it came about that I was appointed physical director. I think that was about 1902. Finally in 1903 I went to the East Side Y.M.C.A. in New York as physical director, and after a while I began to study medicine. My work at the "Y" largely helped pay for my medical course — well, briefly I have been in practice for years."

A general impression of wartime conditions in Canada, as observed, by Dr. Ayers, is the comparatively low level of prices, suggesting a broadly lower cost of living effected by federal control that was applied earlier than in the United States and apparently with stricter enforcement.

20-Day Sentence Given For Tape Theft

Sixteen-year-old W. E. Finn was sentenced to twenty days in the county jail by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning on a charge of having stolen a steel tape from J. R. Archibald.

Finn who was defended by W. C. Grant entered a plea of not guilty but changed it to guilty after the crown's evidence had been heard.

J. R. Archibald said that he had parked his car on Chambers street on the night of October 5 and when he came back he found the articles in the glove compartment scattered around and the steel tap, valued at $15, missing. He identified a tape produced in court as his property.

Frederick Mason testified that on October 6 he had bought the tape from Finn who wanted $3 for it but had accepted $2. That evening Mason said that he had read a story in the Examiner about cars being robbed and a steel tape stolen and as a result he got into touch with Mr. Archibald and turned over the tape to him.

A record showing that the accused had been in previous trouble in Port Hope and had received suspended sentence was read before sentence was imposed.

Lose Greenland Post

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 —(AP)— American forces have captured what is believed to be the last of Germany's hidden weather stations in Greenland, an army air force official said yesterday.

Three officers, nine men and a considerable quantity of tactical, radio, scientific and ordnance equipment were seized.

It could not be stated where in Greenland the station was operating or why the war department believed it to be the last German weather outpost. Several similar installations had been captured previously.

Vegetable Sale To Give Christmas Cheer

Everybody likes to get full value for the money they spend, no matter whether it be for the primary needs of their own sustenance, or to bring them pleasure, no matter what its shape or form may be, so when an opportunity is afforded whereby they can get a full measure of value for both of these combined at the price of only the former, that might be considered as coming into the class of what some merchants would call super bargains.

This Saturday's farmer's market will see such a one of these rare occasions, for the Peterborough Vegetable Grower's Association are sponsoring a sale of vegetables at Herb Doig's stand on the market's broadway, to raise funds so that many a youngster in Britain, far away from their own homes because of the danger of robot bombs, or because these same instruments of destruction have left them no home, may have a spot of cheer for Christmas, the season of the year when everybody likes to see them most happy.

Farmers in the district too may take a hand in this, for by donating of their own produce of any kind usually sold on the market, they can help provide the means whereby those in the urban area can take a hand in what should be a very fine co-operative effort, for the cause is a most worthy one, and one which has been successfully carried for four previous Christmas seasons by the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund. All those who care to assist in this manner, please take their produce to Herb Doig's stand, where he will be on hand to receive them.

This Association has carried on similar efforts to this in previous years, their work in this way taking on the aspect of a public welfare nature, and every cent raised and taken in this manner is given to the good cause it seeks to serve.

Christmas Help Repeat

A short time ago, this column reported an effort by five girls who held a Bazaar at 128 Park street specially to raise money for the children's Christmas Cheer Fund, and now four of them are back again with a second donation, both of which have come in since they resumed their regular duties at school.

This time the effort concerned a draw for two small prizes, which were won by Mrs. M. Robinson of 155 Stewart St., and E. Allen of 245 Lake St., and Dorothy and Betty Godfrey, Grace Bowes and Betty Buott are through it to-day credited with another $4.41 raised to give Christmas Cheer to the boys and girls in Britain.

Tribute to Mother

The loving care that a mother gives to her children often finds an answering response in many ways, among which a remembrance on her birthday finds a prominent place. As the years advance, this may become impossible, but the memory of this love still lingers, which in this instance has caused a friend of all humanity to give $5.00 "In memory of Mothers Birthday, October 12" to do some good in her name, continuing an expression of thankfulness for the maternal love and care during her life on this earth.

A penny box collection from Patterson's Cafe at Havelock was brought in by Miss Minnie Williams, fund representative at that place, and is recorded to-day, while a personal gift from the same place remains over to take its place in a list of such which will appear in the near future.

Court Dismisses Theft Charge Against Youth

Declaring that while the strong finger of suspicion pointed to the accused the evidence in the case was not inconsistent with innocence Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning dismissed a charge against Carl Northey, 17, Simcoe street, of having broken and entered the canteen in the C.G.E. machine shop and stealing a sum of money.

Evidence in the case was heard last week and judgment had been reserved until to-day.

Magistrate Langley said that the court was asked to make a presumptive inference from the fact that a fingerprint of the accused had been found on the inside of the broken canteen door. However there had been evidence that the accused some hours before the robbery, had been inside the canteen talking to the attendant and it might have been the case that he had been in there on other occasions. Under the circumstances the finger print found might be consistent with innocence, His Worship stated. John A. Bradshaw appeared for Northey.

A similar charge against Lorne Gibson, 20, was also dimissed when Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., announced that he would offer no evidence. W. C. Grant defended the accused.

Gibson, however, was convicted of escaping from lawful custody and on that count was sentenced to two months' imprisonment in the county jail.

Constable C. J. McGillen told of arresting Gibson after he and Carl Northey had been chased from the corner of Charlotte and George streets.

The officer stated that he had followed Gibson across the parking lot on Charlotte street.

"I fired a shot in the air," said the officer, "but he did not stop. I caught him near the creek and arrested him."

Officer McGillen said that at the police station a warrant to arrest Gibson for breaking and entering the C.G.E. canteen had been read to him twice.

When the officer went to lock the accused in the cells, Gibson had bolted out through the Water street door and escaped. He had been arrested the next day after another chase.

Sergt. John Naples and Constable Harold Mesley corroborated the evidence as to the reading of the warrant and Gibson's escape from the police station.

At this stage, Mr. Grant, remarking that some new circumstances had entered into the case, asked that the accused be allowed to change his plea to guilty.

After that had been done and Gibson's previous record had been produced, Magistrate Langley sentenced him to two months' imprisonment.

Additions Planned To County Forest

Planting of 50,000 young pines, spruce and hardwoods in the county forest next spring, as recently suggested by W. A. Anderson, was left to the reforestation committee by the county council Wednesday. Orders would have to be placed this fall, Warden Isaac Anderson told the council, and designation made of the areas for planting.

It was agreed that any members of the council who could attend the Assessors' convention in Belleville next week may do so, receiving mileage and one day's committees' fees. The subject of county auditors is one of the important items on the agenda.

The council adjourned until December 6.

Fire Loss Bill In 1943 Biggest Of War

Canada paid its biggest fire bill of the war years in 1943, but it may be an even higher bill this year, according to the facts released by the Canadian Underwriters' Association to-day, in connection with the national observance of Fire Prevention Week from October 8 to 14.

In 1943, 47,594 fires caused a total loss of $31,464,710 which was approximately $1,000,000 higher than the preceding year. Of the total loss in Canada smokers were responsible for 14,460 fires, causing a loss of $1,826,407. Over three-quarters of the loss last year was insured, but 22.5 per cent of the fire bill did not have any insurance a pertinent figures reveal.

For the first eight months of 1944 fire losses in Canada are estimated at $27,500,000 against $17,250,000 for the similar period of 1943, an increase of 60 per cent and despite the fire preventive work that is carried on by the insurance associations.

Regional Underwriters' Associations are constantly engaged in inspection work and general fire preventive services, but they point out in news releases to-day that their work cannot be as effective as it should be while human carelessness is responsible for so many fires in the Dominion. Also, they say, the effect of fires on the war effort is more serious than at any other time since 1939 because of shortage of materials, difficulty of making replacements, obtaining supplies and the necessary labor for making repairs.

Ontario Fires Increase Bill Less

In spite of lower fire losses during 1943, Ontario records show an increase in the number of fires throughout the province. Statistics compiled by the Dominion Fire Commissioner, and released by the Canadian Underwriters' Association in connection with fire prevention week, show that the number of fires increased from 15,553 in 1942 to 16,351 during the following year.

The total provincial fire loss was $10,664,393, or $2.72 on a per capita basis. These figures compare with 1942 losses of $10,679,029. Damages valued at $8,906,813 were insured and $1,757,580 uninsured.

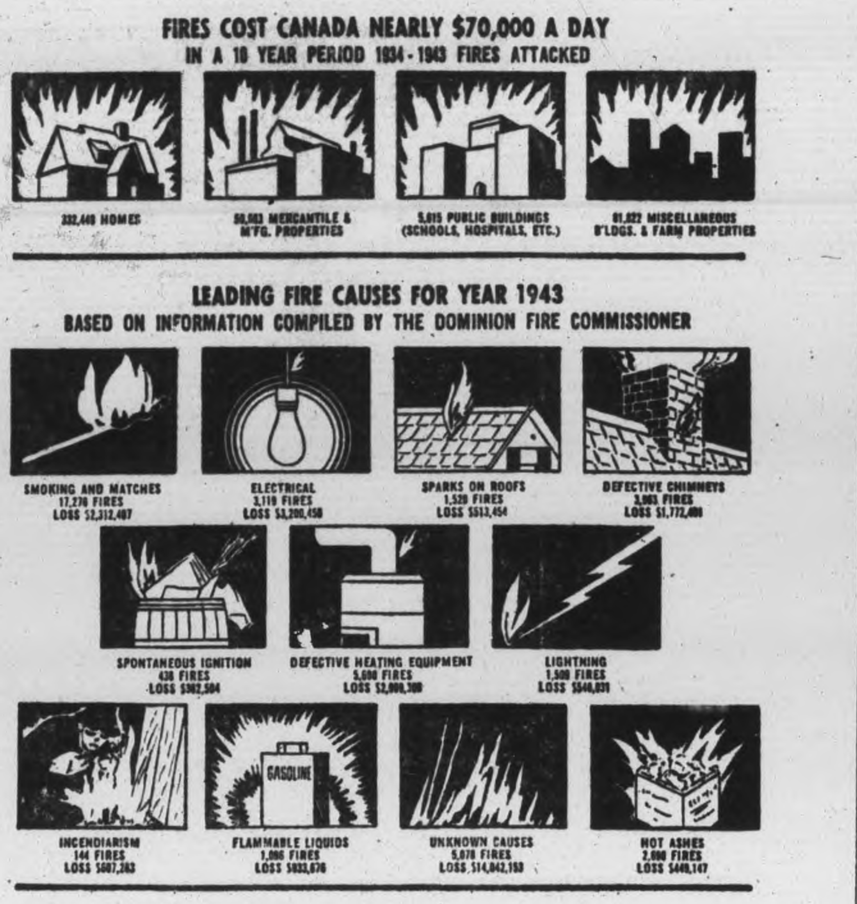
The fire loss for Canada rose to a new high during 1943, in spite of the fact that seven out of nine provinces reduced their property loss during the year. Civilian properties destroyed or damaged caused a loss of $31,464,710, as compared to $30,453,204 in 1942. In addition, National Defence establishments suffered $4,985,210 in fire losses, a drastic increase over the 1942 total of $729,034.

During the year 47,594 outbreaks were reported across the country. Approximately 77.5% of the losses resulting from these fires were insured, and 22.5% uninsured. There were 319 deaths, 149 of them child fatalities. This latter figure represents a sharp increase over the 1942 figures.

Smokers' carelessness continued to lead the field as Canada's number one fire hazard as 14,460 blazes were traced to this source. Stoves, furnaces, boilers and smoke pipes held second place with 5,600 fires, followed by defective and overheated chimneys and flues with 3,963. Other prominent fire causes were electrical wiring and appliances, matches, hot ashes, coals, open fires, lightning, inflammable liquids, spontaneous ignition and sparks on roofs

The largest number of outbreaks occurred in residential properties. Mercantile properties were the next most seriously affected, followed by farms, manufacturing establishments, institutional and assembly buildings and miscellaneous properties.

GENERAL HELPS LOAD—Brig.-Gen. Gordon P. Saville, commanding general of the 12th Tactical Air Command, helps air force ground crewmen load aviation gasoline into a tank car that will take it to our most advanced air bases in Southern France from where fighter and fighter-bombers hound the Hun. Judging by the sign in French, the tank car has evidently been used in the past by a company dealing in "wines and spirits."



Some Things To Do Should Fire Break Out In a Crowded Building

A cry of "Fire" in a crowded building and then there is the rush to the door, panic, screams and death. It is just like the old boyhood game of Run, Sheep, Run, only with panic human beings become animal-like and the game is played for keeps.

Every so often we read where there has been panic following a fire. During an air-raid alert in London, a woman hurrying down the steps of a shelter tripped and fell, causing some commotion at the foot of the stairs which provoked one nervous person to scream in fright. For some unexplicable reason those already inside the shelter thought the outside entrance had been blocked by a bomb and they presently started to pile out. In the ensuing crush, 178 people were trampled to death; even before the hostile planes were over the city.

At a benefit party in a second floor meeting room in Calument, Michigan, a woman feinted. A friend called for water in an excited tone of voice and some hairbrain translated the call in "Fire". Without a moments thought, the entire assemblage began a rush to the narrow stairs and solitary exit. Somebody fell and those behind piled up on top of her, blocking the door so thoroughly that the firemen had to enter through second-storey windows via ladders. They found no fire naturally, but they did find seventy-one dead bodies jammed up at the foot of those stairs.

All this has been brought to mind by a special bulletin lately issued to fire chiefs and others and opening with the paragraph: "Panic cannot be eliminated. The conditions which produce it may be reduced to a point where the probability is almost nil, but it will be an ever present danger where crowds congregate."

A Few Tips

Paul W. Kearney writing in Liberty Magazine gives a few tips which may someday save your life:

1. Never settle yourself in any place of public assembly without making a quick survey of the nearest secondary exit and fixing its location in your mind.

2. Pay heed to that word in italics. People invariably go out of a place the same way that they came in. So if you have the foresight to pick a secondary exit, rather than the main doors, you will avoid the crush. This is a basic lesson dating back 40 years to Chicago's Iroquois Theatre disaster where something like a dozen exits were available — but only three were used. As a result 575 people died in a fire which in itself was relatively trivial.

3. If a rush starts sit tight for a few seconds and size up the situation — the immediate danger and the direction which most of the crowd is heading—and then act accordingly. But if there is visible evidence of actual fire—heat, smoke, flames, etc. — don't dally too long for superheated air and fumes can be deadly mighty fast.

4. Many a building panic has been nipped by some individual with a level head and persuasive voice who has jumped on a chair and assured everybody that things were under control. It may not always work, but it's always worth trying. Likewise, if you are in a potential panic and you see somebody nearby waxing hysterical, it might be a good idea to cohk that person before his hysterics explode the bombshell. You may recall the fire that broke out in Louisiana movie house during a show. Although smoke actually began to swirl out from backstage into the orchestra, the manager appeared and calmly asked the patrons to leave in an orderly manner — which they did without mishap. Upstairs however, was a dance hall. Somebody suddenly smelled or saw smoke and let out a terrific yelp. Twenty-five persons died in the resultant stampede because of the very same fire in the very same building.

5. If you are trying to get out of a very smoky place crouch low or in extreme cases go on your hands and knees. Crawling flat is not recommended by firemen for a very good reason: while combustion gases rise most gases of distillation sink, because they are heavier than air. Thus the safest breathing area in a burning room is generally a point about three feet above the floor.

6. Don't stop to get your coat or other belongings that are not within arm's reach. And once you are out of the place, stay out. The number of persons who have gone back into burning buildings and have died is legion.

Meanwhile there is one very constructive thing everybody could do to help this situation. That is to raise the roof every time you run across a flagrant violation of the laws of common sense — which are simply the laws of self-preservation.

Report 175,000 Eligible For Gratuities

OTTAWA, Oct. 12 — The Canadian Government, as of Sept. 1, is obligated to pay 175,000 war service gratuities, a figure that represents the total wastage of the three services in discharges and deaths.

A breakdown of the total gives approximately 123,000 discharges and 52,000 deaths from sickness, training accidents and action against the enemy. Next of kin, under the terms of the act passed at the last session, are eligible for payments according to length of service.

Army headquarters annouced today that application forms are available. Payments will not commence until Jan 1, 1945, "and in some cases there may be further delay, depending upon the time the applications are received."

Deaths and discharges of volunteers in the three services are given: Army, 133,000; Navy, 8,000, and Air Force, 34,000. It is emphasized that the 175,000 total does not give a complete picture of wastage in that there is an unspecified number who lost their right to gratuities for dishonorable discharge and men who did not list next of kin or who did not assign pay.

Current Strength of Forces

Latest published figures on strength gives: Army, more than 460,000 men and 15,000 women; Navy, more than 85,000 men and 5,000 women, and Air Force, more than 190,000 men and 14,000 women.

Only volunteers are eligible for gratuities, although draftees, estimated at 80,000, are eligible for all of the listed benefits under the War Veterans' Rehabilitation program.

Toronto The Good

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—(CP). — Dr. Gordon Millen, chairman of the Toronto Board of Health, said yesterday the city had the highest venereal disease rate of any city in Canada, and announced a campaign to lower its incidence. He said his information came from Hon. Dr. R. P. Vivian, Ontario Health Minister.

Discharge Centre

TORONTO, Oct. 12— (CP).— No. 1 Manning Depot of the R.C.A.F. here has been converted into an air force discharge centre, it was learned last night. New commanding officer will be Group Capt. E. Nash of Welland.

Merchant Ship Torpedoed 14 Men Saved

OTTAWA, Oct. 12—(CP). — First successful U-boat activity reported is the Western Atlantic for several months was disclosed last night in a naval press release which told how the Canadian corvette Barrie picked up 14 survivors from a torpedoed merchant ship after they had drifted for eight hours in an open boat.

Another 14 men—most of them Newfoundlanders—were lost with the ship. Both the ship and its crew were unidentified, and few details of the attack were given.

Five of the men were badly injured and taken to the Merchant Seamen's Hospital in Newfoundland. One suffered a broken leg, another a severe scalp wound, another lacerations of the face, a fourth back injuries, and the fifth, broken ribs. The remainder were fed, outfitted and cared for by the Canadian Red Cross.

In the midst of the rescue work a submarine contact was obtained, and the Barrie carried out an attack. Later the corvette Shawinigan obtained a contact. The naval release said nothing of the results.

Able Seaman John Sheedy of Winnipeg, a lookout on the Barrie, was the first to spot the lifeboat bobbing on the Atlantic. In company with the Shawinigan, Barrie drew alongside the boat in rough seas and took survivors on board.

A youthful sick berth attendant, Stanley B. Mosher of Windsor, N.S., administered to the injured men, described as being in "a pretty weak condition."

Subsequently another ship of the flotilla, which had a medical officer on board, offered to care for the most seriously injured of the torpedo victims, and the Barrie sent away a seaboat with two of the survivors aboard.

In charge of the seaboat was the first lieutenant of the Barrie, Lieut. Harry Magill of Hamilton.

Despite the heavy swell, they laid their boat alongside the medical officer's ship and transferred the patients without incident. The doctor later returned to the Barrie to examine the other survivors.

Aims At Drew

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—(CP). — Leslie Morris, Ontario leader of the Labor Progressive Party, said in a prepared statement last night that Premier Drew was "clearly afrad" to call a special fall session of the Legislature, and added that the "swift approach to victory" demanded the House meet to plan the reconversion to peace.

Lake Freighters Answered Call

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—(CP).—When the war is done and sailors' yarns honor brave ships, there'll be stories about how Canadian Great Lakes freighters took to the ocean lanes and fought their battles.

A glimpse of the service given by these ships was granted today by the Canadian Shipping Board in figures prepared for Trade Minister MacKinnon. Between 50 and 60 of them have gone from the lakes since the war began. Some of them will never come back, but board officials said the list of casualties cannot yet be told.

At the beginning, eight were needed and they went. Then 21 more were asked for and provided. They were sturdy ships, strong enough to bear the pounding of the wild lake waves, and they were small enough to go through the canals to the high seas and their rendezvous with history. On the east coast they were prepared for deep-sea voyaging and then they went over the horizon to service wtih the British Ministry of War Transport.

And then came a call for 21 more, and they were provided. Some went to distant posts, to service off the United Kingdom coast and some, perhaps, survived to see duty on D-Day.

A few which had pounded ice in the late fall went to the tropics, down to British Guiana among other places, where they served as shuttle ships in hauling out bauxite so that the aluminum plant at Arvida, Que., could operate.

Left behind were the great grain carriers and other ships which could not pass through the canals. On them fell the burden of the load they had shared with ships which were gone. They began their seasons earlier and finished them later. They carried the iron ore and coal for war industries and wheat for the United Kingdom and then took over the haulage of stores of ore for the United States in addition to their Canadian chores.

Among the fleet which sailed from Canadian waters for service far afield were nearly 20 vessels owned by the enemy or by countries which were occupied. They had come into Canadian hands either by capture or by requisition from free governments.

Of these, only five remain afloat today. Almost all those lost were the victims of enemy action.

Butter Supply Not Improved

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Oct. 12 — (CP). — The butter supply picture darkened a little more to-day following a Dominion Bureau of Statistics statement that a tendency to reduce cow holdings has been in evidence during the last few months, with a decline of 5 per cent in the total numbers shown in August compared with the same month last year.

After successive years of difficulty with the winter butter supply, authorities said the 1944 situation was no better than in 1943. The butter ration of eight ounces a person a week already has been temporarily reduced three times this year by the cancellation of butter ration coupons. An additional temporary reduction will be made shortly by the cancellation of two more coupons for an estimated saving of 5,000,000 pounds of butter.

The statement that numbers of dairy cows were on the decline, based on reports from Dominion Bureau of Statistics dairy correspondents, counterbalanced a more cheerful report on the condition of pastures.

Associated with the report of a reduction in the number of cows was a drop in the percentage of cows actually milked as compared with 1943.

"A bright spot in the situation was the increase recorded in the numbers of cows bred for dairying purposes, so that while immediate freshenings are considerably reduced, it is possible that greater numbers may be coming into lactation during the winter or early spring," said the Bureau.

At the root of most dairy supply problems has been the vastly-increased consumption of fluid milk.

In August, milk production was down 2.4 per cent from that of the same month in 1943, while sales increased 2.8 per cent. Fluid sales absorbed 17 per cent of the total milk output in comparison with 16 per cent in July.

IN INVASION — Lieut.-Cmdr. David W. Groos, commanding officer of the Canadian river class destroyer H.M.C.S. Restigouche who is back in Canada with the rest of the ship's crew, after invasion duties. The ship played a vital role against enemy shipping in the Channel.

Guam Casualty Better

YOUNG'S POINT, Aug. 12. — (ENS).—Word has been received by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, that Pfc. Roydon Ellsworth of the U.S. Marines has recovered sufficiently from wounds received in the battle of Guam, to be moved to the Naval Hospital at Seattle, Washington, for further treatments.

Milkweed Pods Urgently Needed

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—(CP). — The Agricultural Supplies Board said today that every milkweed pod in Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba should be collected to ensure that urgently needed life preservers are provided for United Nations sailors.

Millions of pods will break open and go to waste unless they are picked within the next few days.

The board is paying 20 cents for a bag of dried pods—about a bushel.

Many Ontario counties have already exceeded their quotas, but everywhere there are still pods waiting to be picked, and all are wanted, the board said. Teachers are urged to see children do not stop picking until every pod in the community is harvested.

TORONTO, Oct. 12 — (CP) — A statement of claim by Frank O'-Hearn of Toronto that the city's system of accounting since 1898 has been "incomplete and incorrect," resulting in a loss of $51,428,327 to taxpayers was struck out yesterday by G. D. Conant, Master-in-chambers at Osgoode Hall, acting on a motion by the city.

Sgt. Warren Post Now In France

HAVELOCK, Oct. 12 (ENS). — Sgt. Warren Post, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Post of Windsor and formerly of Havelock, where he was born, will celebrate his 22nd birthday today with the Canadian Forces of Liberation in France. He enlisted in January 1943, going over overseas the following July.

He followed two brothers into active service, Pte. Carman E. Post, who enlisted in September 1939 and was killed in the Dieppe raid in August 1942, and Pte. Raymond E. Post, who enlisted in January 1940 and was discharged in January 1942 as medically unfit after seventeen months service overseas. A third brother Trooper William G. Post, the oldest of the family, went overseas last April and has been confined to hospital recently with a stomach condition, but has since rejoined his unit being assigned to the rationing department while he is undergoing treatment.

The four Post brothers were born in Havelock and their father Fred E. Post is a veteran of World War No. 1, going overseas with the 93rd battalion in July 1916.

Of Interest to Women

Lamb Dish Served With Rice

By MARY MOORE.

The annual fall upsurge of interest in different food and different menus is in full swell.

Today's little offerings fill requests from readers, and I want to insert a plug here for foreign dishes.

I was curious to know what newsworthy meals my sister had eaten when she was at a conference in Chicago. She said her hosts were proud of even a tough steak they found for her, but she enjoyed a much less expensive meal of fricasseed lamb with rice she ate at a "Continental" restaurant. As far as she could guess I copied it and according to my guests who ate it I "Wowed 'em."

I think it is the lamb dish "Norma H." is requesting.

Fricasseed Lamb With Rice.

Cut lean lamb from front in about 1-inch cubes, roll in flour seasoned with salt and pepper. About 1½ lbs. is needed for this dish. Melt good bacon dripping or butter in frying pan, and fry lamb cubes a delicate brown. Add 1 thinly sliced Spanish onion while lamb is frying. (Sweet green pepper may be added too, but is not needed.) Cover sauteed lamb with 1 large can of tomatoes, or 3 cups cut up raw tomatoes, cover and simmer over very low heat until meat is tender—about 2½ hours—adding a little water as needed. Boil ¾ cup rice in 1 quart water with 1 teaspoon salt, and when fluffy and tender rinse with boiling water. Serve rice in border around lamb fricassee on hot platter, garnished with parsley.

Bortch.

The timid cooks who haven't tried this yet need only to be told it is actually a vegetable soup as they know vegetable soup, with shredded beets and sour cream added.

Actually the beets that are put in a genuine Bortch are fermented the same as sauerkraut, but for Canadian palates this makes the finished soup too sour and sharp—especially since the sour cream has the same effect.

One 2-lb. veal shank, ½ cup each shredded onion, celery, carrot and tomato, 3 cups shredded raw beets, butter, salt, pepper, sour cream. Cover veal shank with cold water, add onion, celery, carrot and tomato and about 2 teaspoons salt and boil 2½ hours. Melt about 3 tablespoons butter in saucepan and saute shredded raw beets in it for 5 minutes, then add to soup pot, and add about ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Boil about 30 minutes more or until meat falls from bones. When serving put a generous piece of meat in each bowl with the soup and vegetables and ladle about 2 tablespoons sour cream into soup without stirring just before carrying to table—or sour cream may be served in gravy boat.

Fiskefars (Minced Fish Belgian).

This is moulded fish custard and delicious—and cheap. Remove skins and bones from 2½ lbs. cod from middle cut and put through grinder 3 or 4 times, add 1 tablespoon potato flour, 1 tablespoon wheat flour, mix well, add the white 1 egg, 6 tablespoons cream, salt and pepper to taste, and if possible whipped cream. Pour into buttered custard cups or larger moulds and steam or bake 20 minutes. Delicious with a little mustard sauce and lemon.

Dutch Bread and Butter Cake.

Mix together in a dry bowl 1 lb. flour or whole wheat flour, 7 tablespoons brown sugar, 2 teaspoons anise-seeds, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon ginger. Mix together 1 cup corn syrup and 1 cup whole milk and stir these gradually into the dry mix, until you have worked it into a firm dough. This should be done as quickly as possible. Put mixture into well-buttered loaf tin and bake for 1 to 1½ hours at 350 deg. Fahr. Let stand until cool. It will be a little hard, so should be kept in bread box with fresh bread, closely covered for a day, to soften.

A BELTED TUNIC SUIT—Anything which gives hip interest to a fashion, while not enlarging the silhouette unattractively, is good fashion this season. Here we have a beige wool suiting fabric made into a trim coat and skirt, the jacket a belted tunic model complete with pocket flaps, and treated to an interesting new sleeve which is cuffed in bushmaster or lumberjacket manner.—By Prunella Wood.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

Question: I have used several of your recipes and like them very well, especially your saccharin pickles. They are as nice as you buy only much different, but we like them even better.

I have a wedding coming on the 18th of October. I want to make the cake myself, but I can't buy any almond paste. I have the almonds and thought that I could make the paste myself if I had a recipe. I would like to put it on the bottom layer. It is 9" x 9" x 3". I would also like an angel food recipe, possibly a mock angel food would do.

How many pounds of chicken would I need to feed 50 guests?

I'm serving tomato juice, chicken, potatoes, peas, carrots, ice cream if available—if not pie—tea, cake, and wine, pickles. I'll have rolls, cookies; how many bricks of ice cream would I need. If I get it in bulk how many gallons?

My cake is an old English fruit cake. If you would like it I will send it to you in time for Christmas. Thanking you for all the favours you have given me, Mrs. J. Q.

Answer:

Mock Angelcake.

One cup milk, 1 cup flour, 1 cup sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 2 egg whites, beaten stiff, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Heat milk almost to boiling point. Mix and sift flour, sugar, baking powder 3 times. Pour milk gradually into dry mix, blending well. Fold in egg whites. Add vanilla. Pour into ungreased pan and bake in slow oven of 300 deg. Fahr. 45 minutes. Cool. Nice frosted with rich butter and egg yolk uncooked frosting.

Almond Paste (for rich fruit cakes).

One lb. blanched almonds, 1 lb. icing or confectioners' sugar, 1 cup water, ½ cup orange juice or 1 teaspoon orange flour water. Grind the blanched almonds through finest knife chopper. (If almonds are allowed to become dried off after blanching they will go through food chopper more readily). Put through food chopper 3 or 4 times to make them into a paste. Boil sugar and water together to 240 deg. Fahr. (when tested in cold water will form a soft ball). Mix syrup with almonds, add orange juice or orange flour water (which is preferable because it requires less beating), and beat until creamy. Pour onto cold slab, which has been dusted with confectioners' sugar; allow to cool. Store in airtight covered jar for 1 week, then it is ready to roll out and use.

For Chicken a la King for 50 people you need from 8 to 10 lbs.; same for creamed chicken. For chicken salad for 50 you will need 8 lbs. For roast chicken you will need 10 4-lb. chickens to serve 50. Stewed chicken using 8 4½ to 5-lb. chickens will serve 50.

If you use brick ice cream it requires 13 bricks to serve 50 since each brick will cut into 4 pieces. If you use bulk ice cream theoretically a pint will serve 5 and you would need 1½ gallons— but I have found that 2 gallons is not much for 50 people.

I would like very much your recipe for fruit cake— and will print it as soon as it comes, for many readers are asking for a new one, and are getting ready to do their cakes.

LAZY HUSBAND HUMILIATING

Wife Works, Lies for Him But Loses Respect When He Won't Hold Own With Others.

THE thing that gets on a wife's nerves more than anything else is for her husband to be shiftless. She would have more respect for him if he was an energetic burglar than she has if he never brings in any bacon at all. She can forgive him easier for making eyes at every pretty woman he meets than she can for never looking for a good job.

Nothing humiliates a woman so much as for her husband not to be able to hold her own with other men, and when she sees him shabby, holding up his friends for small loans, cadging cigarettes and letting others pay the dinner check, she could die with shame. And when a woman has to appeal to her family for help, or take the children and go back to Mother and Father to be supported, she has drunk her cup of bitter tea to the dregs.

There are no happy marriages in which the gray mare is not only the better horse but has to pull the load, for it is the essence of a woman's love for her husband that she can have pride in him and boast of him in the market place. If she cannot do this, she either comes to despise him, or else to have for him the pitying affection that she would have for a child who was a weakling.

All of us know worn and weary women who take in boarders or stand behind a counter or pound a typewriter all day to support big, strong, husky men who do nothing more strenuous than to sit in easy chairs and listen to the radio, or play pool and spend ther wives' hard-earned money on buying beer for the boys.

Women Pitiful In Shielding Shiftless Mates

And nothing is more pitiful than the poor little lies these wives tell, trying to camouflage their husbands' laziness and triflingness. Poor John has such a bad heart, or Tom suffers from a weak back, or Percy is writing a play that some big New York producer is going to put on, or Charlie is just so temperamental he cannot endure be shut up in an office and do dull drudgery.

These strictures are not intended to apply to the men who, through no fault of their own, are not able to make a living for their families. Sickness, accidents, just sheer bad luck can befall any one, and many a man puts up a fight against undeserved misfortune that entitles him to wear a hero's medal on his breast. It is only the men who were born too tired to work and who sit down on the do-nothing stool and let their mothers and their wives support them for whom women have such a profound contempt.

But what are women who have these problem husbands to do with them? Probably just what they have always done and always will do. The hard-boiled will turn them out to shift for themselves and thus fan any spark of manhood that may be in them into flame, but the great majority will be so tenderhearted that they cannot bear to think of the man they once loved going hungry and lacking a roof over his head, so they will bend their necks to the burden they unwittingly took upon themselves when they married and work harder so that their husbands may loaf.

1,258 Boxes Sent Overseas By Active Army Auxiliary

The regular afternoon meeting of the Peterborough Octive Army Auxiliary was held Wednesday in the Armouries. The president, Mrs. J. A. Dewart, was in the chair and expressed thanks to all members who had co-operated so faithfully in the packing of the Christmas boxes with special mention to the purchasing and addressing committees.

After the recording secretary, Mrs. D. T. Diplock, and the treasurer, Mrs. Max Clarke, had given their reports, Mrs. William Ovens, the corresponding secretary, reported nine thank-you letters and two letters of sympathy had been sent. The knitting committee reported plenty of wool and knitted articles on hand.

Mrs. James Turnbull reported that 1,258 boxes had been sent overseas. Some names were sent in too late, but for complete record purposes these names had been accepted and city Christmas cards would be sent. Names and addresses of all serving in the active army in Canada were requested as soon as possible, and especially of returned men in hospitals. After a discussion it was decided to make a cash donation towards next-of-kin parcels to army prisoners of war. Members of the auxiliary were requested to report the names and home addresses of these men to Mrs. Turnbull.

Mrs. B. D. Hall, convener of the visiting committee, reported 27 calls on the next-of-kin of casualties had been made since the last meeting.

Mrs. J. Duncan stated that cigarettes and airgraphs had been sent to six men wounded and hospitalized and five replys had been received in the past two weeks.

Before the meeting closed Mrs. Turnbull exhibited and explained the contents of a mess tin ration box which showed the concentrated form of food for three meals for one day.

Tea and cookies were served by the refreshment committee, in charge of Mrs. James Morley.

Women In Post-War Plans Outlined To Navy Auxiliary

A challenge to the women of Peterborough, to be crusaders, and to use their influence to make sure that returning service men and women were not forgotten, was presented to members of the Navy Auxiliary at their meeting Wednesday evening, by Mrs. J. Cridland. The speaker, taking as her topic "Women's Place in Post-War Planning," stressed the part women could play, and their need to be well informed on pertinent subjects.

Discussing the subject under three topics: What part can women play? What place have they in post-war planning? and What do they know about it; Mrs. Cridland brought a challenge to them to avoid the inflation and depression years following the first world war, by careful planning. She said that it was up to the women of the world to take more interest in democracy, and learn more about government, beginning with their own local municipal government. She urged them to read timely books and articles, to be more willing to take municipal office if asked, and to support women who were public-spirited and did offer themselves for public office.

Quoting the results of a poll conducted among Canadian servicemen overseas, Mrs. Cridland said that 95 per cent of the group wanted rehabilitation and re-employment to be a definite government responsibility, not only for servicemen and women, but for workers now in war jobs. They expressed the wish for public works at standard wages as one means of offering positions to returning men, and the maintenance of a standing army, navy and airforce. The speaker also outlined the present post-war plans of the government, and the five-point plan to be followed.

More Discussion

In conclusion, Mrs. Cridland urged the women to enliven interest in the vital issues of post-war planning and rehabilitation by discussions and talks in their meetings. She asked the women to all take an active interest in the question, and to demand only the best for the returning men and women who were willing to give their all in their country's service.

Several donations were acknowledged, and the secretary was instructed to send cards of thanks to the individuals and groups who had remembered the Auxiliary. Among were: The North-End Workers, the Bridgenorth Women's Association, the U.E. Auxiliary, Mrs. J. M. DeLong, Mrs. A. Cripps, Mrs. P. Hooper and a friend; as well as the donation from the City Council, and the Auxiliary's share of the successful Labor Day activities

Members decided that a $1; wreath would be purchased, to be placed on the cenotaph on Armistice Day by Mrs. H. Evans. Since the bazaar plans could not be completed, it was suggested that a table of novelties and home cooking be set up in the market hall on a Saturday morning, and November 18 was set as the date, with Mrs. G. Fallen as convener. The draw for the two Scotch dolls, and the pillow slips, on which members have been selling tickets, will be made at the December meeting.

More Than 500 Names

Reporting for the ditty bags, Mrs. F. D. Craig said that she had received to date 89 names for the British Isles, 60 for Newfoundland, and over 500 in all. Volunteers to help with the packing on Tuesday, October 17, at two o'clock, in St. John's Parish Hall were requested, and members were also asked to volunteer to help wrap Christmas cake and make the boxes on Monday afternoon October 16. Mrs. R. Pilling, wool convener, reported 79 articles turned in for the month, and a total of 208 articles on hand to be packed in the Christmas boxes. Mrs. A. Marshall gave a report of the meeting of the Local Council of Women, and Mrs. A. Chartren reported for the sick and visiting committee.

Mrs. F. Merrett thanked the speaker, and also thanked Mrs. K. Simpson for her splendid work in making and distriouting tickets for the draw on the dolls and pillow slips. Mrs. Merrett announced the afternoon tea being sponsored by the Local Council of Women, to be held Saturday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A.

Bridgenorth WMS To Hold Rally

Ways and means of raising the year's allocation were discussed at the regular meeting of the Bridgenorth Women's Missionary Society Wednesday and it was decided to begin the season's activities with a crokinole party in the Sunday School room October 27.

A committee, consisting of Mrs. J. Johnston, Mrs. W. J. Robinson, Mrs. Grace Samson and Mrs. Olive Edmison was named to arrange for the activities of a junior congregation in the church. Plans for the sectional rally, to be held in Bridgenorth Church October 18, were also discussed, and a donation of $5 was voted to the Bible Society. Arrangements were announced for the Thankoffering meeting on November 12, when it is hoped that Mrs. F. W. K. Harris of Peterborough will be guest speaker.

Rev. H. H. Mutton opened the meeting with prayer, and Miss Lily Udy read the Scripture. Mrs. J. Johnston, who presided, introduced the new study book, "West of the Date Line," and summarized the first chapter.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, October 13

JUDGING BY the major lunar transits there may be need for some very sound enduring and rebuilding of outworn or demolished structures, devastated by a swift blow or some sort of sudden reversal of attack on established foundations. It may require shrewd and tactful management, with diligence, concentrated energies and common sense to mend whatever breakdowns there may be. These might be attributed to forced changes, accident or other unforeseen visitations. Safeguard funds, side step quarrels, progress sturdily and there may be happiness and possibly romantic adventure, with a degree of public appreciation.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of sound and steady progress, following a sudden disruption or breakdown, coming with swift and devastating force or fury. It might be accident, unwilling change, an estrangement or disagreement. But a determined effort to "pick up the pieces," to work with concentration and purpose may result in surprising reconstructive crises, with eventual happiness. In the offing are rewards well worth aiming for.

A child born on this day may have many sound and sturdy qualities, although impulsive and perhaps erratic at times. It may be subject to reversals and financial fluctuations, but find rewards for diligence and fortitude.

QUEEN ELIZABETH SCHOOL

The graduating class of Queen Elizabeth School, at their graduation ceremonies Wednesday evening, was addressed by F. H. Dearborn, principal of Central School, speaking on the real meaning and value of success. Mr. Dearborn said that it was the quality of service rendered that really counted, and "If you can be proud of your work, then you are a success. Real success consists of what you give, not get," he continued.

The speaker also discussed education, and its many advantages throughout life. Defining it as a "leading out" process, Mr. Dearborn listed four advantages education brought to the world; it fits a child to earn his living; makes one hungrier for more learning; implants high deals; and shows people how to profitably spend their leisure time.

George Bedford outlined the scheme for selling war savings stamps throughout the school during the year, and explained that there would be three groups, Army, Navy and Airforce, with $100 set as the objective. L. Bird, the principal, presented farm service badges to the following students: Trevor Davies, Jack Christmas, Billie Brown, Ken Masters, Delbert Davis and George Bedford.

Mrs. C. C. Doughty opened the meeting with a Thanksgiving prayer, and announced the regional conference of Home and School Associations, being held October 17 in Murray Street Baptist Church. A rummage sale, to be held November 2 at 446 George street, was also announced and Grade VII was awarded the attendance book. Miss Mary Taylor led in a period of community singing, with Mrs. W. Frise at the piano, and Miss Norma Austin played two guitar solos. Mr. O. Deyell moved the vote of thanks to the speaker and those taking part in the program, and refreshments were served by the social convener, Mrs. J. Johnton, and her committee.

Mr. Bird presented the certificates to the graduating class, and spoke briefly to each member and Marjorie Brown gave the valedictory address. Those receiving graduation diplomas were: Shirley Allison, Marjorie Brown, Trevor Davies, Delbert Davis, John Frise, Sheila MacIver and Maxine Sine.

PARIS TO THE FORE—A large hat for fall and winter wear. This spacious beret is made of dark green felt and is trimmed with velvet ribbon of the same shade and decorated with long goose feathers.

This headdress is based on the fez-type of hat as worn by French colonial troops. It is of yellow wool, having the added attraction of keeping the hair snug on windy days.

Auxiliary Plans Christmas Boxes

Discussions about Christmas boxes took up the greater part of the regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, Tuesday evening in the Legion Hall. Members decided to send Christmas boxes to members of the Home Guard stationed in Bowmanville, and to all members of the Home Guard from Peterborough, wherever they were stationed. Sons, husbands and daughters of women in the Auxiliary, who are in any of Canada's armed services, will also receive boxes.

Mrs. W. G. Downer gave a report of the recent convention of the Provincial Command in North Bay, which she attended. Two new members, Mrs. A. Moscrop and Miss Doris Downer were welcomed.

Of Interest to Women

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON (Society Editor of The Examiner)

Fashions for Femmes

"Be feminine" advise fashion experts, if you want to stay in the running this season. At the beginning of the war, fashions became severe and tailored, and in keeping with the spirit of the times. Now, however, the fashion trend has swung to the other extreme, and fluff and frou-frou are the rage, with the accent on dainty, feminine touches throughout the whole ensemble.

Conservation is still the keynote of style, however, and milady is not being asked to rush right out and purchase a complete new wardrobe. Stress is being laid on the ability of accessories to change the appearance of an outfit, with considerably less expense than the purchase of a new one would incur. Yes, the accent is on accessories, and women are being urged to wear them, and pay more attention to the polished appearance smart and timely accessories can give.

Blouses, for instance, are inexpensive, but are rich in dantiness. A fresh, frilly blouse, peeping through a tailored suit-coat, makes all the difference in the world to the appearance of the suit. The aspect of a severely-cut dress is completely changed when a couple of brilliant pins are clipped on, a frilly handkerchief is tucked into the sleeve, and smart gloves and hat are added. It's not necessary to have accessories for each ensemble, either, since serviceable shades, such as black or brown, will complement any outfit. And speaking of conservation, buy a simple pair of black pumps, for afternoon wear, and dress them up with smart brilliant clips for evening.

Change in Colors

Colors this year are also reflecting the gayer trend in fashions. Greens are particulaly good and purples and fuchsias are continuing popular. Black, of course, is a perennial favorite, and grey is surprisingly emerging as the dark—or grey—horse in the latest style polls. As for styles themselves, they have not been influenced to a great extent by the sudden burst of fashions from Paris. A great many Peterborough stores already had received most of their fall clothes, but even if they hadn't, it is doubtful if the extreme Parisian models would have found their way into Peterborough. Paris styles certainly influence fashion trends, but are too extreme for most.

Complexion Styling

Summer has definitely given up the ghost for another year, and even this last spell of Indian summer seems to have gone too. Filled with memories of happy holidays, busy business girls are getting into the winter's work, but still treasuring the summer months, and looking at pictures taken in the brilliant warm sunshine, or proudly taking stock of golden-brown tan acquired from that same sun. However, it doesn't take long for tan to fade, when the proud possessor isn't in the sun often enough to renew its strength. Therefore, many a rueful miss is sadly eyeing the diminishing glow on her arms or back.

It's surprising though, how many girls often neglect the lessening glow of tan on their complexions, and continue to use the same shade of powder. True, the face generally acquires a tan very gradually, and it is usually not as noticeable. It's begins to disappear, the complexion still there, however, and when it tends to develop a too-white look, that drains the rest of the face of color.

Powder Important

Let's start all over again, and pick the shade of face powder which accents the natural beauty and texture of individual complexions. Remember that powder should be chosen by its color, not its shade name, since the natural or rachel shades vary in different brands of powder. If a make-up base is not used, the powder chosen should be almost identical with the skin coloring, harmonizing with either the yellow or pink tints in the skin. If a tinted make-up base is used, a darker or lighter shade of powder can be used, but putting a dark powder over a light base should be avoided, since a blotchy effect often results.

Before make-up is applied, the skin should be thoroughly cleansed, to give the skin a healthy clear look. Don't apply too much make-up at any time, and remember that a lighter shade of powder can be used at night, than in the daytime. Always choose a shade that accents the natural transparency and glow of the skin, and avoid dulling that look by masking it with make-up. When trying to decide between two almost identical shades of powder, make a half-face test, and powder half of the face with a sample of one, and the other half with a sample of the other. A careful look in the mirror, in ordinary light, should point out the correct shade.

Home Accidents

Accidents in the home have always reached an exceedingly high mark, and the cause of most has been traced to carelessness or ignorance of the equipment being used. Washing accidents are one of the most common, and can also be traced to the same two reasons, either carelessness, or unfamiliarity with articles being used.

Since laundry facilities have been taxed to the utmost through lack of help, many homemakers are doing their own washings again, and many are starting out in this field of endeavor for the first time. Here are a few facts about laundry accidents, which may help the housewife to avoid trouble.

Uncovered boilers and buckets of hot water resulting in scalded legs and arms, are obvious causes, but exertion is not always recognized, and can result in fatigue that is conducive to carelessness. In addition, care must be taken of electrical appliances used, and precautions taken to avoid shock. Flame-proof coverings for ironing boards, and a non-inflammable stand for the iron are good safety measures, as well as a clothes line strung well above head level. It is stressed that haste is the cause of many accidents.

SMART SHOE—The sling-back sandal of suede trimmed with a brilliant ornament is the idea shoe to wear with the dressy afternoon-into-evening clothes that the autumn demands. Delman, a master at this sort of shoe, does a beautiful sandal in black or brown suede and trims it with a cut steel bead buckle backed with faille.—By Alice Alden.

This Weeks Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

DEAR MARY MOORE: I never see you mention "collops," and since this was a favorite dish of our family when we were children and newly come to Canada from England, I think Canadian youngsters should have a chance to appreciate it You often serve them hamburgers, and hash, but not this classic dish:

Scotch Collops.

One lb. ground rumpsteak or good hamburger, 1 onion, 2 tablespoons breadcrumbs or 1 dessertspoon of oatmeal (I prefer the oatmeal), 1 tablespoon mushroom catsup, stock or hot water, drippings from bacon, a pinch of nutmeg, salt and pepper. Washed potatoes, hard cooked eggs, small pieces of toast or fried bread are essential accompaniments.

Fry the chopped onion in a little drippings, then add the minced meat, season with salt and pepper and a pinch of nutmeg, moisten with about 1 cup stock or water and simmer for 1 to 1½ hours. Then add the catsup (tomato catsup will do), the breadcrumbs or oatmeal, mix well and cook for 5 or 10 minutes. Put on hot platter, surround with a border of mashed potatoes, and garnish with slices of hard cooked egg and small triangles of fried bread or toast.—Gracie Mansfield.

Thanks Mrs. Mansfield for this—my father was English too and I am thoroughly familiar with collops. Thanks for the pleasant reminder.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Fall styles are most enchanting. The day of the tailored woman has gone. Dresses for fall give one that very much dressed-up appearance. This does not only apply to dresses but to coats, hats, shoes, gloves, and jewellery. A stunning black afternoon dress, tight fitting, with a dashing coral vest and a modish high-crowned black hat, feather trimmed, is one of the season's most approved styles.

Dog collars of pearls may be worn with evening gowns or sweaters. If you have a thick neck, wear them low in line. If you have a slender neck wear them high.

Ostrich plumes have again come into their own both for the trimming and also the making of hats. Smart small tricorn shapes made of multi-colored ostrich feathers can be trimmed with small ostrich tips. Veils, which lend such flattery to their wearer, are now a la mode. Charming ensembles are made in such shades as chartreuse, green, turquoise, coral, amethyst, dahlia, fuchsia, red, bronze-green, black, brown, grey and smart checks. This season's colors may be shy pastel or shockingly bright colors.

Fashions in purses include all types and sizes, including the up-to-date college girl purse, in shades of blue, green, brown and beige. These are carried by the girl who wears a saucy hat, that only youth would dare to wear.

Many of the fall dresses and coats have convertible deep cuffs that may be turned well up to elbow length to permit the wearing of long gloves. Your glove drawer may well resemble a tulip bed, with its many colors, bright colors at that. One of the latest fashions for fall shows a different colored glove on each hand.

To complete any dress, no matter what shade, wear a brooch of sparkling brilliants. A dashing accessory for a tailored suit is a double-strong choker of pearls, worn above a high necked blouse. For evening wear, pearls may be fastened at the back of the neck, with a velvet bow to match your costume or a long strand may be looped twice and fastened lapelwise with your favorite jewel or flower.

Births Marriages In Memoriam Cards of Thanks Deaths

BIRTH

HOOPER—At Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, on Thursday, October 12, 1944, to Flying Officer and Mrs. Thomas H. Hooper (Audrey Murray), a son.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Blewett of Lakefield, wish to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter Geraldine Doris Pauline, to Clarence Archibald McMaster, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. A. F. McMaster. Marriage to take place in St. Andrew's Church, Lakefield, Nov. 4th, 2.30 p.m.

The engagement is announced of Marie, daughter of Mr. C. Fagan and the late Mrs. Fagan, Buffalo, to Gerald T. Connelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Connelly, Peterborough, the wedding to take place, Oct. 14, 1944, in St. Ignatius Church, Winnipeg.

DIED

HALL—Miss Sarah Hall, Oct. 12. Formerly of 187 Rubidge St., Peterborough. Funeral announcement later.

ROBERTSON, Kate Taylor — On Thursday, October 12, 1944, at Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, Kate Taylor Robertson, widow of the late Dr. Alexander J. Robertson, and dearly beloved mother of Mrs. M. R. Birks and Mrs. R. A. Lockhart of Toronto, and Mrs. Robert Abbott, Peterborough, in her eighty-first year. Funeral notice later.

GAMBLE, Peter Brown—Suddenly at his home, near Dartford, Percy Township, on Wed., Oct. 11, 1944, Peter Brown Gamble, in his 70th year, beloved husband of Margaret Duvall. Resting at his late residence for funeral service on Sat., Oct. 14 at 2.30 p.m. Interment at Warkworth Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

YOUMANS—In loving memory of Fred Youmans, who died in California on October 13th, 1943.

We often sit and think of him when we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own;
Like ivy on the withered oak, when all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green and never fade away.

—Remembered by his parents, brothers and sisters at Havelock.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the good Sisters of St. Joseph in the House of Providence for their extreme kindness to me. While recuperating there from repeated attacks of asthma, I enjoyed for several weeks, the peace and harmony of a perfect "Rest Home" in a religious atmosphere, Gertrude McEnery.

Rev. J. J. O'Brien

Prelacy in the papal household. Father O'Brien has been a good priest. He has merited that title first applied by St. Peter to Timothy "a man of God." He has well represented God's cause before men, and he has well represented and pleaded man's cause with God. He has been a good parish priest, and a promoter of Christ's missionary organization. He has been a wise and helpful counsellor to myself and my predecessors in the see of Peterborough. Therefore, I wish to extend to him tonight my own thanks for his splendid work, and my appreciation of his friendly co-operation since I came to Peterborough.

This ceremony is held in conjunction with the devotion in honor of Our Mother of Perpetual Help, which Father O'Brien established in this parish. I have no better wish for him than that God's Holy Mother, whose devotion he has kept in his heart and spread among the people committed to his care may be with him all the rest of his days in this life and near him when the hour of his death comes. I thank you, Father O'Brien, for all you have done for this diocese, and I wish for you the blessing of God, Father, Son and Holy Ghost, now and always."

The address read by Mr. Bogue from the parishioners follows:—

Right Reverend Monsignor O'Brien: On this occasion of your investiture as a Domestic Prelate, the members of the parish of the Sacred Heart wish to express as a body and publicly their congratulations.

Your appointment as a member of the Papal Household has been a source of gratification to us. For thirty-one years you have directed our parish in matters both spiritual and temporal. Fidelity to the guidance of our Bishop and loyalty to the See of Peter and the Church have characterized the fulfilment of you office. That these authorities recognize by so signal an honor your long and faithful service to our welfare is cause indeed for gratification.

With you we rejoice in the honor thus conferred upon you. In nominating you for this dignity we feel that His Excellency, our Bishop, has set his seal of approval upon the abundant fruits of your labors. The Holy See, in acceding to the nomination, has confirmed the esteem in which you have always been held. This is therefore an occasion of joy for the whole parsh.

We appreciate the appointment bestowed by the Holy Father. That the Vicar of Christ deigns to show a favor is indeed an honor. As your parishioners our appreciation gives rise to justifiable pride and we are grateful to the Holy Father.

To our congratulations offered to you upon this day is coupled the wish and prayer that Almighty God may permit you to continue for many years to exercise your pastoral care of us, to enjoy the esteem so well deserved, to retain the confidence shown by your ecclesiastical superiors, and to serve your divine Master with added splendor in the garb of your new dignity.

In token of our appreciation, gratitude and good wishes, the members of the parish of the Sacred Heart ask you to accept this gift marking the occasion of your investiture as a Domestic Prelate.

Signed on behalf of the members of the parish of the Sacred Heart: W. S. Bogue, Harold Legrow, W. J. Grady, A. A Letellier, Edward de la Plante, R. Zebernowsky, G. De Noble, Harry Lucano, Joseph Brioux, Leonard J. Clancey, Thomas Heffernan, Harry Rishea, S. S. Shaughnessy, T. Collins, Joseph William Fitzgerald.

Pastor's Reply

In acknowledging the tributes paid to him Monsignor O'Brien said he felt overwhelmed by the honor conferred by His Holiness Pope Pius XII. "I prize this honor more than any earthly honor because it comes from the Vicar of Christ, the successor of St. Peter, the head of the kingdom of God on earth, which embraces all ages and nations, from the great white shepherd of Christ's universal flock. Why the Holy Father should recognize me, his humble and unworthy servant, and at a time when his paternal heart is broken and his noble soul is in sorrow and anguish, is beyond my comprehension. On this happy occasion I offer His Holiness and his representative, the Apostolic Delegate, my heartfelt gratitude, and I renew my loyalty and fidelity to the Holy See.

As stated in the Holy Father's letter this honor comes to me at the request of His Excellency, our Bishop, without any merit of mine. It comes solely from the goodness of his heart. In a comparatively short time he has won the love of priests and people, and the admiration of all classes of the people, by his talents, experience and Christian charity. His motto which truly expresses the profound sentiments of his heart is "In the love of the brotherhood."

His Excellency Bishop Dignan made a long journey to grace this occasion with his presence. I spent ten happy years of my early priesthood in the diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, over which Bishop Dignan now rules. I appreciate the sacrifice he made to be here, and I thank him. My greatest happiness in life is to enjoy the confidence of my Bishop and the friendship of my brother priests. I feel honored by the presence of the visiting clergy. I thank every one of them.

My parents, who worked so hard and made such great sacrifices for me, I know rejoice with me today.

I welcome the faithful laity from far and near. I wish to pay tribute to the zeal and piety, the learning and devotion to duty of the priests who assisted me in the work of the parish during the thirty-one years I have been here. Very Reverend Dean McAuley spent four years with me. I wish to thank him for his beautiful sermon. I am glad to say that the assistants are among my best friends, including Rev. Dr. Grant and Father Coughlan who worked so hard in making preparations for this event. I thank Father Morrocco, Master of Ceremonies, for the capable manner in which he conducted the investiture.

The people of this parish have always co-operated with and responded gladly to every suggestion and direction for the spiritual and temporal welfare of the parish. This is an honor conferred by the Holy Father on the parish as well as on myself, and you deserve it more than I do. This beautiful address and presentation is one more evidence of your loyalty and goodwill.

I wish to express my appreciation of the services rendered by our organist, Mr. Armstrong, and the choir, not only tonight, but also their consistent fidelity and interest throughout the years. To the Sisters and teachers of the two schools we owe a debt of gratitude for their care of the lambs of the flock. The children are good and I love every one of them. Their parents may well be proud of them.

I said that it is beyond my comprehension that this exalted dignity should be conferred upon me, but I think St. Paul (1 Cor. 1, 27-30) solves my problem when he says, "The foolish things of the world hath God chosen that he may confound the wise; and the weak things of the world hath God chosen that he may confound the strong," that, as it is written, "He that glorieth, may glory in the Lord." "Power is made perfect in infirmity," so I shall say "Non nobis, Domine, non nobis, sed nomine tuo da gloriam," 'not unto us O Lord, not unto us but to Thy name give glory'."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

SEARCH FOR ADVENTURE

WHEN COLUMBUS found America 452 years ago, his great adventure was crowned with success. But the factor which made it an adventure was the fact that he didn't know just what was going to happen. He knew he and the crews of his three little ships were risking dangers—of what kind he could not be sure. That element also lends a good deal of the excitement to bridge. Unexpected things may happen to you—and to your opponents.

Because of his distribution, with 10 cards in two suits, South decided his hand was a safe opening despite the fact that he was vulnerable. If he found a fit with North, there might well be a game in the deal, even with a passing partner. His original plan was to bid the clubs if North responded, unless with a raise of hearts, but after West doubled for a takeout and East left it in, to set South, he refrained from going to the two level to show his clubs, fearing that might cause still more trouble for him.

West led the diamond K and repeated the suit. South managed to take five tricks, being set two for a score of 500 by the defenders, but that was not very great damage, as East and West could have made 3-No Trumps, with four tricks in diamonds, three in spades, one in hearts and one in clubs, which would have been worth almost as much as the 500 set.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet—you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-noted for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

"ALWAYS FELT TIRED, RUNDOWN AND MY NERVES WERE BAD"

"Had No Energy From Time I Got Up in the Morning," Says Kippen Woman. Digestion Bad, Headachy and Dizzy. Couldn't Sleep. Tells How Syntona Helped Her.

If you suffer with poor digestion, gas, acid risings, sour stomach and distress after meals; if you have rheumatic pains, feel tired out and nervous because of a disordered stomach or sluggish kidneys, liver or bowels, why not follow the advice of hundreds of other local men and women and take Syntona, the pure herb and root medicine. It has helped them. Isn't it reasonable to think that it will do the same for you?

Mrs. Minnie Little, Kippen, Ontario, says:

"For a good many years I suffered with poor digestion. I had so much gas, heartburn, and a heavy, bloated feeling after my meals. Sour acidity rose in my throat until I felt sick and nauseated. I was subject to frequent headaches and dizzy spells. I finally got so that I always felt tired and rundown and my nerves were bad. As a result I wasn't sleeping at all well at night and I had no energy from the time I got up in the morning.

"Recently I was telling a friend of mine how I felt and she persuaded me to try Syntona. I cannot tell you how grateful I am. This medicine has really helped me after everything else I tried had failed.

"I am now eating better and enjoy my meals. To my surprise I find that my food digests without all that gas, sourness, and heartburn. The dizzy spells and headaches do not trouble me and my nerves are calmed down once again, so I sleep well at night. I don't think it is any exaggeration to say that I feel better than I have in the past twenty years. I owe it all to Syntona, and only wish I had known of it sooner."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

Five men from the Peterborough district have been reported casualties, according to an official Department of National Defence announcement to-day.

Pte. John Gordon Kelso, son of Ernest Kelso of Bobcaygeon, was listed as killed in action while serving with an Eastern Ontario regiment overseas. L.-Cpl. James E. Thompson, whose mother Mrs. Charlotte Thompson, lives at 79 Sherbourne Street in Port Hope, was reported seriously wounded; and three men reported wounded in action are Pte. C. H. Terrill, son of Mrs. Jessie Terrell, Glen Alda; Sgt. Stanley Crossett, whose wife, Mrs. Laura Crossett, lives at Port Hope, and Pte. Thomas John Martin, son of Mrs. Iva E. Martin, of R. R. 1, Bobcaygeon.

COMMANDER—Shown wearing his new "brass hat" for the first time, is Acting Commander E. D. (Ted) Simmons of Victoria, B.C., whose promotion from lieutenant-commander has been announced. Cmdr. Simmons won the Distinguished Service Cross in 1941 when the corvette H.M.C.S. "Chambly" sank a U-boat. In 1943 he was awarded the Distinguished Service Order after the corvette H.M.C.S. "Port Arthur" under his command destroyed a submarine in the Mediterranean. Commander Simmons now is captain of the new frigate, H.M.C.S. "Beacon Hill," and senior officer of an all-Canadian naval striking force.

CANADA'S VETERANS
Their Post-War Opportunities

This is the third in a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get the full details save and read every advertisement.

For complete information write for the booklet, "Back to Civil Life."

A Civilian Again—

WHAT ABOUT A JOB? WHAT ABOUT SECURITY?

These are questions uppermost in the mind of every man and woman discharged from the forces. They want to know how to get a job. They want to know what protection there will be if they become ill, or if any other situation arises which cuts off their income. The people who planned Canada's programme of re-establishment took these things into account and much legislation has been passed looking to full employment. Many plans are still being made. There are social security provisions, especially for those in the forces, and there is assurance for veterans that when a helping hand is needed, it will be available.

JOB PLACEMENT POLICY

Special arrangements have been made for Canada's veterans who are seeking employment. Although they apply as do all Canadians through Employment and Selective Service there is a special division to deal with the problems of ex-service men and women. The staff in this division understand veterans' problems and many of them are themselves ex-service men. In addition, in key centres throughout Canada there are veterans' welfare officers who give ex-service men and women every assistance in job finding and in planning their careers.

RETURN TO FORMER JOBS

As stated in a previous advertisement, if your boy or girl held a civilian position before enlisting and was not engaged to replace somebody already in the forces, and if the position still exists and your boy or girl is capable of filling it, it is the employer's duty under the law of Canada to reinstate him or her in that position with seniority. Application for reinstatement must be made to the former employer within three months of discharge from the forces or from hospital.

CIVIL SERVICE PREFERENCE

Under the law of Canada, every ex-service man or woman, with overseas service, or disability pensioners receive preference in civil service appointment if qualified for the position for which they apply.

TO ASSIST EMPLOYMENT

Parliament, at its last session, made provision for a new Department of Reconstruction, whose function is the co-ordination of measures for the provision of full employment in Canada. Much legislation has already been passed to bring this about, while a special committee has been sitting since March of 1942, hearing expert evidence on Canada's post-war needs. Industry, the provinces and municipalities are all making plans which will provide jobs in Canada.

SOCIAL SECURITY MEASURES

Under the re-establishment program, Canada's veterans are protected against casual illness or unemployment in the 18 months following discharge. Maintenance allowances up to $50 a month, if single, and $70 for a man and his wife, with children's allowances, may be paid, for the period of service to a maximum of one year, should either condition arise. The out-of-work benefits are for those who are fit and able to work and for whom there is no work immediately available. In the case of serious illness, there is free treatment, hospitalization and allowances, for any condition, in the year following discharge.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

Every veteran who enters insurable employment is entitled, after fifteen weeks in that employment, to unemployment insurance credits as though the whole period in the services, since July 1, 1941, had been spent in the insured employment.

VETERANS' LIFE INSURANCE

Canada's veterans, in most instances, may purchase life insurance, without medical examination, to a maximum of $10,000.

OTHER LEGISLATION

A new Housing Act has been passed, providing money at low interest rates, for home financing.

Family allowances will distribute $200,000,000 a year.

Acts have been passed to maintain farm and fishery prices.

Consideration is being given, with provincial co-operation, to a wide program of National Health Insurance.

Veterans' welfare officers are stationed in key centres throughout Canada. They are the friends of ex-service men and women. It is their duty to advise and assist all ex-service personnel with their re-establishment problems. If there is anything about the rehabilitation programme which you do not understand consult your nearest welfare officer.

Canadians Launch New Attacks

Batter Germans In Fierce Duels Across Belgium

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, HOLLAND, Oct. 13 — (CP. Cable). — Canadian forces launched new attacks in the Schelde beach-Antwerp today in the face of heavy German opposition.

In the beachhead the Germans hurled the entire remaining force of the crack 64th Division to meet the new threat and a terrific slugging battle was raging this morning.

Canadians also took the offensive on the Leopold bridgehead sector, capturing the hamlet of Biezen, about 1,000 yards from the Canal near the road leading to Aardenburg. These forces now are threatening the strong-hold town of Eade.

New reports of enemy troops movement westward along the Canadian army's eastern flank stretching beyond Hertogenbosch indicate the Germans may assault in force against the Canadians' blockade of the Dutch islands at the mouth of the Schelde.

R.A.F. planes spotted heavy traffic on roads going west from Tilburg through Breda and promptly attacked, claiming the destruction of 31 Nazi vehicles.

An alternative move the Germans may be making is the further strengthening of the strongpoints of Tilburg and Breda themselves where for more than a week the Nazis have been building up resources.

Damage Barges

On the western flank meanwhile there is also considerable movement on the waterways fanning out from the mouths of the Meuse and Rhine. Fighter-bombers damaged 50-odd barges as part of a record day of 784 sorties and also discovered trains and barges in tow marked with red crosses heading for Walcheren. It is believed they were being brought south for evacuating casualties sustained in the fighting against our beachhead forces and along the Leopold Canal.

Bombers yesterday destroyed a Radar station on Walcheren Island and a wireless station near Breskens, as well as hitting Breskens itself.

North of Antwerp enemy paratroops still are providing the strongest opposition in the area south of Bergen Op Zoom.

On the causeway leading to South Beveland Island from the mainland the Germans are of far poorer quality and are relying on defence in depth with platoon posts scattered along the causeway and through the island.

Start Roundup Of Romanians

BUCHAREST, Oct. 13.—(AP). — Arrest of Romanians accused of war crimes began to-day. A decree authorized the government to use whatever measures needed to establish the political and criminal responsibilities of "the authors of the country's disaster.

Immeditaely arrested were Ion Gigurtu, premier under former King Carol and director of Romania's gold mining company, Mika; Orwaler Pop, former Minister of Justice, and Mihail Manoilescu, former Minister of Foreign Affairs. Orwaler Pop and Manoilescu signed the Vienna dictate which ceded Transylvania to Hungary.

A number of higher administrative officers of Transnistria also were taken into custody.

Gen. George Potopenanu, Minister of Economy and Finance who held a similar post under Antonescu and was for two weeks governor of Transnistria, resigned today.

FIGHT INSIDE RIGA

LONDON— A German radio report on the siege of Riga, Latvian capital and chief port, indicated to-night that Russian troops had broken into the eastern half of the city.

HURRICANE HEROINE—Irene Ayriss of Galt, a U.S. Spar attached to the U.S. Coast Guard at Cape May, N.J., who has won commendation for bravery during last month's east coast hurricane. A radioman she remained at her post until all transmitters were out of commission, even after heavy seas had torn part of the building away.

Allies Advance Steadily Through Aachen

LONDON, Oct. 13 —(CP) —American infantry fought street by street to-day into the northeastern factory district of bombed and burned Aachen while the Germans rolled up a heavy force of armor in an effort to relieve the city which was Charlemagne's capital.

The appearance of a fresh German armored division, shifted from the Arnhem sector in Holland, stirred expectation that a major tank battle would soon be joined.

Aachen, a city of 165,000 and the largest German town yet invested, was dissolving under the weight of American shells and bombs, but there was no sign of a break in the 1,500 to 2,000 Nazi S. S. troops who fought from the rubble and the sewers.

To the northeast, the Germans mounted a heavy counter-attack in the Bardenburg area. Fighting intensified, too, at Wurselen and Haaren, the tips of the Allied spearheads crowding the thin escape hatch toward Cologne. A German pocket was destroyed at Wurselen three miles north of Aachen.

The end for Aachen seemed inevitable— but there was no telling how long the battle would last.

New battles intensified in Holland north and west of the beleaguered German city.

British 2nd Army forces suddenly launched out on the right flank of their corridor into Holland, gaining more than a mile in a drive south of newly-captured Overloon, less than 10 miles from the German border.

A British staff officer said the Germans had shifted one tank divi-

CHUNGKING, Oct. 13 —(AP) — Pincher-like Japanese columns, advancing on Kweilin from the north and on Liuchow from the east, have reduced the strip of Free China between Hong Kong and Manchuria to an area 60 miles wide, Maj.-Gen. Chang Tung Chuen, Chinese military spokesman, acknowledged today.

The high command reported Japanese forces had broken into the communications centre of Kweiping, 70 miles south-southeast of Liuchow, and street fighting was in progress. Another column was reported driving upon Pingham, 80 miles southeast of Liuchow, engaging Chinese defenders 72 miles from the town.

Gen. Chang acknowledged also the loss of Foochow, which he said fell October 5.

Mammoth Air Raid Heralds New Push In Northern Italy

ROME, Oct. 13 —(CP) — An advance by Eastern Ontario infantry to within four miles of Cesena, junction town on the main Bologna-Rimini highway, was reported in a front dispatch to-day while in the hills along the Florence-Bologna road heavy fighting flared after yesterday's massive air assault on German installations and positions south of Bologna.

In this central sector, where Allied forces are driving on Bologna, key communications centre of the Po valley, 5th army troops took more than 300 prisoners, headquarters said.

In the Adriatic sector, meanwhile, the Canadians thrust up the Bologna-Rimini road, 18 miles northwest of Rimini, yesterday in continuation of the drive which earlier carried them from the Fiumicino river barrier to the Rigossa river, Bill Boss, Canadian Press War Correspondent reported.

Aided by warm weather American forces pushed ahead in the wake of yesterday's tremendous aerial attacks and partly flanked the town of Livergnano, 10 miles south of Bologna on Highway 65, today's Allied communique said.

To the east, British 8th Army forces fought their way forward in the foothills south of the Bologna-Rimini Road and occupied the village of Montiano.

They approached the Monte Dell'erta. Farther west they occupied Mont di Rullato.

The 8th Army found itself on firmer ground and appeared to be moving steadily forward everywhere except in the immediate Adriatic coastal sector where a succession of streams at short intervals gave the Germans a wide choice of defensive positions.

Gain 3 Miles

Eighth Army troops rolled the Germans off another segment of the Bologna-Rimini Road, penetrating to a point three miles beyond Savignano and capturing the villages of Balginano, Mass and Badia, as well as Montiano, south of the road. The troops which took Montiano were only 4½ miles southeast of Cesena, another junction of Highway 9.

In the hills south of the highway the Germans were putting in reinforcements and heavy fighting was in progress for the dominating peaks. Italian patriots in the mountains were continuing to harass the enemy.

The 5th Army again encountered stiff enemy resistance. In describing the heavy fighting astride Highway 65 the communique said "no material advances have been made."

Troops reached the summit of one hill only nine miles southwest of Castel San Pietro on the Bologna-Rimini Road, while other forces captured Mount Delle Formiche, 2½ miles east of Livergnano where the fiercest fighting seems to have centred.

Pulverizing Raids

Yesterday's pulverizing raids by Allied planes in their greatest blow yet in the North Italian campaign were made in an attempt to blast a pathway into the Po Valley for 5th

All-Canadian Raid A Success

LONDON, Oct. 13 —(CP Cable) — More than 100 Halifaxes of the R. C. A. F. bomber group attacked a synthetic oil plant at Wanne-Eickel in the Rhur in an All-Canadian mission yesterday.

The four-engined bombers were accompanied by fighters on their mission against the oil plant, which probably has been repaired since its last was attacked about a month ago.

German ground defences were powerful but no enemy planes were sighted. One Canadian bomber failed to return.

Wing Cmdr. G. McKenna of Kingston, Ont., and Ottawa led the Snowy Owl squadron.

FO. Don Mahoney, bomber-aimer from Saint John, N. B., saw a big explosion and said; "you could see white vapor from the blast going up 2,000 feet."

FO. J. O. W. Laske of London, Ont., brought his bomber home on three engines when anti-aircraft fire knocked out one starboard motor.

Mayors Place Brief Before Cabinet

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 — (CP). — Unless the Federal government assumes its "rightful obligations" in respect to social services, municipalities will not be able to continue to provide the services expected of them, said a brief presented by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities to a cabinet committee today.

The brief, developed from resolutions passed at the June annual meeting of the federation, was presented by Mayor F. J. Conboy of Toronto, president, who was accompanied by Mayor Garnet Coulter of Winnipeg and Mayor Lucien Borne of Quebec, executive members, and Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa, past president.

The brief said that in recent years sources of revenue previously enjoyed by municipalities have been taken away by provincial and federal governments, and at the same time additional services and obligations have been imposed on local governments with the result that real property is bearing "an inordinately heavy burden, to the discouragement of home ownership and the provision of adequate buildings of pleasing appearance for the conduct of industrial and business projects."

22 Resolutions

The delegation presented 22 resolutions to the cabinet committee headed by Finance Miniter Ilsley.

The resolutions suggested federal assistance by grants and subsidies for slum clearance and low-cost housing, provision for the housing of soldiers' families, and detailed planning for local public works in the reconstruction period.

Reds Sweep Closer To Budapest

Armored Divisions Speeding Toward Austria

By DANIEL DELUCE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Oct. 13 (AP)—Russian tanks and infantry stormed the centuries-old Junkers lands of East Prussia, barely nine miles northeast of the important city of Tilsit today, while in doomed Hungary the victorious Red Army raced for the 160-mile-distant Austrian frontier.

Great offensive against the northern and southern extremity of Germany rolled back maimed German divisions like driftwood in a flood.

Hungary's admission of defeat was expected hourly as Russian columns were converging on Budapest along the main rail lines, approximately 60 miles east of the capital and reported nearer than that on the south. All major communications between Hungary and Serbia were reported in Russian hands.

Russian forces were less than 15 miles from the only Hungarian rail lines connecting Budapest with Magyar troops at the Carpathian passes in Ruthenia. The routed German-Hungarian forces in northern Transylvania were virtually cut off.

Southern Hungary was a race track for Russian armor. The Hungarians were reported resigned to the immediate loss of Kecskemet, rich provincial city 40 miles southeast of Budapest.

Pinch Off Huns

Wilting Hungarian resistance all along the invasion front seemed to substantiate diplomatic hints that the exhausted satellite nation was about to quit. The mop-up of Hungary was counted on to prepare the springboard for the invasion of Austria as well as to assure the early liberation of the Croatian and Slovenian areas of Yugoslavia, and to pinch off the Germans in Slovakia.

(Meanwhile Turkish sources said Berlin had urged Austrians to dig for their lives in a frenzy of frontier spadework near Vienna. The broadcast proclamations appealed to the populations to follow the example of "the East Prussians and Rhinelanders," and said that all able-bodied men and women in Vienna region were at or on their way to the diggings after a mass call-up of age groups between 16 and 65.)

Russia Urges Republicans To Revolt Against Franco

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Here's a new crisis to watch: The effort of a strong Spanish Republic-and movement to start a rebellion against Gen. Franco and re-establish the republic which he re-estab- in 1939 in one of the bloodiest civil wars of history.

It's significant that the Moscow radio has been urging Spaniards to revolt against Franco. During the civil war Russia supported the Republican government, which included strong Communist elements.

Franco had the heavy backing of both Germany and Italy, and it's the German retreat from the Spanish borders in face of the Allied invasion of France that encourages the Republicans to strike.

Working of the anti-Franco ferment has been apparent for a long time. The latest development came yesterday when the Toulouse (France) radio stated that the "Supreme Junta of the Spanish National Union" (an organization set up by exiled Republicans in France to oppose Franco) had called on patriotic Spaniards to rise.

40,000 Strong

These Spanish exiles are reported to total 40,000 in southern France. Units of the organization have been raiding Spanish territory for 10 days or more, and Oct. 6 it was reported that there had been a clash between the raiders and a Spanish garrison.

Should a revolt result, the circumstances will be far different than in the last upheaval. Then Hitler and Mussolini not only provided Franco with great quantities of war supplies, but with large numbers of fighting men. The Republican Government, on the other hand, was terribly hard pressed to find resources. It received its chief foreign aid from Russia, and communications between the two countries for movement of supplies was extremely difficult.

Now, with Italy out cold and Germany hanging on the ropes, the Spanish dictator would seem to be dependent on his own resources— and they're slim. The Republicans certainly must be hoping that this time they will have great assistance from Russian sources, in view of the Moscow radio's urgent call for rebellion.

When Franco took over the country in 1935, after nearly three years of war, the devastation was terrific. There was a great shortage of raw materials and manufactured goods. The country's finances were in chaos. Naturally, with a global war raging about him, he hasn't had much chance for recovery. He certainly isn't prepared to embark on another conflict.

Franco's position may be complicated by the fact that throughout most of the war he has given his moral and material support to his friends, Hitler and Mussolini.

Inquest Shows Overdose Of Barbital Pills Caused Death Of Aimee Semple McPherson

OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 13—(AP).—A pathologist testified today at the inquest into the death of Aimee Semple McPherson that the Canadian-born evangelist died last September 27 "of shock and respiratory failure due to overdosage of barbital compound" and a kidney ailment.

The witness, Dr. Mary Ruth Oldt, said she had examined the stomach contents. Coroner Mark L. Emerson asked Dr. Oldt whether the death could have been accidental.

"It could," she replied. "A person could get in such a state of forgetfulness that he may not remember how many he has taken of these pills."

Mrs. McPherson was born on a farm near Ingersoll, Ont.

Hastings-Prince Edward Spearheads 8th Army Push

By BILL BOSS—Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC, Oct. 13—(CP Cable).—Eastern Ontario infantry, spearheading the 8th Army's Adriatic offensive, have advanced to within four miles of Cesena, junction town on the main Bologna-Rimini highway, 18 miles northwest of Rimini. The Canadians thrust up this road yesterday in continuation of the drive which earlier had carried them from the Fiumicino River barrier to the Rigossa River, just south of which they plunged into brisk fighting before the Germans were thrown back.

This battle was the first major contact made by the Canadians after a three-mile advance. A company led by Maj. Oscar Stockdale of Toronto fought a sharp action before the Germans retired to the northern bank of the river.

Germans and Canadians spent the night on either bank, within 75 yards of one another, exchanging light automatic weapons fire. Maj. Stockdale sent two night patrols across the stream and they returned with 13 prisoners.

In daylight the Ontario Regiment improved their Rigossa positions when a company under Maj. Lyle Carr of Port Hope, Ont., attacked and began the exploitation of a new bridgehead against apparently moderate resistance.

The flanks of this lean salient were guarded by Ontario, Quebec, and Maritime troops and a Toronto Highland, while the Eastern Ontario men were alone out front.

At one stage yesterday a Cornwall, Ont., colonel's headquarters was within 200 yards of a small-arms fight between his men and Germans moving their right flank in front of New Zealanders.

The New Zealanders made an advance of several thousand yards towards the Rigossa River. Greek troops to the east of them on the Adriatic coast held firmly to their positions and aided by an Allied light mobile force withstood three counter-attacks.

British and Indian troops on the Canadians' left reported little progress.

Jap Ship Losses Growing Fast

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 13 (AP)—United States carrier forces which bombed Formosa Wednesday destroyed 221 Japanese aircraft, sank 16 ships and damaged 19, it was announced today.

Admiral Nimitz released his communique shortly after the carrier force was able to break radio silence.

It was the first official information available since radio Tokyo 24 hours earlier announced the blow 575 miles south of Japan.

The communique did not identify the harbors in which the U.S. 3rd fleet carried out the operation but said no Japanese warships were encountered.

Of the Japanese airplanes destroyed, 124 were shot out of the air and 97 finished off on the ground.

American losses were 22 airplanes and "there was no damage to our surface ships," Nimitz said.

Formosa is one of the largest islands in the Pacific, 249 miles from north to south and ranging to 93 miles wide.

Expanding this offensive picture, a bomber armada completely knocked out plants supplying the enemy war machine with aviation gasoline and oil at Balikpapan on Borneo and American invaders of the Palaus swept on to their 12th island in the south end of the those stepping stones to the Philippines.

The four-day naval offensive read like this:

Oct. 8—Marcus Island, 1,135 miles southeast of Tokyo, shelled by warships.

Oct. 9—The Ryukyus, 200 miles south of Japan, attacked by hundreds of carrier-based planes in an assault during which 58 enemy surface craft were sunk or damaged and 89 planes destroyed.

Oct. 10 — Luzon attacked. Last night's communique said "detailed reports of the damage inflicted are not yet available."

Oct. 11 — Heavily-fortified Formosa, 100 miles from the China coast, raided by planes which ripped its railway network and ports. Japan did all the early talk about this blow, saying 1,000 planes made it.

Bombers Raid Vienna Area

LONDON, Oct. 13 (CP)—American bombers from Italy were reported attacking the Vienna area today after British Mosquitos bombed the port of Hamburg and other objectives in western Germany before dawn.

One night plane was lost. A German minesweeper was set afire off the Dutch coast last night.

U.S. medium and light bombers based in France added their weight to the siege of Aachen by attacking bridges and road junctions outside the frontier Prussian city.

Practically the full weight of yesterday's effort by R.A.F. tactical units was thrown into the support of the 1st Canadian Army in its bitter struggle to clear the south bank of the Schelde.

Long range R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Mosquitos, which had recently gone as far as Munich looking for the Luftwaffe, yesterday zipped all the way to Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia to destroy 14 aircraft and damage a number of others on the ground.

A Canadian wing racked up eight on two airfields 60 miles south of Prague and another group got six on two fields near Zagreb in Yugoslavia. For the latter outfit it was a round trip of more than 2,000 miles.

15-Year-Old Boy Plays Heroic Role

TORONTO, Oct. 13 —(CP) —Fifteen-year-old Douglas Bruce of Toronto re-entered his burning home early to-day to find his father, Irving J. Bruce. The lad found his father, dazed and choking from dense smoke, groping his way along the upper hallway of their home and led him to safety.

Mr. Bruce had helped an elderly woman to the street and returned to get some valuables when he became affected by the smoke.

EXTRA!

OUTSIDE AACHEN— The German escape gap leading east from Aachen was cut to half a mile tonight and was being closed.

LONDON— Russian and Yugoslav forces have "penetrated" the walls of Belgrade, a special communique from Marshal Tito's Partisan Army headquarters said tonight.

Wilson Leads Huge Army Second Time

Germans Believed Evacuating City Of Athens

ROME, Oct. 13.—(AP).—Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean, said in a broadcast tonight that "a force under my command is about to land in Greece" and that the kingdom's liberation was at hand.

Unofficial reports said that the Greek flag was flying over the Acropolis in Athens and that the Athens radio was in Allied hands.

LONDON—Rome radio broadcast an "unofficial announcement" to-day that Athen has been evacuated by the Germans and its administration is in the hands of Greek Patriots.

Allied proclamations were broadcast promising immediate aid to the Greeks.

Gen. Wilson told the Greeks:

"Your day of liberation is at hand. For the second time in this war, a force under my command is about to land in Greece, but I am thankful to say, under very different conditions."

The Allied commander declared: "We come now to sweep away all traces of the invader and, by use of your ports and airfields, to harass his retreat." He said the Allies were also returning to restore Greece's administrative services.

Late in September, small British forces landed in the Peloponnesus, the large southern peninsula of the Greek mainland, and with Greek Patriots cleared the Germans from most of that area, capturing Patrai, Pyrgos and Corinth. Ancient Corinth is but 40 miles southwest of Athens, the Greek capital.

Gen. Wilson's broadcast to-night indicated an Allied landing in force was imminent, as contrasted to the rather small forces employed in the Peloponnesus.

A proclamation by the Greek government called upon all Greeks to obey the regime of King George II. and promised "just punishment" of everyone who collaborated with the Nazis.

The government warned that "any punitive action attempted against such persons (collaborators) by isolated individuals or organizations "not guaranteeing dispensation of

Bail $50,000 In Kidnapping

DETROIT Oct. 13—(AP).—Mrs. Eleanor Smith pleaded innocent today to a charge that she kidnapped four-month-old Bobby King, and Judge Christopher E. Stein set her bond at $50,000.

Prosecutor William E. Dowling asked the high bond saying that "this crime has shocked many homes."

Dowling said that Mrs. Smith, a Negress, obtained a position as nursemaid in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence King, who are white, a week before the disappearance of their baby. The infant was recovered at her home last Tuesday night.

Mrs. Smith was held to wait examination next Wednesday.

Detective Albert Delamieuileure said she had indicated an intention to plead guilty this morning but apparently changed her mind.

Her court appearance came three hours after she ended a 57-hour hunger strike by eating a pint of ice cream. Previously she had declared she was "too sick to eat."

Sugar Racket Is Uncovered

36 Complaints Laid, Involving 1,000,000 Pounds

MONTREAL, Oct. 13 (CP) — Thirty-six complaints have been laid against nine Montreal firms requiring sugar in the manufacture of their products, following investigation of what prices board officials qualified yesterday as "the biggest sugar black market yet uncovered," allegedly involving 1,000,000 pounds of illegally obtained sugar.

Prices board officials did not give out the names of the firms against whom complaints have been signed with corresponding summonses being made returnable October 20, as it was understood that similar charges will be laid against other companies.

The complaints yesterday were said to have been issued against a feed and grain merchant, local bakeries, soft drink manufacturers and a straw company.

The charges were said to be for illegal possession of sugar ration coupons, selling sugar to quota or industrial users without obtaining surrender of ration checks or purchase documents covering the quantities sold, selling sugar above ceiling prices.

Rocket-Firing Typhoons Open Way For Canadians

LONDON, Oct. 13 — (CP Cables) —R. A. F. tactical warplanes reducing Canadian casualties through rocket and bomb attacks on enemy positions about to be assaulted by ground forces, hurled practically the full weight of 650 Typhoon sorties yesterday in support of the 1st Canadian Army's struggle to clear the south bank of the Schelde.

The Air Ministry said a nest of enemy pill-boxes and machine-guns causing "heavy" casualties among the Canadians was attacked by Typhoons with rockets and 500 and 1,000-pound bombs.

Less than 300 yards away Canadian infantry and tanks awaited the order to advance. An army liaison officer in an observation aircraft reported many hits in the target and the infantry went forward.

"You have only to think of Le Havre, where the casualties were merely 400 compared with a bag of more than 11,000 prisoners to realize the value of such attacks," an English group captain said after the attack.

Cattle Market Fairly Active Holdover Drops

TORONTO, Oct. 13 — (CP). — The cattle market opened on the Livestock Market here on Tuesday with a fairly active trade at strong prices. However, packer buying eased off on Wednesday and prices were easier with several hundred plainer cattle unsold. Calves were steady on vealers and weak on the grassers. Hogs and sheep were unchanged. Lambs closed 25 cents a cwt. higher.

The cattle holdover from last week was 1,800 head, and light fresh arrivals alowed the holdover to be cut down to below 1,000 this week. Weighty steers sold at a top of $12 for choice, with common downward to $10. Butcher steers were $8.50 to $11 and heifers sold from $10.50 down. Butcher cows were slow at $7 to $8.75, with canners and cutters from $4 to $6.75. Bulls were $5.50 to $8 and fed yearlings $11.50 to $13.50. Stockers moved slowly at $6 to $9.50 cwt. Good milkers and springers were $130 to $150 each.

Veal calves sold at $14 to $15 for choice with common rough calves downward to $7. Some heavy Western calves sold slowly to $8.50 to $10. Grassers closed at $5 to $5.50.

Lambs closed at $12.75 for good ewes and wethers delivered by rail, with bucks $11.75, culls $7 to $8. Sheep sold stead at $1.50 to $4 cwt. Returns from Buffalo showed good Ontario lambs selling at $15 cwt., with others from $11.50 to $13.50.

Hogs were $17.15 to $17.25 for Grade B1 and $17.55 to $17.65 for Grade A. Sows were $13 dressed.

Jap Counter Fails At Tiddim

KANDY, Ceylon, Oct. 13 — (CP). — Japanese forces, counter-attacking with artillery support east of Tiddim, were beaten off with heavy casualties yesterday by British troops, Allied headquarters announced today.

A raiding force operating in Burma 22 miles south of Tiddim attacked successfully a Japanese post.

Patrols of the British 14th Army have been operating for some time in the area of the Tiddim-Kalmyo Road, the enemy's main outlet from the Chin Hills.

On the Arakan front, West African forces pushed beyond the captured village of Mowdok in the Sangu Valley, but lost contact with Japanese units which had attacked them near Gopper Pass.

Seven Points.

A proclamation from Lt.-Gen. Ronald M. Scobie, commander of British forces in Greece, laid down seven points for the conduct of Greeks. They were:

1—Comply fully with the instructions of the government and himself.

2—Make certain they do not unwittingly obey false instructions.

3—Assist the British forces by maintaining order and keeping the roads clear.

4—Public officials remain at their posts.

5—The people are to stay where they are, even though far from home.

6—Conserve supplies and avoid black market speculations.

7—Co-operation of all Greeks regardless of political differences until the enemy is gone and relief arrives.

The three proclamations by Gen. Wilson, Gen. Scobie, and the Government were broadcast to Greeks and also distributed by leaflets over the entire country.

The leaders of various Greek guerilla forces already have agreed to place themselves under Scobie's command.

Friday 13th Double Trouble

By The Canadian Press

Friday the 13th—day of double trouble for the superstitious—is back after an absence of 14 months. That's today in case you hadn't noticed and whether or not you hold any brief for its superstitions there will be many people inclined to stay in bed or who'll hesitate about starting a new job or a journey.

There is no historical or statistical evidence to show Friday the 13th is more unlucky than any other day on the calendar. Psychologists point out however that although many persons with scientific habits of thought may scoff at the implications of the day, they are not always immune to impulses of fear and despair, inherited from more superstitious ancestors.

So you may see an abundance of rabbit's foots, horseshoes and other gadgets in evidence today.

Psychologists say too, that although science takes no stock in any of these superstitions, if a person is extremely superstitious about Friday the 13th, something could perhaps more easily happen to him. He may become so upset fearing a certain thing may happen as to dull his alertness to other dangers.

Probably the most accepted version of the origin of Friday the 13th goes back to Biblical times. There were 13 at the Last Supper, including Judas Iscariot, who next day, traditionally a Friday, betrayed Jesus Christ for crucifixion.

Hun Plane Total Greater Than 1939

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(AP)—The Luftwaffe now has more aircraft than when Hitler sent it against Poland in 1939, Gen. H. H. Arnold said yesterday, but is grounded for lack of gasoline and oil.

The commanding general of the United States Army Air Forces said that the non-flying status of German planes resulted from carefully planned and boldly executed Allied attacks on their sources of supply, their communications and their storage places.

Germany's present productive capacity for synthetic fuels, he told a meeting of the Wings Club, is down to 30 per cent of normal. Much of the petroleum it had hoped to use is in Norway and Greece—cut off by lack of communications—and in pipelines and storage places where it cannot be used.

He said the fuel shortage led the Germans first to reduce training, then to cut out miscellaneous missions, next to cut flying by "brass hats," and finally to end training altogether, so that in addition to a lack of fuel there is also now a shortage of pilots.

Delegates Named To Area Convention

MARMORA, Oct. 13 (ENS)—The monthly meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held Wednesday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. L. Green.

It was announced that the training school would be held in Stirling, October 30 and 31. Local members will attend the Springbrook lecture. The area convention will be held at Belleville on October 24 and 25, the theme being "As the home is, so is the nation." The president will attend as delegate and Mrs. H. W. Sabines will represent the district.

Final plans for the dance tonight were made and twelve ditty bags will be filled for the Salvation Army. It was decided to send a box of new or used clothing to this organization. The packing of the ditty bags will be carried out in St. Paul's parish hall on October 20. A paper was read by Mrs. H. A. Burwash on "New Hope for the Future." The remainder of the evening was devoted to bingo.

sion south from the Arnhem sector to Aachen and that there were signs of more Germans being moved from the Dutch salient into the Aachen battle zone.

North of the fortress city of Metz, the U.S. 3rd Army was fighting hand-to-hand in the streets of Mezieres Les Metz. The remainder of the 3rd Army front including the strange, underground battle for Fort Driant, was unchanged, a field dispatch said.

Bombed Steadily

The overwhelmingly Allied air superiority was used in the heightening battles of the north. The Allied communique said:

"Aachen was dive-bombed and strafed yesterday by hundreds of fighter-bombers."

Earlier German counter-thrusts from the east in the vicinity of Verlauthenheide and Haaren were repulsed by American artillery. Bitter fighting continued, however, both at Haaren and Wurselen.

One front dispatch said German armor in strength was seen plunging down "Hell's Highway," the narrow gap between the American forces northeast of the city. This stirred expectation of a major tank battle.

Earlier, Allied fighter-bombers spotted Nazi tanks crunching toward Aachen and attacked them in a wood where they went into hiding.

The Canadians captured the village of Biezen near the Leopold Canal and repelled a German counter-attack north of the great Belgian port of Antwerp. Until the Schelde estuary has been cleared, Antwerp—second largest port in all Europe — cannot be used by the Allies to supply and power their attack into Germany.

Fighters and fighter-bombers were used profusely to support the Canadian drive against a division or so of trapped Germans south of the river and on the Dutch islands, flooded by bomb-broken dikes. Fortified positions were bombed at Oostburg, Sluis and Schoondijke. Heavy bombers pouned gun emplacements at Fort Frederick-Henrik. Mediums attacked batteries north of Knickeiere.

Other planes supported ground troops in the Dutch salient, around Arnhem and Nijmegen. Transport targets were bombed near Amersfoot and Appeldoorn and elsewhere in Holland.

Russians Take Finnish Port

LONDON, Oct. 13—(CP). — Soviet troops have occupied the port of Liinahamari, in the Petsamo area of Northern Finland, a Berlin broadcast said today.

The Petsamo area was turned over to Russia under terms of Finland's armistice with the Soviet Union and Britain.

Petsamo itself still is in German hands, the Transocean Agency reported later.

Liinahamari is the northern terminus of the Arctic highway, at the northern end of the Bothnian Gulf, and the landing puts the Russians only 12 air miles from Norway.

Light German naval forces and Russian speedboats were reported to have clashed off Petsamo, which has been attacked constantly by the Russians from the air during the last few days.

Mastery of the air would menace the escape route of German armies trying to retreat to Norway.

While the campaign in Hungary took on the appearance of a foregone conclusion, East Prussia and the remainder of the German front on the Baltic coast was a heavy slugging match all the way. Raging assaults carried the Russians within five miles of the eastern limits of Riga and slashed into the siege defences of the port of Memel.

The East Prussian line cracked beyond the frontier town of Sartininkai, 13 miles northeast of Tilsit.

Attacks toward Tilsit brought the Russians within 42 miles of Insterburg and 65 miles of Konigsberg, East Prussia capital.

Paris radio said: "The Russians are reported to have crossed the East Prussian border at three different points."

for the expansion of air services should be undertaken. The government had appointed a committee to study such development and its work should be expedited so that municipalities would have the result of its findings as soon as possible.

Heavy Burden

The burden to municipalities because of tax-free government properties had increased greatly during the war. The maintenance of government buildings was a charge on the country as a whole and there was no reason why municipal taxes should not be included.

All Canadians received any benefits which accrued from the operation of the Canadian National Railways and there was no reason why its lands, properties and plants should not be fully taxed. Government-owned companies should not be allowed to shift their tax burden on to others.

Municipalities should be allowed to keep air raid precautions equipment they now have, without charge.

Federal and provincial governments should pay "a proper pension" to the aged, with medical care for old age pensioners and mother's allowance cases, the latter under a scheme of national health insurance. Government plans for establishment of health and physical culture centres should include provision for medical, dental and hospital services for all citizens.

Federal and provincial governments should assume the full cost of cancer treatment where required, while steps should be taken to ensure adequate allowances and training for the blind.

"Necessary measures" should follow a survey to decide what was required to make Indians self-supporting. Direct relief costs caused by unemployables should be carried by the provincial and federal governments. Special technical and academical training schools should be carried by the provincial and federal governments. Special technical and academical training schools should be established for the training of returned members of the armed services.

The brief said that in certain municipalities considerable damage has been done roads and highways by armored trucks and other military vehicles. Federal gants should be made for repairs.

Polish Problem Solution Still Remote

MOSCOW, Oct. 13—(AP).—Belief prevailed in Moscow today that the rival Polish governments may reach a compromise agreement before conclusion of Prime Minister Churchill's current talks with Marshal Stalin but responsible diplomatic sources did not minimize the difficulties to be surmounted.

Premier Stalislaw Mikolajczyk, who flew here from London yesterday by invitation, conferred upon arrival with Foreign Secretary Eden. He was to talk with other high leaders of Great Britain and Russia before meeting the chief members of the Russian-sponsored Lublin committee of liberation with which he failed to reach agreement two months ago.

Mikolajczy was granted no "blank cheque" by his London government. Even in event of a provisional agreement he would have to return to London and submit it for approval.

His government is willing to discuss the border question with the Soviet Union, but has not offered to renounce the 1934 constitution which it claims as sole legal authority. Mikolajczyk suggested to the Lublin committee in August the reorganization of his government on the basis of five major political parties, including the Polish workers, or Communist party. To this he received no reply.

The Lublin group wants the Polish President shorn of his powers, the 1935 constitution abandoned, and appointment of the Lublin commander-in-chief, Col.-Gen. Rola Zymierski, as head of Polish armed forces.

Indications that Moscow has not warmed toward the Polish government in London developed today when the Moscow radio broadcast fresh denunciation of the exiled group.

Criticism was contained in a Moscow report of a mass meeting of Polish youth at Lublin "a few days ago" at which a captain of the National Liberation Committee's Security Corps charged capitulation in Warsaw of Lt.-Gen. Tadeusz Komorowski's home army was "premeditated treachery."

Weather Smiles On Roseneath Fair Board Envious Neighbours Watch Bank Roll Grow

The weather smiled to-day, and once more, on the Roseneath Fair, a beaming golden smile of a perfect October day. And as say the lads who sometimes depend on the fickleness of chance and fortune, category of the weather when autumn passes by, the directors of Roseneath Fair "must live right." They are the envy of almost every fall fair in Central Ontario, with the probable exception of Madoc, with assets of cash and Victory Bonds in the bank, an attractive property reflecting prosperity in substantial buildings and paint that is never permitted to look faded and drab.

Fred Slade is president of the Roseneath Fair, and under his leadership it has gone steadily from one success to another, ranking today among the best in the province in its class. Mr. Slade is surrounded by a body of directors who make the utmost of such days as this. To them their fair is a business and permits no slack attention—friendly folks with every man a job to do—and doing it. But why go on? Roseneath Fair Board will have another chunk of casn in the bank to-morrow, all set for their share of the new Victory Loan.

Part-Time Help Is Refused

A recommendation of the Advisory Vocational committee that a part-time helper be engaged to do some stenography and mimeographing work for F. E. Johnston at the Vocational School, failed to carry at the Board of Education meeting, Thursday night.

It was moved by D. V. Canning and P. Scollard that no action be taken. When the vote was taken, five members, Dr. C. M. Scott, Mrs. F. K. Harris, Mrs. R. Parnall, Mr. Canning and Mr. Scollard supported it. Alex Scollitt and T. J. Carley were against it.

At a committee meeting held a few days ago, Mr. Johnston requested a full-time assistant, stressing the urgency of getting stencils cut for mimeographing work needed in night school classes. He said that the two secretaries in the office were already fully employed and the teachers did not have the necessary time to do it. At that time the committee refused to agree to a full-time helper, but recommended that the Board authorize him to get some one for part-time.

When the recommendation was presented to the Board, Mr. Canning declared that he was not in favor of it.

Where Will it End?

"This is a situation which is creeping up on us. We had only two secretaries when there was a larger crowd in attendance than there is now. I can't understand why the students taking those courses can't fill the breach."

G. W. Craw, chairman, explained that the only reason the recommendation passed the committee was because of the urgency of completing the work and the skill needed in preparing it.

"Did the committee feel fully convinced of the need of an assistant?" queried Dr. C. M. Scott.

"We did feel that on occasions it was required," replied Mr. Carley.

"I still feel that the teachers could do the sketches and with two secretaries handling work for 100 fewer pupils than at the school's peak, I think we should manage. The first thing we know, they'll want three full-time women in the office and then another part-time employee," emphasized Mr. Canning.

Other suggestions of this committee were accepted and included approval of the purchase of lumber, referred to the Property committee for action; approval of the opening of night classes; and the gate valve correction was also left with the Property committee.

Salary Increase

An increase in salary was granted to Mrs. G. Nicholson, who was recently appointed to the staff of janitors at the Collegiate. Mr. Sollitt explained that although her salary was much below the lowest wages paid to the men, she did almost the same amount of work, he discovered upon investigation. He declared that he felt this was unfair, and listed comparative figures on the amount of cleaning work done by the staff.

"If she does just as good work as the men, then I think there should be a more equal rate," said Mrs. Harris.

The lowest wage for a male janitor is $1,150 for 12 months without cost of living bonus. Mrs. Nicholson's salary is $600 for 10 months with cost of living bonus.

Board members agreed that since the men looked after the fires and shovelled snow, Mrs. Nicholson did not rate an equal salary, and it was moved by Mrs. Harris and Mr. Sollitt that she be granted an increase from $60 a month plus cost of living bonus, to $75 a month plus cost of living bonus.

Shift Plan

Mr. Sollitt also offered the suggestion that it might be possible to have the janitor staff work in shifts, and suggested a 24-hour plan. Mr. Craw said that even if they did not adopt a 24-hour shift, it might be arranged to have the staff come on duty from 3 o'clock. It was pointed out that during the day, they were handicapped by not being able to get at their work, and then having to do it in two or three hours after school. The matter was left for future consideration.

A wreath is to be purchased by the Board, for Remembrance Day at the request of the Canadian Legion and the chairman of the Board, Mr. Craw, is to place it on the monument. This was on a motion by Mr. Carley and Mrs. Harris.

A request from Eldon Ray, on the P.C.V.S. teaching staff, for a letter to the Divisional Registrar regarding another postponement from military duty, was granted on a motion by Mr. Carley and Mr. Sollitt.

The Property committee report was adopted recommending the engaging of help for Fred Finnie, building superintendent, having in mind someone with plumbing, heating and carpentry experience.

The Supervision committee report was also passed. It was recommended that Schedule 1 of the Workmen's Compensation Act be adopted for the Board, whereby all the staff would be fully covered at the provisional rate of 30 cents for $100 of payroll. In addition, permission was also granted the Kinsmen Club's request for co-operation of teachers and pupils in the Hallowe'en plans to help Milk for Britain.

FDR Promises Italy Freedom

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 — (AP). — President Roosevelt, saying the Allies entered Italy "not as conquerors but as liberators," has promised the Italian people they "will be free to work out their own destiny, under a government of their own choosing" when the United Nations defeat Germany.

"The United Nations are determined that every possible measure be taken to aid the Italian people directly and to give them an opportunity to help themselves," the President said last night in a radio address from the White House.

It was directed to the meeting of the Italian-American Labor Council in New York in acceptance of the council's four freedoms award.

Earlier, Mr. Roosevelt addressed chiefs of diplomatic mission from the other American Republics on the occasion of Columbus Day. Recalling the millions of Italians who have followed Columbus to the western hemisphere, he said:

"This is one of the many reasons why the forces of liberation have been welcomed so cordially by the Italian people after 22 years of Fascism."

Saying aviation has brought the old and the new worlds closer, Mr. Roosevelt asserted that "if we do not now take effective measures to prevent another world war and if there were to be a third world war, the lands of the western hemisphere would be as vulnerable to attack from Europe and Asia as were the Island of Crete and the Philippine Islands five years ago."

"Our objective," he said, "is to establish the solid foundations of the peace organization without further delay, and without waiting for the end of hostilities."

Canadian Troops Wipe Out 3 Battalions

WITH THE CANADIANS IN HOLLAND, Oct. 13 —(CP Cable)— The equivalent of three German infantry battalions is reported to have been wiped out by Western Canada troops during the wild four-day battle of the Leopold Canal bridgehead. This would total about 1,500 men.

The enemy threw in company after company to try to drive the Canadians back into the canal but every attack failed and their losses rolled upwards. The Canadians mowed down the Germans by the score as the enemy rushed their positions.

It has been estimated that originally there were about 5,000 Germans in the pocket south of the Schelde estuary and the loss of 1,500 in this abortive attempt to drive the Canadians back across the canal is a grave blow to the enemy garrison, which now is faced with an even more threatening thrust from the beachhead on the south short of the Schelde estuary.

Flying Bombs Harass London

LONDON, Oct. 13 — (CP). — Flying bombs were launched over the North Sea against southern England and the London area last night. One was brought down.

Again the familiar "damage and casualties have been reported" appeared in the official announcement.

One robot burst in the air, another struck a tavern causing damage but no casualties, and another crashed in open ground but its spreading blast wrecked a number of houses and caused casualties.

Build Pavilion At Cobourg Park

COBOURG, Oct. 13 — (ENS) — Cobourg Park may have a new pavilion, replacing the weather-beaten one which has been standing for many years and is now almost beyond repair. The lessee, Stan Williams, who has a five-year lease on the building, conferred with the Parks Commission at a meeting last night and tentative plans were drawn up by which a new pavilion, costing about $5,000 would be built at no cost to the Commission. The financing of the job would be done by Mr. Williams under the terms of his lease and upon the expiration of the five year lease he would have the option of renewing.

On Wednesday evening next, the Commission and Mr. Williams, along with an architect, will go further into the matter.

Air Meetings of Interest to Canada

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 13.—(CP).—Canada's special concern with the future of international aviation makes the two international conferences taking place at Montreal and Chicago within the next few weeks of special interest to the Canadian government.

Officials who for the past year or more have given a good part of their time to aviation problems are busy preparing for the meetings, out of which may emerge decisions which will determine Canada's role both in regard to inter-empire and world civil flying after the war.

Delegations which will represent Canada at both meetings will be announced soon.

It is expected Munitions Minister Howe will head the group attending the United Nations civil aviation conference at Chicago opening Nov. 1. The British commonwealth conference which starts at Montreal Oct. 23 will be on the technical and official level and probably H. J. Symington, president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, also will be the principal working Canadian representative at Chicago as it is not expected Mr. Howe will be able to attend throughout the whole conference.

Kinsmen Plan Farmers' Night

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 13 (ENS)—The Campbellford Kinsmen's Club at their final meeting at Villa Trent before moving to winter quarters, decided that as a go-between before this change the club would accept the kind invitation of Stanwood ladies to hold a Farmer's night at the United church in that locality. Ron Hazell was placed in charge of arrangements, and each Kinsman is expected to take as his guest a farmer from the vicinity of Stanwood.

The membership certificates which arrived last week from the National secretary, S. H. Bautick, were distributed. Arnold Bates reported that Principal Haig and staff of the Public school would cooperate in the Hallowe'en Shell out, which is open also to the pupils of the Separate school.

Truckers Are Fined For Raising Rates

COBOURG, Oct. 13 — (ENS) — Declaring himself in sympathy with the accused but at the same time aware that price levels must be maintained, Magistrate R. B. Baxter yesterday fined Hilliard O'Connell and Arthur Covert of Roseneath, ten dollars and costs for breach of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board regulations. The two, who are partners in a trucking firm, were charged with raising their haulage rates per hog to Toronto from 60 cents to 70 cents a head. At the hearing last week, O'Connell said that operating costs had arisen so much that he couldn't operate on 60 cents per head, as formerly charged. Cameron Harnden of Grafton, a defence witness, testified at that time that he had to go out of business and that he was charging 60 cents a head on a shorter haul than O'Connell, finding his operating costs too high to make any profit at that figure.

The County And The Civic Hospital

The decision of the County Council to contribute $150,000 toward the building of the new Peterborough civic or general hospital will be received with satisfaction, we are sure, both in the county and in the city; there were those who had hoped that the contribution might be $200,000, and there were those who feared that it might be markedly lower than it is. But when we examine the means by which the Council arrived at the $150,000 figure it appears to be a fair contribution, and we do not think that anyone will quarrel with it.

It is fitting that the county should make a substantial contribution toward the hospital, for the county will receive great benefit from it. Owing to the special circumstances which have governed the building and maintenance of hospitals in Peterborough the community and county have never fully realized how expensive a hospital can be. The upkeep of a modern hospital of the size needed for this area is a heavy expense; the building of such a hospital is proportionately expensive. We must realize these things and pay the cost cheerfully, for in the long run it is far better to pay the costs of an efficient and adequate hospital than it is to suffer the inconveniences and dangers which are inseparable from an out-of-date hospital. Building a new general hospital is an investment in public health, and money spent on public health is wisely invested, and brings big returns.

After the beginning of next year the county population will be 16,000, as compared with the 36,000 in the city. The hospital needs of 16,000 people—almost half the city population—are likely to be heavy and the County Council has made the move which will assure them of adequate accommodation. The building of a new general hospital is an important progressive step for Peterborough, and the people of the city are glad that the people of the county have shown this fine spirit of cooperation in taking the step with them.

Size And Importance

Referring to an Associated Press dispatch which mentioned the city of Belgrade, the Ottawa Journal speaks of it thus:

> As a matter of fact, Belgrade is picayune among the cities of Europe. Belgrade is famous historically as the storm centre in older times of the conflict between advancing hordes of Turks and the Christian nations of Europe—but since, Belgrade has not been of much importance, except as the capital of the comparatively minor state of Yugoslavia. Belgrade has a population of approximately 260,000 by latest advices, but there are a hundred or so of cities in Europe of greater size or population.

If we interpret this aright, it says: "Age and history are nothing; size is everything". We are quite sure that the Journal does not really mean this. Nor do we think that it would, on second thoughts, speak of the "comparatively minor state of Yugoslavia"; in 1931 Yugoslavia had a population considerably larger than that of Canada, and as Rebecca West has recently shown in a brilliant book, Black Lamb and Grey Falcon, the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes are not now, and never have been, insignificant in their effect on the history of Europe. The Journal, we are sure, wrote hurriedly and should not be held accountable for such unguarded statements.

But preoccupation with size for its own sake is a bad mental quirk of this continent. We expect little of a city unless it has a million people, or is on its way toward the million mark. Any town less than a million in population may be excused for ugliness, provinciality and intellectual and cultural nullity. The favourite excuse for any shortcoming is "When we have another twenty thousand people we may think about it, but we're still small; still, we're the biggest little city for our size in Canada".

It is time that we got over such childishness. In Europe cities with comparatively small populations have achieved great beauty in outward form, and have produced a rich and varied life for their inhabitants. Size in a city is useful, but quality is more important. As with people, character and bulk are not always found together.

Misrepresentation In Newsreels

The observation has been made, without any great rancour, by several Canadian papers that to look at the newsreels which appear regularly in our movie theatres one would imagine that the war was being fought exclusively by American troops. The people who make the newsreels design them for a movie audience—that is to say, an audience which is uncritical in its attitude toward most things, including its own patriotism.

But some critical people do go to the movies, both here and in the United States, and they are offended by what they see. This is a comment by Bosley Crowther, the movie critic of the New York Times:

> And speaking of newsreels, we must enter a complaint against Paramount News for its first pictures on the subject of the airborne operation in the Netherlands. Entitled "Red Devil Paratroops", these pictures purported to show the beginning of that great operation which reached its climax in the pocket of Arnhem. Now, of course, the Arnhem sector was invaded solely by British troops, and "the heroes of Arnhem" are mentioned very pointedly in the commentary on this reel. Yet the troops shown in the pictures are all American, and the plain inference from the treatment is that the operation was mainly an American show. This emphasis discredits our Allies and is a reckless distortion of fact. Such occasional deceptions in the newsreels do no good to anyone.

Is there any need to pretend about such things? And is it wise to mislead the public in this way? Newspapers would not dream of doing so, and neither would the radio. Why are the makers of newsreels so contemptuous of the ethics which govern all distributors of news?

Death Of Nella Jefferis

The death of Miss Nella Jefferis of Toronto robs Canada of a tireless and gifted worker in the cause of the theatre and a native drama. It may be said without exaggeration that she worked herself to death during the war years, arranging entertainments for servicemen and their wives and children; for many years she was active in charitable work, and when the war came she transferred all her energy to patriotic causes. Some months ago her health broke under the strain and she was unable to rally her strength for further efforts.

Anyone who had any connection with the Dominion Drama Festivals, instituted by Lord Bessborough and continued until the outbreak of war, knew Miss Jefferis or had heard of her, for she never relaxed her efforts to build up the standard of festival work, and she travelled everywhere in the country to give encouragement to small groups and large which were interested in the Little Theatre movement. She had herself had professional experience on the stage, and was an actress of range and ability. She devoted herself to the Little Theatre in the hope that it might grow into a professional theatre, and a national theatre for Canada. She was one of a comparatively small group of people who recognized the dramatic ability which is latent in Canada and which, developed, would enrich our national culture. When the Drama Festivals are resumed after the war Nella Jefferis will be sorely missed; in her energetic and pleasant way she did much for the artistic life of this Dominion.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Now that the professional hockey players training at Port Arthur have agreed to work four hours a day in the grain elevators, a contemporary naively observes that it may put them in shape "to keep going for five minutes at a time on the ice instead of three". That strikes us as a rare sample of over-optimism.

A beauty expert says that a woman's eyes are her most romantic asset. We do not wish to appear cantankerous, but it is the setting of the eye—colour of skin, length and thickness of lashes, and the position in the skull—which gives it beauty. An eye removed from its setting looks like nothing so much as a peeled grape.

In Cambridge, Mass., a young woman ordered something in a restaurant which was not available, and the waitress asked her if she knew there was a war on? Whereupon the young lady smashed several dishes and made a fuss; her three brothers and her fiance are all in the services! We hope that she broke a few dishes on the waitress's head, just to teach her not to ask silly and offensive questions.

"Displaced Persons"

By B. T. RICHARDSON

ONE of the chief achievements of the second meeting of the council of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, as the British member, Mr. Law, pointed out at the concluding session, was its practical plans to remove millions of persons who have been living in slavery in Germany back to their homes. The problem of displaced persons, to use the term favored by UNRRA officials, is among the major problems of postwar relief. The official estimate places 10,000,000 nationals of the United Nations outside the borders of their own countries in Europe, another 12,000,000 who have shifted about within their own national territory, and 40,000,000 in China.

The war has been one of the greatest agencies of forced migration in history, and millions of people will seek their homes again once they are free to do so. This possibility, foreshadowing desperate chaos in Europe's transportation systems and a period of footloose misery for millions, will call for prompt and comprehensive action. It will be UNRRA's job, in conjunction with the governments of the new Europe. A thousand questions crop up at every turn. What about the Poles in Russia? In Germany? What about the Baltic peoples moved to Germany? The Spanish labourers in France since the Spanish Revolution? The enslaved labourers in Germany, collected from a dozen countries?

UNRRA cannot provide an answer to every question in advance, but it will be available to help local authorities. It will have to walk exceedingly carefully, to avoid tripping over political issues, for the movement of peoples has been an instrument of policy with Axis governments and the governments of liberated countries will have political views of their own to take into account.

MR. Lehman, the director-general of UNRRA, laid down this principle: "Every country will decide whether every person who applies for readmission is entitled to it. UNRRA cannot decide that. It is within the jurisdiction of the country itself." Mr. Pearson, the Canadian chairman of the Montreal Conference, said: "The country of reception is in the last analysis the country which will decide who are its nationals." At a press conference, Mr. Acheson, the United States member, said: "The decision on where they go is a combination of the choice of the individual and the consent of the government of the area where he wants to go." Mr. M. P. L. Steenberghe, member from the Netherlands, said the forced workers and civilian prisoners in Germany would wish to "to move away as quickly as possible from the hated country and reach their homesteads with all the means at their disposal.

The Montreal Conference clarified and widened UNRRA's responsibility for displaced persons, through two formal resolutions. UNRRA is designed, under international agreement, to provide relief for citizens of the United Nations. The displaced persons problem will take it into enemy and ex-enemy country. One resolution authorized its officers to repatriate and return persons from enemy territory who were displaced through enemy action because of "race, religion or activities in favour of the United Nations." This resolution brought the whole problem of the Jewish populations of axis and United Nations territories alike within its scope. The other resolution took account of displaced persons, not of United Nations nationalities, who will be found in liberated areas.

IN the case of UNRRA operations in enemy territory, as well as in liberated territory, the first charge on moving displayed persons will be made against the local currency.' This will mean that eGrmany will pay for moving back to their homes the millions of forced workers there, if UNRRA can collect directly or through the military occupation authorities.

The UNRRA description of enemy nationals found in liberated areas is "intruders." Each government obviously looks at the problem of getting intruders out and getting citizens back to their homes in the light of special cases. This was the chief point of argument on the problem of displaced persons. The Czech delegation argued the problem could not be handled strictly on the basis of mutilateral agreement. Bilateral agreements will be made between governments in some cases, and while none were reported to the conference, it was known that every government of a country to be liberated has been working on the problem. Bilateral agreement made between countries will take precedence over UNRRA facilities.

Since UNRRA is a temporary organization, the long-range problem of refugee peoples will remain with the intergovernmental committee on refugees, formed at Evian in 1938, and now consisting of 38 member governments. This committee, as Dr. Alexander Kunosi, the Czechoslovakian delegate explained, will continue in its work of settling refugees who are unable or unwiling to return to their homes. There will be thousands in that class after the war, for the problem was already a staggering one before 1939.

Calgary's Name

There have been different explanations of how Calgary obtained its name. The matter is now believed in that city to have been cleared up by the announcement of an engagement in a Scottish newspaper.

The bride-to-be, a Miss Mackenzie, was described as "a member of an old Argyllshire family who held the lairdship of the Calgary estate on the island of Mull for several hundred years." It was stated that "the property, which was recently sold, gave its name to the city of Calgary in Canada" and that "this came about through the friendship of her grandfather, John Munro Mackenzie, with the then commissioner of the Northwest Territories, Colonel James Macleod." He was "a frequent visitor to the Mackenzie family in Mull and, when sent out to Alberta to quell a rising of the Indians, named his fort Calgary."

Colonel (afterwards Judge) Macleod was the commissioner of the Northwest Mounted Police not of the territories, and when he came west in 1873 as an officer of that force there was no rising of the Indians for him to quell. For a long while it was generally supposed that he had named Calgary after his own ancestral home in Scotland. But a few years ago this was shown to be a mistake and no doubt his choice was made because of his acquaintance with the Mackenzie estate.

Calgary means "clear running water" in Gaelic and Colonel Macleod was evidently impressed by its appropriateness for the fort by the Bow River. The "Encyclopaedia of Canada" tells of how he suggested the name to the Ottawa authorities who gave it their approval.—Edmonton Journal.

DRAGON'S TEETH—1944

The English Holiday

By NORMAN JORDAN MOSS

NOTE: In normal times the English holiday is an important part of English family life. Every year in peace-time during the children's summer holiday from school, the entire family spend two or more weeks at the seaside, enjoying the simple pleasures provided at English seaside resorts.

Although cheap and speedy travel will take many people abroad for holidays after the war, the British family seaside holiday will remain a part of the national life.

In this article Mr. Norman Jordan Moss describes the meaning of the holidays as an English family habit.

"IS your journey really necessary-" It is some time now since the poster which asks that pertinent question first appeared in the streets of England. The Englishman, characteristically, has laughed at it, has made innumerable jokes about it—and has taken the hint to travel less, and to leave the rails and roads of England as free as possible for the more urgent needs of modern war.

So the beaches and the promenades of England are left to their barbed-wire and block-houses. It's usually "holidays at home", these days—digging the garden for victory, rather than the beaches for the amusement of the children; route-marching with the Home Guard, rather than touring on foot through the Scottish Highlands. No time for holidays, these days. But it isn't merely a question of "no time for holidays". Till victory comes, the families of England are scattered—and the English holiday is, traditionally, an English family affair above all else.

Now, the English family long ago discovered an important fact about its holidays; that there is almost as much fun to be had out of the anticipation and the recollection of a holiday as out of the holiday itself. In our fathers' young days, towards the end of Queen Victoria's reign, the joys of anticipation were heightened by all sort of fascinating complications. There was, for instance, the question of apartments. Father, of course, settled that bogey weeks beforehand, and having done so, spoke pityingly—and repeatedly—on the miseries of those who took their chance of finding accommodation on arrival. Mother, meanwhile, made innumerable lists; of tradesmen needing warning of departure and return, of things to be bought and packed, people to receive cards, people to receive presents, and, above all, of new clothes to be obtained, for in those days one did not discard clothes on holiday, one wore more than ever. In this preliminary stage, the children invariably got in everybody's way, and asked countless questions. Packing—a mountain of boxes, bags and portmanteaux—the Great Early Rising—seven at the latest—all this was part of the joyous game of anticipation.

FAMILIES went year after year to the same place, but somehow there was always something fresh—a new bandstand, or a new pleasureboat. In any case, novelties were not the rage in those days. Novelties meant excitement, and the English family on holiday looked only for rest and comfort. There was plenty to do without striving for innovations. Most families went to the seaside; the country was very nice, of course, but sea air really "did you good", and the children could paddle in the shallows, collect shells and seaweed—to the landlady's despair—build sandcastles, and listen to the ventriloquists, the pierrots or the puppet shows. For those of maturer ears there were sterner sports: donkey-rides, boat-trips, excursions, and thrilling visits to the photographer and fortuneteller. And, of course, one could bathe, from a "bathing-machine", a tilt-roofed juggernaut in which one donned one's bathing costume, usually an extraordinary striped affair, extending from neck to knee. Swimming, in this waterlogged mass, became a Herculean business.

And then the recollection! What a host of knick-knacks!—framed views, cups, pencil-cases, needle-cases and paper-knives, all containing tiny magnifying crystals and inscribed "A Present from the Sea-side"—these were the treasures of the winter days.

OF course, there were a few more adventurous spirits who sought pleasure in less frequented places. Some (usually those with farmer relatives), chose the country. There were golfing, fishing and cycling holidays, though only the young and foolhardy embarked on ventures such as these. Motoring was left to the positively reckless. But Henry Lunn's Mediterranean cruises were already popular, and there were cheap trips to Italy, Switzerland and Norway. A week in Paris, including fares from London and back, could cost as little as four-and-a-half guineas. For the poor of the big industrial cities, there were one-day outings, sometimes "treats", arranged by the factory, with the factory's brass-band to lead a "state-procession" down the promenade. But these were all mere exceptions; the seaside family holiday was, and has remained, the rule.

For holidays in pre-this-war England differed more in fashion then in principle from holidays in pre-last-war England. True, the exceptions almost disproved the rule, in some cases. Out of the hazardous motor-tours of old grew those powerful organizations, the Automobile Association and the Royal Automobile Club, and the opening up of England to the family car, with routes mapped out ahead in detail and provision for every sort of road-service. Out of the books of Field-Path Rambles issued by "Walker Miles" rose the great "hiking" movement and the Youth Hostels Association, as eager to guard as to reveal the beauties of the English countryside. Out of the farmer-relatives came the annual trek "back to the land," with lists of farms and cottages supplied by omnipresent and omniscent railways. And in its stricter sense, of course, fashion was revolutionized. The rambler's Norfolk Jacket, cycling-breeches and heavy woollen socks were discarded in favour of the khaki shirt and shorts, the open neck, the stout climbing boots, and the frame-rucsac; the knee-to-throat bathing-costumes were stripped to the slips and backless swim-suits of today. But the old boatmen remained, the old piers and sands and bandstands, the packing, the pierrots, the presents, the charabancs, the old seaside tradition—all remained, and seem to be loved the more, the more they age.

AND NOW? The waves of war have broken over these simple things, and, for a time, submerged them. As we said, England takes few holidays nowadays; an odd week-end of leave is all that can be spared from the business of fighting, training to fight, and making and transporting the wherewithal to fight. Even away from the office and the factory-bench, the Home Guard, Civil Defence, Fire Services, and Home Front duties—all these and scores of other branches of the great war-effort have their several claims on leisure time; but presently, the Englishman will take his family to the sea again as he has always done, the barbed-wire will come down from the beaches, and, where it stood, children's sandcastles will be built again—small symbols of the return of happiness, not merely to England, but to the world.

Fake Brawls?

A few days ago a fight occurred in the home of a Hollywood actor. One of the guests incurred his displeasure and came off second best in the scuffle which ensued. Since then papers all over the country have been telling all about it with follow-ups of the police court prosecution illustrated with pictures.

Just why such a minor incident should gain such wide publicity we are at a loss to understand. If that fight had occurred in any other home than that of a prominent actor, it would have been given a few lines in an obscure part of the paper.

Newspapers continually play into the hands of the Hollywood gang, by publicizing even the most inconsequential happenings in their private lives; and the public seems to devour it with gusto. Who knows whether many of these brawls are not carefully and cleverly enacted, merely for the purpose of getting the publicity which is the bread and butter of the actor profession?—Chatham News.

Attacked By A Pig

An officer stationed at Tinian in the Marianas islands was approached by a marine, who said: "Sir, I was attacked by a pig."

Aware of the order forbidding marines to kill any livestock found at large on the islands, the officer deliberated the merits, nodded, and said: "Save me a piece."—U.S. Marine Corps Battle News.

A Bible Message

Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bow myself before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves of a year old? Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousands of rivers of oil? shall I give my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul? ?

He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? (Mic. 6: 6-8.)

For if the blood of bulls and goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh: how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?

And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance.

And every priest standeth daily ministering and offering oftentimes the same sacrifices, which can never take away sins; but this man, after he had offered one sacrifice for sins for ever, sat down on the right hand of God. (Heb. 9: 13-15; 10: 11, 12.)

IT DOES ADVANCE

Horrible as have been some of the atrocities of this year, it is nevertheless true that there is nowadays a greater awakening of the human conscience than ever before, and the possibility of this eventuating in greater good for the greater number cannot be overlooked. In spite of all, humanity does advance, and humanity will survive.—Victoria Colonist.

BRAZILIANS IN BATTLE

A proud and generous people, the Brazilians would neither cringe nor trim. They wanted to take part in the world battle for freedom. They resolved to send to Europe no symbolic units but a trained force of their own. A division of 15,000 men, infantry, mechanized and air, after severe drilling arrived in Naples, Italy, July 16, 1944.

In August this Brazilian Expeditionary Force, commanded by Gen. Joao Batista de Moraes Mascarenhas, was incorporated into the Fifth Army in Italy under General Clark.

On Sept. 17, with the American, British and Indian troops, it was "engaged in fierce fighting in a wide sector of the Gothic Line." It wasn't known then whether the Brazilians were in the mountain area in the middle of the Gothic Line or farther west near the coast. Now we learn that they were on the west coast "engaging the enemy and making a small advance." May good luck go with them! They are an honour to their great republic.—New York Times.

"Let the People Rejoice"

A note of intolerance has crept into the discussions about the form of celebrations to be held on V-Day. Demands that beverage rooms and liquor stores be closed have emanated from various sources. Civic leaders advocate community celebrations. Several churchmen have taken the stand that religious services alone will befit the occasion.

This newspaper believes that organization for V-Day celebrations is an excellent thing. Preparations should be made which will give everyone an opportunity to celebrate. But there should not be the slightest hint of compulsion. In this connection, The Edmonton Journal recently expressed an opinion which is heartily endorsed by The Whig-Standard.

The Journal would "let the people rejoice and be exceedingly glad" in their own way, no matter what hour of the day or night news comes that Germany has surrendered unconditionally. "Then," it says, "let the formal services of thanksgiving follow in orderly fashion after the first fine frenzy of emotion has spent itself somewhat and we are in a quieter and deeper mood." We fail to see how any tolerant and reasonable person can quarrel with that attitude. It may appear to be making a virtue out of a necessity, but it's a lot better than trying to make people do something against their will.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

Irishman Bob Kelly Stars On Notre Dame Team

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Canadian
Sports Editor

Well, they finally came up with an Irishman to talk about at Notre Dame.

The Irish have had their Melinkovitches, their Bartellis, Savoldis and Schwartzes. Now they've got a baby-faced, red-haired youngster by the good old name of Kelly. That's Bob Kelly, halfback.

"Has anybody nere seen Kelly?" may be the watchword for football foes this year as the spectacular Irish player runs wild on the grid.

Pittsburgh didn't see him at the game recently, for he was on the go all afternoon. He scored four touchdowns against the Panthers and didn't put in too much time doing it.

The career of Kelly, however, may be a short one, for he's a Navy V-12 trainee at Notre Dame and, unless something unforeseen happens, he'll have to leave around Nov. 1. His play, therefore, will have to be crowded into the first few games of the Notre Dame schedule.

Kelly was help up by Navy restrictions last season. He was not eligible to play until the sixth game of the schedule.

Recently Ed McKeever, the Irish coach, said that Kelly was potentially "the best running back in America."

Of course, that's a large statement and one which couldn't be proven, but it gives you some idea of the respect with which McKeever holds the 19-year-old youngster.

Prep Star

Kelly is a Flossmoor, Ill., product. He attended Leo high school in Chicago and played baseball, football and basketball there for three years.

Even then he was hailed as one of the best prep schoolboy stars in city championship gomes and his fine play helped Leo annex the Chicago city schoolboy championship.

As a high school player, Kelly was equally famous for his long, booming punts as he was for his ability to lug the leather.

Kelly weighs 180 pounds and he is 5 feet 9½ inches tall. He has piano legs and thighs. He possesses unusual speed and packs plenty of punch when he meets an opponent.

He doesn't look like a football hero. In fact, he's called "choir boy" by his teammates, because he looks more like one.

King George Jrs. Beat Confederation

In a public school junior soccer game at King Edward park on Wednesday evening, King George Jrs. defeated the Confederation team by a score of 2 to 0. This was the first loss in three games for Confederation, while it gave King George their third straight victory.

Confederation won the toss and chose to play with the sun at their backs. Play ranged from end to end with the Confederation team showing some fine combination plays. However, the rugged play of Carr and Calladine, full-backs for King George, kept the ball well out and left little work for Stock in goal. The King George forwards carried the play in on the Confederation full-backs several times but failed to follow in quickly enough. The period ended without a score being made.

From the starting whistle in the second half both teams waded in to make a score. The break came, however, when a Confederation player made a foul in front of his own goal, Jenson scoring on the kick for King George. This made the Confederation boys desperate but soon after, Harding made the score 2-0 on a pass from Rutherford. Both teams played well from then on, but there was no further scoring. Standout players for King George were Harding and Rutherford, Ferguson and Shannon. Will Douglas and Jones played well for Confederation. Teams:

Confederation—Goal, J. Doleman; full-backs, B. Morrison and Roy Hobson; halves, J. Bryan, G. Sutherland and K. Floyd; forwards, R. Strickland R. Douglas, B. Jones, C. Martin and G. Crouter. Subs, J. Kimball, A. Bolton, R. Curtis, R. Dawson and J. Haslett.

King George — Goal, J. Stock; full-backs, H. Carr and J. Calladine; halves, Davis, Shannon and Thane; forwards, B. Jenson, C. Ferguson, H. Harding, L. Rutherford and B. Anderson; subs, R. Withers and D. Britnell.

Sinatra Hoodlums Rush Police Lines

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 — (AP) — Heavy police reinforcements were dispatched to Times Square Thursday as police-estimated crowd of 25,000 teen-age Frank Sinatra fans stormed the Paramount Theatre where the singer is appearing on the stage.

The shrieking, shouting crowd rushed police lines about the theatre, ripped the shirt of one patrolman and smashed the window of the theatre's ticket booth. Several persons fainted in the street.

An estimated 2,000 girls in sweaters, bobby socks and saddle shoes and boys in polka-dotted bow ties were at the theatre at 7 a.m., police said.

When Sinatra made his first appearance on the stage, the audience stamped their feet, screamed and ran up and down the aisles.

The outbursts were too much even for Sinatra, who several times asked for quiet and threatened to forget about the show unless the uproar subsided.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School senior team are in good shape for their important Cossa battle at Riverside Park tomorrow afternoon when they meet the well-balanced Bowmanville team in a game upon the result of which group leadership hinges. The team that wins tomorrow will for the time being at least head the parade. Bowmanville played solid rugby against Oshawa last Saturday to defeat the Oshawa Collegiate team and the Peterborough students are likely to find Mac McIlveen and his associates much tougher opposition than the Lindsay team proved to be. Sparked by McIlveen himself, an all-round star Sturrock, a fine punter, Brown, a fast and swivel-hipped broken-field runner and Strike, a fast end who can really tackle, the Bowmanvile team has a lot of strength. However the P.C.V.S. squad played effective football in their game at Lindsay and with their plays polished by another week's practice they are expected to cut loose with a lot of pleasing footbal. The lineup will probably be about the same as in the Lindsay fixture as follows: Flying wing, Rooke; halves, Outram, Matthews and Robinson; quarter, Sisson; snap, Scott; inside wings, Patterson and Browne; middles Lech and Graham; outsides, Davis and Smith; alternates, De La Plante, Estlick and Hinton.

* * * * * *

The sport commentators are still talking about the world series and a novel contribution to the discussion is furnished by the veteran Mike Rodden of the Kingston Whig-Standard who in commenting upon the fact that the teams piled up a new strikeout record explains that results by arguing that the players realized that the dead ball now in use was more difficult to hit out of the park than the lively spheroid used in Babe Ruth's days of stardom and accordingly they were cutting at it much harder than usual. This column doesn't believe that the balls used had anything to do with the big total of strikeouts. As a matter of fact there were plenty of whiffs during the period of the lively ball and fans may recall that the season in which Babe Ruth established an all-time record of 60 homers he also led the American League in strikeouts. We are inclined to give the pitchers credit for the number of players who went down by the S.O. route during the series. Some of the boys were undoubtedly swinging for the stands but on the other hand a lot of batters went down on strikes without cutting at the third one at all. Zarilla and Christman stood up at the plate in Sunday's game, with the bases loaded and let Cooper fog his fast ball past them for strikeouts, without taking their bat off their shoulder.

The Lacrosse Squabble

J. P. Fitzgerald, dean of Toronto sports writers utters some words of wisdom in regard to the Mann Cup squabble. Most folk will heartily agree with the following: "Lacrosse is up to its old tricks and committee room argument has taken over. Unfortunately for lacrosse the general public doesn't give a hoot, which is a sad commentary on the loss of prestige this grand old national game of Canada has sustained down through these recent years. There is nothing wrong with the game as such, though the dyed-in-the-wool fan of the old days of field lacrosse still bemoans what he calls the deterioration of the sport caused by the restriction of the field of play in the modern box variety. Even he could have been converted and the general public educated to this style of lacrosse had it not been for the dog-in-the-manager attitude of those most concerned—the clubs and the association generally. An entire lack of co-operation among the constituent elements of the lacrosse association, an unyielding attitude of this and that section, a demand for rights and privileges even unto the last ounce of flesh—that is what is the matter with lacrosse The game has been on its last legs for years as far as holding its public appeal is concerned, and now this latest squabble between St. Catharines and New Westminster has added the last straw."

* * * * * *

It is true that Canadian Lacrosse Association rules call for final games to be played in enclosed arenas and that the Salmonbellies were technically right in objecting to playing out-of-doors in St. Catharine. But when the New Westminster management declares that it has been actuated by consideration of the health of the players and that it is too cold to play outside on October nights a lot of fans will take that with a grain of salt. They know that out at Sunnyside the girls have been playing final games nearly every night in the chill October air and that the Toronto Peoples and the Hamilton Beavers are staging a senior O.A.S.A. series played at night under the lights and no one has frozen to death yet. If the softballers can keep warm under such conditions playing the mild sort of sport they are engaged in, the lacrosse players should be able to move around fast enough in their far more strenuous game to keep from contracting chilblains or frozen ears. And the fans in St. Catharines are surely entitled to seeing a home game sometime or other in the Mann Cup series.

A Stratford View

Chick Appel, Stratford sports editor in eulogizing Greta Harmer, ace pitcher of the Kroehlers, for her good work all season and throughout the playoffs intimates that he believes that the Brantford Plowettes were the toughest opposition that the Stratford girls had to overcome. Chick did not see the series with Westclox but he will have to admit that scores of 3-2 and 6-6 indicate that Kroehlers had no easy task overcoming the Peterborough representatives. As a matter of fact both games were as close as the next second. Anyway here is the Stratford scribe's paragraph "And while on the subject of girls' softball, a fan writes to this corner, extolling the virtues of Greta Harmer, Stratford Kroehlers' grand little hurler, to which this column readily agrees. Modesty forbids repeating some nice things the same fan says about several players from last year's team, which he claims packed more hitting punch, with which this observer also must agree. However, it isn't taking anything away from this year's championship squad, and the fan certainly is correct when he states Kroehlers "would not have got by Preston without Gerta Harmer. It might be added that Kroehlers might not have got by any of the other clubs either without the pitching of Greta Harmer. Every team the Stratford girls met this season was plenty tough enough, but to this observer's way of thinking the Brantford Plowettes looked like the toughest."

The Belleville Marines, after fighting to the last ditch in their drive to win the southern Ontario intermediate A championship faded out yesterday when they were beaten 8 to 0 by the Fort Erie team in the third game of the final series. The decisive win was somewhat of a surprise but it seems to have been earned for the pitching of Herb Lake for Fort Erie was too much for the Belleville hitters. In scoring his shutout Lake yielded only four hits while the winners collected 12 off the delivery of the veteran Jim Hunter. For a team that was ousted early in the playoffs and then got back in again because Kingston Ordnance had to drop out the Belleville outfit has had a lot of fun and made a real bid for provincial honors.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP). — Three games of the Little World Series at Baltimore drew 95,832 cash customers—52,833 Monday night. . . . This probably explains why Baltimore figures so importantly in post-war sports plans. . . . Three or four rival groups want to put pro football teams into the Maryland city. There's talk of rebuilding the burned Orioles' ball park on a major league scale, and latest indications are that Baltimore's hockey promoters have big league ideas.

Backing Eddie Shore and the Jacobs brothers in the new amateur ice club are James J. Lacy, who also is interested in one of the football leagues; Jake Slagle, the old Princeton footballer; and some of the baseball Orioles' officials. . . . Their idea apparently is to have things ready when a new indoor arena is built after the war. . . . It should be quite a town if the customers remain there.

Sportspourri:

Juan Amador, 80-year-old reporter from Panama who covered his 12th World Series this year, spent his spare time trying to convince major leaguers that some club should train in Panama after the war. . . . Amador reported it isn't unusual for Panamanian fans to watch a ball game in one league during the morning, see a doubleheader in another in the afternoon and attend a boxing match at night. The ones who skip the doubleheader usually visit the race tracks.

Frank Stukus Moving Into Spotlight

(By The Canadian Press)

For the last 10 years the name Stukus has been almost synonymous with football in Eastern Canada. First of the three brothers to attain gridiron fame was Annis, who entered senior ranks with Toronto Argonauts in 1935. Brother Bill followed him in 1936 and then in 1938 chunky brother Frank took a whirl at the game.

But through the years it was Annis and Bill who held the spotlight. Until the 1940 season they shared the quarterbacking duties with Argos. Annis won fame as one of the leading scorers in the Interprovincial Football Union. Bill was an ace forward-passer. Frank, a sturdy and hard-hitting halfback, was overshadowed by his illustrious brothers.

This year looked as if it might be the one for the 26-year-old Frank to finally come to the fore. Bill, now 28, was a flying officer overseas with the R.C.A.F. The 30-year-old Annis was a leading seaman in the Royal Canadian Navy and is playing football with the navy entry in the Ontario Armed Services League. Frank remained with Balmy Beach, taking over the quarterback job vacated by Annis.

But Annis continues to get the press notices and the headlines for the family. Last Saturday Annis threw two touchdown passes to lead Navy to a win over St. Thomas R.C.A.F., and there was no lack of public acclaim. Frank did the same for Balmy Beach against Indians and no one paid any attention.

In Action Saturday

The brothers go into action tomorrow on widely-separated fronts. Annis will be calling plays and pitching passes against the Hagersville R.C.A.F. Bombers at Hamilton and Frank will be doing likewise for the Beaches at Ottawa.

The Navy faces a tough assignment in Hamilton. The Sailors squeezed out a 12-10 victory only in the dying minutes of their first meeting and the Bombers since have acquired the services of FO. Art Stollery, a slick forward-passing quarterback.

A win for Navy would give them a stranglehold on first place in the Services League standing with four wins and no losses. But a win for Bombers would put the two teams in a tie for first place.

Beaches have won both their starts in the Ontario Rugby Football Union this season, but on both occasions their opponents were the weak Toronto Indians.

Hamilton Wildcats are expected to stretch their string of victories to four straight in their meeting with the Indians in Toronto in the other O.R.F.U. tussle. Joe Krol and his mates simply pack too much power for the plucky Toronto team which has suffered four straight defeats.

The Air Force field at Camp Borden will be the scene of the fourth game in tomorrow's football program with Camp Borden R.C.A.F. Hurricanes, who defeated St. Thomas 33-0 in their first meeting, are heavy favorites.

TORONTO, Oct. 13 — (CP). — Don't ask us where we heard it, but you can take it for gospel that all black cats were chased out of the various hockey training camps at dawn this morning.

Besides being a Friday, it's also a 13th, and no sane hockey coach or manager would take any untoward chances with jet kitties, nor any other form of ill-luck omens. The hockey men are having a tough enough time as it is, keeping the machines well oiled and percolating safely, with Hitler and Company disturbing the works.

The West, a nest—

Citizens of the West won't take this lying down—we hope. Mercedes Martin in the Canadian Sport Monthly, pondering why the West Coast never has produced a Grey Cup challenger for Dominion football honors, asks insidiously if it is "the bodily contact element which inhibits growth of this sport on the coast?" We know it isn't that. But just why the coast never went into the game in a big way is an interesting point.

Incidentally:

The Canadian Lacrosse Association is reported to have earned $4,500 in the first three games of the Mann Cup finals at Maple Leaf Gardens. However, it cost $6,000 to put on this show, so the profits haven't showed up yet......Harry (Calgary Albertan) Scott is unkind enough to intimate the reason the proposed fight between Johnny Greco and Dave Castilloux was called off wasn't because Greco is too heavy, as the Montreal Boxing and Wrestling Commission said. Harry says Castilloux might beat Greco and spill the latter's proposed gravy ride on the New York greenback special....Ducks unlimited plans to spend more than $2,000,000 in Western Canada during the next ten years to improve duck breeding projects. So don't worry if you can't get all the shells you want now, boys; there'll be plenty of ducks for you to blaze away at in the future.

London Beats Welland

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 13 (CP) — Falling on Bill Buntrock's slants for a total of 10 hits, seven of them in the first two innings, London Majors evened their best-in-five Senior "A" series with Welland Atlas Steels here last night by outscoring the visitors 4-1. The series for the "real championship" of Ontario, now stands at two games each and the fifth and deciding engagement is scheduled to take place here Saturday night.

Central Soccer Team Loses To King Edward

A snap goal by Ken Lawson gave King Edward the right for the play-off position by one point over Prince of Wales when they will meet Central in the series of three games for the Public School Soccer championship. Central carried the play in the early stages, allowing King Edward to get in close to goal to register the only goal of the tussle. Central rattled the goal post with a lightning drive that bounced back into play. A large crowd witnessed the battle on King Edward Park on Thursday afternoon.

First Half.

Right from the kick off, both elevens settled down to close checking until Brooks, Central, broke through the defence to test King Edward goalie. Downer touched the ball out to the wing where Riches carried the ball towards the other end. Forbes intercepted the play nicely to send his forwards on the attack and held the King Edward team into their own territory while Riches, Byers and Self battled out the issue against the fast moving Central forwards that hovered around goal. Dolan received a nice pass out on the wing from Whitnall and evaded the full backs nicely to carry the ball towards goal, and with Grant, goalie, to beat, he missed the open goal from two yards out. Then King Edward came into the picture with clever passing combination that brought out the superb qualities of the Central full backs as they checked and punted quickly when hard pressed. Play was in mid-field when half-time arrived. No scoring.

Second Half

On resuming the boys introduced the long swinging style of play that opened up the game considerably, thereby allowing the half-backs to intercept or tackle quickly to hold the attack in check. Eventually Brooks set an example to his forwards as he travelled the whole length of the field to place the ball in front of goal, Breadman kicking out for a fruitless flag kick. Central pressed hard until Byers gathered up momentum at centre and sent Beggs away on the left wing where he centred into goal amongst a mob of players, but Ken Dawson, lying unmarked, shot the ball in between the seas of legs to get the winning counter. This setback to Central resulted in a continuous bombardment on King Edward goal where a succession of corner kicks caused the Southenders a lot of anxiety as Brooks' placements were perfect. King Edward full-backs headed the ball out of danger. Central kept peppering the ball in an attempt to even up the count and, in fact, a foul kick about 20 yards out taken by Wilson rattled the crossbar with a smashing drive that had the earmarks of the equalizer. Thereafter King Edward resorted to kicking to touch to safeguard their one goal lead, while Central carried a keen offensive that called for the best of quick thinking and clearing around the goal. Full time—King Edward 1, Central 0.

Dave Castilloux, king of Canadian lightweights and welterweights, will get a chance to even the score against Mexico's Joey Peralta in a bout at Montreal Oct. 19, it was announced there yesterday. It will be a 12-round affair, with the weight set at 136 pounds. Last Friday Castilloux lost a disputed 10-round decision to Peralta at Toronto.

The annual meeting of the Amateur Skating Association of Canada will be held in Montreal Nov. 18, it was announced yesterday. The Canadian roller, figure and dance championships will be decided at the convention.

One of the foremost athletes developed at Brantford, Flt. Sgt. Kennety (Ebby) Edmison of the R.C.A.F., has been reported missing. He played hockey, softball and baseball, winning the Inter-County Baseball Association batting average trophy, the Holle Cup, at one time. He also played one season in Oshawa in hockey and baseball.

Pete Leswick, speedy rightwinger of the Seattle Ironmen of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, has signed a contract with Boston Bruins of the N.H.L. and is en route east to join the club, the Ironmen management announced last night. Leswick broke into pro hockey with the Seattle team of the old Northwest Hockey League several years ago.

President Ray Dumont of the National Baseball Congress yesterday discussed with Government officials at Washington his plans for a post-war international tournament which could bring the best semi-pro teams of other countries into competition with the United States champion. Dumont's idea is to stage the tournament in New York or Washington the week after the World Series.

Mickey Ion, former National Hockey League referee, has arrived in Brantford from Seattle, Wash., to visit his 94-year-old mother, Mrs. Bridget Ion, who is ailing in health. Ion is employed in a Seattle war plant.

Hockey Teams At Training Camps

By The Canadian Press

Coach Happy Day has a house full of talent at the Maple Leaf training camp in Owen Sound, Ont., but he's faced with the same problem that greeted him at the start of last season—the goalie situation. So far Leo Sargent of St. Catharines, Ont., Frank Cool of Calgary and Pat Boehmer, of Kitchener, Ont., have been working in relays between the posts.

Walter (Babe) Pratt, first Hart trophy winner in the history of the Leafs, noticed the Chin brothers, Chinese boys from Lucknow, Ont., whiz down the ice. Quoth he: "They look like Chu, Chin and Chow." Bill Chin is 17, Albert, 16, and George, 15.

Benny Grant, gasoline salesman at Owen Sound, who took a turn in the Toronto nets last season, visited this year's Leaf camp. Reason he didn't make good, he said, was because "I worked so hard in training at St. Catharines I was all worn out by the time the season opened."

Lester Patrick once again has his New York Rangers whirling around the Osborne street rink in Winnipeg. The Silver Fox, whose charges last season ended in the cellar, let it be known he's banking heavily on six stylists from the American League to place Rangers in the Stanley Cup play-offs. The six are: Fred Thurier, Fred Hunt and Walter Atanas, all from the champion Buffalo Bisons; Harold Cooper, Providence; Gaston Gauthier, Hershey, and Alex Riston from Indianapolis.

Montreal Canadians and Boston Bruins didn't take any chances on Friday the 13th spoiling their start. Les Canadiens opened camp at Montreal on the 12th. Art Ross starts his workouts in Quebec on the 14th.

County Asked About New Bridge At Chemong Lake

Acknowledging that "we have all had more serious business to think of during the last five years," Reeve Gifford of Ennismore proposed to the County Council on Wednesday that in the post-war planning attention should return to the Chemong Floating Bridge.

Ennismore people were entirely satisfied to "let the bridge question drop" since 1939, Mr. Gifford said, but all the former dissatisfactions complained of in the pre-war days remained, and the people of the township felt that the proposal of a new bridge should be again considered, as rehabilitation matters were drawing nearer.

"We felt that we were making some headway before the war broke out," Reeve Gifford recalled, "and now the country is planning for the future and talking about employment projects. We definitely do not want to go around the lake in preference to a bridge. Many Peterborough residents now have summer homes on the Ennismore shore and there are still 12 to 15 miles of it undeveloped. We believe that the trend is toward more holidays and more people able to provide summer homes for themselves. The working week is likely to be cut down after the war and people in industry will be more interested in having homes on the water for the summer months.

Good for Business.

"This trend is another reason for a new bridge that can be used all the year round. We believe it will bring more summer residents into the township, apart from the direct benefits to our own people. We are not asking the Council to commit themselves. The old bridge is obsolete. It cannot carry the heavy traffic and load weights of to-day, and there are times of the year when it is impassable."

Reeve Gifford said the main part of the floating bridge was a few feet off half a mile in length. Costs would be less after the war than to-day. More machinery will be available, "and we think that fill can be moved at a lower price. We are simply asking that the Department of Highways and post-war development be asked to consider the Chemong Bridge in the planning that is now going on."

Warden Anderson appointed Reeves Mather and Gifford a committee to deal with the Ennismore request and report any progress up to the December sessions.

Wonder Drug Penicillin, Curing Social Disease

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 — (CP). — Penicillin, the wonder drug with a thousand or more uses, will play a large part in curing venereal disease in Canada after the war, Sqdn. Ldr. R. M. Anderson, venereal disease control officer for the R.C.A.F., said on Thursday in an interview.

Sqdn. Ldr. Anderson, who directs the fight against gonorrhoea and syphillis among members of the R.C.A.F., said that when the stocks of penicillin become plentiful it likely will be possible to clear up a case of venereal disease in a matter of hours or days instead of weeks.

Because only limited supplies of the drug now are available in Canada, the Canadian armed forces have used it only in venereal disease cases which failed to respond to sulpha drugs.

However, widespread use has been made of penicillin in the United States, and health authorities there have passed on the result of experiments to Canadian authorities, said Sqdn. Ldr. Anderson.

Some United States medical authorities believe that 1,200,000 units of penicillin interjected into a patient over a period of eight days will cure a case of syphillis. In the Canadian armed forces at present, sulphonamides are used to clear up syphillis and two treatments a week are given over a period of 26 weeks. Penicillin also has been found to make a syphillectic patient non-infectious in a matter of hours.

American experiments also showed that 95 per cent of acute gonorrhoea cases were cured within the first 15 hours of a treatment of 100,000 units of penicillin. Most of the remaining five per cent of the cases were cured with a second treatment of 100,000 units. A few required a third treatment.

Foreign Firms Would Buy Crown Buildings, Howe

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Oct. 13—(CP).—Munitions Minister Howe said last night that plans of steel companies here and at Hamilton, Ont., for expansion were an indication of continued Canadian industrial activity after the war.

The Minister spoke at a public meeting after George E. Nixon, the sitting member, was nominated at an afternoon convention as Liberal candidate in Algoma West in the next Federal election.

The $21,000,000 the Government provided for wartime expansion of the Algoma Steel Corporation here was justified by results, said Mr. Howe. "Thanks to a large extent to the Sault, the war effort has never been short of steel." Canadian steel products were being exported, rails being shipped to Russia and India and Canada would be called on to supply these markets in the post-war years.

"There is a fear that there will be no jobs available after the war. If this were so, steel companies would be drawing in their horns.... In Hamilton I recently looked over the Steel Company of Canada. During war, they expanded as greatly as you did in the Sault. A month ago they started on a $7,000,000 expansion. This may even go to $20,000,000. It will not be completed to aid the war effort but is slated for peacetime production. Does that look as if steel will drop? No. The other steel company in Hamilton is also starting a great expansion for peacetime production. Your own Algoma steel has plans to expand."

The Government had invested $900,000,000 in building new war plants and additions to existing plants. Private industry had invested about $450,000,000. These plants would be used to provide post-war employment.

"We have been pleasantly surprised at the number of firms that want to purchase government additions to expand their products. Buyers from outside of Canada also wish to purchase these plants owned by the Crown to manufacture products which we formerly imported."

Refuses To Divulge "Right Club" Roster

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(CP).—Home Secretary Herbert Morrison declined in the House of Commons yesterday to name members of the "The Right Club" organized in 1939 by Capt. A. M. Ramsay with its announced purpose "to have Britain from the Jews."

Capt. Ramsay, Conservative member for Peebles, was released recently after a four-year detention and said his association with the club was partly responsible for that detention. He added that certain members of both Houses of Parliament also had been connected with the secret society.

Mr. Morrison said it would not be in the public interest to publish the list, but that all suspected individuals were being watched. The Home Secretary also refused to answer a question as to whether "Lord Haw Haw"—William Joyce, former British Fascist, who broadcasts over the German radio—and Tyler Kent, former United States embassy attache now imprisoned, were members of "The Right Club."

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 13— (AP) — A commission is studying ways to put teeth into the government's recently-declared policy of closing Sweden's doors to war criminals.

The Swedes are fully aware of attempts by Nazis and quislings to seek haven here despite notice that they are unwelcome, and they are planning measures to meet the problem and return such individuals to justice. Preliminary moves are being made although the Allies have not yet announced a list of war criminals.

HELSINKI, Oct. 13—(AP). —Vaino A. Tanner, anti-Russian leader of Finland's dominant Social Democratic party, announced last night his determination to retain his post—a decision generally interpreted as ending the possibility of mending a growing split in the party.

Youth Is Fined $5 For Hurling Chair

There was an aftermath of a recent wrestling match in police court this morning when Alphonse Spencer, 17, pleaded guilty to a charge of creating a disturbance at the Brock Street Rink.

"The wrestlers were leaving the ring at the end of the bout," explained Acting Chief John Thompson "and this boy threw a chair. Fortunately it did not hit anybody in the crowd or some person might have been badly hurt."

Pointing out to the accused that there might have been serious consequences if one of the chair legs had hit some preson in the eye. Magistrate O. A. Langley, K. C., fined Spencer $5 and $1.75 costs. He warned that a repetition of the offence would bring a more severe penalty.

Manson Lindsay who entered a plea of guilty to a drunk charge was fined $1 and $2.50 costs.

Bus Terminal Plans Filed

Plans of the Silver Line Transportation Company's bus terminal were received today at City Engineer Parsons' office.

This project was reported to the council early last spring, when its proposed location was announced as the central part of the property on George street, between Sherbrooke and Dalhousie streets, extending through to Water street.

The frontage on George street is approximately one hundred feet as indicated in the drawings. The proposed building is of two storeys. The ground floor provides for a restaurant and coffee shop, branch bank office, general waiting room and other accommodation for the public, bus despatching office and other details, with the company's offices on the upper floor.

Lacrosse Game Set For Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 13 —(CP)—E. E. Barnes, president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, said today the fourth game of the current Mann Cup series is "definitely on" for tomorrow night at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto.

Mr. Barnes said he had received a message from the president of the St. Catharines Athletics—who lead 2-1 in the best-of-five series with New Westminister for the Canadian lacrosse title—saying that St. Catharines "never said it wouldn't play the fourth game in Toronto."

A meeting of officials of the St. Catharines club will be held in that city tonight and Mr. Barnes said he will be in attendance and that the venue of the fifth game, if necessary, will be decided then.

Venue of the fourth game has been at the centre of an almost week-long dispute. Athletics said they had been assured the game would be in St. Catharines Thursday night but Salmonbellies refused to make the trip on the grounds the game would have to be played on a dirt floor and the C.L.A. constitution calls for a wooden floor.

Mr. Barnes said Hamilton was being discussed as the possible place for a fifth game. Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto will not be available next week.

Chief Praises Schools On Fire Drill

Fire drills in public and separate schools in Peterborough are entirely satisfactory, and a check on hotels, hospitals, factories and stores just completed shows that Peterborough citizens are safety conscious, and in the majority of cases, everything is in excellent condition, Fire Chief Gimblett said today.

With respect to St. Joseph's Hospital, recently the subject of a discussion on a fire escape, Chief Gimblett said the fire escape mentioned is in perfect working condition, and in his opinion, there is no basis for any complaints, as a personal inspection proved the escape is in good shape.

An extensive study of schools, and the time it takes to empty them of children, gives the cheerful news that in that department, all is shipshape. Although in some schools, a little longer time was taken than expected to clear the building, the reason for this was certain little bottle-necks which will be eliminated. Whenever a school is checked it is impossible to say in advance what minor incident is going to pop up to delay proceedings.

Hospitals were checked, and it was found that in St. Joseph's Hospital, with a staff of 35, it took that staff exactly 53 seconds to get to their posts from the time the alarm was sounded. In Nicholls' Hospital, where the staff is larger, one minute and 22 seconds was the time span. In both hospitals, conditions were excellent.

Along with Chief Gimblett, other members of the local fire department worked on the fire report. Charles Calver, inspector of hotels for this district, from Campbellford, accompanied fire officials on the inspection tour.

This report shows the number of pupils in the school, and the time it took in minutes and second to empty the school:

Prince of Wales: 680 pupils—1.19½ minutes.

King Edward: 485 pupils—1.15¼ minutes.

Queen Mary: 503 pupils—1.09½ minutes.

King George: 447 pupils—1.07 minutes.

Queen Alexandra—374 pupils—1.25 minutes.

Central: 516 pupils — 1.17¼ minutes.

Park Hill: 80 pupils—44½ seconds.

May's: 180 pupils—1.16 minutes.

Confederation: 225 pupils—1.15½ minutes.

Collegiate: 1,027 pupils — 2.02 minutes.

Normal: 75 pupils—1.08½ minutes.

Separate Schools.

St. Peter's High School: 407 pupils—1.23½ minutes.

Sacred Heart School: 350 pupils—1.13 minutes.

St. Mary's Convent: 202 pupils—60 seconds.

Immaculate Conception: 205 pupils —1.07 minutes.

Sweater Ablaze Singes Owner

KITCHENER, Oct. 13 —(CP) — Kitchener's third sweater fire, was reported to-day. While sitting in a hotel, Norval Fice, restaurant proprietor struck a match to light a cigaret. The sleeve of his brush rayon sweater burst into flames which spread in a flash up the sleeve and over the back. He managed to pull the sweater off without receiving serious burns. Hairs on the back of his hand and head were singed.

The Ontario Fire Marshall's Department recently announced that seven similar sweater fires have occurred in the province, two of them in Kitchener.

Sample Case Taken From Traveller's Car

When Archie Hall, engineer of Fanning's Laundry went to the rear of the place for some coal he discovered a traveller's sample case near the back door and further investigation showed that a number of samples, mostly children's wear, was hidden in the coal pile.

The police were notified and discovered that the sample case belonged to William Gervis, traveller for Silks, Limited, Toronto, who was a guest at the Hotel Champlain.

Gervis said that he had left the case in his car parked at the rear of the hotel. Still missing were other sample tablecloths, scarves, lace bedspreads, handkerchiefs and other articles.

County Council Stops Calendar Salaaming Defies Ancient Three-Sessions Custom

Peterborough County Council has taken time by the forelock, cuffed it into the corner, and declared its freedom from calendar and associated custom. Three sessions a year used to be prescribed, established and Procrustean order and routine of county municipal practice. County business had to conform to the time schedule. Incoming letters and other correspondence, accumulated between sessions, filled up some file or other, and usually by the time they reached official attention the intervening weeks and months had written their own answer of nullity.

The custom used to be set in reinforced concrete of tradition to which successive Councils bowed in conformity just as effectually as if they salaamed to the calendar at the opening and closing of their sessions.

Third week in January, third week in June, and the second or third week in December, with committees meeting occasionally between times if emergency arose. During the last two years this timing has been tossed out of the Council's re-ordering of its deliberations. Instead of "putting in" a week now and a remote then, the Council has evidently departed from that relic of other days, the yearly schedule of sessions and is spreading the same number of days over four meeting periods, January, March, October and December. It keeps the members in closer touch with the county's affairs, although it should be remembered that committees are always available for any pressingly necessary matters, and apparently they regard it as an improvement on the old order.

So, the calendar is no longer the master of the County Council. It has been deposed to the place of servant, and probably Reeve Mather of Otonabee has had a persuasive hand in the severing of the rusty chain. He has a quiet and suggestive way of getting things done, and the Council had generally been thinking in the same direction, and the old order has finally one with the days it served—those years when meetings used to be adjusted to the railway schedules, most of the members stayed in the city all week, and the conception of the motor car had not entered their thoughts.

City Engineer At Convention

Alderman Dutton and City Engineer Parsons are in Pittsburgh attending the Federation of Sewage Works Association, Thursday to Saturday. Mr. Parsons is head of the Canadian group this year, and Alderman Dutton was commissioned by the council to accompany him for the purpose of enquiry into the latest and most approved methods of sewage disposal.

Completion of the city's sewage disposal plant is one of Peterborough's municipal problems tentatively listed among the postwar projects. It has been so long deferred that the townships of North Monaghan and Otonabee have been turning their attention to it again in a revival of their demand for action to put an end to the pollution of the Otonabee River. Dr. A. E. Berry, Directory of Sanitary Engineering of the Ontario Department of Health was recently in Peterborough at the request of the townships councils.

Apart from any official urging from the provincial health authorities or further pressure from the municipal neighbours, the city council has been considering its long suspended completion of the sewage disposal plant. Alderman Bradburn has been suggesting that this project should be moved up to a position at the top of the city's preparations for postwar work.

The city council's reason for delay has been chiefly in the doubt and uncertainty as to the most efficient process to be adopted for the completion of the local plant. City Engineer Parsons has been keeping close touch with the trends of the sanitary engineering profession, and the council expected that definite guidance should be obtainable at the Pittsburgh convention, and that Alderman Dutton as chairman of the Board of Works should go along with Mr. Parsons.

Knocked Down By Car Boy Taken To Hospital

Kenneth Hatton, 387 Rogers street, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital Thursday night suffering from a bump on the head and abrasions on his right leg and left hand, as the result of being knocked down by an automobile at Hunter and Mark streets.

Vernon Hughey, 593 George street, driver of the car involved, reported to the police that he was driving east on Hunter street and that as he reached Mark street, young Hatton ran from the southwest curb in front of his machine. Hughey said that he swerved in an attempt to miss the boy but did not succeed in doing so.

The driver picked up the injured lad and took him to the hospital.

Fliers Decorated

OTTAWA, Oct. 12 (CP) — The R.C.A.F. announced last night the award of 14 Dintinguished Flying Crosses and five Dstinguished Flying Medals to R.C.A.F. men serving overseas.

Sqdn. Ldr. L. G. Neilly of Gilford, Ont., was awarded the D.F.C., for leadership in directing a search which resulted in the rescue of 17 passengers of a plane forced down on the sea.

James Garside Passes Away

A former Peterborough alderman, and a resident of this city for more than 64 years, James Garside, one of the better known of the older citizens, died at his residence 199 Reid street Thursday afternoon, after an illness that began in May. Mr. Garside was in his 84th year.

He was born in Derbyshire, England, the son of the late Charles Garside and Mary Ann Rhoades, and came to Peterborough when a young man, from England.

A plaster contractor by trade, Mr. Garside was a devoted member of the Park Street Baptist Church, and along with being for years a member of the church choir, he was a member of the finance board of that church for more than 12 years. A member of the Royal Black Preceptory, Mr. Garside was also a past master of 1175, Loyal Orange Lodge.

He leaves to mourn his loss, a sorrowing wife, formerly Annie Brown, two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Smith (Clara), Miss Bernice Garside, of Peterborough; two sons, Charles, and Berdean, of Peterborough; three grandchildren, Charles Garside with the R.C.A.F. in Halifax, Orris Garside, R.C.N.V.R., Halifax, and Mrs. Jack Stewart, of Toronto. Also surviving are a great-granddaughter, Carole, and a brother, Fred, who is in England.

The funeral will be Saturday, at two o'clock, from the Reid street residence, to interment in Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. W. A. Filer, and Rev. E. J. Whan, will officiate.

Scouts Planning For Apple Day

Boy Scouts and Cubs will be out on Saturday selling apples from door to door and also conducting sales along the main streets, for it is their annual Apple Day. Peterborough's record as a centre of scout activities is one of the best and ranks among the first twelve cities in Canada for donations to the "Chins Up Fund" and collections on Apple Day.

There are 14 scout groups in the city with every religious denomination being represented and in addition a fine community troop in Number 9 in Parkhill Wartime Housing area. The total membership during the past season was 504 scouts and cubs and 52 leaders for a total of 556.

Although the main activities are centred around each Scout group, the local association arranges for a Scoutcraft show each spring and a jamboree in the fall, both of which have been highly successful. During the past summer the Scout hut and grounds situated near Lock 22, one mile north of Nassau, has been in great demand not only for week-end camps for the Scouts and Cubs, but has been used by Sunday schools for picnics and on three occasions the men from the local Training Centre enjoyed a day of sport and recreation.

The executive of the local association is highly pleased with the support the citizens have given to the Scouts on Apple Day in the past years and ask for help again this year. The association has only one object, to help our boys to become good Scouts and after that good citizens.

Orion, Patron Of The Furnace Industry, Is In Midnight Sky Ready To Take Over

Don't look now, but that fellow Orion is following us again. He gives you the chills just to think of him coming back; although we should have been expecting him. Take a peek into the night sky, around midnight or a little later, and you will see his tremendous figure, sword and buckler. Magnificent, you have to admit, but awesome when you remember his train of snow and sleet and cold nights of winter, twenty below zero, an attendant atmosphere that floats down upon us all, attacking ears, bare heads and legs, breathing through every little crevice of the house, and driving people to California in wish if not in fact.

Possibly a deputation of the fuel dealers have already been out to meet Orion, because when you catch first glimpses of him late of nights along in September, you think woefully of the long Canadian seasons of fires, first to be foraged and set to burning and finaly lugged away in cold ashes.

Orion, Patron of the furnace industry and its troops. He is on the way to taking over any week now, and dominating the whole temperature of things until ground hog day and on into March when he begins to lose his grip on this planetary victim and fall behind in the eternally endless procession across the sky.

Menu Features Tourist Spots; Miss Kawarthas

Two items of tourist interest to Peterborough were noted in the flow of news this week. One of them was an item in the Lindsay Post quoting the menu of the dinner of the National Tourist Advisory Committee recently held in Windsor.

Hon. L. M. Frost, Provincial Treasurer, and member of the Legislature for Victoria and Haliburton, attended the dinner and sent a copy of the menu back home. Courses were given special names pertinent to the occasion and presumably to the membership of the association.

"Haliburton" broiled lamb chops was the meat course, and other details were La Salle green onions, Brant county pumpkin pie, Essex county vegetable soup, and so on.

Apparently the only representative from Kawartha district at this "National Tourist Advisory Committee" meeting was Hon. Mr. Frost.

The tenuously associated news item was the reference at the Peterborough council meeting Tuesday night of the technicolor film "The Call of the Kawarthas," which at the suggestion of Douglas R. Oliver of the Ontario Government's Tourist Bureau is to be sent to Major Armstrong, London, England, representative of the province in the Old Country.

Film Withheld

This film has been shown extensively in both the United States and Canada, but is temporarily withheld from across the border until both neighboring countries desire the renewal of tourist travel in both directions This graphic film photographed by Fred L. Roy was paid for by Peterborough funds and as a Peterborough initiative giving extensive and alluring publicity to a wide area of the scenic beauty of a large area of this part of the province. And it may be stated as a fact that through the years Peterborough has made a sustained and substantial contribution to publicity of the Kawarthas and other tourist centres in eastern Ontario, including the medium of the Examiner's special tourist edition.

Peterborough enterprise in promoting tourist traffic, which is now referred to as the tourist industry, will compare at least favorably with any other similar efforts in this country, and with local co-operation by the city's press, municipal council, retail and manufacturing interests that has produced results which have reached out through a broad area of Ontario east of Toronto.

Lieut. A. Greenly Listed Missing

WARKWORTH, Oct. 13.— (ENS) —Word was received by Mr. and Mrs. J. Greenly at noon to-day, that their son, Lieut. Alvin J. Greenly is reported missing in action. A letter from him last week, indicated he was fighting in Belgium.

Lieut. Greenly enlisted in a Cobourg unit in September 1939, going overseas in September 1940. He returned ot Canada in May 1942 and after taking an officers course at Brocksville, he went overseas again in December 1942. The young soldier landed in France in July.

Before enlisting, Lieut. Greenly taught for a short time at Pine Grove school in Cramahe township. He was eduacted at Warkworth public and continuation school and the Peterborough Normal School.

His wife, formerly Marion Elliston of Cobourg, is a sergeant serving with the C. W. A. C. She has been in England since May of this year.

War—4 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press.

OCT. 13, 1940 — Princess Elizabeth in her first broadcast, told children throughout the world Britain's children are "full of cheerfulness and courage." More than 3,000 German soldiers announced killed recently when two big ships were sunk at Lorient, Channel "invasion" port.

WITH NEW UNIT—Sgt. Irvin Willman, 29, who enlisted with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, September, 1939, has now transferred to the RCEME in Italy. He is the son of Mrs. Frank Hinds and the late Joseph Willman of Marmora township.

Map Indicates Serious Damage By Buzz Bombs

Just how badly the southeastern region of England was hit by the German barrage of robot bombs is revealed in a map received by Mrs. F. Hopgood, 207 Simcoe street, from her sister who lives in Eastmalling, Kent.

The map, published in the Kent Messenger, shows where each "doodle-bugs" landed in the Kent section and as the paper puts it "vividly portrays how Kent earned the name of 'Bomb Alley'."

Looking over the map it can be seen that the whole district, except the section around Dover, has suffered from the buzz bombs. In some spots, four or five of the agents of destruction have landed close together, and it does not require much imagination to visualize the consequences.

The map also shows by dots along the seashore the number of buzz bombs that were shot down before they could come down on land. The number so destroyed is much larger than the total dropping in the Kent area.

Saved By Defence Forces

Mrs. Hopgood's sister writes to say that if the defence forces on the ground and in the air had not brought the doodle-bugs down as they did "they would have brought London down." The R.A.F. boys, she said, were risking being blown up themselves, but they kept on battling the uncanny invaders.

"I think they are grand," the letter goes on. "Although a bullet came through my roof I stood outside and clapped my hands when I saw that boys had shot down one of the bombs. I knew it would hurt somebody but not so many as it would if it had reached London."

Mrs. Hopgood has four sisters and two brothers in Kent, in the Dilton, Eastmalling, Rochester and Chatham areas and is naturally vitally interested in how the section was hit by the Nazi instruments of destruction. Another brother resides in Surrey.

Award's Night Brings Aid To Robot Victims

All things that are of a constructive nature requiring thought and work to bring them to fruition, thrive better when some incentive is offered in the nature of an award of some kind or other, for most people love to succeed in any venture to which they may be giving really serious intention.

One of the constructive features that membership in the Peterborough Horticultural Society invites, is the offering of awards in various fields of endeavour coming within their scope, which collectively then go towards making one of those pleasant evening functions, when the various awards for attainments in the field of horticulture during the season just immediately past, are presented.

Coming into direct touch with the bounties that a Great Creator provides for the benefit of all humanity, it is only natural that such people would be decidedly sympathetic to those whom the misfortunes of war have left destitute of their homes in the British Isles, this having been very amply demonstrated during the past four years, for time and again they have made their meetings the occasion by which money has been raised so that those afflicted in this manner might have some assistance through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund which operates for that purpose.

On Friday, October 6, this Society held its annual Award's Night in Murray Street Baptist Church Hall, and once again they made it an occasion to be of assistance to the people of Britain through the fund, and by means of a collection raised a further sum of $15.66, which was forwarded by their secretary, W. C. Wilks, this being acknowledged in today's receipts on behalf of the fund.

For a long period of years this society has promoted an interest in love for the beautiful in nature, which goes a long way towards beautification of the city, and while on the face of it there would seem little or no opportunity to be of service in a direct way with the war effort, this assistance that they have given to the fund proves just how far their influence could be really extended, and who knows but what their work over a long period of years may have been the inspiration at the background of many a victory garden which helped to keep the larder supplied with a portion of its needs, so vital towards a successful prosecution of the war effort.

Star of Bethlehem, L.O.B.A.

This group of ladies have given assistance to the fund on previous occasions, prominent among which was a nice contribution towards the special Christmas donation one year ago. This year they plan to give further assistance towards another Christmas Cheer Fund now being raised for the same purpose, and so they have commenced selling tickets for a draw on a goose and a basket of groceries, and hope to do just as well for the fund as they did last year.

The Bear Lost

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 13 (CP) — It was lucky for Walter Mullett and Hugh Vance of nearby Bancroft that a bear they encountered while returning from hunting became entangled in a barbed wire fence. The two had only a light-gauge shotgun with them, with which they accounted for the Bruin.

Hasty-Pees In New Advance

By DOUG HOW,
Canadian Press War Correspondent.

WITH THE CANADIANS ON THE ADRIATIC FRONT, Oct. 13 —(CP Cable) — Canadian forces on the Adriatic front have made a surprise advance of over three miles across the muddy Lombardy tableland against no German resistance whatever as the Germans were believed to be pulling back to new defence positions.

This advance and other Adriatic moves Wednesday liberated 11 small communities, most of them little more than place-names.

An Ontario Highland Regiment of Maj-Gen. Vokes division first patrolled and then established favourable positions around the Fiumicino river Tuesday night, and throughout yesterday an Eastern Ontario Regiment exploited the new gains to a great depth.

(The Ontario Highand Regiment probably is the 18th Highlanders of Canada (Toronto), and the Eastern Ontario Unit the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment of Picton).

Enemy resistance to the drive was negligible though late last night the Eastern Ontario Regiment reported contact with the enemy and brisk fighting. Only 20 prisoners were taken in the whole forward surge.

The belief that Germans were retiring behind new defence lines emphasized the report 10 days ago that they were digging along the Pisciatello river, which flows across the plains from a point 2½ miles south of Casenatico, on the coast 13 miles north of Mimini, inland to Cesena.

Anniversary Services Held At Bailieboro

BAILIEBORO, Oct. 13 — (ENS) — Anniversary services were held in the United Church Sunday, when Rev. M. C. Fisher, B.A. of Gore's Landing preached twice.

A SOUTH COAST PORT, England, Oct. 13.—(CP).—The captain whose long years in the navy had taught him never to speak of serious things in a serious way admitted they were a "bit of a nuisance."

The kid whose brief years on the lower deck had taught him to speak of profane things in a profane way said: "The damn things scare the hell out of me."
